FALLS 100 FEET

BRISTOL, Eng. (Reuters)—Gilbert Taylor, 32, a painter, missed death by a hairsbreadth Monday when he plunged 100 feet from a suspension bridge and landed on his feet. Taylor vaulted on to the bridge parapet to retrieve a girl's coat which had been blown over the side. He misjudged his leap and plummeted down to the rocky slopes of the gorge below. He was taken to hospital with broken ribs, lacerations and suffering shock.

Sweeping Change In Russia Needed For Pact on Atom

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Revolutionary changes in the whole system of Soviet rule would be necessary before the Russian government could join with the United States in any atomic control program acceptable to Washington.

Diplomatic officials agreed today that Russian participation would be impossible without such revolutionary changes.

They also agreed that this is the fundamental reason why prospects for international atomic controls are extremely dim.

Russia's disclosure last week that it had succeeded in setting off a hydrogen explosion—Moscow said a type of H-bomb had been detonated — has brought new demands and proposals for international action to lift the shadow of atomic war from the world's future.

This has been especially true at the United Nations, where all efforts at arms reduction and atomic controls have been paralyzed for years by East-West disagreement.

Prospects Dim

On Saturday, Alexander Wiley (Rep.-Wis.) chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, released a letter from Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith replying to Wiley's inquiry about atomic prospects. Smith said frankly they were dim. He blamed Soviet "intransigeance"—refusal to compromise.

Officials said privately that the reasons for this "intransigeance" are to be found in the nature of the Soviet system and the minimum terms upon which the United States and presumably other Western powers would be willing to set up a disarmament and atomic control plan with the Soviet Union.

Isolation Problem

The essence of the problem, informants said, is that the rule of the Kremlin is based upon maximum isolation of the Soviet people from the outside world and rigid restriction of the movements of any foreigners permitted in Russia.

In other words, Russia is a closed corporation behind an iron curtain, ruled over by a small group of men for whom secrecy is a shield of power.

Diplomats believe it would be extremely difficult for the United States, having operated under atomic secrecy for a decade, to give up its restrictions and open the gates of presently restricted areas to foreigners, including Russians.

But in a country where freedom is a general practice, it could be done without upsetting a whole way of life.

No Change Likely

However, experts on Soviet affairs see in the cards no radical alteration of the Kremlin system of rule. And the U. S. so distrusts Russia on its past record that they will not agree to any system of disarmament and control which does not provide for a constant check against perjury on a grand scale.

British Court Sentences Four Spies for Russia

BIELEFELD, Germany (CP)—The British high court in Germany today sentenced four Germans to prison terms ranging from two to five years for spying for Russia.

Werner Berg, 44, described by Judge Sir Norman Edgley as the "most active participant in this espionage group," was sentenced to five years imprisonment.

Miss Erika Krueger, 33, and Eberhard Doncrik, 29, were each sentenced to four years imprisonment.

Karl-Heinz Tejkl, 23, was sentenced to two years.

Berg told the court he was engaged by the Russians in June, 1951, to collect information on British troop and tank installations.

He said he obtained part of his information from Miss Krueger, a pretty telephone operator employed in a British military post.

She testified that the information she sold was all false or worthless.

The court found the four guilty of conspiring to communicate information to the Soviet union which "may be dangerous to the security of the Allied forces," information in particular concerning the British armed forces in Germany.

The judge said it was clear beyond any doubt that Donczik had also spied on Canadian troops on the Hannover area.

Eskimos, Indians Sometimes Lose Furs Gambling

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP)—Many a man has lost his shirt in a shady poker deal, but in the far north he can lose his furs, too.

Frank Carmichael, Northwest Territories councillor from Aklavik, 750 miles northwest of here, told a recent meeting of the council that Eskimos and Indians coming out of the bush with their fur catch are sometimes victims of card sharps.

"An Eskimo may come along with 200 muskrats," said Carmichael. "He sits down to a game with another chap who has cash and who buys his skins, maybe for 75 cents when they are worth a dollar. Playing poker, the buyer gets the money back too."

The "preservation of game" ordinance before the council provided that a justice of the peace may suspend the licence or registration certificate of any person who obtains game, or parts thereof, from an Indian or Eskimo by gambling, or games of chance, or through deception or fraud.

Commissioner L. H. Nicholson of Ottawa pointed out that if the council attempted to penalize by fines or jail terms it would be exceeding is powers.

Col. F. J. G. Cunningham, director of northern administration and lands, said "gambling is not an offence. They can play poker for any stakes they like and nobody can stop them."

'But false pretences is," remarked the commissioner.

One councillor suggested that the council ask Parliament to enact a law preventing gambling with Eskimos.

"That would take away an inalienable right," objected Col. Cunningham. "Besides, you cannot do it to some people and not to others."

Replied the councillor:

"The income tax does that. Leave the section in, and administer it so as to meet Mr. Carmichael's point."

Municipal Assoc. Wants Poll Tax For Men, Women

HAMILTON (CP)—The Ontario Municipal Association today recommended that the poll tax should be collected from women as well as men, who are 21 years or over, and are under 60.

Attended by elected and appointed officials from 251 cities, counties, towns, villages and townships throughout the province, the convention heard no dissenting voice on this recommendation from its executive committee.

The recommendaion calls upon the province to amend its statutes enabling municipalities to levy an annual tax known as "citizen's (non-householder) tax" of not less than $1, and not more than $10.

It would be collected from persons not otherwise assessed. No member of the armed services should be liable for the tax.

James F. Berry, president of the association, noting there were lady delegates, said he expected discussion of the recommendation. There was none.

The convention approved also a proposal to amend the Assessment Act so that taxes may be levied on bulk storage tanks used for railway purposes.

Another recommendation of the executive committee calls for an amendment to the Ontario Municipal Act to require candidates for municipal office to have all property taxes paid up before nomination.

Vogeler Suing Former Employers For Half Million

NEW YORK (AP)—Robert Vogeler is suing his former employers, the International Telephone and Telegraph Co., for $500,000. An official of the firm says he is at a loss to explain why the one-time prisoner of Hungarian Communists brought the suit.

Vogeler, who spent 17 months in prison in Hungary on an espionage charge, was an executive of I. T. and . during that period and left the firm the first of the year.

Jacob Rosenberg, lawyer for Vogeler, said Saturday night he had filed papers and served a summons in the suit against I. T. and T. and a subsidiary the International Standard Electical Corp.

Rosenberg said he had not yet filed a complaint and declined to disclose details of the suit. He said only that it deal with the period of Vogeler's imprisonment and was not a salary matter.

A. M. MacLennan, assistant vice-president of the company, said Sunday he knew of nothing in Vogeler's "relations with the firm to 'justify a suit."

Ban Candidature Of Hitler's Aide

DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP) Dr. Werner Naumann, controversial candidate of the extreme right-wing German Reich party, was classified by the state interior minister here today as a Nazi offender and ousted from the Sept. 6 parliamentary election campaign.

In campaign speeches, Naumann has compared Hitler with Napoleon and praised nazism for saving West Europe from communism.

The minister's ruling stripped Naumann, once one of Hitler's top propagandists, of his voting rights and thus made him ineligible as a candidate.

The ruling came two days after the British high commission in Bonn repealed two old laws, under which Britain had retained denazification powers in their zone, to give Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government a last-minute chance to act against Naumann.

Only last night Naumann declared West German authorities would be unable to throw him out of the campaign. He based this on an Adenauer proclamation of amnesty for persons hiding under aliases.

Naumann said he had used a false name from the end of the Second World War to 1950, and then resumed his right name. He said he possessed denazification papers made out in his right name.

SOUTH KOREAN

Pyun assailed Prime Minister Nehru's government for its support of the recent installation of a pro-Indian government in Kashmir, declaring:

"From the knowledge of how India has been behaving in Kashmir, my delegation gravely doubts whether India will live up to the high moral standard it seems to expect the Republic of Korea to practise."

Korea 'Near Death'

Pyun excused the bitterness of his attack on the ground that Korea is "near to death," and "People who have been very near to death are usually terribly frank . . . I feel somehow that I shall not have enough chances to be frank before I die."

"India sent not one single soldier to defend freedom. It has now willingly dispatched thousands of troops to guard what the Kremlin created with much of its own devotion in the midst of the free world, the Communist inquisition where tens of thousands of poor, defenceless anti-Communist prisoners will be indoctrinated or brainwashed into communism for many long months."

Pyun first told the committee his government "finds it next to impossible to collaborate with India on the same side." Later he and Limb told reporters the South Korean government took the position such collaboration is "impossible," not just "next to impossible."

CANADIAN

All of them spent less than four months in captivity.

Taylor, L. Cpl. Stanley Badowich of North Brandon, Man., Pte. Donald James Gunn of Toronto and Pte. Victor Percy of Windsor, Ont., were taken prisoner while the 3rd battalion of the RCR was repulsing the heavy enemy attack.

Treatment Rigorous

Taylor and Badowich endured treatment almost as rigorous as that suffered by 2nd Lieut. Gordon Owen of Vancouver, one of those exchanged last Saturday. Owen said he was kept in solitary confinement during 11 of the 16 weeks he was a prisoner in North Korea.

Taylor and Badowich paid high tribute to Owen's resistance to Chinese efforts to extract military information from him. But the story of their own hardships had to be dug out of them.

When Taylor was captured the night of May 2, he had been dazed by the explosion of the grenade near him.

"When I came to, I saw Badowich trying to help a severely wounded private. I started to give instructions to the men I saw in the trench and Badowich said it was useless. We were surrounded and taken prisoner.

Was Tied Up

"Then the Chinese tied me up, with the arms behind my back and other ropes around my chest. They told the others that if they tried to get away I would be shot.

"We were taken across no man's land through our own barrage—the gunners were wonderful that night—to a cave in the Chinese lines. We passed two Canadians who had been captured and wounded by gunfire while we were being escorted across. The Chinese would not let us stop to help them."

Next morning, Taylor continued, all the Canadians were made to run between five and 10 miles to an intermediary point and another 10 miles that night.

"All we got was one drink of rice water and some steamed bread."

Questioned Three Weeks

At the second stopping point Badowich and Taylor underwent the beginning of an interrogation that lasted three weeks. They were questioned for three hours in the morning and three hours in the afternoon.

Pte. Jean-Paul Dufour of Rimouski, Que., and Pte. Georges St. Germain of Montreal, who were taken prisoner during a patrol last May 20, gave the clearest account yet available of what happened to it.

When the ambush patrol was itself ambushed that night after seeking out various vantage points for taking Chinese prisoners, it also was tailed by another Chinese patrol.

The combined enemy force against the 10-man Canadian patrol was estimated by St. Germain at between 60 and 70.

All Out Of Ammunition

The Montreal private said that when the shooting ended there were only 20 Chinese and three Canadians left—all out of ammunition.

Dufour had a bullet in his right leg and fragments in his buttocks. St. Germain had fragments in various parts of his body.

Pte. Florent d'Archie of Rimouski, who returned from the patrol that night with a partial account of its fate, is St. Germain's cousin.

They and Pte. Joseph Henri Binnette of Ville Jacques Cartier, Que., who was captured exactly one month later, said that after the armistice the Chinese allowed a religious service in the camp once a week, on Sundays.

"But we were not allowed to assemble," St. Germain said. "A United States soldier was allowed to read the Bible aloud in his hut and we all listened in ours, praying individually."

Binnette was on a two-man outpost called a standing patrol. Its job was to listen for any enemy movement.

Partner Panicked

He said he heard some Chinese behind him and his partner when suddenly his partner panicked, got up, giving the position away, and started shooting.

"He was killed. I was still down on the ground, informing the battalion by wireless of what was happening when the Chinese saw me. They tackled me just like a football player and captured me."

Unlike Taylor and some of the other captured Canadians, St. Germain and Dufour said they were not bothered with interrogations by the Chinese.

St. German said: "I just told them I couldn't speak English and couldn't understand them. They couldn't do much about it."

The Van Doos were invited to spend a day or so with the battalion before returning to Canada from Tokyo by air Sept. 3, along with the other men freed today. They will likely proceed to the battalion area next Monday.

Think That Reds To Free Captives Given Jail Terms

Communists Alter Attitude Two U.S. Prisoners Indicate

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Another 400 United Nations soldiers returned from North Korean stockades today amid indications the Reds will send back some Americans handed jail terms and possibly more prisoners than they originally promised.

Two of 133 Americans who crossed into friendly hands today said some fellow Americans sentenced to prison for "instigating against the peace" were awaiting repatriation, possibly in a day or two, at Kaesong. Kaesong, just north of Panmunjom, is the Red holding point for Allied PoWs.

The apparent switch in the Communist attitude toward these prisoners followed protests by the UN command that the Reds were holding back dozens of men on trumped up charges.

At the Allied base camp at Munsan, UN command spokesmen said there would be no comment on the reported return of the jailed Americans.

Free 133 Americans

Along with 133 Americans, the Reds returned 17 British and 250 South Koreans today, the 22nd day of the big exchange of war prisoners.

Free 133 Americans

And 150 Americans and 250 South Koreans will be handed over Thursday, the Reds said.

The Reds have promised to return 12,763 Allied prisoners—including 3,313 Americans—but Red Peiping radio hinted they might send back more.

The Communists have already returned more than the 14 Canadians they originally admitted they held. Since Operation Big Switch began Aug. 5, 24 Canadians have been freed.

Several of eight Canadians released Tuesday said they knew of at least three more infantrymen and possibly two fliers still in the Red stockades They said they had not seen the other Canadians, however.

Add To List

Peiping radio said the Communists have been "adding to the (prisoner) list newly-captured prisoners," including men captured in the final days of the war.

The broadcast did not indicate how many more would be returned, but noted that one man, captured a day before the armistice, had been sent back Tuesday.

A total of 2,128 Americans now have been returned.

Two American officers brought the news that the Reds probably will return prisoners sentenced to jail for minor offences for defying their Communist captors.

Terms Commuted

Lieut. George P. Shedd of Spring Hill, Ala., said the Reds commuted terms handed three fellow officers in the last days of the war.

He said the three, and possibly others, were now at Kaesong awaiting repatriation along with about 290 other American officers.

A Michigan pilot, Lieut. Henry Nielson of St. Joseph, told reporters six or seven men sentenced at his camp at Pyoktong were at Kaesong.

From the first day of prisoner exchange, returning American soldiers told of men being handed armistice eve prison terms from one to three years for infractions.

No Word Of General

There was still no official word when the Reds will hand over their prize prisoner. Maj.-Gen. William F. Dean, commander of the U. S. 24th Division, who was captured in the early days of the war.

One repatriate, Pte. Daniel D. Horman of Minneapolis, Minn., said he heard rumors in Kaesong that Dean was already there awaiting repatriation.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO. (CP) — Synopsis: Although Ontario continues in a southwesterly flow of very warm air, a weak disturbance developed overnight in the lower lakes region causing extensive cloudiness with showers and thundershowers over Southern Ontario. In northern sections of the province skies are clear.

Skies will clear over southern regions today and temperatures throughout the province are expected to reach the upper 80s or low 90s today and Thursday. A slowly moving disturbance extending from Hudson Bay to the Dakotas will cause scattered thunderstorms in northwestern Ontario today and Thursday.

Robber Phones With Correction On News Report

VICTORIA (CP) — It seems even robbers want their press notices accurate.

Tuesday night the telephone on the Daily Colonist news desk rang. The voice at the other end of the wire was calm, quiet and a bit indignant.

"That report on the Butler Brothers robbery in Tuesday's paper is not right," it said. "We didn't take any shovels, or cheques or clocks."

"This," the voice added, "is one of the robbers."

While the reporter was thinking what to say next, the telephone went dead; the conversation was over.

Truck Drivers Agree to Clear Niagara Roads

TORONTO (CP) — Representatives of striking southwestern Ontario truck drivers agreed Tuesday night to clear the highways of pickets today to enable transport trucks to serve the Niagara peninsula.

Negotiators for the 1,500 truck drivers who have partly tied up highway transport for five weeks in some areas said they will lift their picket lines for 36 hours in the Niagara area, which comes under the jurisdiction of the non-striking Toronto local of the Teamsters Union (AFL).

Labor Minister Daley, who convened the talks between spokesmen for the union and for the 36 trucking firms involved, proposed the removal of the pickets. The proposal was accepted by James Hoffa of Detroit, chairman of the union's central states conference and strategy boss of the southwestern Ontario strike.

Talks are to continue today in an effort to reach settlement of the dispute over wage increases between the union's Hamilton and Windsor locals and the Motor Transport Industrial Relations Bureau, spokesman for the 36 transport firms.

CANCEL PRICE CONTROLS

HELSINKI, Finland (AP)—The Finnish government Tuesday cancelled price controls on a number of commodities and services as a result of a general drop in prices. Eggs, meat, metal goods, household utensils, tools, textiles, taxi fares and fees at municipal and privately owned hospitals, were freed from control.

NORTHLAND RAIL REPAIR SHOPS WRECKED BY FIRE

Dozen Workers Flee From $100,000 Blaze

NORTH BAY (CP)—A fire Tuesday night destroyed the freight car repair shops of the Ontario Northland Railway with damage estimated at $100,000.

Flames which shot more than 100 feet in the air and could be seen for 20 miles licked through the frame structure so fast that a dozen men working in the building had to flee for their lives. No one was injured.

Besides levelling the building, the fire destroyed two out-moded passenger coaches which were being converted to boarding cars, a caboose, an all-steel box car and a mobile railway crane. The cars were reduced to twisted masses of steel.

Cause of the outbreak is unknown.

To Hamper Work

The damage estimate was made by Archie Freeman, general manager of the provincially-owned railway line originally known as the Timiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway. He said destruction of the shops will severely curtail the railways repair and maintenance program. The shops were used to repair and remodel the line's secondary units.

Mr. Freeman said a major freight car repair program, scheduled to start next month, will be postponed indefinitely. Plans for a new repair shop would be drawn up immediately.

Firemen from adjacent Ferris township helped the North Bay city brigade.

Prevent Fire's Spread

The firemen managed to keep the fire from spreading to a wheel house and a multi-million-dollar diesel repair shop just completed nearby. The adjacent frame-structure locomotive machine shop caught fire but firemen confined damage to a few hundred dollars.

The blaze at one time could be seen clearly from nearby Callander and from across Lake Nipissing in the popular French river resort area.

Two Warrants Charge Kesten With Theft

TORONTO (CP)—Two warrants charging theft have been sworn out against Bob Kesten, Toronto television and radio personality.

The warrants, detailing theft counts of $154 and $982, were taken out Tuesday by Edward H. Larsen of the Chicago advertising and promotion firm of Larsen, O'Neil and McMachon.

Kesten, absent from his suburban East York home for two weeks, is said to have been Canadian representative of the Chicago firm. He is believed to be in England.

Retirement Not Enjoyed by Rich So For a Happy Old Age Stay Poor

By ALAN D. CLINE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Those future retirement days may not just be fishing and fun. In fact, you may even have to be taught how to relax and enjoy all that leisure time.

The experts say the wealthier you are the less receptive you'll be to taking things easy. They've got figures to prove that all those plans of travelling, visiting with the grandchildren and just plain enjoying life don't pan out.

They came up with some startling facts at the convention of the Gerontological Society, attended by medical and social scientists studying diseases and problems of the ever increasing numbers of elders.

The society opened a three-day convention Tuesday.

About 75 per cent of business executives don't want to retire, said Harold R. Hall, a Wellesley Hill, Mass., business consultant.

Hall, a former Harvard professor, learned in interviews with some 500 top-drawer executives that it isn't money but work that keeps the successful man happy.

He explained the tycoons didn't want to leave their associates, give up the prestige and power of their positions, and—most of all—be benched from the "team" with which they worked for so many years.

He and other speakers suggested that companies prepare their personnel for retirement by setting up conditioning programs showing them how to spend their leisure time.

In another report, Drs. J. H. Bunzel and Louis Gare of the New York City mayor's advisory committee for the aged declared that many people can't enjoy their retirement income because they compare it to previous earnings.

Their findings showed that those enjoying their retired, full-time leisure were in lower income brackets. The studies came from a one per cent sample of 25,000 pensioned New York City teachers and city employees.

The New York report also found that "increased income may release time and energy to turn the attention of the retiree to other and perhaps more distressing problems."

U.S. Air Force Can Launch Fighter Plane From Bomber

By EDMOND LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Air Force says it has fitted the long-range B36 bomber for a new role:

Taking off with an F84 jet plane in its cavernous belly, carrying it to within striking distance of a target, releasing the fighter for a strike, at more than 600 miles an hour, and then recovering it in midair.

The air force Tuesday released for the first time photographs of the B36 in its mother role.

Other sources pointed out that if the big bomber can launch a fighter plane it should also be able to launch guided missiles. Moreover, both the B36 and the F84 have been described by the defence department as capable of carrying atomic bombs.

Great Range

So the combination seems to provide a formidable merger of speed, range and killing power.

The six-piston engines and four jet engines of the B36 give it a speed of more than 435 miles an hour and an overall range of 10,000 miles, assuming a 10,000-pound bomb is dropped midway, or a combat radius of 4,000.

The swept-wing F84, with its speed of more than 600 miles an hour, has a combat radius of about 850 miles.

The air force said its new development was the first known arrangement for flying a full size combat plane from a mother aircraft, although small experimental planes have been so flown.

Lowered On Tripod

The fighter is lowered out of the B36's bomb bay on a tripod gear before its engine is started. It is not released until its engine has been started.

One of the photographs shows the F84 snuggled well up into the huge bomb bay, in position for being carried.

The air force also disclosed Tuesday that the power of the B36 has been stepped up in new models so that they can take off at weights up to 400,000 pounds, compared with the previous 358,000 pounds. The new maximum is almost three times the maximum take-off weight of the B29, workhorse bomber of the Second World War.

The air force said some B36 models have had their horsepower stepped up 300 for each piston engine.

Claims Britain Just Expendable Air Base to US

EXETER, England (AP)—Britain's leading Methodist churchman said Tuesday night that to the Americans this island is an expendable aircraft carrier off the coast of Europe.

Dr. Donald Soper, president of the British Methodist Conference, told 2,000 listeners at a forum meeting his country has become only a junior partner of the United States and the first place to be bombed in a future war would not be New York but Lincoln, England.

Dr. Soper said Lincoln would be the first place from which U. S. bombers located in the area would try a strike at Moscow.

In answer to a question, the Methodist leader said all Christians should be pacifist.

New Guinea Natives Kill and Eat Youth

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (Reuters)—Frenzied New Guinea natives hacked and mutilated women and children of a neighboring tribe and then ate a youth in a cannibalistic orgy, an Australian police patrol leader reported here today.

W. J. Johnston said he had found the remains in a blood-spattered clearing in the Australian-administered southern highlands.

Johnston said his party had tracked down the murderers and given them a scare by shots from their rifles. He advised that no further action seemed necessary "as I think the effect of firearms was so grat they will behave for a time."

U.S. Ambassador Confers With Iran's Premier

By DON SCHWIND

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—U. S. ambassador Loy Henderson conferred for the first time today with Iran's new premier, Maj.-Gen. Fazollah Zahedi. Presumably the premier told Henderson how badly his government needs money.

The pair met at Zahedi's invitation. As a preliminary, Henderson had talked Tuesday with the undersecretary of foreign affairs, Abdul Hussein Meftah.

Henderson spent about an hour with Zahedi, then went to the foreign ministry for a second talk with Meftah.

Both Zahedi and Iran's shah already have stressed publicly that Iran's government urgently needs financial help from any country that will give it. Former premier Mohammed Mossadegh's long deadlocked oil dispute with Britain has blocked Iran's once-large oil exports, formerly the government's chief source of revenue.

Reports from Washington Monday said Zahedi likely would get emergency financial aid from the United States if he aksed for it.

Retired Publisher Dies

CRESTON, B.C. (CP)—Ernest Moss, 70, of Chilliwack, B.C., a retired weekly newspaper publisher, died in an automobile accident near here Monday night while driving to his former home in Kimberley for a holiday.

He was killed when his car struck a soft shoulder seven miles north of here and rolled 30 feet down an embankment. His wife suffered undetermined injuries and was brought to hospital here.

For 17 years, until his retirement last year, Mr. Moss was publisher of the Kimberley News.

THURSDAY VOTE ON KOREA PARLEY MAKE-UP LIKELY

Consider Resolutions On Conference Seats

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) The UN assembly's political committee took up separate resolutions on proposed make-ups of the Korean peace conference today. Voting on the proposals may begin Thursday.

It devoted its morning session to the U. S.-backed 15-power resolution to seat UN belligerents according to the side on which they fought, and separate resolutions calling for Russia to participate if Red China and North Korea want it, and for India to go to the conference as a neutral.

The United States opposes the resolution on India.

UN officials believed a vote was pssible today but more likely would come Thursday.

To Study Morocco Case

The committee arranged to recess this afternoon while the security council met on Arab-Asian nations' complaints that France had illegally removed the Sultan of Morocco from his throne. The United States has announced it will join Britain and France in voting against putting the complaint on the agenda, virtually dooming it.

In the face of U. S. opposition to India's attending the Korean peace conference, Indian delegate V. K. Krishna Menon said Tuesday his government was ready to serve if its work would be considered useful. He did not withdraw India's candidacy.

General Parley Later

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., head of the U. S. delegation, insisted that the U. S. opposition was based only on the fact that India was a neutral and the Americans contend only belligerents should be on the UN team at the peace conference. If that parley is successful, he said, there can be a general Far Eastern conference and for that the United States will work to have India seated.

Andrei Vishinsky, the Soviet delegate, told the committee that the conference cannot succeed if only belligerents are seated across the table.

New Russian List

Vishinsky came in with a new resolution increasing from 11 to 15 the number of nations he proposed for the conference. Sweden, which had refused Vishinsky's original bid, was dropped and Czechoslovakia; Indonesia, Syria, Egypt and Mexico were added. Both Vishinsky's old and new lists contained the United States, Britain, France, Russia, North Korea, South Korea, Communist China, India, Poland, and Burma.

Though the new Soviet resolution obviously was designed to appeal to a wider range of countries, observers considered it had little chance of adoption.

JEWELS STOLEN

VENICE, Italy (AP)—A Milan industrialist and a French film producer were robbed of $64,000 worth of jewelry in separate thefts today, police said. Industrialist David Aaug, director of one of Italy's biggest metal firms, told police $57,000 worth of jewels were missing from his hotel room when he returned from a film festival last night. Emile Sefert, a producer from Paris, said his room had been looted of about $7,000 worth.

See Indication Anthony Eden's Political Future Is Not Decided

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden or Lord Salisbury, who has been sitting in for him for two months, will lead Britain's team to the United Nations general assembly next month, the foreign office announced today.

An official statement stressed, however, that the naming of Eden "does not imply" he will resume his duties by Sept. 15—when the regular annual session of the assembly begins.

"It is customary for the minister in charge of the foreign office to be shown as heading the United Kingdom delegation whether or not he actually goes to the assembly," it said.

Eden or Salisbury might attend at any stage of the assembly's deliberations.

The announcement showed clearly Prime Minister Churchill has not yet settled whether Eden is to remain in charge of the nation's foreign policies even when he returns to duty from his convalescence from a series of operations to relieve gall bladder trouble.

There has been speculation that Churchill—who has been ill lately—may take Eden out of the foreign office and make him a fulltime deputy prime minister. In such a role he could take over a lot of Churchill's regular work.

The two British leaders are expected to settle this next month when Eden returns from his convalescence in Greece.

Three Trapped In Crashed Plane Rescued by Pilot

Engine Trouble Forces Craft Down on Lake Mazinaw

A northern lakes pilot and an American summer tourist were credited with saving the lives of three boys Tuesday afternoon when the plane in which the boys were passengers nose-dived into deep water in Lake Mazinaw, 70 miles northeast of here.

The three boys, Kenneth Kirk, 10, of Gull Lake; Larry Chandler, 18, of Toronto, and Robert Butters, 18, of Montreal, are all in Belleville hospital, the last two in serious condition.

The three boys were going for a flight with Arnold Flieler, 35, in a four-placed pontoon equipped aircraft with which the pilot was operating a charter and pleasure flight business.

Nose-dived Into Lake

They had taken off from in front of Mazinaw Inn and after getting out of the water had circled when the plane developed engine trouble, struck an air pocket and nose-dived into the lake from about tree height. The plane crashed into the lake about 200 yards from shore and into about 80 feet of water.

After crash landing in the lake the plane overturned and started to sink and finally only the pontoons and part of the tail section was above water.

The pilot worked himself free and managed to undo the straps holding Kirk and Butters and after rescuers were on the scene in boats tied a rope about his chest, dove back into the cabin of the plane and brought the unconscious Chandler to the surface.

Lost Control by Downdraft

Later, describing the crash Flieler said "We seemed to be caught in a downdraft and I lost control of the plane."

Harvey Frid, manager of Mazinaw Inn, paid high tribute to Flieler for his presence of mind in loosening the boys' belts.

"Only the tail, one pontoon and part of one wing was out of the water when I first saw the plane," Mr. Frid said. By that time rescuers were on their way with boats. Mr. Frid said that Ben Park, an American tourist from Cincinnati, quickly organized the rescue effort and was mainly responsible for getting the injured boys into boats before their hold on the plane loosened.

In hospital at Belleville it was found that the Kirk boy had his right leg broken below the knee. Chandler had severe facial injury although an X-ray revealed no fracture of the skull. His condition was said serious.

Butters was said to have chest and internal injuries and his physician, Dr. Russell Bateman, described his condition as also being serious.

Flying was no novelty for the Kirk boy, who had frequently gone on flights with Flieler on his regular trips about the lake country.

Just Taking Off

"We were just taking off and were starting to circle when suddenly the plane began to drop," the lad stated from his hospital cot. "The plane dived almost straight into the water and that's all I remember until I found myself hanging onto the pontoon."

"I don't know how I swam with a broken leg but they tell me that I did," he went on.

First aid for the injured was given by Dr. Bruce Phillips of Ottawa, who was holidaying at the lake. Bush's ambulance from Tweed took Kirk and Chandler to hospital while Mr. Frid brought Butters to Belleville on an improvised stretcher in his station wagon.

Staff members at Mazinaw Inn dug out blankets in which to wrap the injured and prepared coffee for their rescuers.

Mr. Frid said that Flieler had rented the plane for the summer and took people on charter flights about the lake country. During slack times he took up passengers for short pleasure flights.

The three boys were going along "just for the ride" when the accident happened.

Changes Suit Upon Request Before 8,000

CHAUTAUQUA, N.Y. (AP) —One of the audience spotted wrinkles in Walter Hendl's suit, so the conductor of the Chautauqua symphony orchestra changed clothes before 8,000 concertgoers.

Hendl asked for requests from the audience at this summer cultural centre Tuesday night. Someone asked Hendl to wear a suit pressed better than the one he had on.

A fresh suit was hurried to the podium. Hendl changed into it while members of the orchestra held a blanket around him.

Missing Ballot Box Delays Final Returns

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—A missing ballot box has delayed final and official federal election returns from B.C.'s vast Cariboo riding.

Returning officer Thomas Carmichael said Tuesday the final count is being delayed pending discovery of a ballot box containing votes from Westergaard in the Peace River district.

The count is scheduled to begin Thursday. On ballots counted to date, Bert Leboe, Social Credit candidate, is leading the sitting Liberal member, George Murray, by about 400 votes.

Has Double Purpose

TORONTO (CP) — The guaranteed annual wage in industry has a double purpose, CIO president Walter Reuther said Tuesday.

The annual wage, labor's next target, would provide workers with year-round employment and create the purchasing power necessary to buy the tremendous amount of goods they are capable of producing, he said.

Speaking at the international convention of the Amalgamated Lithographers' Union here, Mr. Reuther said the United States will be producing goods worth $395,000,000,000 annually by 1955 and unless it can find a market for them the country will be in serious trouble. A guaranteed annual wage and high pensions would keep up purchasing power.

Arena Board Discusses Hockey Situation in City

At a meeting of the Arena Commission under the chairmanship of Ald. Bruce Smith, held in the committee room at the City Hall on Tuesday, a lengthy discussion on the hockey situation in the city took place and Ald. McNevin, who so successfully operated the Senior "B" Hockey team last winter was urged to reconsider his decision to give up the pastime.

The question of Junior Hockey was also discussed and efforts will be made as to what the sponsor's intention is respecting this series. The question of the Arena Commission running the team was discussed and most of the members were against the proposition. It was shown that at the present time the financial condition of the Arena is sound and it was the members' belief, that should a deficit occur in their handling the team, there would be much criticism. Since the Arena was purchased and run under various commissions, it has always paid its own way with respect to maintenance, repairs and debenture debt and considerable money has been spent in the intervening years.

All members of the Commission, which includes, Mayor McLean Haig, Aldermen Hyde, McNevin, Smith and Tice were present at the meeting and it was moved by Mr. Tice, seconded by Mr. Hyde, and unanimously adopted "that the same percentages that prevailed for the senior "B" club last year would be the percentages for the coming year."

Ald. McNevin, as a member of the commission, stated he was satisfied with the percentages as prevailed last year but that if he changed his mind with respect to operating the club this season, that he would insist that the motion so passed would be ratified by the council as a whole. The commission agreed to this proposal and hoped that Mr. McNevin would give his answer in the very near future.

Other matters of a routine nature were brought before the commission for decision.

Mayor and Hospital Board Chairman Ask County For $250,000 For New Wing

Hastings county councillors yesterday afternoon referred to ways and means a request from Belleville Mayor A. M. Haig and J. N. Yanover, hospital board chairman, for a grant of $250,000 toward the construction of a proposed 100-bed addition for Belleville General Hospital.

The two men addressed county council asking the county to contribute $250,000 toward the construction costs and assured that the city was prepared to meet with the county with a dollar for dollar contribution. They asked that the grant be made over a period not exceeding five years.

The Mayor pointed out that the city was already obligated for all the debentures now outstanding against the hospital, and that the percentage of patients coming to the hospital from the city and county was almost equal.

Has Obligation Claim

"In view of this the city can not help but feel that the county has an obligation at least equal to theirs in connection with the campaign to raise funds for the hospital," the mayor noted.

He noted that over the years 40 per cent of the patients had come from the city, 40 per cent from the county, and 20 per cent from other municipalities.

Reeve Clarke Rollins of Wollaston asked if the provincial and federal governments could not be persuaded to increase grants for the proposed wing to more than $1.000 per bed. He did not think the Belleville hospital was getting its fair share in grants.

Grants Out of Date

Mayor Haig agreed that the present grant structure was "hopelessly out of date." "Grants of $1,000 per bed were of little help when the cost per bed ranged from $10,000 to $12,000 per bed, he said.

He noted, however, that few hospitals outside of metropolitan areas had received any more than the statutory grants.

Reeve Irwin McCoy of Marmora said that before any action was taken all hospital facilities in the district should be scrutinized to see if they were being utilized to the fullest extent.

In reply Mayor Haig said that hospital patients could not be transferred to another hospital due to the fact that patients normally requested a particular doctor. On the other hand doctors were in Belleville because hospital facilities were available.

Has Obligation

There was discussion as to the obligation of a municipality to provide hospital service for its residents, the general opinion being that a municipality had a definite obligation in this field.

Mr. Yanover as chairman of the hospital board said he was not too concerned where the money for the new hospital wing came from. "The concern of the hospital board was to provide service," he said.

He noted that the campaign to raise funds for the new wing would get underway next March and claimed that corporate giving to a great extent was based on the contributions of the municipalities concerned.

He was certain that if the county provided the requested grant and this was met by the city construction would get underway next year.

"Belleville hospital is not just a hospital for the city, but provides service both to the city and to the county," he said. "No distinction is made with respect to patients. All are treated the same."

Reeve Clarke Rollins wanted to know how the reeves from some of the larger tax paying townships and municipalities felt toward the requested grant.

Reeve Verney Heath of Rawdon said the county had a moral responsibility and agreed the county should pay a "substantial" amount toward the new wing.

Reeve Fred Mitchell as member of the hospital extension committee said there was no question as to the need for more hospital accommodation. He was entirely in sympathy with the extension.

Councillors Take No Action On Resolution Calling For Rescinding Plumbing By-Law

A Kent county resolution calling for rescinding of the new provincial plumbing act which in the opinion of some councillors could develop into a monopoly in plumbing installations for contractors, saw considerable discussion in county council yesterday.

No action was taken on the resolution, however, and the matter was laid over when it was pointed out council was not acquainted with the provisions of the act.

The resolution attacked the plumbing act stating that it gave a central authority the decisions as to what services were to be provided for citizens and that it interfered with the rights of persons.

"I don't think concurrence in this resolution is enough," stated Reeve Ritchie Wells of Marmora. "We should draft some sort of a protest ourselves."

Mr. Wells went on to say that the provisions of the act could develop into a monopoly for plumbers who would take advantage by drastically increasing prices for installations.

Reeve Rollins of Wollaston said he did not think the restrictions in the act were too binding and in any event they were for the betterment of the community.

Reeve Charles Buskard also said that regulations as to standards were necessary but he was opposed to anything which might prevent a man from installing his own plumbing. Proper inspection would assure that installations came up to the required standard.

Anyone Can Get Permit

Reeve Rollins said it was his opinion that anyone could get a permit to install his own plumbing or wiring and a man could do his own work as long as it passed inspection. He doubted if the act said the plumbing association was asking for a monopoly, and if so, he was opposed.

Reeve Brennan of Deseronto pointed out that there were usually regulations covering such installations, only in many cases they were not properly enforced. He asked why additional regulations should be brought in.

"The question as I see it is can I do my own plumbing, or do I have to pay a contractor $4 per hour for something I can do myself?" Reeve Wells said.

When it was not clear whether the act stipulated qualifications for persons doing plumbing installations, the matter was laid over.

Councillors concurred in a resolution from Simcoe county asking the acreage requirements for building lots under the Veterans' Land Act be reduced to two fifths of an acre. Under the present acreage requirements it was proving too costly to run services to such lots, it was pointed out.

No action was taken on an Elgin county resolution asking that all super highways in the province be made toll roads. Neither was any action taken on a resolution from the Perth Board of Education which asked that gasoline and motor licence taxes be increased to enable all road maintenance to be taken care of by the highways department.

Corn, Tomatoes Touched by Frost In North Hastings

While the southern part of the county has been enjoying real summer weather with little danger of frost at night, cucumbers, corn and tomatoes in North Hastings have already been touched by Jack Frost.

County councillors attending this week's session of council stated that frost had been experienced several nights in the north. Cucumbers not covered were blackened, corn was frozen down a foot or so from the tops and tomato tops were nipped.

The frost, however, was not so severe that ears on corn would not develop and the frozen tomato tops would serve to allow the sun in to ripen the fruit.

WANT COMICS BANNED

GUATEMALA CITY (Reuters)—Guatemala's powerful left - wing teacher's union has demanded that the leftist government ban the import of "comic books of a warlike character" immediately. The resolution, passed this week at a meeting of teachers here, said the comic books, a product of "imperialist warmongers", had a bad effect on Guatemalan children.

France Struggles Back to Normal After Strikes

PARIS (AP)—France struggled back to normalcy today after almost three weeks of dislocation because of strikes. The general back-to-work movement encountered only a few islands of resistance.

Railway trains were running again. Paris buses and subways were back on schedule. Big bundles of mail were being delivered after the long tieup. Telephone calls could be placed to most parts of France, although delays sometimes were long.

The two biggest holdout industries were the nationalized gas and electricity works and coal mines. Even here, there was some improvement. Gas and electricity were supplied throughout the strikes except for minor disruptions.

The coal mines in eastern France were starting up again with almost a full complement of workers, but there was little activity in the big northern basin, the most important in France.

The strikes, which at one time had about 4,000,000 persons of the job, developed as a protest to proposed economy decrees affecting workers in government-run industries. Premier Joseph Laniel's government has not announced its final decision on the decrees.

1,000 Bushels Of Oats Threshed In Record Time

Some kind of a record for threshing speed was established at the farm of Arnold Mitchell, 2nd concession of Thurlow township last week when 1,000 bushels of oats were threshed in just three and a half hours.

Fred Mitchell, who owned the threshing machine, said the oats were fairly short in straw but were heavily headed. The Clinton oats were grown on clay ground and were fed to the machine from one wagon with two men pitching off.

Church Fashioned From Streetcar In Motel Site

CALGARY (CP)—Luxurious outdoor swimming pools aren't usually associated with churches, especially when the church is interdenominational and fashioned from an old streetcar.

Such is the arrangement that has made a holiday motel located on Bragg lake near here such a success. The architects, Cliff Butler and Fred Fry of Calgary, spent three years on the project.

Sixteen abandoned street cars that once rattled through Calgary streets make up the motel. Thirteen have been converted as spacious cabins designed for four people, one as a shower car, one as a coffee car, and the last a church car complete with organ.

They are grouped in a wide circle around a park, the centre of which holds an outdoor swimming pool 85 feet by 35 feet.

The original seats have been left in the church-streetcar, except for a cleared space at one end that serves the organ. Nearly 40 persons can be seated at one time.

The cross that adorns its roof was cut from spruce.

The church didn't really figure in the camp plan at first, but grew with requests of local residents to use one of the cars as a Sunday school.

Cannifton Ties Series With 5 to 4 Victory

Cannifton evened up the series in the South Hastings Baseball League Monday night at Shannonville with a 5-4 win.

Cannifton started the scoring in the first frame with a singleton. Shannonville bounced back in the bottom of the first to even the score. Shannonville went into a two-run lead in the second. Cannifton pulled within a run of Shannonville in the fifth but lost it again in the sixth and it looked like Shannonville had it sewn up. But Cannifton was not to be reckoned with easily and came on to win it in the seventh with a three-run splurge.

The next game will be played on the Cannifton diamond tonight.

Corbyville Scouts Enjoy Week-end With Motther Nature

Another week-end under canvas with ideal weather conditions was enjoyed to the full by the members of the 1st Corbyville Boy Scout Troop last week-end.

On their own campsite the boys under the guidance of their capable leader, Ken Richards, pitched their tent early Saturday morning, and from then till Sunday evening enjoyed to the full every minute of their open air life.

Doing some field work including tracking and spotting, with an occasional dip in the river made a full and interesting day.

All the meals were prepared and cooked by the Scouts. Activities for the day ceased with the flag-lowering, when the boys gathered round the camp-fire to give vent to some real, hearty singing.

Altogether the Corbyville troop had a wonderful time living close to Mother Nature, and are looking forward to another week-end before the summer fades out.

Graydon Undergoes Operation Wednesday

TORONTO (CP)—Gordon Graydon, 56-year-old foreign affairs expert for the Progressive Conservative party, underwent an operation today. Hospital authorities said his condition is satisfactory.

Doctors would not disclose the nature of the operation.

Mr. Graydon, recently re-elected member of the House of Commons for Peel, entered Toronto General Hospital Aug. 18.

Seasickness State of Mind, Not Ailment Says Visitor

MONTREAL (CP) — One trip across the Atlantic, and a rough one at that, has convinced Evert Veroef, 76-year-old Dutch farmer, that seasickness is a state of mind—not an ailment.

The elderly Netherlander was on his way to Saskatoon to visit his daughter and her husband and he had waited 43 years to make the trip.

Veroef, who arrived with approximately 800 other Dutch settlers, was pretty pleased with himself Despite his age, he says he is as fit as a man half his age and he attributed this to hard work and the fact he has never had to see a doctor.

The ocean trip was rough but he never missed a meal and didn't lose a wink of sleep and "that's more than can be said for a lot of the passengers."

At home, he looked after 40 cows, 40 pigs, so many chickens he was never able to count them and in his 'spare time" attended to his duties in a large wheat field as well as looking after the barns.

"I've been trying to cme to Canada for many years," he said. "But when I mentioned it to my mother many years ago, she put her foot down and told me I couldn't make the trip. But here I am at last and I'm really happy to be here."

Veroef said that his wife, eight years his junior, would make the trip next year.

One of his concerns was his yellow, wooden shoes and how they would react on Canadian streets.

Canadian, U.S. Wheat Supplies Are New Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — Large crops and large carryover stocks point to record supplies of wheat in the United States and Canada for the 1953-54 marketing year.

Supplies for the two countries are estimated at 2,729,000,000 bushels, exceeding the previous record established in 1942-1943.

The estimate of 1953-54 supplies compares with 2,452,000,000 bushels last season, 2,581,000,000 in 1942-1943, and 1,892,000,000 for the 1946-50 average.

Various steps have been taken in the U. S. to increase available storage. The agriculture department has arranged for the use of 125 surplus Second World War liberty ships to help alleviate the situation.

In July, the department bought more than 15,000 storage bins with a capacity of about 90,000,000 bushels for storing grain acquired by the Commodity Credit Corporation under price-support programs.

Also, farmers have been encouraged to increase their storage facilities through government loans.

Not Enough Storage

But all this hasn't been enough. In many areas farmers have had to sell wheat at prices well below price-support levels.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson has been urging farmers to take advantage of government loans rather than to sacrifice their wheat at low market prices. In areas where outdoor storage is feasible, the U. S. government has been making temporary loans on wheat stored on the ground.

The 1953 Canadian wheat crop is estimated at 604,000,000 bushels, 84,000,000 below last year, but the second largest on record. The Aug. 1 carryover amounted to 363,000,000 compared with 217,000,000 at year ago and the record of 595,000,000 in 1943.

Project Outlined To Kiwanis Club By Guest Speaker

Ralph Windows, the originator of the travel and adventure series which begins in this city on October 8, was guest speaker at the Kiwanis luncheon on Tuesday.

The local Kiwanis Club is sponsoring the First Annual Travel and Adventure Series in the city. Comprised of six evenings of personally-conducted tours through the medium of films and narrated by world travellers in person, the series will be conducted in the auditorium of Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School.

The speaker outlined the formation of the series to members at the meeting. He praised the local club upon its organization and predicted they would have little trouble in bringing the project to a successful conclusion.

Mr. Windows said the idea for the series was conceived 10 years ago in Grand Rapids, Mich., as an experimental project. The experiment proved such a success that it became an annual event. "All persons enjoy and are extremely interested in travel," the speaker stated, "and I feel that this is probably the major reason why the project turned out to be such a success.

The first colored movie will be shown in the Collegiate at 8.15 p.m. Thursday, October 8, when 'Safari in Africa,' narrated by Murl Duesing, will be shown. The other five include: 'My California,' with Stan Midgley, on November 5; 'Niagara to Newfoundland,' with George Perkins, on November 26; 'Rhine Journey,' with Curtis Nagel, on January 7; 'Adventure in Turkey,' with Karl Robinson, on February 25; 'Argentine,' with Nicol Smith, on March 18.

I.G.A. to Spend $2,000,000 In Newspaper Ads

CHICAGO (AP)—Members of the Independent Grocers Alliance were told today the alliance plans to spend more than $2,000,000 on a "new look" newspaper advertising campaign in 1954.

"IGA has found newspaper advertising to be its most effective medium," Orville Johler, the alliance's national advertising manager, told the 27th international convention of more than 1,500 wholesalers and retailers.

The alliance, with 5,300 stores in the United States and Canada, is the second largest retail food selling organization in North America, Johler reported.

In the proposed campaign, he said, ads will feature women's fashions. Not more than 15 food items will be listed in a full-page layout.

These displays, Johler declared, will enable housewives to "keep in style—in dress and in food purchases."

Canadians Kid Chinese Captors Say Released Men

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (CP)—A favorite pastime of Canadian prisoners was kidding their Chinese captors, released Canadians said Tuesday.

Pte. Donald James Gunn of Toronto said the Chinese often asked what the Canadians were going to do when they got home.

"We'd say we were going to buy a car," Gunn related. "Boy, would that rile them."

The Canadians paced their conversation to confuse the Chinese. They'd change the subject quickly, talk fast and use slang.

"They used to give us a form on which to list names of people we knew and what our fathers did" said Pte. Victor Percy of Windsor, Ont.

"You would have been surprised at how many knew Marilyn Monroe, Ike Eisenhower and Harry Truman and how many fathers were plasterers".

Percy said the prisoners were repeatedly assured that their names had been given to the United Nations and that their people knew they were prisoners.

The night before they left prison camp they were given wine for a party. Instead an Australian officer in the camp, which had 26 Commonwealth and 117 American prisoners, suggested that they drink the Queen's health.

"Everyone joined in," Percy related.

LEISURELY TRAVELLING

An article in the New York Times, commenting on "a general tendency to bemoan the passage of many of the good things of life" mentions among these unhappy developments the fact that "the super-highway, and the airplane, have taken away the leisure from travelling."

"The leisure from travelling." What a strange phrase to our mid-century ears.

Many men and women will say that one of their major ambitions is to travel. But it is not really the act of travelling, but the result which they covet. Not the movement from place to place but the variety in places is desired.

There are exceptions. Occasionally, perhaps on a warm fall afternoon when the sumach has turned to crimson and the frost has painted the maples into a gold and green curtain against the blue of the sky, one may find some strange soul dozing along a by-way, quite evidently far from intent on getting any place. Or perhaps it will be in the spring when, business having forced you to venture through a succession of pot-holes and remnants of the winter's snowdrifts, you will discover a fellow-traveller who appears unconcerned about the strain on the car springs and the mud splashed roof-high. His eye wanders off towards the first faint traces of green on some willow down by a creek, or searches through the bare twigs of the roadside hedge for a fleeting glimpse of the first spring flowers, perhaps the deep blue of violets along some sheltered bank.

But these are not travellers in our modern sense of the word. They set no speed- records. Their gas consumption is low. When they return home they are unable to say where they have been and are likely to be strangely vague about what they have seen.

Should we perhaps try to restore leisure to travelling? To do so we need no new roads. We do not, perish the thought, need to accept the suggestion of a correspondent to one daily newspaper, who advocates a "Slow Week" with no motor vehicle being permitted to travel faster than 35 miles an hour. For enforced leisure in travelling cannot be enjoyed. The super-highway and the airplane are great developments for those who want to go from where they are to some other definite place. But for those to whom the lure of travel is in the motion, and not the destination, they are a hindrance, and not an aid, to pleasure.

PARENTS NOT SOLELY TO BLAME

News stories have reported increases in juvenile delinquency.

They have been followed by the inevitable flood of editorials declaring that parents, and not the children, are the real delinquents.

Whoever first conceived the idea of placing the blame for juvenile delinquency on the shoulders of parents performed an act of public service. There had been a general acceptance of the theory that the children, alone, were responsible for their transgressions. The opposite theory, placing all the blame on parents, acted as a counter-balance. But it is no more true than was the earlier interpretation holding the children themselves solely responsible. The theory of "parental delinquency" has now been so universally adopted that it provides a grotesquely distorted picture of the situation, suggesting that all children are basically honest and clean-living and that all their errors stem from the failure of parents to do their duty.

Just what is the full extent and nature of the duty of parents is a matter concerning which there is no agreement. Some self-styled experts intimate that parents ought to tuck their children in bed as soon as dusk falls and stand guard over them to make certain there are no midnight excursions. Others appear to think that parents should be on hand to guide and counsel children during every waking hour. Still others indicate that the child should be given wide freedom, but that the normal parent should possess some sixth sense which will unerringly inform him or her of any temptation the child may experience to depart from the ways of righteousness.

None of these experts seems to recognize that the child has any real control over his own actions. None of them explains why, in a neighborhood where all the children are allowed to remain at play after the street lights go on, only one in a large group ever becomes a delinquent. Crowded homes are blamed for delinquency—but not all children from such homes are transgressors. Some children who are never disciplined yet seem to escape evil paths. And, in spite of the statement by the Sudbury Star that "a well-disciplined child does not become a juvenile delinquent" there are some homes where even the strictest discipline does not stop the younger generation from taking the first steps towards the penitentiary.

Is it not about time that we recognized that children, like adults, are individuals; that some juvenile delinquents get into trouble with the law because of parental neglect; and that there are other children who, in spite of the wisest guidance and most painstaking care by their parents, seem to take a perverse delight in anti-social activities?

SWEDEN BURROWS IN

Sweden has partially lifted the secrecy from its 10-year-old "Operation Granite", designed to shelter 800,000 persons from atomic bombs.

The biggest cavern has been blasted in a mountain in the heart of Stockholm, and has three stories underground for 20,000 persons. Most of the nation's jet fighters have bases carved out of granite. Part of the Swedish Navy can dock in secret harbors gouged from mountains along the Baltic coast.

Other buried installations include aircraft, tank and munition factories; hospitals, power plants, laboratories and fire stations. — (New York Herald Tribune.)

SILVER CUPS AND WIVES

The winner took the trophy home—
A cup of silver hue.
With shaking head, his good wife said:
"More work for me to do.

"Eight silver cups are on the shelf,
And this will make it nine.
That's quite a few each week or two
For me to sit and shine.

"It pleases me to have you win:
But were it mine to choose,
When it's a cup the club puts up
I'd rather have you lose."

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE DAYS

20 YEARS AGO

August 26, 1933.

Mr. Stan Wilson is spending a few days in Rochester, N.Y.

Mrs. J. Davis and granddaughter, Peggy Doolittle, Albert Street, are spending a few days in Peterborough.

Mrs. Welburn of Whitby is visiting her brother, Mr. George Dawkins, East Moira St.

Mr. and Mrs. Spence Clarke and Miss Maude Campbell have returned home after spending some time at their summer cottage at Weslemkoon Lake.

Messrs. Frank Domenico, George Lee and Gerald Lynch had good sport fishing at Moira Lake over the week-end. They caught nine fine black bass and three pickerel of a good size. The largest bass weighed two pounds and eight ounces after being out of the water for some time. The fish were on display in the show window of Green's butcher shop today.

30 YEARS AGO

August 26, 1923.

The Good Old Days: This item is from our file copy at this time in 1873: "A number of 'breachy' cows — that is cows that jump obstacles — are roaming about seeking whose fences they may level and whose garden stuff they may devour. Every cow found trying to force its way through or over a fence or gate should be impounded. In fact it is a disgrace to a town like Belleville that cows and pigs should be allowed to roam at large, free to render the sidewalks filthy, break down shade trees and do a great deal of damage otherwise."

The Rev. N. S. McKechnie, pastor of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, has returned home after a trip to Stockholm, Sweden.

Mr. O. H. Scott, president of the Belleville Rotary Club, and Mr. Norman McKinnon, assistant secretary of the club, have returned from St. Catharines where they attended a district Rotary convention of presidents and secretaries.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Follwell have returned home from Detroit, Mich., where they spent a vacation with their son, Mr. Harry Follwell. Mr. Follwell also visited Chicago and the great "Mooseheart" home for children.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

All this worry over the growth of a Canadian culture seems a little absurd, doesn't it? There is a young Englishman in Canada now on a six month's shoe-string tour of the country. He strikes me as a very intelligent young man, with a lot of good sound schooling behind him. He is working his way across the dominion, a few weeks at a summer resort, two or three weeks as a deckhand, that sort of thing: though he has letters of introduction that take him to visit yacht clubs en route, and to various homes of representative Canadians at different levels of the business and professional world. We had not been talking five minutes before he got around rather cautiously, to the question of a Canadian culture and where he might find some tokens and manifestations of it.

Being very confused myself over what culture is, I was stumped. I tried to envisage what he would mean by culture? What culture have they in Britain right now? Or did he mean right now? For instance, what was culture in England in the middle of the Victorian era, when, on a narrow front of a handful of poets, painters, musicians, and a relatively small following of the public, they had also the most gosh-awful furniture and decoration in the average home, an enormous element of poverty and ignorance in massive industrial slums in London, Manchester, Birmingham, Glasgow. The middle of the over-stuffed, Albert Memorial, gewgaw, what-not, fretwork piano, pale green antimacassar Victorian era? Or was he thinking of the culture defined, let us say, in the recently published Boswell's London Journal, 1762-63? Or the greasy-fingered culture of Henry Eighth's time? When is culture? And where? And how widely diffused? Is it Shakespeare? Or is it a little clique in Bloomsbury? Is it Oxford and Cambridge? And which year? And what percentage of the population is concerned with or involved in it? Which districts of London, for instance?

I could not ask the young man all this. I suggested that he watch the boatmen on the Mackenzie as it marches down to the Arctic sea, and observe a culture as ancient as any on earth, a culture like that of Agincourt or of Scott of the Antarctic or of Nelson's captains - a thing that belongs to us all who understand the English tongue.

Moonshine Perfumes

((Windsor Star)

Warped but ingenious minds never are at a loss for something that can be done for a dishonest dollar. The latest example comes from Rhode Island, where revenue officers have seized a still used in the distillation of a moonshine variety of "name" perfumes.

Forged labels gave a sheen of authenticity to this product, which is believed to have been marketed on an international scale.

This is not the first time perfume pirates have been heard from, and perhaps will not be the last. Some time back a group which marketed its product mostly in South America was exposed.

With "name" perfumes selling for as high as $10, $15, $20, and more an ounce, men who prefer moonshining to working found a new field open for them. When milady invests in Mystic Madness, Age Cannot Wither Her, or whatever happens to be her favorite scent, she needs the assurance of a reputable dealer that the stuff is genuine.

Elephant Is Neurotic

(New York Herald Tribune)

It was Mr. Jimmy Durante, the eminent authority, who once tried to dispose of the elephants-never-forget theory with the flip remark: "What does an elephant know that it could forget?" The answer has now been given by the news that an elephant named Nona in Johannesburg, South Africa, remembers so much that she is going to be psychoanalyzed. It seems that a sheet of newspaper blew across Nona's face while she was transporting some children around the zoo six months ago, and since then she has utterly refused to have anything to do with the youngsters. As a last resort, psychoanalysis has been ordered.

Psychoanalyzing an elephant is no job for amateurs. Some of the difficulties are immediately obvious. An extra-large reclining couch would, of course be required, and great care must be taken not to provoke a strong physical reaction from the patient. But once these conditions are met, here seems no reason why elephants should not be perfectly good subjects for analysis. Indeed, the results of such examination might be of benefit to us all. Does size lead to all delusions of grandeur? Do floppy ears produce a sense of mortification? Does working for peanuts impede spiritual development? Man and beast alike can profit from thoughtful answers to these and similar questions. Civilization certainly owes this elephant something, for it has turned her from a happy, carefree animal into a rather large bundle of neuroses. Psychoanalysis has already worked wonders, but this time it is really being put to a jumbo-sized test.

Storm Dwarfs Atom Bombs

(Calgary Albertan)

Still there are those who think that the atomic tests in the Nevada desert are in some way responsible for the eccentric weather—for the many cool wet weeks in southern Alberta, the oppressive heat waves in the East, the violent tornadoes, the excessive rains at the Coast, that heat in Alaska, and for every other abnormality.

But the word is that it would take a thousand atomic bombs a minute to equal in energy one medium-sized hurricane, and that an ordinary rainstorm is as forceful as three bombs a second.

Besides, they talked about the weather just as much and with as much cause long before anyone heard of atomic energy.

We'd like to know why the big brains don't harness a hurricane or two instead of monkeying around with a little old atom.

Ideal Family Smaller Now

(Buffalo. Evening News)

The birth rate trend in America, which soared in the war and has stayed high ever since, is about to turn down. Says who? Not the collectors of vital statistics; not even the population experts. Merely the Gallup Poll.

The prediction is based on a survey of what the average citizen currently considers the "ideal size of family." Only one per cent said one child; 28 per cent said two; 30 per cent said three, 29 per cent said four and 12 per cent said five or more. Nobody, apparently, thought a childless family "ideal." Or maybe the Gallup pollsters didn't give some of the frantic parents we know a chance to say it. In any case, it isn't the latest findings that cause Dr. Gallup to look for a downtrend, but the way they compare with previous findings. Back in 1936, when he asked the same question, 34 per cent named four or more children the ideal family. By 1941, that number was up 21 per cent; by 1945, it had jumped to 49 per cent; now it is off to 41 per cent.

But shucks, back in those days there weren't so many families of four children and up. Naturally that would seem more ideal then than now, when more people have 'em. Besides, somebody might tip Dr. Gallup off that these idle queries about what people think would be an ideal family aren't necessarily what determine the birth rate. What he was really trying to point up, we suspect, is that the average citizen today is inclined to feel that three children make the ideal family. How many children has Dr. Gallup? According to Who's who, he has three.

Oldest English Sporting Event

(Manchester Guardian)

The race for Doggett's Coat and Badge is our oldest annual sporting event. Placards on August 1,1716—"the day of His Majesty's happy accession," — announced that Thomas Doggett, former joint manager of Drury Lane Theatre, comedian and staunch Whig, would give "an orange color livery with a badge representing Liberty to be rowed for by six watermen." Five years later Doggett's will made annual provision for the 12-ounce silver badge (bearing the prancing horse of Hannover), "18 shillings for Cloath, one and 20 shillings for making up the Livery, Buttons and appurtenances, and 30 shillings to the Clerk of the Watermen's Hall." Ever since, the Fishmonger's Company have organized "the Watermen's Derby," first between London Bridge and the Old Swan, Chelsea, "when the current is strongest against them," but now with the tide.

Time's other changes concern mainly the craft: elegant featherweight models now, compared with the pounderous passenger wherries in the contest's infancy. The link between a comedian and a rowing marathon caused little puzzlement in 1716. Nearly 10,000 watermen, cabmen of the day, plied between Thames banks, with playgoers numerous among their "fares." Actors and watermen suffered equally when plague or edict silenced the stages.

From the Swan, London Bridge, Doggett had often watched wherry races. Entrants for his own Coat and Badge contest were at first so numerous that they were drawn by ballot. That the best oarsmen were often thereby excluded was not rectified until 1873, when preliminary heats at Putney were introduced. Foul play was not unknown: in 1736 one entrant sustained injuries from a flung bottle, and in 1823 two watermen were fined "for wilfully and riotously obstructing two watermen by stopping their boats with a boathook." Riverside crowds cheering on their multi-livered champions from Greenwich, Rotherhithe, Twickenham, etc., had their own small diversions: a pickpocket—"a genteel young fellow"—was seized in 1777. "The mob were for ducking him, but an impress galley being near, the Gentleman prudently delivered him to the Officer; who took proper care of him, promising he should have a good berth aboard the tender."

Pharaohs Had Many Ills

(Edmonton Journal)

One of the most popular legends is that people of the remote past were much healthier than we are today. Many believe that such things as over-refined foods, lack of fresh air and exercise of "the tensions of modern living" have led to the development of many diseases such as heart trouble, digestive disorders and the like, which were unknown in the simpler and less luxurious days of our ancestors.

Some cold water has been thrown on this theory by a German physician, Dr. Erwin Ackerknecht. His hobby is examining Egyptian mummies to find out what ailments they suffered from; the bodies are so well preserved that this is often possible.

Dr. Ackerknecht's researches have shown, the Paris newspaper Noir et Blanc reports, that the ancient Egyptians suffered from a great many diseases that afflict us today. The mummies showed traces of tuberculosis, pneumonia, pleurisy, gallstones, meningitis, malaria, and even sinus trouble. One pharaoh was crippled by an attack of poliomyelitis.

Most of these are infectious diseases, but one pharaoh apparently died of hardening of the arteries—which many people think of as especially a disease of our own high-pressure civilization.

All this is particularly interesting because the ancient Egyptians, according to archaeologists who have studied their culture, seem to have lived the sort of "natural" life of which health experts approve. They spent most of their time out of doors; their diet was strong on whole-grain bread and fresh vegetables; and most of them enjoyed a tranquil, slow-moving existence. Yet this did not protect them from the diseases which afflict us, including gall stones, sinus trouble and hardening of the arteries. This rather suggests that the basic laws governing health and disease are far more complex than some theorists imagine.

SIX MILES OF OXYGEN ON THE HOOF

Dr. Brady

Several dozen readers have sent me clippings of a recent newspaper article about a Minnesota girl who, winter and summer, walks 1½ miles to breakfast and home again, and 1½ miles to evening meal and home again — six miles of oxygen on the hoof. Occasion for the newspaper story was the woman's birthday celebration, her 58th. Her picture shows that she is a young woman.

This young woman, not only walks six miles a day but, she states, she hasn't missed a day of somersaulting since her 53rd birthday, and she hasn't been ill a day since.

Right here I'd like to remind N. Webster & Company that this Minnesota lady knows, I know, and everybody endowed with a modicum of intelligence knows that one in his right mind doesn't leap or jump when somersaulting. Maybe some of you scholars would be a little less arbitrary about the meaning of the word if you'd unbend enough to try the stunt.

The lady says she got the idea of making like a hoop and rolling her troubles away from an international quack who turned Topsy the beautiful sorrel out to pasture for a week and went on a life-saving expedition to St. Paul in 1918.

A lot of old geezers in the medical profession then as now were and are just as unteachable as the dictionary pedants are. Besides, there's no profit in prescribing somersaults.

Like the Minnesota girl, I have turned my quota of somersaults every morning for years. Although this takes scarcely twenty seconds, I assure you it wouldn't take that much of my time if I didn't believe it contributes to health and longevity.

In my files is another newspaper story with a picture of a music teacher in Georgia, 75, who begins her day with somersaults; a poem from a man of 75 who says "I'm glad to be alive, and one good reason why I thrive is somersaulting gracefully"; a letter from a man 80 years old who reports that faulty alimentary functions have become normal and remained so since he began somersaulting ten years ago; another from a lad who says that when he commenced doing somersaults upon my recommendation six years ago he was a gloomy person but today he is 74 years young; and newspaper clippings telling about a former premier of France turning somersaults on the lawn by way of expressing extreme pleasure, and Luther Burbank the naturalist turning somersaults on his lawn for the movie news camera on his 75th birthday anniversary.

Now I warn all persons past 40 who are in an advanced stage of decrepitude — old stiffs, that is— that I shall not be responsible for broken necks or other consequences of foolishness. One in such a shameful condition ought to have enough sense to go at somersaulting with due care and caution.

TODAY'S TALK

On Being Well Dressed

This business of clothes has been a problem of interest down through the ages, from the time that human beings were satisfied to have no more than the skin of a wild animal as body covering.

In one of Somerset Maugham's books I came across this sentence: "The well dressed man is where the clothes are not noted." There is a quality of the mind suggested here, as when a really great man or woman does not look upon himself or herself as great. Each leaves that to others for judgment.

Taste is the thing. All the money possible could not well dress a man or woman whose sense of taste is not inbred. To so dress that people will at once look upon you as well dressed, and accepting it as "just right," is a distinction worth the striving—it's as Maugham said, "the clothes are not noted."

Being expensively dressed is not necessarily being well dressed. Taste and the "know how" on the part of a man or woman, could well and easily surpass anything elaborated by mere money. Simplicity and quality, however, could well be matched with taste. The evidence of a well dressed man or woman lies in the person. Never does either strut like the peacock, yet each may demonstrate fitness.

It always gives me a smile to read of a certain man or woman as being "the best dressed in the world!" That takes in a lot of territory. It gives a tastily dressed shop girl a smile as well. There is a great deal of character that radiates from the well dressed man or woman. A well dressed mind is reflected!

In reading a chapter by a well-known author I noted that in discussing the outstanding men and women he had met and known, he took particular pains to tell how they were dressed, and their personal appearance as it appealed to him. In Sheridan's play "The Rivals," in one place, Bob Acres exclaims: "Indeed, David, dress does make a difference!"

An Excellent Formula

Are you greatly disturbed over the fact that people do not agree with you? Well, you had better get over it fast because they never will. There will be disagreement in families, among friends, within nations, and throughout the world as long as the world lasts. Only in Russia today does everybody agree —and then only in appearance and because a sword hangs over their unfortunate heads or the gallows casts its shadow across their pathways. In free countries men are strident in their proclamation of disagreement and dissent.

Don't let disagreement bother you—rather let it stimulate you. Think of this free country of ours where we berate our public officials from president down to alderman, where we criticize our preachers, where we talk back to certain learned authorities. If a feature article or an editorial offends us, we write a letter. If we don't like the candidates on the ballot we don't bother to go to the polls. We can go to church or stay at home. We can be right or wrong. We can succeed or fail. The glory of our country abides in its combination of unity and dissent.

Here is a good formula. It is old, not original, and very excellent: "Agree to differ; unite to serve; resolve to love." Democracy makes all that possible; Christianity demands it.

Admits Slaying Teen-Age Sister Of Ex-Sweetheart

NEW YORK (AP)—A sobbing Massachusetts stenographer, after hours of protesting her innocence, early today admitted the slaying of her former boy friend's teen-aged sister, Massachusetts police officers said.

Detective Lt. David Murphy, a Massachusetts state trooper, said pretty Mildred McDonald, 25, had signed a written statement admitting she shot Mary di Rocco, 14, in the di Rocco home in Somerville, Mass., Monday.

Miss McDonald, also of Somerville, was taken into custody here Tuesday night near Times square.

Police in Somerville started to search for her soon after the body of the teen-ager was found Monday. The slain girl had suffered five bullet wounds while a sixth shot went wild; her throat was slashed, and her clothing was covered with oil. Police said the slayer apparently had tried to set the body afire.

Miss McDonald had been dated for three years by one of the slain girl's brothers, Joseph. He married another girl last April.

Girl Had Gun

The officers said they found in her possession a gun of the type used in the Massachusetts killing, a knife, loaded cartridges and six discharged cartridges.

Police said the slaying was the apparent result of fear, nervousness and anger. They said Miss McDonald admitted going to the di Rocco home and that she said she planned to talk to Joseph's mother about him.

However, Murphy said, Mary was the only one home. The officer quoted Miss McDonald as saying she talked with Mary, who commented on the happy marriage of her brother. This comment angered Miss McDonald Murphy said.

The father, Angelo di Rocco, arrived home a short time later, ate lunch and left, police continued.

Minutes later Mary ordered Miss McDonald from the house and threatened to call for help if she stayed. Incensed, Miss McDonald drew her gun and ordered Mary into a room.

Made Girl Prisoner

She made the teen-ager a virtual prisoner, watching over her as she twice answered telephone calls from a cousin.

Then, fearing Mary had managed to give the cousin a warning, Miss McDonald started shooting when she thought she heard someone at the door.

Smart Work by Constable Aids in Arrest of Three

TRENTON (Special)—The keen observation of Trenton Police Constable Ted Carter of Consecon paid dividends in the arrest of three Trenton youths who have been charged with breaking and entering and theft in connection with a robbery of a sum of money and sundries from the Appledene fruit stand on the York Road Monday night.

Cpl. L. G. Lyle of the Brighton Provincial Police detachment apprehended the trio from information supplied by Constable Carter.

Early Tuesday morning local police found an abandoned bicycle and took it to the station. Later a youth came to the headquarters to claim the vehicle. While he was there Carter the constable on duty noticed there was tar marks on the boy's arm. He made a mental note, which proved to be the clue that broke the case.

The fruit stand in Northumberland county comes under the protection of the Provincial Police. Cpl. Lyle investigating the break-in suspected that one of the thieves rubbed against wet tar gaining entry to the stand. He mentioned the fact to Constable Carter, who remembered the boy with the missing bicycle.

To give the story a detective book ending little time elapsed before police had their man and two more besides. The not-too-smart would-be thieves will appear in Brighton court in a few days, when a magistrate will decide their fate.

Incidentally with the sum of money stolen from stand was $7.50 cash receipts from the sale of police benefit game tickets, which the youths had already spent.

Second Viscount of St. Davids Running 3 Excursion Barges

By FERN RICH

LONDON (Reuters)—The odor of fried fish and potatoes hung over the bent head of his lordship. Angry flies settled on his sloppy jacket and stained tie.

But Jestyn Reginald Austen Plantagenet Philipps, 36, second Viscount of St. Davids, was too busy with his pencil-stub to notice. He was toting up the results of his latest business venture, sailing three excursion barges on London's canals.

For a man whose family tree has sprouted aristocrats since 1087, Lord St. Davids, 14th baronet in the family line, hardly fits the story-book picture of a peer. His long, angular frame rests on a shaky kitchen chair at Jacqueline's Cafe, a smoky canal-side "eater" where he conducts his business.

Like many British blue-bloods, he has been forced out of his castle through high upkeep costs and taxation and is trying to make an honest living.

His lordship says the two-month-old barge venture has proved a "jolly good success" in that it is not losing money.

The tourist season is now tapering off, but the Oxford-educated lord hopes to show a profit next year. His three barges take sightseers up the 10-mile-long Regents and Grand Union canals, winding through London and its suburbs, for $1 a head.

Wealthy Financier

His father, who grew up in a more prosperous era for the peerage, was a wealthy financier who probably would take a dim view of his son' venture. But the present viscount thinks its a great idea, not just the lark of a playboy-peer, as some members of society claim.

"I am trying to make a living," he says earnestly. "I've always loved the water, and I've spent a good deal of my life on it. I think there's money to be made from these canal trips."

The viscount, whose ancestors sailed with Sir Francis Drake, served with the Royal Navy in the Second World War. With his Australian-born wife and five children, he lives on a small yacht, anchored not far from the House of Lords where he sits as a Labor peer.

Castle Rented

His castle in Pembrokeshire, complete with ghost, is rented sometimes to tourists, sometimes to farmhands. When the viscount goes up there for a vacation he lives in a cottage on the grounds.

Lord St. Davids has written several books on London's intricate canal system and flies off the handle at mention of archaic laws controlling its traffic.

"Take the steam five laws," he said, his gray eyes flashing through the steam of frying fish. "They're ridiculous, ridiculous, they're positively Gilbert and Sullivan. Much too complicated to explain."

One of them demands certain precautions in case a boat springs a leak and begins to sink.

"The water in the canal is about 4½ feet deep," the viscount said. "My problem is to keep the barges from becoming stuck in the mud rather than worrying about their sinking."

BREAKS NECK IN DIVE

KITCHENER (CP) — James Mundle, 13, of Waterloo broke his neck Tuesday in a dive at the Kitchener municipal swimming pool. He was taken to the K-W Hospital where his condition was described as "very serious." Superintendent R. J. Cardy of the pool said the boy apparently dived into five feet of water and struck his head on the concrete bottom.

2 Miners Found Dead Under Fallen Rock

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP)—Two miners were killed and nine injured Tuesday when a coal mine's floor bulged upward, collapsing sections of rock and coal as if they were made of sand.

Charlie Paul, about 60, and Doug Davis, both of this northern Nova Scotia mining town, were found dead under fallen rock, coal and splintered props when draegermen of mine-rescue fame reached them.

Paul, who worked in many provincial mines, was almost legendary in industrial Cape Breton, where the colorful, wiry miner was ace pitcher for Dominion Hawks in the Cape Breton Colliery League during the early 20s.

The bump, or upheaval of the mine's floor, occurred nearly two miles under in the No. 2 mine of the Cumberland Railway and Coal Company, a subsidiary of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation.

As the mine whistles shrieked their time-honored signal of disaster, mothers and wives crowded about the pithead and waited to learn if their men were among the casualties.

Eleven were reported trapped at first.

But as the draegermen, handpicked rescue workers named after the German-made equipment they used years ago, assisted the injured to the pithead, the toll of the missing fell until only two were unaccounted for.

Beaverbrook To Blame Says Beverley Baxter

VANCOUVER (CP) — Beverley Baxter, journalist and member of said Tuesday that if he has failed to measure up to the expectations of Lord Beaverbrook, there is only one person to blame—Lord Beaverbrook.

On a tour of Canada, the journalist commented on a published statement by the newspaper peer that "Mr. Baxter has not enriched himself or the nation as his earlier promise indicated."

Both men are Canadian-born, and Mr. Baxter once was editor of the London Daily Express, owned by Lord Beaverbrook.

In jocular vein, Mr. Baxter declared: "He (Beaverbrook) if anyone, ruined my career. He took me to see his well-bred horses which were beaten by horses of no ancestry at all.

'He was my ruin. His energy was inexhaustible. I had to play tennis with him and when he would miss a serve he would toss his racket into the trees and call for another one."

Mr. Baxter was commenting on a preface by Lord Beaverbrook, currently appearing in the Vancouver Province, on his book "Success."

MARMORA

Canadian Legion Holds Impressive Memorial Service

MARMORA — Under auspices of Marmora Branch No. 237, Canadian Legion, the annual Decoration Day service of the village was held on Sunday afternoon with a service of remembrance at Marmora Town Hall followed by the decoration of veterans' graves in the two cemeteries of the village.

A parade was formed at the Legion Hall with the retiring Zone Commander, Percy Gray, in command.

Colors of the Marmora, Madoc, Tweed and Frankford branches of the Legion, together with those of the Marmora and Frankford Ladies' Auxiliaries, with those of Marmora Company of Girl Guides, were carried by a color party under direction of Sergt. Robert Gray. Headed by the Madoc Citizens' Band, under their bandmaster, William Aylesworth, a goodly sized parade of Legionnaires and Girl Guides impressively wended its way to the Town Hall to be joined there by Legion Auxiliary members.

Also participating in the parade were Zone Commander Len Taylor of Tweed of Zone F 3 and Zone Commander William Coulterjohn, Trenton, of Zone F 2.

The service at the Town Hall was under the direction of Zone Commander Gray. The Madoc band furnished accompaniment for hymns and the National Anthem. Rev. John E. Glover offered prayer. Post Champlain W. J. Cottrell of Branch No. 237, read the Scripture lesson from Revelations 7.

An appropriate address was given by Rev. J. E. Glover. After briefly reviewing the three wars of his lifetime, the South African and the two World Wars, he mentioned that most homes had been affected by one of these conflicts. "We would be unworthy and ungrateful," he said, "did we not pause at times to reflect on the sacrifices which had been made for us."

"Lest We Forget"

He also reminded his hearers of the many, who, through wounds or illness contracted on active service, had prematurely laid down their lives. "There is a tendency in the present rush and hurry of life to forget those who have laid down their lives for the greatness of Canada and also to overlook the unsurpassed privileges that we, as a people, enjoy."

He sounded also a word of warning regarding the subversive influences abroad in the world today and closed with remarks on the significance of the tomb to the Unknown Soldier in Westminster Abbey.

Closing prayers and benediction were taken by Comrade W. J. Cottrell.

Impressive Address

The parade then proceeded to the Sacred Heart Cemetery where an impressive address on memorials was given by Rev. J. A. O'Neill, parish priest. Having referred to the significance of the annual decoration of the graves, Father O'Neill said, "it was man's fondest hope" to be remembered. He cited the case of memorials being erected to those who had promoted social and charitable welfare. We should pray for those who have endeavored to serve humanity, for in praying for them, we best honor them.

"It was agreed by war time padres that never was an atheist found in a fox-hole. People turn to the God who made them for help in time of need, and for relief from suffering. Those who died for us, died out of love for God. Soldiers fighting with proper motives for a just cause fight for God. Father O'Neill read the list of those buried there and in other cemeteries and offered prayer."

Bandsman Thomas Brooks, sounded the Last Post and Reveille with the silence intervening. While flowers were laid before a white cross, poppies were pinned to the markers on comrades' graves by other comrades.

Same Ceremonial

The same ceremonial was carried out at the Protestant Cemetery which was next visited. Here the names of comrades interred here and in other cemeteries, were read by Comrade W. J. Cottrell. The parade returned to the Legian Hall for dismissal.

The Girl Guides, which lent added color to the parade, were under command of Capt. Mrs. S. York, assisted by Lieut. Mrs. C. Bedore.

Mr. Albert Bartlett has returned home from a visit to relatives in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dickson and daughter, Karen, of Beaverton; Miss Barbara Dickson and Mr. Richard Howe of Oshawa and Mr. and Mrs. T. Pritchard and daughter Margaret of Peterborough, spent the week-end with Mrs. T. E. Potts and Mrs. W. Bedore.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jones of Stirling, visited Mr. C. Jones on Sunday.

Mrs. T. E. Potts is spending a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Dickson and Mr. Dickson, in Beaverton.

Mr. William Jones spent the week-end in Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. John Exley have returned from a two weeks' visit with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Hutchinson in Detroit, Michigan, having attended the wedding of Barbara-Jo Hutchinson and William Roy Feltner, which took place on Saturday in the Martha Mary Chapel, Greenfield Village, Dearborn. The chapel in which the wedding was solemnized was the gift of Henry Ford to Greenfield Village, Dearborn, in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Ford's mothers.

Weddings

ELLIOTT—ATKINS

At All Saints' Anglican Church, Penetanguishene, Ontario, a very pretty double-ring wedding ceremony was solemnized on Saturday, August 8, at 3:00 p.m., when Miss Muriel Gloria Atkins, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Atkins, Penetang, Ontario, graduate of McMaster University, became the bride of Mr. Robert Heath Elliott, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Elliott, Stirling, Ontario, graduate of Toronto University. Rev. D. H. M. Crane, rector of the church officiated, assisted by Rev. R. T. C. Dwelly, of New Toronto, before a lovely background of pastel gladioli and ferns.

Mr. John Symons, church organist, rendered the traditional wedding music and Mrs. Andrew Morrison, of Penetang, sang "The Lord's Prayer" preceding the service of Holy Communion. During the signing of the register, Mr. Digby Peers, of Toronto, sang "Where'er You Walk".

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a full-length bridal gown of mist white imported net over taffeta, fashioned with molded strapless bodice and full skirt with circular train, accentuated by a redingote of hand-embroidered tulle with Queen Anne collar and long fitted sleeves. A tiara of rhinestones held her fingertip veil of bridal illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of white gladenias, stephanotis, and tinted baby's breath.

Mrs. Douglas Kettle, of Barrie, was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Beryl McArthur, Kitchener; Miss Jean Dodds, Orangeville, and junior bridesmaid, Miss Donalda Heath, of Stirling, Ontario, cousin of the bridegroom.

All were gowned alike in floor-length gowns of shrimp corded taffeta, fashioned with strapless bodices, frosted with white French Guipure lace and fitted jackets, with stand-up collars and deep scoop necklines. They wore lace cloche bonnets with shrimp taffeta trim and carried scoop straw baskets filled with pink gladenias and white carnations.

Mr. James Dundas, of Toronto, was groomsman and the ushers were, Mr. Douglas Woodley, of Toronto, and Mr. Peter MacPherson, of Willowdale, all wore navy jackets and gray flannels.

The wedding reception was held at the Midland Golf and Country Club, which was appropriately decorated with baskets of pastel gladioli and other summer flowers for the occasion.

The 110 guests were received by the bride's mother, Mrs. A. Atkins, who was gowned in a cocktail-length navy faille taffeta redingote over skirt of white pleated tulle, navy stole lined with white taffeta, with matching accessories and corsage of white roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. H. Elliott, who wore a cocktail-length gown of coronation pink faille matellase, pheasant feather hat, rhinestone encrusted, with cocoa accessories and corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

For motoring through the New England States, to Boston and Quebec, the bride chose a horizon blue linen suit with matching hat, cinnamon colored accessories and corsage of bronze roses. She carried a tangerine wool topcoat.

Out-of-town guests were present from Montreal, Ottawa, Belleville, Stirling, Peterborough, Oshawa, Toronto, Hamilton, Orillia, Barrie, Kitchener, Orangeville, Markdale, Willowdale, Palmerston, Guelph, Midland and Elmvale.

PERRY—BROOKS

Mixed gladioli and ferns decorated the Tabernacle United Church, 7th of Murray, for the marriage at two o'clock on Saturday, August 15, of Shirley Marie Brooks, and Morley Glenn Perry. The bride is the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brooks, Frankford, Ontario, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. Clifford Perry and the late Mrs. Perry. Rev. William Fletcher officiated.

Mrs. Lee Grills, of Belleville, played traditional wedding music and Miss Jarka Novak, of Batawa, sang "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony and "Because" during the signing of the register. She was accompanied at the piano by Miss Marilyn Spencer, of Frankford.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in her gown of white Chantilly lace with nylon net skirt over satin, a nylon net yoke set with rhinestones and pearls, and long tightly fitted sleeves ending in lily-points over the hands. The floor-length veil of tulle illusion was held by a coronet halo set with rhinestones and pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses, stephanotis, tied with white satin ribbon.

Mrs. Delbert McComb, Belleville, was her sister's matron of honor, gowned in yellow taffeta over crinoline. The sleeves featured lily-points over the hands and she carried a nosegay of red carnations, white roses and mauve gladioli.

Miss Doreen Rogers, Frankford, Ontario, as bridesmaid, was dressed in a gown of orchid net over taffeta with a crinoline underskirt and a molded bodice of brocaded taffeta with matching bolero. She carried a nosegay of yellow gladioli, white roses and red carnations.

Miss Janet Elmy, of Detroit, Mich., cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid, wearing a gown of lime green net over taffeta with a crinoline underskirt, with strapless bodice of lace and matching cape. She carried a nosegay of red carnations, white roses and pink gladioli.

The matron of honor and bridesmaids all wore matching headdresses of lily-of-the-valley and roses.

Miss Barbara Rogers was a dainty little flower girl in a long gown of pink taffeta with overskirt of net caught up with rosebuds. She wore a matching headdress and carried a nosegay of blue, white and pink carnations with yellow roses.

Master Allen Brooks, young brother of the bride was trainbearer, wearing long white trousers and navy jacket.

Mr. Douglas Perry, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The ushers were, Mr. Delbert McComb, Belleville, and Mr. Nelson Vader, of Foxboro.

The reception of 120 guests was held in the church hall, the bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom, it was swathed with white gladioli at the base, and lighted candles were on either side.

The guests were received by the bridal party assisted by the parents of the bride and father of the bridegroom and the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Ross Hubble.

The bride's mother wore a gown of orchid sheer over taffeta with a yoke of nylon lace, orchid picture hat with white accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations and pink roses.

The bridegroom's aunt wore a gown of orchid nylon lace over taffeta with black accessories. She wore a corsage of pink carnations.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. W. Fletcher, responded to by the bridegroom. Mr. Arnold Elmy, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast to the matron of honor, bridesmaids and flower girl, the response given by Mr. Basil Brooks, uncle of the bride.

The waitresses were, Miss Barbara James, Mrs. Nelson Vader, Miss Barbara Wiley, Miss Hilda Wiley, Miss Winnifred Perry, Mrs. Ian Ingram, Miss Fenny Bouma and Miss Dorothy Cleaver, all gowned in light blue.

The bride's gift to her bridegroom, luggage; to her attendants, pianist, and soloist, earrings; to the flower girl, a gold locket, and to the ring-bearer, identification bracelet; to her waitresses, cups and saucers. The bridegroom's gift to his bride, a rhinestone bracelet and earrings; to the best man, tie with gold initial and tie clip; to the ushers, ties with gold initials.

The happy couple left on a trip to Niagara and Buffalo, the bride travelling in a gown of orchid organza, over taffeta with white accessories and blue checked topcoat with black velvet, her corsage was pink carnations. They will make their home at 31 Charles Street, Oshawa.

Mr., Mrs. H. Twiddy Celebrate Their 30th Anniversary

On Saturday evening, friends neighbors and relatives from Madoc, Oshawa, Quebec, Belleville, and surrounding districts, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Twiddy, Foster Avenue, to help them celebrate their 30th wedding anniversary and present them with various gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Twiddy, the former Helen Archibald, were married at the bride's home in Cannifton, by the late Rev. E. Farnsworth, minister of the Cannifton United Church, (then Methodist) circuit. The witnesses were the late Lew Johns, and Mrs. R. Lockyer, cousin and sister of the bride; Mrs. J. Beaton (B. Johns), furnished the wedding music, while Miss Margaret Smallhorn, now of Toronto, acted as flower girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Twiddy have lived nearly all their married lives on the farm north of Belleville off the Foxboro highway until this spring when Mr. Twiddy retired from farming.

They have two children, Mrs. Charles Maybee (Betty), of Clinton, Ont., and son, Clare, of this city. Both of their children and their families, as well as Mrs. Harford Twiddy and Mrs. John Archibald, mothers of Mr. and Mrs. Twiddy, were able to be present for the occasion.

After a social time and a sing-song with Mrs. Alvin Holland, of Madoc, at the piano, refreshments were served by the younger ladies of the gathering.

Following the repast, Mr. George Twiddy, of Oshawa, acted as chairman for the speeches by the various friends present. A good deal of advice as to how to spend another 30 years of married life was forthcoming, but all wished the couple many more years of happy and prosperous married life.

Mr. and Mrs. Twiddy made suitable replies, thanking everyone for coming to help them celebrate the happy occasion and also thanking them for their lovely gifts.

Perhaps two of the speakers should have special mention. Along with his remarks to his nephew and niece, Mr. Mason Twiddy referred to his own happy marriage of 53 years ago. Mrs. Farnsworth spoke of the Christian principles so faithfully adhered to by Mr. and Mrs. Twiddy, which always form the background of a successful and happy marriage.

After more good wishes and singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows", the happy occasion ended everyone having had a most pleasant evening.

Making of Hooked Rugs Still Popular After Many Years

TORONTO — The making of hooked rugs is an old craft that has retained its popularity over the years, says Miss Audrey Spencer, Supervisor of Homecrafts for the Ontario Women's Institute Branch and Home Economics Service.

Miss Spencer advises that in planning a hooked rug, the first thing to consider is where it is to be used. It must fit the floor space and its colors must harmonize with the color scheme used in the room. It is to be remembered that pictures of people, animals or landscapes are never used to walk upon, but may be used to advantage as wall hangings.

A simple pattern is most attractive, and may be repeated over the whole rug. A familiar example of this is the boot pattern used by our grandmothers, when the pattern was made by tracing around the heel of a man's boot and was repeated over and over. Dividing the burlap into squares and repeating simple flower shapes in the squares was another method that produced an attractive design. The flowers were often copied from the women's gardens or from their china.

"One of the reasons for the popularity of rug hooking through the years is the fact that the tools and materials used are so easy to find," continues Miss Spencer. "They are often materials that are of no further use and would otherwise be discarded."

To make a frame for the rug which is to be hooked, one may use four strips of wood held together at the corners by clamps. Burlap is the material most often used for the foundation of the rug and may be purchased from an upholsterer. A good firm feed bag will serve quite as well though. The hook used by most enthusiasts is the cheapest on the market. Many people make their own by filing a hook in a large nail and inserting it in a wooden handle. Some have even been known to make a very good hook from an old tooth-brush handle.

When it comes to choosing the material from which the rug is to be made, Miss Spencer advises that discarded wool garments give the most satisfactory results. These may be dyed to get the desired colors, then cut in strips varying in width from one-quarter to one-half inch, depending on the weight of the material. Any material may be used but do not mix — make the entire rug of the same material in order that it will wear evenly.

Those of you who have not yet become interested in this craft would be well advised to make a start. Not only are the materials inexpensive and easy to come by, as we have mentioned, but there is also a real sense of satisfaction that comes from having created something as useful and ornamental as a hooked rug. Try it for yourself and we are sure you will agree.

Mothers-to-Be Being Taught Self Hypnosis

LONDON (Reuters) — Young mothers-to-be are being taught self-hypnosis at one of London's largest hospitals to prepare them for painless childbirth.

The method has been used successfully here for more than three years, but still is in a more or less experimental stage.

At the hospital, seven expectant young women are taking regular lessons from a specialist whose name must remain secret for professional reasons.

In about 10 sessions during the last six weeks of pregnancy, the women are taught how to relax, then are hypnotized and finally taught how to put themselves into a trance.

Can Reduce Pain

As in "natural childbirth," where mothers are taught to relax completely, the absence of fear and muscular tension is said to reduce birth pains to a minimum.

The specialist said Tuesday self-hypnosis "is really an extension of the ordinary relaxation classes given to mothers under the normal ante-natal care system."

"First of all," he said, "the whole physiological process of childbirth is explained to her. When she understands what is happening, it is easier for her to relax.

"Once she has the art of relaxation, it needs only a word from a doctor or a midwife to put her in a trance. Eventually she can put herself in a trance."

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

The Burnt Child Doesn't Dread the Fire Enough!

"The burnt child dreads the fire" is a proverb that speaks for itself.

It's one that ought to have a companion piece, however, that would read something like this: "The fire never loses its fascination, even for the child who gets burned by it."

Now marriage is a fire as fascinating as it is full of danger; a fire, like any other, which can either warm and comfort those who bask in its presence, or spit out sparks that burst into a disastrous and all-consuming conflagration. When the latter happens, there are a few men and women who resolve, after that one searing experience, to stay away from the fire forever, and who stick by that resolve. But the vast majority of human beings, "burnt" though they may be, continue to hover around the thought of marriage like a moth around a flame, until they are finally caught up in it again.

Only the reckless, however, rush headlong into a second marriage after they have been freed from a first in which they have been severely scarred by flame. Most divorced persons do hesitate a long time before they venture again.

Some of them naturally, hesitate because they're just plain scared. They're afraid the new marriage may explode in their faces just as the first one did. Others, looking more carefully into all aspects of the situation than they perhaps did in first instance recognize signs and warnings that make them want to weigh the matter a long time before starting in all over again. Qualities that they passed blithely over in the first love because they didn't know enough, then, to evaluate them give them pause when they see the same ones cropping out in the second person who bids for their affection. Or else they see in-law trouble looming on the horizon, or possible financial difficulties, or something else that they would never have stopped to wonder about when under the spell of that initial romance

Fears a Second Mistake

Both these things — a generalized fear of a second mistake, and a definite fear of specific factors that might cause later trouble, are worrying one young divorcee who writes me:

"At 25, and after having been married at 19, I have been divorced for two years, have a little daughter three years old and am engaged to marry again. I love this man very much, and he is very fond of my child, which makes me feel he would be a good father to her. But there are things that frighten me when I look ahead to our marriage.

"First, his family is very much against his marrying me. They have three complaints against me, one that I have been divorced; two, that their son and I are of different faiths; and three, because I am three years older than he is. On my side, I am afraid that I may possibly be hurt again, as I was in my first marriage. My fiance tells me he will always be good to me, and that he will never change in his feeling for me. He also promises that he will never let his family come between us, or be influenced by what they say. But still I cannot lose my fear that it may all go wrong."

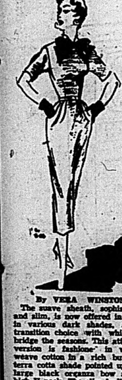
Now as I look at it, this general fear of being hurt again is far less serious, and much easier to overcome, than the other things this young woman mentions. For a fear of being wounded again would quickly disappear if all other conditions were right for happiness, but I'm afraid that here they are not.

For one thing, I wonder if a young man of 22 who has never been married is a good choice for a young woman of 25 who has been married and divorced. Under the best of circumstances, a marriage between experience and inexperience has its pitfalls. Where the woman is older both in years and in sophistication, it might present a double hazard.

Again, even though there were no family opposition, any marriage between people of different faiths is a risky thing unless the two involved are so deeply devoted to each other, so reasonable and tolerant by nature, and so intelligent in their approach to the problem that they will be able to adjust their differences of thought successfully.

Neither the family opposition nor the difference in faiths are necessarily insoluble problems. But I strongly advise this young woman to do her thinking carefully, and both of them to plan out the solution to their problems before, not after, their marriage.

Transition Treasure



By VERA WINSTON

The suave sheath, sophisticated and slim, is now offered in cotton in various dark shades, a nice transition choice with which to bridge the seasons. This attractive version is fashioned in worsted weave cotton in a rich but deep terra cotta shade pointed up by a large black organza bow at the high V neck. The slim bodice has flange shouldered sleeves, and there is a peg-top skirt. It should take nicely to early autumn accessories and complements.

Picnic Before the Performance

By Mary Moore

While we were on holidays we attended the Shakespearean Festival at Canada's Stratford on Avon.

All tourists were warned to bring along their own food supplies where possible. Since we had taken a cottage in Muskoka it was possible for us to pack one of our favorite picnic lunches.

We had the car full to the gunwales what with six Shakespearean addicts, the picnic lunch in of one of those new ice chests, and three copies of Shakespeare so we could bone up on Richard III during the drive.

My sister, than whom there is none better when it comes to preparing a Restigouche salmon, had boiled the lovely fish, chilled it in our icebox (melting ice and mighty thankful for it we were too) and had brought along Tartare Sauce for the perfect companion for it.

As we ate our picnic supper in the beautiful park beside the Avon river the swans did their share of performing by gliding by in formation before our eyes. At the picnic table nearest to ours was a station wagonful of American high school teachers, who had camping equipment and who were merrily frying hamburgs while they argued over the scenes from Richard.

Stratford folk are, and should be, proud of the wonderful community job they have done to handle the crowds. They were orderly and quiet and after the performance (and indeed before) thrilled to the marrow.

I still get goose pimply just thinking about Alec Guinness, who was not Alec Guinness, but Richard III in person to all true Believers. The Festival is an all-time high in theatre history.

But to come back to solid earth and food.

Steamed or Boiled, Salmon

We had a 2-lb. piece of Restigouche salmon, but this method may be used for any variety of large salmon. Wrap 2-lb. piece of salmon in parchment paper having about 2 thicknesses of it all round. Place in kettle with half inch of boiling water. Cover, bring to boiling and reduce heat so that it simmers for about 1-2 hour. Actually the fish steams which is what you want. If fish is very thick it may require a little longer. Lift out of water, drain off excess liquid, some of which accumulates inside paper, and chill fish in parchment paper overnight. This amount serves six adequately. Serve with Tartare Sauce or plain mayonnaise. To make Tartare Sauce from plain mayonnaise (not boiled dressing) add 1-2 tablespoon each chopped olives, sweet pickles, capers and parsley. All should be very finely chopped. If desired a few drops of onion juice may be added.

Recently I commented on packaged cake mixes. I have more praises to add. On this picnic because we were holidaying we had an angel food cake made from a packaged mix. If I never bake or taste a better one I will be perfectly happy. It was delicious—light tender and sufficient to feed six starving playgoers who had just finished a 200-mile trip.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Fried foods should be avoided.

Treatment For Blackheads

When city fathers get after the smoke nuisance and we have clean air there will be fewer sobs about dust-filled pores. In large cities tons of soot will fall in a comparatively short period and a share of it lands on human faces. Fighting dirt is the first step in the beauty routine.

Blackheads may appear in any skin, at any age, but they are more likely to develop when sebaceous glands are over-active and the surface of the epidermal coat is filmed with oil. These obnoxious blemishes come because the contents of the pores have hardened into wax-like masses, stretched the walls of the pores, and picked up atmospheric dust. They are perfect tenements for bacteria that cause pustules to form, hence the need of treatment when they first appear.

Soap and moist heat are recommended and there must be due regard for the diet which is an important factor. At bedtime the face should have a thorough and prolonged washing-not just a quick swishover with the washcloth. It is necessary that wash cloths should be changed frequently. Soiled washcloths are in abomination, often spread infections.

Some skin specialists recommend the use of shaving soap because it lathers quickly and freely. It should be frictioned into the flesh with the finger tips, the tissues lifted and pinched slightly to stimulate the blood streams. This pressure method forces the lather into the pores, loosens the deposits, helps to remove the black points.

Rinse with warm water. Then dip a heavy washcloth in fairly hot water and hold close to the flesh, giving it a good steaming. Repeat several times. Dry and apply a boric acid solution. Dissolve one teaspoonful of powdered boric acid in a cup of water; apply with pledgets of cotton. Let it dry. This treatment should be given at bedtime. In the morning dash on cold water.

Oily cosmetics should not be used unless the skin is rough, chapped or sunburned.

Diet is an important part of the treatment. Fried foods should be avoided; also cream, butter and ice cream. Pastries should be cut down to the minimum. No chocolate in any form.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. BEECKMAN

Bride-to-be vs Her Parents

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Our daughter is employed as the private secretary to the senior partner of a firm in New York City. She has worked there for over four years. Several of the junior partners of the firm have expressed the wish to come to her wedding and reception, and so she is planning to send invitations to them. She and I would like to know if you think she should or should not also send her "Boss" an invitation?

2. She makes a very good salary, but she says it's up to us, her father and mother, to pay for her wedding gown and all the other wedding expenses except the few expenses paid for by the groom. Is she right? This question is just for information as although we are in very moderate circumstances, we probably would pay the wedding expenses anyway.

F.W.

1. Yes, if she wishes, it would be quite proper for her to send a wedding invitation to the senior partner for whom she is private secretary. This invitation should be sent to his home address and, if he is married, it should be addressed to "Mr. and Mrs.—," even though she does not know his wife.

2. While theoretically it is "the bride's family" who pay all the expenses of the wedding (except, as you say, the few expenses paid by the groom), actually today the bride-to-be who "makes a very good salary" and whose family is in very moderate circumstances, often pays all the expenses of her wedding, and usually pays many of the expenses. If she is a generous-thoughted girl, she would naturally want to carry her share. If she is a "gimme" daughter . . .well, she would naturally want to get from her parents as much as they will give her.

The Groom Responds To The Toast

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When the toast is proposed "To the Bride and Groom," what are the necessary words to say in reply?

Bud

You're the bridegroom, I imagine, sir? When the wedding guests are drinking this toast "To the Bride and Groom," the bride and groom remain seated. When the guests are seated after the toast, the bridegroom rises and expresses thanks for his bride and himself. He may simply say a most gracious "Mary and I thank you," or "Mary and I thank all you dear friends for your good wishes for us—and we are so happy that you were all with us on Our Day." Or a pleasant response that always makes a hit is: "Mary and I thank you for being with us today—and we are looking forward to having you with us on Our Golden Wedding Day!"

Today "Jr." Or "Junior" After Groom's Name On Invitations

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My fiance is "Jr.," and in his name he uses "Jr."—not "junior." His name is quite long, he's so proud of his middle name that he wants to include this, and I'm afraid that there won't be room on the line of our wedding invitations to include all his name and "junior" too. Yet I understand that "junior" must be used on formal wedding invitations. What to do?

Rowena M.

Here's comfort for you . . . today, in formal wedding invitations, "Jr." is used much more often than "junior." That's been true for only the last few years and is now considered correct. One reason for this is the circumstance you give . . . that the "junior" made the line too long, even after a fairly long name. Also most men, like your prospective bridegroom, use "Jr."—rarely "junior."

Four Members Of Institute Are Honored

TORONTO (CP)—The board of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada Monday presented life memberships in the Women's Institute to four members in recognition of their work in preparing the program and hospitality for delegates attending the triennial meeting of the Associated Country Women of the World, just ended here.

Those honored were Mrs. Hugh Summers, Fonthill, FWIC president; Mrs. Gordon Maynard, Unionville, treasurer; Mrs. J. E. Houck, Brampton, citizenship convener, who was head of the billeting committee; and Mrs. J. R. Futcher, St. Thomas, a past president who also was convener of hospitality.

Mrs. Summers, in her presidential address, said membership in Canada now has reached 87,000.

QUERY BY RUSSIANS

OSLO (Reuters) — Cambridge University undergraduates on a scientific expedition to the Arctic island of Spitsbergen recently were asked by Russian miners "are you up here to find sites for American airfields?" Expedition leader Patrick Parks in a radio interview from Tromso, Norway, said Monday night the students did not take the question seriously. He said the undergraduates were well received at the Russian mining colony of Pyramiden.

Simple Adding Device Envy Of Salesmen

VANCOUVER (CP) — A bookkeeper in a West Vancouver business house has a simple adding device which is not conducive to gaining the favor of the adding machine salesman.

In fact, Woldemar Janz showed recently that the modern adding machine is no match for his ancient Russian abacus, which consists of seven horizontal rows of 10 beads. With the aid of his manual calculator, Janz defeated an adding machine in a straight test for speed and accuracy.

At one time Janz used his abacus—pronounced "schieta" in Russian—to compute the payroll for 600 employees in a west coast logging camp.

The Lynn Valley resident says his Russian abacus, which is much simpler than the more famous Chinese abacus, "requires almost no mental effort." In fact, he says: "Anyone with common sense can quickly learn to use it. Speed can be attained very quickly."

Copy of Bill Sent to Japan

TORONTO (CP)—A copy of bill 80, which established Metropolitan Toronto, and other documents relating to the new administration are being sent to Japan.

They are going to the governor of Tokyo as a result of a request from the Japanese embassy in Ottawa. A letter from the embassy to Toronto civic officials said Tokyo is trying to improve its own administration and is interested in the metropolitan administration and what budget it will have next year.

Norwegian Ship Loading Wheat For Britain

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — The Spind, 2,800-ton Norwegian ship here on her second visit, is to start today to load 100,000 bushels of wheat which she will carry to Britain.

Part of the cargo will be loaded at Lakehead elevators and part at Montreal. Clearances in the Great Lakes canal system prevent the Spind from taking her full load from here.

After a 16-day voyage from Antwerp to Montreal, the Spind unloaded steel from Europe at Montreal and Chicago, then called here 2½ weeks ago to take a load of grain to Chicago.

250,000 JAPS DIE

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese foreign office said Monday that nearly 250,000 Japanese have died in Soviet - controlled territories since 1945. It also said that about 50,000 Japanese still were under Russian control. In addition, 16,596 are believed to have perished behind the Iron Curtain, it added.

Mercury Hovers Near Freezing Point in Search

EDMONTON (CP) — Temperatures hover near the freezing point as a search for two Roman Catholic missionaries and four Eskimos continues without success in the Arctic.

The RCMP here identified the missionaries Monday only as Fathers Metayer and Tardy, who disappeared with their Eskimo crew during a boat trip from Reed Island, on the south shore of Victoria Island, to Coppermine, N.W.T., on the Arctic coast. They did not show up at Coppermine Aug. 14 as scheduled.

Reed Island is 1,100 air miles due north of Edmonton.

Landlord Charged

TORONTO (CP)—Edward MacKinnon, 35, of Toronto was taken to hospital Monday night with severe stab wounds. Police arrested William Byrnes, 25, believed to be his landlord, and charged him with attempted murder.

Police said MacKinnon staggered out of the house after an argument about a key to the front door, bleeding from a number of wounds. He tried to return to the house but collapsed.

Early today, MacKinnon's condition was described as critical.

11 Pitchers Hope to Win 20 Games This Season, Some Will Need Luck

Robin Roberts Posts No. 21 By Handcuffing Milwaukee; Warren Spahn Is Closest

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

At least 11 pitchers still nurse hopes of joining Robin Roberts of Philadelphia Phillies as 20-game winners this season, but most of them will need Lady Luck on their side to make the grade.

With less than five weeks to play even Roberts, who at one stage looked a good bet to win 30, probably will consider himself extremely fortunate if he comes close to his last year's total of 28.

The strong-armed righthander posted victory No. 21 Tuesday night 13 days after winning No. 20, by handcuffing Milwaukee on five hits for a 6-1 decision.

Closest to him in either league is lefty Warren Spahn of the Braves who won his 18th Sunday.

Five of the other 10 hopefuls worked Tuesday night. Carl Erskine of Brooklyn, Gerry Staley of St. Louis Cardinals and Bob Porterfield of Washington all won their 16th games. Billy Pierce of Chicago White Sox failed in his bid for No. 17 and Bob Lemon of Cleveland was beaten trying for his 18th.

After 17th Win

Harvey Haddix of the Cardinals goes after his 17th victory today against New York Giants. The others with a chance all are in the American League—Mel Parnell of Boston and Virgil Trucks of Chicago with 17 each and Whitey Ford of New York and Mike Garcia of Cleveland with 15 apiece.

Roberts' success Tuesday night enabled the Phillies to break even since the Braves took the second game 6-2. Brooklyn split a pair with Chicago Cubs, losing 3-1 and winning 6-5. The Giants beat the Cardinals 3-0 and lost 9-2. Cincinnati won two from Pittsburgh 8-6 and 9-8.

In the American League the Yankees picked up a game on the White Sox and now lead by 9½. New York edged Detroit 6-3 in 11 innings and Chicago lost to Philadelphia Athletics 4-2. Washington beat Cleveland 8-4 and Boston and St. Louis Browns weren't scheduled.

Eddie Mathews of Milwaukee hit his 40th home run in the first game off Roberts. In the nightcap Lew Burdette, the best percentage pitcher in the league, won his 13th against two losses.

Jackie Hits Two Homers

Erskine owed his success against Chicago to Jackie Robinson's two home runs. In the opener Clyde McCullough doubled home one run and homered with one on for the other two as the Cubs won their first game in Brooklyn this season.

Staley found it easy at the Polo Grounds where the fumbling Giants committed five errors in the nightcap. Ruben Gomez tamed the Cardinals on four hits for his 11th victory and third shutout in the opener.

Clutch home runs by Bob Borkowski in the first game and Roy McMillan in the second gave Cincinnati a sweep at Pittsburgh.

Detroit stayed on even terms with the Yankees through 10 innings, but the Yanks pushed across four in the 11th, three on a bases-loaded double by Gil McDougald.

Pierce was beaten by home runs by a pair of former Chicago teammates, Gus Zernial and Dave Philley. Zernial hit two, one of them with a man aboard, and Philley hit one. The White Sox managed only two hits off the combined offerings of Joe Coleman and Morris Martin.

Football Training Notes

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

With season openers almost at hand, Canadian big-time football teams are putting the finishing touches on their training.

Some coaches still wonder who to keep and who to send packing.

Take the case of Carl Voyles of Hamilton Tiger-Cats. With only three practices remaining before the Big Four opener Saturday in Hamilton between Ottawa Rough Riders and his team, Voyles must make his choice of the 11 players who still will be around.

Honeymooning Joe Shinn is odds-on to rate a place in the opener, if only to qualify as a third-year import before he takes off for the west coast and an overseas posting with the United States Air Force. Shinn, with half a dozen workouts here behind him this year, likely will be used in a defensive spot.

Bob Celeri is favored to handle the quarterback job. Vince Mazza and either Ralph Sazio or Bob Cross will be at tackle. At fullback, it shapes up as a choice between Bill Gregus and Lou Kusserow, with Bernie Custis at one of the half positions.

Montreal Alouettes have injury troubles. Chuck Hunsinger, Nub Smith, Tommy Manastersky, Cec Finlay and Joey Pal are all on on the sick list and only Hunsinger is expected to dress for the game against Toronto Argonauts tonight.

Tex Coulter and Joe Scott will play their first game against the Argos, as will Herb Capozzi, former Hamilton and Calgary lineman. Doug McNichol, prize draft rookie from the University of Western Ontario, will make his pro debut with the Alouettes.

Ottawa has 36 men in camp but will take only 26 to Hamilton. It looks as though halfback Ed Yablonski will see action after all in the Hamilton game, for his bad knee apparently is healing. Uncertain for the season is Joe Harris, who played last year with University of Toronto and is Ottawa's top draft choice from the college ranks. The big tackle has leg trouble. The Riders are holding light workouts and sharpening up their timing.

The Argonauts, last year's Grey Cup winners, will field 26 players while leaving four others in the sick bay. Al Bruno, Joe Krol, Don McKenzie and Jack Roberts will sweat out the opener from the sidelines.

Coach Frank Clair hinted Tuesday night that, if the Argos do as well as they are capable of doing, even an improved Alouette squad under Doug Walker isn't going to keep them from rolling to victory.

Nobby Wirkowski will match his pitching arm against Sam (The Rifle) Etcheverry.

For Winnipeg Blue Bombers, a broken collar bone suffered by Gar Baxter Saturday and a sprained ankle picked up by Ron Vachver Monday are likely to be costly. Baxter had been counted on to take care of the offensive centre spot in the opener in Winnipeg against Edmonton Eskimos Saturday night. An American will go in at offensive centre—either John Brown or Keith Carpenter. Al Passman, cut from the Bomber roster Friday, left for Calgary Monday.

Coach Darrell Royal of Edmonton has picked Claude Arnold to be starting quarterback in the Winnipeg game Saturday. Ed Crowder, newcomer from Oklahoma, will call the signals in the Eskimos' game at Regina Monday. Halfback Jim Chambers suffered a freak knee injury in drills and will miss both tilts.

All 39 players who have been working out are expected to make the week-end trip. Because of transportation difficulties, eight of the younger ones will take the train Thursday night, while the others will fly to Winnipeg Friday.

The Eskimos' new white-and-green uniforms have come under fire from Regina, where the Roughriders have been wearing those colors for years.

Calgary Stampeders' quarterback Frankie Albert and halfback Johnny Bright are in top shape after missing the exhibition games. John Henry Johnson, Stamps' powerful fullback, has recovered from a groin injury.

Coaches Bob Snyder and Lou Rymkus have been studying films of the eastern games and say they have the players well tabbed. They still are on the lookout for tackles and defensive ends to bolster the line.

Saskatchewan fans had their first opportunity to see their boys in action when Joe Aguirre's whites rolled to a 15-0 victory over Frank Filchok's greens in an intersquad game at Regina Monday. Frank Tripucka, former Notre Dame and Dallas Texan quarterback, starred for the whites. Coach Filchok wanted the Canadians to see extra action before the grind starts to give them a chance to prove themselves before he trims down the squad.

Helicopter Loses To Earl's Song

SEDALIA, Mo. (AP) — Earl's Song, three-year-old filly from the Castleton Farms, defeated Helicopter, winner of the Hambletonian, in the Breeders Filly Stake for three-year-old trotters in Tuesday's grand circuit racing at the Missouri State Fair.

Curly Smart drove Earl's Song to the front in both heats, winning the first mile in 2:01. Helicopter, owned by J. Elgin Armstrong and C. E. Armstrong, brothers from Brampton, Ont., was second, driven by Del Miller. Miss Mary Stewart took third in the $5,880 grand circuit feature.

An extra heat was necessary to decide the $5,500 Breeders Filly Stake for pacers with Countess Vivian coming back on the third mile after copping the first heat in 2:03 2-5. Security Hanover took the second heat. Pleasant Surprise was third in all three heats.

Grace Lenczyk, Pat Lesser Win Big Matches

By WILL GRIMSLEY

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — Grace Lenczyk of Newington, Conn., a comebacking ex-titlist, and Pat Lesser, 19-year-old college champion from Seattle, won the big matches Tuesday as the field in the United States women's amateur golf tournament was reduced to 32.

The 25-year-old Miss Lenczyk, who hasn't done much since she swept the national and collegiate crowns in 1948, survived a dogged 20-hole duel with Joyce Ziske, the first day giant-killer from Waterford, Wis.

The willowy, blonde New Englander clinched the match with a par four on the second extra hole. Miss Ziske, 19, eliminated the British champion, Canada's Marlene Stewart, Monday.

Miss Lesser took the measure of Claire Doran, Curtis Cup member from Cleveland, 3 and 2. The Seattle girl was never behind.

Favorites Keep Pace

Other prime favorites kept pace in the 43-match eliminations over the 6,371-yard, par 74 Rhode Island Country Club course.

These included Mrs. Mark Porter of Philadelphia, 1949 winner; Curtis Cuppers Marjorie Lindsay McMillen of Decatur, Ill., and Mrs. Howard Smith, the former Grace Demoss, of Corvallis, Ore., and such well-liked contenders as little Roslyn (Cookie) Swift of Great Neck, N. Y.; Pat Garner of Midland, Tex., 1952 semi-finalist; Barbara McIntire of Toledo, Ohio, and Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga.

There's been a ground swell of sentiment for Miss Faulk, who is playing some of the most brilliant golf of the tournament. Tuesday she toyed with Mary Sargent of Memphis, Tenn., winning 6 and 4.

Miss Swift, the metropolitan New York and state champion, had a sparkling 37, one under par, for the front side and was only one over for 17 holes as she eliminated Polly Martin of St. Clairsville, Ohio, 3 and 1.

Oshawa Team In Bad Spot For Playoff Berth

GALT (CP)—Oshawa Merchants practically lost their chance of a playoff berth in the senior Intercounty Baseball League Tuesday night when they were beaten 5-1 by Galt Terriers.

It was Jeep Jessup's 15th victory of the season. He held the visitors to four hits and boosted his strikeout record for the season to 135.

The powerful Negro righthander outpitched the Merchants' ace, Bud Ripplemeyer. The lone run off him was the first scored in the last 26 innings he has pitched on the home field. An error robbed him of three consecutive shutouts.

Oshawa's lone counter came in the sixth with one out on Bill Turk's second hit of the game. Ted O'Connor hit to Cline who cut off the Merchants and then in a bid for a double killing, Pontarelli threw low to first. Then big Butch Lawing got an automatic double, the ball bouncing over the right field fence.

Galt won the game in the fourth when Sam Claypool came through with his first homer of the season with two on base.

Oshawa now is 1½ games behind London for fourth place with only two games to go.

Sport in Brief

VANCOUVER (CP)—Suspension of jockey Richard Rossall from racing for life was upheld Tuesday at a special hearing at Exhibition Park.

The hearing was held before Bert Thompson, western representative of the Jockey Guild, who flew here to investigate the case after the 17-year-old rider from Pleasanton, Calif., was set down for an unsatisfactory ride here aboard Vally Band Aug. 18. He was accused of "pulling" his mount.

In a prepared statement Thompson said he "must agree with the official ruling that he (Rossall) should be ruled off the racetrack for life."

The statement also said a jockey in the same race gave evidence at the hearing that Rossall had told him of betting $100 on another horse in the race for which he was set down.

Rossall denied betting on another horse and said the $100 had been on his own mount.

EDMONTON (CP)—Horse racing bettors pushed a record 0186,670 into the pari-mutuel mindows Monday as the Prairie Thoroughbred Breeders and Racing Association's annual Edmonton meet came to an end. Total for the 14-day meet was $2,440,557, an increase of $156,864 over last year.

NEW YORK (CP)—Don (Bones) Raleigh, New York Rangers centre Tuesday became the first member of the team to sign for the 1953-54 National Hockey League season. Raleigh made the 1,600-mile trip from Winnipeg for a physical checkup. Ranger physicians said he has completely recovered from the compound fracture of the left wrist which he suffered in an exhibition game before the star of the 1952-53 season.

LONDON (AP) — The former heavyweight boxing champion, Ezzard Charles, may be the next opponent for Don Cockell, Britain's heavyweight king. British promoter Jack Solomons wants to arrange a bout for Cockell in London, Sept. 29.

"If Cockell's manager agrees to the date, I shall try to get a top-ranking American, possibly Charles, as the opponent," Solomans said Tuesday.

By Nightfall 48 Aspirants Can Pack Up and Go Home

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Fast picking up speed, interest and the bugaboo of upsets, the Canadian amateur golf championship swings through 18-hole rounds today, and by nightfall 48 aspirants can pack up and go home.

The only thing sure in the next 24 hours of this big amateur show is that there is only one possibility of two of Britain's 10-man Walker Cup team bumping into each other until Friday.

The whole team got through Tuesday's second round intact, but it was a close squeak for lanky Joe Carr, British amateur champion, and Norman Drew.

Upsets In Making

There were half a dozen upsets in the making all day. The most explosive were those in which Tommy Hunter of Montreal carried Joe to the 21st hole before bowing out and Bob Spence, a top-ranking player of the host club, gave Drew the golf scare of his life with a 20-foot putt that mockingly hung on the lip of the cup at the 19th.

The biggest upheaval came when Gordon Ball of Kitchener unceremoniously bounced out Nick Weslock of Windsor, Ont.

Weslock has been hammering on the championship door for half a dozen years. He lost in the final in 1950 to Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver.

Many thought Nick's assignment in Tuesday's second round was a cake-walk. He had already defeated the Kitchener chemical engineer five times in tournament play this season. This time the 29-year-old Kitchener player won, and it was his putting that did it.

Weslock was two down at the turn and could never get ahead of Ball. Nick three-putted a couple of greens, and away went his chances. He got back one hole, but Ball went on to win one up.

Carr Gets Bye

Carr gets a bye through the morning round today.

The one possibility of Walker Cup members playing each other was a meeting between Drew and J. D. A. Langley. Drew was drawn against A. G. Peterson of Fitchburg, Mass., and Langley against Andre Tessier of Quebec, who Tuesday defeated R. A. Graham Jr. of Westbury, N.Y., 4 and 3.

There was also the possibility that Jimmy Wilson of Scotland would run up against Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener, one of Canada's best bets for the championship.

Wilson got by with a 3 and 2 win over J. V. Kerrigan of Montreal, while Kesselring easily disposed of Dr. Y. Dion of Montreal 7 and 6 despite a snagged thumb along the eighth fairway. Kesselring, playing from near a barbed wire fence, caught his thumb on the wire. Dr. Dion gave medical attention. Kesselring said he didn't think the injury would bother him in swinging.

Had To Spurt

Walter McElroy of Vancouver, 1951 Canadian amateur champion, had to put on a spurt at the last three holes to win over Marcel Pinsonnault of Montreal, one up. A loss for Walter would have been the biggest upset so far of the tournament.

McElroy said he was feeling badly—"Maybe I'm getting the flu, and I would gladly have shaken hands with Marcel at any hole; he really beat himself."

Going into the morning round today the Canadian survivors were still powerful—at least numerically. The Quebec Willingdon Cup team, which finished second to Ontario Saturday, was intact. Ontario, British Columbia and Manitoba each still had three players of their four-man teams in the championship hunt. Two from Alberta and the New Brunswick-Prince Edward Island combination were also still in. Rex Joudrey was Nova Scotia's lone team representative and the Saskatchewan team had disappeared.

Two provincial juniors were still left. Ted Homeniuk of Yorkton, Sask., who won 3 and 2 over Art MacKenzie of Charlottetown Tuesday, was drawn against Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, Kan., sole U.S. Walker team competitor.

Montreal Royals Regain Some Of Lost Power

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Royals regained some of the power that has kept them to the fore in International League circles these last few years, blasting Springfield Cubs 15-2 Tuesday night for their second victory in as many nights.

In other games, Rochester Red Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs split a twin bill, the Red Wings taking the opener 8-7 and dropping the nightcap 8-3; Ottawa Senators defeated Syracuse Chiefs 7-1 and Baltimore Orioles turned back Buffalo Bisons 6-4.

At Montreal, the Royals blasted Don Elston from the mound in the eighth with a nine-run barrage. It was the last meeting of the two clubs this season. The Royals won 17 of the 22 meetings.

Tom LaSorda started for the Royals and was replaced in the seventh by Ed Roebuck who received credit for his 11th victory in 24 starts.

Homer Did It

At Baltimore, a home run with a mate on base by Jack Mayo, with one out in the ninth, gave Baltimore the decision. Stan Jok had tied the count 4-4 in the eighth with his 18th homer.

At Syracuse, Bob Trice continued his mastery over the Chiefs who dropped their 16th straight game. It was the 19th win for Trice and his sixth in as many starts against the Chiefs.

The Athletics wrapped it up early against Art Hartley, collecting 13 hits off him and two successors. Bennie Zientara got four of the eight hits yielded by Trice.

Goliat's Big Bat

Goliat collected five hits in six trips to the plate, including three home runs and six runs batted in.

In the opener, Dennis Reeder, last of six Red Wing hurlers, was credited with the victory. He took over in the seventh and last inning with Rochester one run ahead and Toronto with the bases loaded and none out.

He struck out two and got the other on an infield fly to gain his 10th victory in 19 starts.

In the second game, lefty Hal Hudson stopped Rochester with four hits in the 7 1-3 innings he pitched. His control was off and he was relieved by Lou Sleater in the eighth. Hudson got the win, his fourth against no defeats.

Midget Matmen Again Will Be Special Feature

Snarly, gnarly Fred Atkins, the Australian champion, is the nearest that vinegary individual ever gets to being happy. Atkins fresh from a rugged victory over Timothy Geohagen, will meet Whipper Billy Watson, the British Empire champion, in the feature wrestling match at the Memorial Arena on Friday night. Whipper's title will be at stake.

The return of the fabulous midget matmen will be a special feature on the same program. Those mighty mites, the team of Little Beaver and Tuffy McCrae, will scat and scamper against the team of miniature muscleman, Sky Low Low and Tiger Jackson.

The first match will be Bert Ruby, of Detroit, against Al Costello, of New Zealand.

Regina Roughriders Have New Cast of Imports This Season

Written for The Canadian Press
By TOM MELVILLE

REGINA (CP) — Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union have only one way to look this season—and that is up. Tail-ender in the four-team loop last year, the provincial club has practically a new cast of imports, a new coach and a number of Canadian additions to go with a good crop of sophomores and veterans.

The railbirds who flocked some 2,000 strong to pre-season workouts are sure the 1953 Riders will be the greatest Saskatchewan threat since football made its remarkable post-war comeback.

But new coach Frankie Filchock, who guided Edmonton Eskimos to the Grey Cup final last fall, takes a different attitude. "If the experts pick up for last place, that's okay by me," he says.

Dobbs Key Man

Key man in the Rider makeup is quarterback Glenn Dobbs, who was playing coach last year. After the campaign the Dobber said he would be glad to return to Saskatchewan if only to be water boy, and he meant it, too.

Last year was one of economy for Riders, who operated on a $275,000 budget in a city with a population of only some 70,000.

With man of the old guard on the way out and a goodly number of rookies on the roster, the executives knew it was a rebuilding season.

They fully expected to lose money. They chose their imports accordingly. Dobbs took on the dual role of coach and player. Riders won only three games in 16, one at home. Despite this the crowds were the best ever and the club came up with a good balance on the books.

However, Dobbs had a tough season, often trying to lift the team with his own bootstraps. He played despite a leg injury, which reduced the all-star ability he employed when he led Saskatchewan to a losing Grey Cup final against Ottawa Rough Riders in 1951.

Things Different

This year things are different, the lanky 32-year-old quarter who still is Mr. Football to Saskatchewan fans, reported for practice frisky as a colt. And this time he won't have to go it alone. Frank Tripucka, with Dallas Texans last season, will spell him off at quarter. The import list is loaded with class.

Dobbs and tackles John Precheck and Martin Ruby, 1952 all star, are the only holdovers. For the line, Riders have brought in Ray Collins from San Francisco 49ers; guards John Wozniak from Dallas and Mario DeMarco, all-star the last two seasons with Edmonton; and centre Mel Beckett from Indiana University.

Get Along Swell

Any doubts about Filchock and Dobbs hitting it off soon disappeared. Dobbs takes tips from Filchock, who says he couldn't have a better field general.

Riders, who won 16-6 against Montreal Alouettes and lost 21-12 to Hamilton Tiger-Cats in preseason exhibition games, open their schedule at home Aug. 29 against Calgary Stampeders in the 12,700-seat Taylor Field. Seats go for $1.25 to $3.75. About 7,500 reserved seats already have been sold for the eight-game home schedule.

It was hoped for a time that Taylor Field would get lights but Regina again will be the only conference centre with afternoon games only.

The club will operate on a budget of about $300,000, with $25,000 of that coming from program sales and $10,000 from a car raffle. Wealthy patrons also will pitch in with $100 apiece.

Headlining the big two day boxing tournament under the floodlights at Bayshore Park are two hard punching welterweights Eddie Schamerhorn of Belleville and Roy Deshane of Trenton. They meet in a five round rematch Saturday, August 29. Schamerhorn TKO'd Deshane in the fifth round the first time they performed. The two day card also figures scrappy talent from the Bay of Quinte district in all weight classes.

Boyce's Win Pee Wee Title In Softball

Boyce's took the peewee softball championship of the city Monday evening by defeating Blaind's 24-11. They left no doubt as to who were the masters.

McDonald did the hurling for Boyce's. He gave up 13 hits over the route while he struck out four and walked six.

Hull and Donovan shared the mound duties. They gave up 18 hits, struck out one and walked five between them.

McDonald led Boyce's in the wood department with two homers and a single. Clapp banged the ball for three doubles and a single, while Gardiner and Mitchell each collected a four bagger.

Westfall led Blaind's at the plate with a triple, a double and two singles.

Day-to-Day Living Urged By Missionary

OSHAWA (CP)—D. L. Michael of Oshawa, religious liberty secretary of the Seventh Day Adventists, Monday night urged the delegates at the church's annual convention to bring Christianity to their community on the level of day-to-day living.

He said it can thus "make the most effective contribution to the happiness and well-being of our beloved Canada."

"The Christian missionary is one of the unsung heroes of the struggle against communistic atheism," Walter A. Nelson, president of the Seventh Day Adventist Church in Canada, said in an address to the conference.

As Dominion leader of Adventists, Mr. Nelson recently toured the Far East inspecting mission institutions supported and operated by his church.

He reported that the work being done by the church missionaries, many of whom are from Canada, is a practical contribution "to the material uplift of these peoples and thus serves as one of the most effective obstacles to spread of totalitarian ideologies."

New Party Formed

OTTAWA (CP) — Le Droit, French-language newspaper, said Monday that a new party, the Nationalist Front (Front Nationaliste), has been formed in Quebec and that activities likely will be confined to that province.

Le Droit says the main points of the platform are understood to be to defend the rights of French-speaking Canadians; to fight against Communist doctrine and the Labor-Progressive party; to raise the living standard of the working class.

LEGAL EXPERT DIES

QUEBEC (CP)—P. A. Juneau, QC, legal adviser to the attorney-general's department, died here Monday, aged 70. Born at Ham-Nord, Que., Mr. Juneau was admitted to the bar in 1905 and was named to the attorney-general's department in 1941.

Want Hypnotist To Bring Girl Out of Trance

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—The RCMP are searching for a travelling hypnotist-lecturer, to have him return here and bring out of a trance a 19-year-old waitress. He allegedly hypnotized her at a show here Saturday night.

Betty Black of Nelson, B.C., is in Banff Hospital where doctors report she has a "consuming desire" to sleep.

The hypnotist is known only as "The Great Dr. Zomb." If he cannot be found soon medical authorities are believed ready to call in a psychiatrist to try to return the girl to normal.

She can be awakened and will speak and walk, but drifts back to sleep at once. She will not eat. After Miss Black fell under a trance in Dr. Zomb's audience, she was taken to the stage to be brought out of the spell.

But at work next day she fell asleep three times. Later she was taken to hospital.

Ruffed Grouse Broods Smaller

During the past two months, Fish and Wildlife Staff in the Tweed District have been checking the size of Ruffed Grouse broods. 50 broods were counted containing 263 young, an average brood size of 5.3. This is below last year's average of 7.1.

Figures obtained seem to indicate that Ruffed Grouse are again on the downward trend in the cycle and if so, we can expect generally fewer birds this fall.

The cause of the cycle, to which much of our game is subject, is at present unknown. It is generally recognized however, that hunting has little effect on the number of grouse. New York State after completing a 20 year research program apparently supports this belief by setting an annual season of reasonable length, regardless of the cyclic fluctuations of the birds.

In Ontario where hunting pressure is considerably lighter, the conclusion reached should apply with even more effect.

AT THE McCARTHY — Richard Carlson and Barbara Rush, shown above, are starred in Universal-International's first Three-Dimension film "It Came From Outer Space", adapted for the screen from a story by Ray Bradbury, America's top science - fiction writer. Complete secrecy cloaked the filming of "It Came From Outer Space" opens today at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre, a special added attraction also filmed in Three Dimension features Nat King Cole with Russ Morgan's Orchestra.

AT THE BELLE—Clark Gable and Gene Tierney co-star for the first time as the lovers of "Never Let Me Go," Clarence Brown's M.G.M. romantic action-drama showing Today and Thursday at the Belle Theatre. Gable is seen as an American newspaper correspondent who rescues his young Russian ballerina wife from behind the Iron Curtain. An M.G.M. color cartoon, and Pete Smith creation are added attractions.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Half the battle in bridge is having a partner who knows what you mean and knows how to tell you what he means. So it is in the tournament deal with cards like those shown here:

NORTH
♥A Q 10 6 4 2
♦10 3
♣10 8 6

WEST
♠10 6
♥J
♦A 8 4
♣A K Q 7 5 4 2

EAST
♠J 8 7 5 3
♥3
♦Q J 9 6 5 2
♣9

SOUTH
♠Q 9 4 2
♥K 9 8 7 5
♦K 7
♣J 3

At a few tables the bidding bidding went like this:

South	West	North	East
Pass	3 C	3 H	Pass
4 H	Pass	Pass	Pass

The opening bid of three clubs is not correct. Because, such a bid denies a hand that contains a high card outside of the suit. It promises a hand with nothing but a seven card solid suit.

A skillful player sometimes uses it for tactical purposes. It may be justified for this if his partner is also skilled. But not if either or both are rated less than masters.

At most tables the bids went more correctly like this:

South	West	North	East
Pass	1 C	Dbl	Pass
2 H	3 C	3 H	4 D
4 H	5 C	5 H	All Pass

Lacking two high cards, east is correct in the first round pass of his west partner's opening one bid. Having once passed he can back in on a later round without misinforming his partner.

In a few cases the five diamond bid by west was doubled. Thus, contracts were reached either at four or five in hearts or diamonds of clubs; some doubled and some not.

Five diamonds would go down a trick when north cashes a heart and two spades. Five clubs could go down two or even three with no entry to dummy. Four hearts will make but should go down one.

Defenders who keep on their toes can add to the other guy's woes.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY, AUGUST 27, 1953.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Really justifiable ventures that have merit though wholly new can be given a try—with reservations. Check well before acting, but nothing risked, nothing gained.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Excellent outlook for new and productive propositions within your realm of capacity. Favored particularly: authors, teachers, journalists, banking, manufacturing, building interests.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—You can find unforeseen pleasure and business profit in things and places least expected. Get under the surface, delve into the unexplored where opportunity awaits.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Today you have a fine opportunity to take up those ideas long held up, planned in mind only. You must cultivate openings, use your intelligence in order to achieve.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—We suggest no extremes or straining, no excesses. Go along in a calm, sensible manner and you can achieve better results. Take time for relaxation.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—If you avoid excitement and over-work, you should have fine success within reason. Serenity will make the day happier, more profitable for all concerned.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Check well before final decisions as the wrong slant could really be harmful. Promote harmony. Good will best motto.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Today's influences may cause you to engage in unnecessary deals, drastic expressions that could upset things. Watch your step, be your better self and conditions will be favorable.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Your planet in splendid aspect for most worthy endeavors. Avoid radical moves, useless talk and you can turn in finer results. Romance, family interests all favored.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Balanced disposition is as important as a balanced budget of diet, to health, happiness and success. Be sanely aggressive today to counteract possible outside contention.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Good aspects all day but you may run into top flight opposition during a.m. Not so stimulating for new and untried propositions but routine, personal affairs should click.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—By proceeding sagaciously with money or investments you can make appreciable headway now. Matters pertaining to your position can be bettered by maintaining close relations with the proper people.

YOU BORN TODAY are usually clever and sound thinkers. Are dependable in business as well as in personal affairs. Have both artistic and mechanical talents and can succeed as economist, journalist, critic, public speaker, on stage or screen. You are good judge of values, both in human character and worldly matters, but may be too exacting at times. Don't overwork or carry troubles to bed. You need recreation, rest at regular intervals. Birthdate of: Joseph Reed, Sec'y. to Pres. Geo. Washington; Charles G. Dawes, Amer. statesman, economist.

Studying Results Of Spray Bombing Spruce Budworms

FREDERICTON (CP)—How effective was the spray bombing of the spruce budworm in northern New Brunswick this year?

That's one of the questions scientists are trying to answer in a handsome new laboratory here built by the science service of the federal department of agriculture.

One of the major projects before them is a study of spruce budworm control, along with methods and results of large-scale aerial spraying.

In the laboratory on the University of New Brunswick campus research work goes ahead on problems in the zoology and pathology of the forests in the four Atlantic provinces. It also houses workers on fruit insect problems, along with a regional library for agricultural science.

Little Benny's Note Book

The living room clock said after 9, and ma said, Benny, it's passed your bed time and I hope you wont need more than one invitation.

Well heck, ma, I meen G, I'm improving my mind by looking up big werds in the dictionerry, I said, and ma said, William.

Meening pop, and pop said, Benny.

Meening me, and I said, Well I am, pop, do you want me to prove it by naming you some big werds?

No, I'll prove it by asking you the meening of 3 werds, and if you make a perfect score you can stay up indefinitely, pop said.

Making me start to feel lucky, and pop said, the ferst werd is Australian.

G, that's a cinch, it meens something about Australia, I said, and pop said, I was referring to the seconderry meening, which is down under, sutch as down under the bed covers. The next werd is mow, he said.

Mow meens cut down, like grass, I said, and pop said, I've heard that use of it, but I'm only intristed in seconderry meenings, and the seconderry meening of mow is to hit the hay, or go to bed. Now I'll ask you to name the 3rd werd yourself. What is the ferst thing you do to an egg when you make an omelette? he said.

You brake it open. I said, and pop said, No, that's the ferst thing you do to the shell. The ferst thing you do to the egg is beet it, which is ancient slang for the refined modern werd scram. Do you know what that meens? he said.

Yes sir, I said, and pop said. Then suit the action to it.

Meening do it.

Which I did.

RCAF's Rescue Flight Performs Many Duties

NAMAO, Alta. (CP)—Running an ambulance and transportation service, assisting the RCMP and the Red Cross, and acting as search and rescue squadron for Canada's vast northland—these are just some of the tasks which fall to the RCAF's communications and rescue flight here.

The flight is responsible primarily for finding and rescuing lost persons, mostly fliers. But the records show it has performed many jobs which seem to have no connection with the RCAF.

Not written down in orders are ambulance flights, transport of government and scientific personnel, flying around mounties and their police dogs, and getting the Red Cross mobile blood donor clinic to northern outposts.

Battle Mosquitos

A newer job is carrying out spraying in the Fort St. John, Whitehorse and Penhold districts to control mosquitos.

The flight is one of five in Canada, each with a designated area to cover. The centre here, nine miles north of Edmonton, has by far the largest area of responsibility, comprising 1,500,000 square miles or almost half the total area of Canada.

One of the most famous searches was for bush pilot Johnny Bourassa. Aircraft probed forest areas for him for three weeks and covered nearly 100,000 square miles but he was never found. His empty plane was sighted, with a note saying Bourassa had left on foot, and another search followed which also was unsuccessful.

Recently, a Dakota pilot landed his plane on a snow-swept sandbar in the far north to take in two scientists. The tracks made by the Dakota's wheels in the snow were drifted over by the time the crew emerged.

WINS IODE SCHOLARSHIP

STRATFORD (CP)—Nancy Barrett, 19, of Stratford Tuesday was named winner of the $100 Perth Regiment chapter IODE scholarship. It is presented for the highest standings in upper school examinations in English and History at Stratford Collegiate.

Uranium City Is Treeless

URANIUM CITY, Sask. (CP)—This uranium boom town, most modern and scientifically laid-out community in Saskatchewan, will be a town without trees, even though it sits smack in the centre of thousands of square miles of heavy bush and timber in the northwestern part of the province.

In the planning stage, almost every thoroughfare in the new community was laid out as a wide, tree-bordered boulevard.

However, officials of the natural resources department, with one eye on the masses of trees that reach right to the town limits and the other eye on the forest fire hazard this town ruled that Uranium City must be treeless.

Young Offenders Given Chance In New Camp

VERNON, B.C. (CP)—New hope in the reformation of young offenders centres on a co-operative project of the attorney general's department and the Canadian forest service.

In the thickly wooded wilderness 60 miles southeast of here 20 youths from Oakalla prison are in camp. They are self-supporting and earning $3 a day plus food, making roads and trails for the forest service.

The camp is at Bison lake and is a temporary jail. The boys are not on parole.

"But," said Rev. J. Dinnage Hobden, executive secretary of the John Howard Society, "if these lads behave themselves and adjustments come up to expectations, they will be on parole at the end of summer."

The youths are opening up heavily-timbered country to make it accessible, mainly for fire-fighting purposes.

In full charge of the camp is Robert Deldiel, provincial probation service. The boys have their own recreation hall and their own committees run the recreational side of their life in the bush. They fish and hold sports tournaments.

Province Still Without Policy In Disaster Aid

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario government has given away or pledged itself to give away several hundred thousand dollars in aid to areas stricken by natural disasters, but so far it is without a definite policy on such aid and without a definition of a disaster.

The province gave $195,000 to Manitoba flood relief in 1950, $100,000 to British and European flood relief earlier this year and recently announced that $300,000 has been set aside to aid areas of southwestern Ontario hit by tornadoes May 21 and 24.

Queen's Park officials say the next problem is whether to contribute to the Greek earthquake disaster fund.

Because of these precedents, the officials said, the provincial government may have bound itself to give consideration to financial assistance wherever a disaster strikes an appreciable number of taxpayers.

The tornadoes hit a small percentage of the population, but the government has committed itself to paying 50 per cent of what is granted by the local municipality and 50 per cent of what is raised by local subscription.

Local municipalities have no statutory right to make any grant for assistance in cases of natural disasters, but a retroactive amendment to the Municipal Act likely will go before the next session of the legislature to put everything on a legal basis.

Report Attacked

OTTAWA (CP)—Mayor Charlotte Whitton Tuesday described the Kinsey report on sexual behavior of the human female as "other than scientific" but said a ban in Ottawa would only increase its sale.

Miss Whitton was asked to comment on a possible ban of the book in Jersey City, N.J.

"Its purpose being other than scientific, there is no reason why we should contribute to the sale," she said.

While the book probably won't be banned in Ottawa, it was subject to a scathing attack by the outspoken spinster mayor.

"Look who's driving his own car!"

"A couple of years ago, our Bob was one of those lads you saw striding along to high school. Today, I'm proud to say, he's an up-and-coming young business man. True, he's just starting, but he has big plans for his future—plans that began five years ago!

"Bob was in his second year of 'High' then, and worked Saturdays and after school at a grocery store. That's when he started to save a dollar or two each week, and asked me to take him to my bank. I've used The Dominion Bank for years, and I introduced him to Roy Bain, the Manager.

"'Roy', I said, 'this young man wants to start a savings account. Think you can handle it?'

"Mr. Bain chatted with Bob about banking—then helped him with the few details of opening an account. Bob made regular trips to The Dominion Bank, and his savings grew, week by week. On my birthday he surprised me with a new fishing reel. Then he bought his mother an electric kettle. Finally he set a goal for himself—a car!

"Bob gradually put enough aside to reach his objective. Today he drove home in his own car. To him this is just the beginning of the many goals in life he'll set for himself, through regular savings."

We believe that you, too, will find that thrift is a pleasure when you visit The Dominion Bank regularly. To our staff, every account is an important one!

Come in and talk to the manager. He will be happy to tell you about the Bank's many services : : : or offer you financial advice.

Old Zip Seems to Have Gone Out of Moulin Rouge

By JOHN RODERICK

PARIS (AP—The name is the same, the old red windmill still turns on the roof and, down below, the girls still dance the can-can.

But the old zip seems to have gone out of the Moulin Rouge, the Montmartre night club which is enjoying its greatest revival since Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec made it famous on canvas 50 years ago.

The tables are crowded again, this time with tourists made curious by the movie, Moulin Rouge. But Toulouse-Lautrec, the crippled little artist in the big bowler hat, would scarcely recognize the Moulin Rouge today.

The eight dancers work hard at the can-can, the old kick and split routine, as well as another nostalgic effort called the frou-frou.

When they're done, they go straight home, to their husbands. In Toulouse-Lautrec's day, they would hang around, sharing tables with love-hungry artists or dancing with top-hatted, heavily-moustached gentry.

The old Moulin Rouge used to invite all-night participation of the customers in community dancing, interrupted only to admire the flashing feet or contagious laughter of La Goulue, Jane Avril, Clara Ward, Sara Brown and La Sylphe. They were the girls who brought kings to the Montmartre, incognito.

La Goulue Best Known

La Goulue was the best known. Round-faced and cat-eyed, she scandalized Paris nightly by hiking up her crinkly black dress and many petticoats and revealing shapely legs encased in black silk stockings made more exciting by white arrows rushing up the seams.

Actually, she was short and far from slinky, but the beguiling smile under the straight line of hair which crowded down into her eyelashes made the dukes and cabinet ministers of the time think otherwise.

Today, the Moulin Rouge does not develop such stars. The tourists watch the dancers and the fire-eaters and the acrobats and the comics and then go home.

The old gas lights, spindly columns and balconies are gone. The tone is big and brassy. About 100 tables crowd around a tiny dance floor. Overead a striped canvas floor. Overhead a striped canvas bar at the rear.

Three television-like screens now flash on cartoons and sketches of the early part of the century. Here and there are old posters and Toulouse-Lautrec prints. But like the old lady in search of a second childhood, the Moulin Rouge can't quite recapture its old zest with powder and paint.

Opened In 1889

The original night club was opened in 1889. Europe enjoyed peace. Paris was in a festive mood for the great exposition and an engineer named Eiffel was building a huge iron tower on the Champs de Mars.

Moulin Rouge remained a favorite spot for Europe's upper crust until it burned in 1915. It re-opened in 1924, closed in 1935, and stayed shuttered until 1951, when George France, who used to run a music hall featuring Apache dances, brought it back to life.

It didn't click for a while. Prices were high and entertainment only so-so. Then came the movie, just ahead of the Coronation year influx of tourists.

France saw his chance. He dropped prices and customers started to queue up. You can get in for 300 francs, and if you're hardy enough you can nurse one whisky and soda (500 francs for the entire evening. That's a total cost of less than $2.

Even fine champagne costs only about $12 a bottle.

But the entertainment isn't the same vintage. You can be sure Lautrec would agree that fire-eaters, acrobats and funny men are no substitute for the old days.

Summer Homes Evacuated Due To Forest Fire

MONTREAL (CP)—A forest fire that has already swept a three-square-mile area and caused evacuation of 30 summer homes continued to burn Monday night in the Laurentian mountains north of Montreal.

More than 150 men were battling the blaze that started about 10 days ago. It spread rapidly through dry bushland near Lac George between Notre Dame de la Merci and St. Come, about 60 miles from here.

A slight rainfall Monday slowed up the fire's advance but one forestry official said "we'll need a lot more to stop the flames."

Wave of Arrests Made in Germany Over June Revolt

BERLIN (AP)—A wave of new arrests in connection with Germany's June 27 revolt was reported as the Communists announced an alleged leader of the uprising had been sentenced to life imprisonment.

The West Berlin radio said Communist zone security police had arrested 64 persons suspected of taking part in the revolt. They were bagged in three steel plants and an artificial rubber plant.

German Communist ADN news agency announced that Gerhard Roemer burst into Magdeburg jail brandishing a rifle, demanded the freeing of all prisoners and later threatened Russian tanks moving into his factory with his rifle.

The West Berlin radio also reported a new kind of revolt against Communist rule. The broadcast said 400,000 workers since June have refused to pay dues to their Communist trade unions.

Red authorities plan to stymie this financial rebellion by withholding union dues from wages, the radio added.

Three Children Had Close Call

KITCHENER (CP)—Three children at nearby Ayr had a close call Monday when a granary holding 3,000 bushels of grain collapsed.

Howard Perriman, 13, his brother Ronald, 10, and Terry Know, 11, were helping Marshall Gillies put in the season's last load of grain when floor supports collapsed.

Terry went down with the grain and was flung out of a stable window. The Perriman children managed to reach the granary door.

None of the boys was hurt.

Jailed Americans Are at Red Centre Awaiting Release

Three Sentenced Men Freed They Say Others to Follow

By STAN CARTER

PANMUNJOM (AP)—One hundred and fifty Americans rode eagerly from Red captivity today—three of them men their buddies feared would be kept behind in North Korea after they disappeared mysteriously from their prison camps.

One returning prisoner said 45 more Americans sentenced only a month ago to prison terms were in the Red grouping centre at nearby Kaesong, awaiting release.

Freed Americans have told of prisoners jailed by the Reds in late July when the armistice was signed on such charges as "instigating against peace." Their sentences ranged from one to three years.

However, three who said the Reds called them "convicts" came back in Thursday's group of 250 South Koreans and 150 Americans: Cpl. Charles G. Guidotti, 32, Philadelphia; Cpl. Eugene R. Reilly, 21, New York City; and Sgt. Guy T. Vedala, 23, Stoneham, Mass.

Taken To Special Camp

Reilly and Vadala said they and 43 other men in Camp 1 were told they were going to a "readjustment camp" because the Reds "were afraid they would be a bad influence on the others."

They were taken to a separate camp near the main Camp 3.

Finally, on Aug. 16, about three weeks after the truce was signed, they were told they would be repatriated.

Cpl. Gerard A. Francois, 23, of Jersey City, N. J., said 30 U. S. enlisted men and 15 officers have arrived in Kaesong after previously being sentenced by the Reds and told they would not be repatriated.

He said the 45 were told in Kaesong they will be freed—but only after everyone else.

Few Still Remain

However, Francois said the 45 were not all of the Americans being held back by the Communists. He said he believed a few still remain in Camp 5 at Pyokton, serving their terms.

The Reds had claimed a right to hold some prisoners on trouble-making charges, but U. S. and UN officials sharply warned them to free all Allied PoWs who want to return—jail sentences or none.

Today's delivery brought the number of released U. S. prisoners past the two-thirds mark with only one week of the PoW exchange remaining.

Ten were officers and 140 were enlisted men.

The exchange, limited to 30 days by the truce agreement, begins its last week Friday, with 144 more Americans scheduled for freedom. The Reds said they also would hand over 250 South Koreans, four British and two South Africans.

24 Canadians Freed

The Reds have already freed 10 more than the 14 Canadians they originally said they held. Some of the 24 repatriated in the current exchange have brought back stories of other Canadians in Communist stockades, but there has been no indication when they would be released.

Names of two Canadian officers believed still held prisoner were made known at Freedom Village Wednesday. The two were Capt. Joe Liston, an army artillery spotter, and Sqdn. Ldr. Andrew MacKenzie, an RCAF jet pilot who had been on exchange with the U.S. Air Force.

The Reds obviously are holding most U. S. officers until the final days of the exchange.

The 10 officers who returned Thursday included two air force men, all presumably from the mysterious Camp 2 for officers and airmen.

Red Cross Barred

The Communists barred Red Cross teams from the camp on inspection tours, raising Allied concern for the 470 Allied officers—including one Canadian—the Reds reported there.

Plan to Discuss Bringing India's Troops to Korea

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—The UN command has called a meeting of the military armistice commission for Friday to discuss bringing Indian troops into the neutral zone.

The troops would be used in guarding captured Reds balking at being returned to Communist rule. The guard would stay in effect until agreed truce machinery had disposed of their cases.

After South Korea voiced vehement objections to proposals that Indian troops be brought into the country, UN and Red officials agreed prior to signing the truce to avoid trouble by stationing the Indian troops in the buffer zone between the opposing armies.

Firemen Team Up to Save Business Section

HILLSBURGH, Ont. (CP)—Firemen from Guelph, Orangewood and Erin Wednesday night teamed up to save the main business section of this hamlet after flames destroyed a bakeshop and a private garage and damaged a warehouse.

Firemen said the fire broke out in Leader's bakeshop and spread to the warehouse behind Lacey Brothers' general store. The firefighters kept hoses on the store itself and other adjoining buildings to prevent the flames from spreading. Cause of the fire was undetermined.

Hillsburgh is about 20 miles northwest of Guelph.

SAYS NEW FACTS TO BE DISCLOSED AT GASPE INQUEST

Have New Evidence On Deaths of Hunters

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

GASPE, Que. (CP)—Quebec provincial police say they have new evidence to present before the inquest which is to re-open at 10 a. m. EDT today into the death of three Pennsylvania hunters in the wilds of Gaspe.

Capt. Alphonse Matte of the provincial police said Wednesday night: "New facts not yet disclosed will be revealed at the inquest."

Police have indicated that seven or eight witnesses are to be called at the re-opening of the inquest before Dr. Lionel Rioux, Gaspe district coroner. The original hearing was opened July 27 and was adjourned indefinitely after only a few witnesses testified.

Declared Murder

At that time, the coroner's jury ruled that Richard Lindsey, 17, and Fred Claar, 20, were "murdered by gun shot wounds by a person or persons unknown." The cause of death of Eugene Lindsey, 45, father of Richard, was listed as unknown. One of the main witnesses is expected to be a Montreal woman, who police said led them to recovery of a pistol from a Montreal North man. Police said they believe the weapon, of European make, was used in the slaying. They said the man, who told police he purchased the pistol, would also testify.

Prospector Held

Since Aug. 11, Wilbert Coffin, a 37-year-old prospector from nearby York Centre, has been held by police as a material witness in the case. He is believed to be one of the last persons to have seen the hunters alive. Police did not say whether Coffin, who testified at the opening of the inquest, would be called to testify again.

Coffin had said he met the hunters June 10, the day after they entered the bush to hunt bears, 65 miles west of here.

Last of French Strikers Ordered Back to Work

PARIS (Reuters)—The last of France's striking thousands were ordered back to work by their unions Wednesday night, ending the mass strikes which have tied up the country's communications for three weeks.

The unions took the final step to end the strikes by ordering back gas and electrical workers and miners—the last to return.

Trains were running again on time Wednesday; suburban traffic, which had been paralyzed, was almost normal.

Australia May Not Ratify Wheat Pact'

CANBERR A(Reuters) — Australia might be unable to ratify the International Wheat Agreement, because of disagreement over the international wheat stabilization plan, Australian Commerce and Agriculture Minister John McEwen said tonight.

Victoria state has failed to agree with other states on the terms of the proposed reserve wheat marketing plan.

Hundreds of East Germans Line Up For Second Phase of Food Handout

BERLIN (Reuters) — Hundreds of East German women, clutching cardboard boxes or shopping bags, lined up from dawn today in West Berlin for the second phase of the U. S.-West German food handout.

They poured across the East-West border with no open sign of Communist opposition and hurried to 40 distribution centres. At least 100 000 are expected today.

The new project is scheduled to last until Oct. 3. Some of the food will come from West Berlin's anti-blockade food stores and the rest from United States consignments sent over in July.

First round of the program ended Wednesday night with more than 2,650,000 parcels distributed in four weeks despite strong-armed Communist measures to disrupt the plan. Original plans called for the distribution of only 1,000,000 parcels over two weeks.

The response was so tremendous—even in the face of Soviet denunciations, searches and reprisals—that the first 1,000,000 parcels were handed out in a week and the program extended. More than 1,000,000 parcels are ready to be distributed under the new program.

The new project, like the first one, stems from President Eisenhower's offer in July to send $15,000,000 worth of food to East Germany. Russia turned down the offer.

Food parcels contain canned milk, beans, flour and fat. Parcels will be given this time to anyone who can prove residence in the Soviet zone or East Berlin. Identity cards are not necessary.

On Rehabilitation Mission in Korea

Former commander of the U.S. Eighth Army, now retired, Gen. James Van Fleet (centre) and Dr. Howard A. Rusk (right), two leading members of the U.S.-Korean Foundation, are seen in Seoul talking to an unidentified reporter during tour of South Korea to investigate the rehabilitation needs of the war-torn country. Dr. Rusk, director of Bellevue, N.Y., rehabilitation centre, announced a three-point program to deal with the high incidence of tuberculosis among the population and for the housing of about 100,000 children orphaned by the war. The third point is the creation of a Gen. and Mrs. James A. Van Fleet Fund to place two or three children from each province into private homes each year so they may grow up with a normal family background. — Central Press Canadian.

Woman, 61, Flies Atlantic In Single Engined Plane

SHANNON AIRPORT, Ireland (Reuters)—American sportswoman Mrs. Marion Hart landed today after flying the Atlantic with a co-pilot in a single-engined Beechcraft plane from Newfoundland.

She arrived here at 12:28 p. m. (7:28 a. m. EDT)—one hour behind schedule. Mrs. Hart left Torbay, Nfld., Wednesday night.

It was the first direct crossing in a small, single engined plane from Newfoundland to Ireland since the pioneering days of trans-Atlantic flight.

Mrs. Hart, 61, from New York, said seh planned the flight to save the cost of taking the wings off her Beechcraft and sending it across by ship.

The project wound up costing her three times as much as it would have to ship the plane but it was worth it, she said, because "it was such a beautiful crossing in bright moonlight." She declined to say how much she spent.

She was accompanied by Wayne Vetterlein, 30, of Shawnee on Delaware, Pa., who served as co-pilot and navigator.

They covered about 2,500 miles from their take-off Torbay, Nfld. flying at 9,000 feet. The trip took 13½ hours.

Vetterlein made the trip on a busman's holiday basis, while taking a few days off from his regular job as co-pilot with Pan American Airways.

"I plan to catch a plane back to the United States Friday," he said.

Mrs. Hart said she would stay for a day in Shannon and then decide where to fly next. She said she might go to India or Africa. But she denied that she intended ultimately to fly to Australia.

"I may be crazy, but not that crazy," she said.

British Papers Back Government On India Question

LONDON (Reuters) — British newspapers today backed the government in a last-ditch drive for India's inclusion in the Korean political conference a few hours before the crucial United Nations vote. Lord Beaverbrook's powerful right-wing Daily Express broke away from the solid front, asserting that Britain's alliance with the United States was to important to be jeopardized by the Indian question.

Other papers, while expressing alarm at the growing Anglo-American rift on the issue, maintained that wide participation is essential to prevent the conference from breaking down.

The influential London Times argued that 'a conference, arranged on the lines on which the United States has been trying to insist, would fail, if only because the American commitments to (South Korean president) Rhee are impossible to meet.'

The Times voiced support for admission of Communist China to the UN asserting that "a United Nations which did not seek—and, indeed, depend upon—co-operation with the Communist countries would be failing to do the work for which it was created."

In contrast, the Express argued that Britain should "give her backing, by word and by vote, to America's plans for bringing that deplorable (Korean) conflict to an end."

TO REBUILD HOMES

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—More than 5,000 volunteers are expected to participate Saturday and Sunday in a giant project to rebuild some 186 Flint area homes that were levelled by a tornado June 8, which claimed 116 lives. Home owners will supply the building materials and are to have them on hand when the volunteer laborers arrive. Many building supply dealers have offered big discounts.

Municipalities Ask Federal Aid For Unemployed

HAMILTON (CP)—The Ontario Municipal Association Wednesday called on the federal government to help municipalities with increasing relief payments to the unemployed who cannot manage on unemployment insurance benefits.

Winding up its three-day convention, delegates passed a resolution urging that there be either an increase in the benefits or revision of responsibility for relief waiting period for collection of unpayments. They also asked the provincial government to take over all other welfare costs burdening municipalities.

Delegates said that during the 12 years since the federal government negotiated exclusive income tax rights, it has not had to deal with an unemployment problem. The whole burden had fallen on the province and its municipalities. The federal government's contribution in this field had been negligible in relation to revenues collected through unemployment insurance premiums.

The convention also asked the federal government to reduce the employment insurance benefits and to assume responsibility for the cost of handling applications for unemployment relief assistance.

C.N.R. Income in July Shows Big Increase

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian National Railways today reported a net income of $5,637,000 for July, compared with $2,199,000 in the corresponding month last year.

Gross income amounted to $63,013,000, compared with $55,724,000 in July, 1953. Working expenses totalled $57,376,000 against $53,525,000 last year.

NAGUIB ASSAILS 'IMPERIALISM' IN ISLAMIC LANDS

Events in Iran, Libya Morocco Seen Linked

CAIRO (Reuters) — President Mohammed Naguib today called on the Islamic countries to stand firm against "imperialism," in a thinly veiled thrust at the major Western powers.

Denouncing "dishonest manoeuvres of imperialists," Naguib termed it significant that "a Washington conference" had preceded the overthrow of the Iranian government, exile of Morocco's sultan, and a new Anglo-Libyan treaty.

He apparently referred the July conference of foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France.

Last week the Iranian regime of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh was overthrown by Gen. Fazollah Zabedi and nationalist-minded Sidi Mohammed Ben Yousef was ousted by the French as sultan of Morocco. The recent British-Libyan agreement provides for British aid to the new North African state in return for airfields and defence facilities.

Anglo Iranian Oil Firm Studies Alberta Fields

NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Times says in an Ottawa dispatch today that a plan is under consideration by the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company to extend its operaions to Canada.

John Mellor Pattinson, a director of the company, is returning to London after a Canadian tour to submit a proposal for possible exploitation of Alberta's rich oil fields to the AIOC directorate, the newspaper says. Pattinson spent three weeks in Alberta.

Adoption of the proposal would, for the first time in North America, put the company in competition with Canadian and U. S. oil interests.

Pattinson said it was too early to say whether Anglo-Iranian would build its own refineries on this continent, The Times reports. He is said to have indicated that any operation in Canada by the company would be largely on the production side.

The AIOC executive said that if the decision to begin operations in Canada is reached, they would begin on a relatively small scale with the hope of extending them in the future.

THROWN FROM CAR, KILLED

WEST LORNE, Ont. (CP)—Nelson McDonald, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson McDonald, RR 5, West Lorne, was killed Tuesday night when a car driven by his mother skidded on loose gravel and overturned. The child apparently was thrown from the vehicle and the car rolled on top of the child, pinning him to the ground, police said.

Berlin Night Clubs Try New Stunts Trying to Meet Customers' Tastes

By PETER PERNYES

BERLIN (Reuters)—The night clubs of Berlin try to meet their customers' tastes by providing riding horses near the dance floor for the horsy set and supplying fishing rods so tired business men can "fish" surplus clothing off chorus girls.

And for the lonely, two clubs have telephones connecting tables through a switchboard to facilitate date-making.

The clubs vary in size and style from the brightly-lit Resi, where about 500 couples crowd the floor on an average Saturday night, to the sombre, "existentialist" Hexenkueche (witches' kitchen), which has only four or five tables.

Often the first visitors call at the Sankt Pauli, where roars, whistles and huazzas of pleasure follow every act on the floor show. A dozen or so pretty girls clothed in exotic satins, silks and feathers, or in the minimum, are the backbone of the club.

But the most popular show is the "fishing act." In this, four fully-dressed girls come on to the stage and a master of ceremonies provides fishing rods for four volunteers from the audience. Each rod has a large hook on the end of the line. The fishermen try to undress the girls by hooking items of clothing through penny-sized loops.

The decor at the Sankt Pauli consists of grotesque stuffed animals and fishes, ships in bottles and strange hunting weapons from distant lands which adorn walls, tables and bars.

The Golden Horsesboe is unusual because its main attraction is a small sawdust ring in which three horses trot and canter. For a fee, the guests are allowed to ride them.

Young men gallantly carry their partners over the sawdust to a small dance floor in the centre of the ring, where dancing takes place when the horses are off.

The Resi, like one other West Berlin night club, has table telephones. A person sitting at one table can ring the partner he fancies at one of the other tables. Not only may men call women, but also the other way around. The tables have numbers. Conversations often go something like this:

"Hello, is that No. 223?"

"Yes, who is there?"

"I am slim, blonde and aged 22. Will you dance with me?"

"What number are you at? I want to see you first. . . ."

"Number 164."

"Hmmm—all right, I will come over."

India Not Given Korea Parley Seat; Russia to Attend

Majority Vote For India But Margin Not Big Enough

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—India failed today to win sufficient UN support to give her a seat at the Korean peace conference.

She received a majority of the votes cast in the 60-nation political committee, but fell short of the two-third majority required for approval by the general assembly which acts Friday.

The vote was 27 for, 21 against, 11 abstaining and India not participating.

It was a victory for the United States, which had split with Britain, Canada and other Western allies over the issue and fought vigorously against India's inclusion.

The committee also:

1. Recommended seats at the conference for all the 16 countries who fought under the UN banner—if they desire to attend. The vote was 42 to 7, with 10 abstaining and India not voting.

2. Rejected a Soviet proposal that the conference be made up of six belligerent countries and nine "neutrals." The vote: 5 to 41, with 13 abstaining and India not voting.

3. Voted to include Russia in the parley "provided the other side desires it." The vote was 55 to 2 with two abstaining.

Russia To Attend

Russia made an unsuccessful attempt to delete the phrase lining her up on the Communist side, but then voted for the proposal as a whole, indicating she would attend as a representative of the Communists.

The 60-nation committee acted after U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. had declared that Russia's attitude on the Korean parley, if persisted in, would "make peace impossible."

Lodge said Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky Wednesday had made a thinly-veiled threat that the Communists would boycott the conference unless they got their way in naming the participating countries Vishunsky denied he had made any such threat.

Lodge also struck back at Vishinsky's charge that the United States was acting like a "master race" and was trying to force others to accept its views by ultimatums.

He pointed out that the U. S. population was made up of many races and religions, but behind the iron curtain the Communists have tried to wipe out "religion, Christianity, Judaism."

"The representative of the Soviet Union, when he talked about a master race in America, missed one of the great opportunities in his life to keep quiet," Lodge said.

On the question of the Korean conference, Lodge said:

"If the Communist side does not want a peace, there won't be any. It takes two to make a peace. If they do not want a conference they can' wreck it."

British delegate Sir Gladwyn Jebb agreed with Lodge and said that, when he heard Vishinsky speak, he asked himself whether Russia actually wanted a conference.

Denies Threat

Vishinsky denied that he had made a veiled threat about Communist participation in the peace parley. He said all he was saying was that the assembly should communicate its view to the Chinese Communists and North Korea and then consider their views.

This flurry delayed the voting temporarily.

The committee had before it the following major proposals:

1. Inviting South Korea and the 15 UN members who fought in Korea to attend the conference as UN representatives.

2. Inviting Russia to attend "provided the other (Communist) side desires it."

3. Inviting India to attend.

4. The Soviet resolution to set up a 15-nation conference: four—the United States, Britain, France and South Korea—from the UN command; the two Communist belligerents—Red China and North Korea—and nine countries classed by the Russians as "neutrals"; the Soviet Union, India, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Indonesia, Syria, Egypt, Mexico and Burma.

Russia's Defeat Certain

It appeared likely the committee would approve the first two and send them on to the full assembly for adoption. The Soviet-proposed conference line-up was certain of defeat.

Lodge felt sure that even if the resolution inviting India could get the bare majority needed for committee approval, it could not muster the two-thirds vote needed for assembly adoption. He was also sure that Russia could not muster a two-thirds backing in the assembly to invite it as a UN representative.

Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky admitted in debate Wednesday that the U.S.-backed proposals probably would be adopted, but termed them an "ultimatum . . . wrecking the conference which has not even opened its sittings."

'Slamming Door'

"You are slamming the door in advance," Vishinsky said. "You are saying these are our proposals, take them or leave them."

Citing a statement by Red China's Foreign Minister Chou En-lai supporting the Russian-proposed conference line-up, Vishinsky said:

"You do not have to accept what he says, nor is it mandatory for him to accept what the 16 says. . . . You are not dealing here with parties to which you can dictate conditions of subjection and obedience. There was no unconditional surrender. Do you think you were victorious? You did not win a victory. . . . North Korea is still where it was in 1950."

POLICE TO PLAY FOR ORMSHAW FUND

Ontario Povincial Police from Belleville headquarters will play Trenton police and firemen a benefit softball game at the Bayshore Park in Trenton on Friday evening, proceeds to go into a fund for the Ormshaw family.

Alan Ormshaw, a member of the Trenton police department was killed by lightning about a month ago as he was walking through a field on the farm of his father-in-law on the Wooler Road. He left a wife and small child.

The benefit game between Belleville police and Trenton police and firemen has been called for 7:30 Friday evening. Gate prizes will be offered.

LT.-COL. H. M. JONES GIVEN HIGH POST

A former resident of the city, Lt.-Col. Hubert M. Jones, has been appointed Director of Indian Affairs for Canada it was announced on Wednesday.

Lt.-Col. Jones, who is well known in the Belleville and Marmora districts, was formerly superintendent of the Welfare Division of Indian Affairs at Ottawa. He succeeds the late Major D. M. MacKay.

WINS BRONZE TROPHY

Master Gary Bowerman, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Bowerman, Foster Ave., was the winner of the bronze trophy for the best saddle horse in the open class, presented by the Sun-Joy Foods at the recent Picton fair.

LARGE PIKE HOOKED OFF BAY BRIDGE

While other envious anglers and a number of tourists stopped to watch the play William Clapp of Rossmore landed one of the prize catches of the season off the swing bridge a few evenings ago with a Northern pike, which weighed ten and a half pounds.

Clapp was half an hour landing his hefty pike after it had struck at the dead frog on his line. "The big one might have gotten away with a less experienced angler on the pole. The spectators watched a thrilling battle as Clapp played his catch in and out of the water until it was exhausted. More than one of the onlookers had their cameras ready to record his triumph.

CORBIN LOCK PLANT CLOSES DOWN DUE TO HEAT

Due to the excessive heat and extreme humidity, the main body of workers at the Corbin Lock Company Ltd. have been excused from work this afternoon, an official of the company stated today.

Some workmen are continuing at their machines in order to clear up the day's work but most of the men and women have been allowed to go home.

At the Purification Plant, the teemperature at one o'clock was 88 but it was stated the thermometer hit 91 early in the day.

R.J. Messervey Sweeps Classes At Ottawa Show

The heaviest poultry entry since the inception of the Ottawa Fair was seen in this year's exhibition, R. J. Messervey noted breeder of White Orpingtons stated today. As well as showing his famous birds at the show, Mr. Messervey also acted as judge of various classes other than when his birds were shown. "So heavy was the entry that many of the birds had to be double-cooped," said the judge.

As usual the White Orpingtons had a heavy entry and although Mr. Messervey only took eight birds to the show, he swept the class and was runner-up to the best bird in the show. "It would have been different for the best bird," said Mr. Messervey, "if I had had time to doll the bird up but I was busy judging and did not have time to give it a final inspection."

His birds won the special in the English classes with his first prize hen and this bird was the runner-up to the best bird in the show. In all Mr. Messervey collected a first and second for cock, first and second for hen, first and second for cockerel and first and third for pullet.

A. J. Packman, noted government judge of Ottawa, judged his pens in the show.

Council Takes No Action On Grant Request

Hastings councy councillors are not too worried about the prevalence of cattle thefts in their county and yesterday took no action on a request from the Ontario Livestock commission for a grant of $50 to go into a fund from which to pay rewards for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons guilty of cattle theft.

In his communication W. P. Watson noted that due to the prevalence of cattle rustling in the province and to the fact that such thefts were greater in counties not offering rewards, it had been decided to organize a livestock protective association. All counties in the province were being asked to make grants of $50 to the fund set up to be used for rewards.

Reeve Earl Sager of Madoc noted there had not been much rustling in Hastings, but such thefts could be a problem. He approved of making the grant as did Reeve Davis of Bangor who said it was sort of an insurance and that the county should participate.

Reeve Percy Moore of Tyendinaga disagreed stating that although only $50 was being asked now there was no telling what the request would be in future years. He voiced the opinion that what the protective committee could do for $50 "we could do for five dollars" and recommended no action.

Neither was any action taken on a Simcoe county resolution calling for a revision of the assessment act dealing with woodland assessments. When the exact meaning of the resolution could not be determined it was voted filed.

Motion Filed

A city of Hamilton resolution calling for a speed limit of 15 miles per hour to be set up in front of all schools, saw the same action.

Reeve Ritchie Wells of Marmora Village thought council should concur, noting that a speed limit of 30 miles past a school could be extremely dangerous.

"You don't have to reduce the speed limit to 15 miles per hour, all you have to do is enforce the law," Reeve Buskard of Deloro said. "Thirty miles per hour can still be dangerous driving.

Reeve Harry Morrow of Sidney said that the highways department put up school signs in front of all schools and the onus was on the motorist to drive accordingly.

Mr. Buskard took the same attitude, noting that it would be ridiculous to have a 15 mile speed limit in front of all schools between here and Toronto. Motorists could not be forced into driving with care, they had to be encucated, he said.

Same Attitude Taken

The same atitude was taken by Reeve Tryon of Bancroft who said that although he had the fullest sympathy with a bereaved parent, whose child had been struck by a car, he at the same time had sympathy with the motorist, when a child darted out in front of his car.

"The responsibility is partly that of the parents," he said. "Children have to be educated to the dangers of traffic."

The report of the administration of justice committee was given by Chairman Buskard, while that of the public property committee was given by Chairman Cecil Ketcheson.

Mr. Ketcheson noted it had been decided to repair the heating system at the court house; new eave troughing was being placed on Shire Hall and painting of the court house had been completed. A new calculating machine had been purchased for the county assessor at a cost of $625.

Physio-Therapy For Polio Victims To be Given Here

Polio victims in Belleville and district requiring physio-therapy treatments will no longer find it necessary to travel to the government clinic in Kingston.

Announcement was made today by Mrs. Betty McMurray, of Toronto, executive secretary of the Ontario Chapter of the Canadian Foundation for Poliomyalitis, that arrangements had been completed this week for these treatments to be given at the Belleville General Hospital.

The cost of the treatments in most cases will be borne by the Canadian March of Dimes fund, Mrs. McMurray said. Heretofore, free treatment was available only at the Kingston clinic and most of the patients, of whom there are more than 30 in this area, were required to travel to Kingston two or three times a week.

Will Defray Expense

Local treatment has been available at the hospital, but at the expense to the patients, of regular physio-therapy treatment fees. This expense will be defrayed by the Foundation under the new arrangement.

For some time Dr. W. J. S. Melvin, Kingston orthopedic surgeon, who is a member of the Foundation's medical advisory committee, has been voluntarily coming to Belleville to hold free polio clinics the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month. After meeting with Dr. Melvin here yesterday Mrs. McMurray arranged with the hospital authorities to have the physio-therapy facilities here made available on the free treatment basis.

Those who can afford to pay for treatments will be expected to do so, Mrs. McMurray said, but in most cases the Foundation will bear the cost.

"The people of Belleville and district have been generous in their contributions to the March of Dimes," Mrs. McMurray said, "and the costs under this arrangement will be taken care of out of money that has already been contributed."

A local citizens' committee for the March of Dimes will be set up and will supervise the local arrangements. Patients, however, must be recommended through the family physician.

At present the free government clinic for polio at Kingston is the only one between Toronto and Ottawa. The necessity of regular and frequent trips there has not only meant considerable expense to many families, but has worked serious physical strain on some patients. It was in the light of these conditions that Dr. Melvin stressed the importance of making treatments available locally.

Mrs. McMurray states that the physio-therapy facilities at the Belleville General Hospital are excellent and hospital officials do not expect that the added polio patients will put too great a strain on the department.

Lakes in North May be Opened For Ice Fishing

There is a strong possibility that lakes in North Hastings may be opened for winter ice fishing, members of county council learned yesterday in a communication from W. J. Harkness, chief or the Wild Life Department.

The letter was in reply to a council resolution calling for lakes in the northern part of the county to be opened for ice fishing. Members had objected strongly to the fact that lakes in certain northern townships were closed for winter fishing when this was the only time that many residents had time to fish.

The communication said that when the necessary amendment to the act was made the county would be advised.

"It sounds like delaying tactics to me," interjected Reeve T. Tryon of Bancroft village.

Council recommended that the letter from the department be acknowledged with a notation that Hastings is looking forward to a favorable decision in the matter.

Wellington Kids Even Series With Stouffville

WELLINGTON — (Special) — Wellington beat out Stouffville 7-6 in a 10 inning OBA juvenile 'C' game here Wednesday night to square the best of three series at one all.

The third and deciding game will be played here Friday night starting at 5.00 o'clock.

Billy MacKenzie, Wellington left fielder, was the hero of the piece, when his ringing single in the bottom of the tenth drove in two runs after Stouffville had grabbed a one-run lead in their half of the inning.

Stouffville helped themselves to a 5-1 lead early in the game but the Wellington kids tied it up with a four - run splurge in the seventh.

Jones' triple and an error gave the visitors a one run lead in the top of the tenth, but a walk and a single put two on for the Wellington team and MacKenzie's single did the rest.

Reeve Buskard Favors Toll Roads In Province

Although an Elgin county resolution calling for Ontario super highways to be toll roads had previously been filed with no action taken, the matter again came up for discussion in county council yesterday.

Reeve Charles Buskard of Deloro, in re-introducing the subject, said that although toll roads seemed like a retrograde step, he still felt such highways were the roads of the future.

"No government in existence can maintain a highway system such as is equired today and pay for them out of taxes," he said. "In the case of toll roads these can be debentured and the costs paid out of revenue."

He felt that the county should not oppose such a step which he said would relieve present highways of a large amount of traffic. "Toll roads are becoming popular across the border," he said. "People don't have to drive them if they don't want to; the regular highways are there to drive."

Reeve Rollins of Wollaston, was not altogether favorable to the idea, however, and said in his opinion it would be a mistake to turn No. 2 highway into a toll road.

In reply Mr. Buskard said this was not the idea. The toll roads which he had in mind would not touch existing highways and would be a complete new system.

Base metals led the decline, slipping to their lowest level since October, 1950. Western oils and golds also drifted lower.

McColl preferred dropped more than $1 and Imperial Oil eased a small fraction. Canadian Breweries continued to gain. Loblaw A bounced more than $1 higher.

Golds showed an almost solid list of losses ranging to the 35 cents lopped off Campbell Red Lake.

Calgary and Edmonton and Pacific Petroleum were at lows for a year. Also down were New British, Central Leduc and Banff.

Lower Standard For New Teachers Not Approved

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario is heading for trouble in its education system because of the department of education's method of solving the teacher shortage by lowering the standard for new teachers, Margaret Bennie, president of the Federation of Women Teachers' Associations, said Wednesday.

The method will lead to a disastrous crisis and degrade the teaching profession, she said at the federation's 35th annual meeting. She told representatives of nearly 15,000 women teachers that far from being a solution, problems may multiply into a "colossus of trouble."

She said the federation believes that qualifications should be raised rather than lowered.

Members adopted a motion that bursaries be offered to young persons leaving high school for the teaching profession. It is planned to have one available for a teachers' college in 1954-55.

Honorary life memberships in the federation were presented by vice-president Alice Ogden of St. Catharines to eight former teachers at the annual dinner Wednesday night.

Among the recipients were Mabel Sabine of Hamilton, J. Lyle Beatty of Pembroke, Eve Langley of Fort William, Susan Hardie of Brantford and Elizabeth Hoppin of Kingston.

Margaret Aitkin Wins by 67 Votes

TORONTO (CP)—The election of Margaret Aitken as Progressive Conservative for York Humber in the house of commons was confirmed today after an official recount.

Judge Robert Forsyth said Miss Aitken, Toronto newspaper columnist who was the fourth woman to be elected in the Aug. 10 general election, won by a 67-vote margin over Liberal candidate Ken Thompson.

Earlier, returning officer Charles Ring declared Miss Aitken elected by 78 votes. The reduction came as a result of the court's decision to rule out ballots marked with a tick instead of a cross or in ink instead of in pencil.

Final results: Miss Aitken 11,157, Mr. Thompson 11,090 and Mrs. Jane Prosser, CCF candidate, 4,926. There were 359 rejected ballots.

Motion to Cut Fair Grants Hits Snag in County Council

A Hastings County Agricultural Committee recommendation calling for cuts in county fair grants from $150 to $100 and from $300 to $150 for the Belleville Fair struck a bit of a snag in council yesterday as several members objected strenuously to the proposal.

After several councillors had spoken against the proposed cuts in fair grants, the matter was referred to ways and means.

Reeve John Anderson of Faraday said that fairs were important to agriculture and a successful fair was one way to encourage young farmers. This attitude was also taken by Elmer Wood of Huntingdon who asked that fair grants be left as they are. Reeve Rollins of Wollaston claimed that small fairs were having tough enough time as it was.

Reeve Bernard Hunt of Huntingdon said "there was no better way of distributing grant money than through fair work."

Fairs Show Surplus Claim

Reeve Irwin McCoy of Marmora and Lake noted that as member of the agricultural committee he had been responsible for the suggested reduction in grants to fairs. "Early this year council declared it to be economy-minded and many of the fairs in the county show a surplus at the end of the year."

"I would like to see the money distributed, but I can't see why grants should be paid to fairs that show a surplus account," he said. "The proposed cuts would make no difference in the prize money offered."

Reeve Harry Morrow of Sidney asked when the cuts were suggested if consideration had been given to a grant to the Ottawa Winter Fair, where county juniors had attended last year and brought home considerable prize money. "The Ottawa Fair was asking for a grant of $75," he said.

The committee recommended the grant to the Ottawa Fair and also a grant of $250 to the British Empire Cheese Show, as well as grants for farm woodlot competitions. All were referred to ways and means.

Talks Adjourned Without Progress Being Made

TORONTO (CP) — Union and management officials Wednesday night adjourned their talks aimed at settling the southwestern Ontario trucking strike with no progress apparently made.

The International Brotherhood of Teamsters Union (AFL-TLC) left the discussions with representatives of the 36 truck companies and warned management pickets were to be out in force today unless last-minute talks were successful.

The discussions, the third of a series with Labor Minister Daley since the 1,500 drivers quit five weeks ago for higher wages, were held at Queen's Park.

Although there was no announcement from either party, observers at the meeting said the parties got nowhere.

Union representatives were led by James Hoffa of Detroit, chairman of the brotherhood's central states conference and strategy boss of the Ontario walkout. The companies were represented by the Motor Transport Industrial Relations Bureau.

If no settlement is reached by noon the union will be free to send pickets back into Niagara Falls, Fort Erie, Dunnville and other Niagara peninsula points.

Pickets in that area were lifted for 36 hours after Mr. Daley suggested the move.

Bush Pilot Found

EDMONTON (CP)—The RCAF reported Wednesday night that bush pilot Herman Petersen of Alert Bay, B.C., has been found and is in good condition. Petersen had been missing since last Thursday when he took off in his plane from Telegraph Creek, B.C., for Stewart, B.C.

An RCAF spokesman said Petersen walked into a weather station at Dease Lake after a trek of 75 miles from Lower Iskut lake. There were no other details.

Cemetery Problem Is Discussed In County Council

Grave concern over what was to become of cemeteries whose operating boards were being discontinued, and with old rundown cemeteries was expressed in county council Wednesday following receipt of notification from the Ontario government that a select committee to review the cemetery act had been set up.

The communication noted that W. E. Sandercock, M.L.A. for Hastings West had been appointed to the committee.

Reeve Ritchie Wells of Marmora said the cemetery question was one of considerable importance as certain cemeteries were threatened to be turned over to municipalities for upkeep. He said this was the case in Marmora, where the cemetery board had threatened to quit.

Increasing Costs

Reeve McCoy of Marmora said the big bugbear for many cemeteries was increasing costs which were driving up the price of plots with result that graves were being purchased in other cemeteries.

Reeve James Sprackett, Tudor, said he had always thought cemeteries were the responsibility of the municipality when the boards cease to operate. "His municipality had been operating the cemetery for years," he said.

Later in the session Mr. Sandercock addressed council on the matter and said the select committee had been set up through the Ontario Department of Health to investigate the cemetery situation and review the cemetery act.

One of the prime reasons for setting up the committee was to investigate the commercialization of grave selling by companies who buy up farms, erect an elaborate entrance and sell cemetery plots at enormous profits.

Interested in Church Cemeteries

"This sort of thing has gotten rather out of hand in the United States and it was thought advisable to investigate in Ontario before it was too late," he said.

Mr. Sandercock went on to say that the committee was interested in church graveyards being maintained by the churches as much as possible. Also the cemetery act had not been reviewed for years and there were no regulations regarding cremations.

He said the committee did not agree that municipalities should have to step in and operate cemeteries as this would be a costly procedure. The committee was still in its organizational stage and had a big job ahead, Mr. Sandercock noted.

Council voted to acknowledge the communication from the Ontario government with the statement that it was heartily in accord with the intention.

Fund Suggested To Attract More Industries

TRENTON, (Special) — At a well-attended meeting this week Trenton businessmen discussed the possibility of encouraging more industries to locate in Trenton. One spokesman suggested setting up a fund through donations for the purpose of buying sites to offer free to prospective industries. Another favored building factories with the fund and renting the floor space by the square foot.

A ways and means committee was chosen to make a survey and prepare a report. The committee includes: George Richardson, Ramsay Park, Clarence Saylor, O. W. Larry, R. E. Whitley, Archie Smith, William Steenburg.

Children Bring Aid

Two excited children brought assistance to Laverne Towne who was stricken and fell prostrate to the ground from an attack of gall stones. The boys one of them seven-year-old Bobby Towne, who lost his foot under a train last year was out walking with the older Towne along the C.P.R. rightaway west of the high bridge, when he suffered the seizure. When the man seemed "dead" and would not move when spoken to Bobby on crutches and his friend hurried away for help.

Mr. Towne unconscious was picked up and taken to the Trenton Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Major Obstacles Still Confront Negotiators on Church Union

TORONTO (CP)—Conversations between leading churchmen of the Anglican Church and the United Church of Canada have made some progress during the last decade but major obstacles still confront the negotiators.

Recently the Toronto Star put questions regarding the progress made and the possibility of definite action to Rev. Gordon A. Sisco, general secretary of the United Church general council, and Rt. Rev. William T. Hallam, assistant bishop of Huron, who have been closely concerned in the negotiations.

Their replies do not indicate hope of early action. Dr. Sisco said active interest of the laity is needed to stimulate progress.

Anglican Proposal

Ten years ago a proposal by the late Archbishop Derwyn T. Owen, primate of the Church of England in Canada, for talks between the Christian communions looking toward reunion was approved by the general synod of the Church of England and invitations were sent out by the Anglicans.

The United Church of Canada accepted. The Presbyterian Church replied but later suspended negotiations. The Baptists did not enter into negotiations.

Reviewing the 10 years of negotiations, Dr. Sisco, who was made chairman of the joint commission of the two churches, says the commission report "is not officially dead, but its pulse is feeble."

In the early days, a report on a mutually acceptable ministry was drawn up, amended and adopted by each church's commission on re-union—approximately 60 representatives on each side.

The report then went to the highest court of each church for amendments. The United Church is ready to submit suggested amendments but the report has not been presented officially by Anglican representatives for further discussion.

Tough Obstacle

However, the United Church of Canada is centralized in its methods of government and the Church of England in Canada is in some respects a federation of dioceses. This means methods of co-operation must be worked out between the United Church and 28 dioceses of the Church of England and Dr. Sisco says "this means it is almost impossible to secure a covenant binding the two churches on a national basis."

Bishop Hallam said the idea o a mutually acceptable ministry was considered but found difficu as it would produce a "chameleon type of minister" who would b not in another.

"But there has bte n a development of local understanding, reducing the possibility of rivalry and friction. Alternate use of th same building has been one device."

Bishop Hallam noted that "a marked difference is the definite sacramental basis of worship and life in the Anglican Church." Another difference which requires particularly careful study is the conception of the ministry, both underlying and expressed in th services.

THE ANNUAL WAGE DEMAND

It is becoming increasingly apparent that the next major objective of organized labor in Canada is going to be the guaranteed annual wage.

More and more unions are joining in the demand for this innovation.

On the other side of the fence, denunciations of the plan and criticisms of it are becoming more and more frequent and increasingly tart.

The Financial Post, for instance, says that a guaranteed annual wage would be possible only if there were guaranteed annual sales, "and guaranteed annual sales are possible only if all of us freeze our tastes exactly as they are, and keep right on buying the same amount of corn flakes, the same number of shoelaces and motor cars and post offices and St. Lawrence Seaways and radishes every year."

Are not both sides in danger of confusing the issue by assuming that all types of jobs fall in the same category?

That real security can come only from progress, as the Financial Post says, is true. It is true, too, as the Post adds, that progress means changes, new machines, sometimes new workers, sometimes new companies. No guarantee of an annual wage should be permitted to interfere with such changes. For, if the guarantee were given, consumers would pay for it, through higher costs of production, and therefore higher prices for the goods they need.

But there are certain industries in which employment is seasonal and for which a guaranteed annual wage might not be so unreasonable. The companies engaged in such fields re-hire the same workers year after year. But in the slack season, at present, these men and women join the ranks of the unemployed and draw unemployment insurance. Most of us share in the cost of paying these jobless workers, of keeping them clothed and housed and fed until such a time as their employers need their services again. Is that desirable?

An excellent example of this situation is provided by those employed on the Great Lakes during the eight or nine months of the navigation season. These mariners draw unemployment insurance when they come off their boats, some of them every year. Employers and employees in other transportation concerns contribute toward the cost of these benefits. Is this fair? Or should the cost be paid by the people who avail themselves of the lake navigation services during the season?

This is not an easy question to answer and no adequate solution is likely to be reached by raising a cry for or against a guaranteed annual wage and insisting that the one formula should be applied to all the many varied types of occupations in Canada.

One thing, though, ought to be self-evident and that is that any worker who enjoys a guaranteed annual wage should be ineligible to receive unemployment insurance benefits or welfare assistance during the term of that guarantee. The guarantee would therefore place an additional financial burden on the firms providing it—but it would lessen the burden on governments and, therefore, on taxpayers.

CREDIT WHERE CREDIT IS NOT DUE

Have you deserted your wife lately?

If so, chances are your act stemmed from one of three problems.

1.—Lack of housing. The best brains in the country have been wrestling with this bogey-man for several years now without being able to clamp a half-Nelson on it.

2.—Alcohol. The Demon Rum is an old-time performer and is still going strong.

3.—Too much easily-available credit. Here is a newcomer but W. J. Grummett, C.C.F. house leader in the Ontario Legislature, already ranks it as one of the "big three." However, its career may be short-lived. Miss M. Bannon of Oshawa, has gone to the mat with it and come up with a strangle-hold which may end the bout in double-quick time. She wants curbs put on "unnecessary loans to young couples by finance companies." She made this suggestion, among others, at a meeting of the welfare section of the Ontario Municipal Association in Hamilton. The Canadian Press reports that "all her suggestions gained apparent support."

This is just grand. We look forward eagerly to the day when, if your coal bin is empty and your fuel dealer insists on cash on delivery, you will trot down to the city hall and hold a little confab with the city supervisor of financial transactions and extension of credit to wedded citizens in the lower ages' brackets.

Of course, if you want to cheat, you might try bribing the city clerk to provide you with a birth certificate showing you to have been born a full dozen years before you actually entered this vale of tears. Or, if you are just plain ornery, you might try your luck at arguing that a man of 31 is no longer young, that at this stage of life it has already become increasingly difficult to crawl out of bed in the mornings, a sure sign of advancing age, and that your wife will testify you have been so stupid lately that it is self-evident that senility is setting in. You might try producing one of those articles which declare that you are as young, or old, as you feel and exercise your vocabulary to prove that you feel seven times as old as Methuselah. We cannot offer you much hope, though, that any of these tactics will succeed. The bureaucrats are almost certain to insist on measuring age in years and not in aches.

If you cannot evade loan-control by proving that you are no longer young, it will become necessary to prove that the loan is not unnecessary. If you can phrase your request in just this form, it should help, because it is the type of language in which bureaucrats delight. The word "necessary" has, however, always been extremely difficult to adequately define and we see scant hope that this work of definition will become any easier when Miss Bannon gets her credit curbs in action.

If, however, you are tempted to get annoyed at the city supervisor of financial transactions and extension of credit to wedded citizens in the lower ages' brackets, please remember that he or she is laboring in a most worthy cause—endeavoring to make it easier for you to live with your wife.

He will probably succeed, at that. After a couple of hours with the C.S.F.T.E.C.W.C.L.A.B., a wife would be so nice to come home to.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL DOUGLASS

BUILT ON ROCK

A suburb of one of the cities in this country is built on man-made land. Many decades ago engineers scraped off the top of a nearby hill and carried the soil over into the marshland. This suburb today rests on the thinnest layer of soil.

Because of its nature it is possible to erect skyscrapers or cathedrals. These require foundations. Man-made land does not constitute a satisfactory basis for towering and impressive structures.

We live in a world today where humanism prevails. Science seems to intimate that man has created our present world. Of course, what has happened has been that man has taken what God long ago gave and has worked it over into forms which now represent power, comfort, and beauty.

When we wait to erect majestic buildings, we have to seek out places where the soil is deep and the rock stratum is secure. In building our lives we must guard against building them on the superficialities which man-made land represent. They must be built up on firm ground—upon abiding rock structure.

TIRESOME REST

I've tried that idling under trees
And found a day or two of ease
And dreaming, although still awake,
Was all the rest that I could take.

I had the notion in my head
It would be nice to stay in bed,
But when an illness laid me low
I quickly learned it wasn't so.

A nap each afternoon seemed good.
Take that the doctor said I should,
But I discovered very soon
I'd grown to dread the afternoon.

When work has left the body tired
Sleep is the medicine required,
But do what doctors wise suggest
And quickly you'll get tired of rest.

Red Tutors' Task Too Hard

(London News-Chronicle)

It would be the graceful thing to extend our sympathy to the Chinese Communist tutors who, in the course of their gainful employment, were required to indoctrinate the young Britons taken prisoner of war in Korea.

They were bowling on a batsman's wicket, and it must have been hard and discouraging work.

A clue to the British prisoners' general approach is afforded by Rifleman Fulton, of Dungannon, one of the first POWs to be released. He says that one of the Chinese who lectured them on the Communist infallibilities was known to them as Screaming Skull, because of the rages into which he flew when heckled.

This was a vivid enough pet name, projecting a clear image of the subject; but it was not respectful, and lack of respect seems to have been the major difficulty with which the indoctrinators had to contend.

There was a wholly unsatisfactory response, for example, to the Communist insistence on Public Confessions, or Self Criticism, as a punishment for wrongdoing in the camps. A growing practice among the British prisoners of reading out Self-Criticism which failed to reflect the proper inward remorse, being designed (as another ex-prisoner explained, "just to make the boys laugh," obliged the authorities to abandon this exercise.

The Chinese plainly did their best to mould these youthful British minds into the pattern which alone would have enabled them to appreciate the blessings of Communism. It was a good try, but it was probably doomed from the beginning.

As in the case of the Channel Tunnel, the Groundnuts Scheme and other such bold conceptions, the natural obstacles were too considerable to be overcome.

West Needs Less Bounce

(Regina Leader-Post)

Spavined-backed Saskatchewan motorists and dust-begrimed, irate tourists, must have smiled wryly at headed "More bounce" which told the recent news story in this paper of the highways department's decision to experiment in placing a rubber content into the asphalt on provincial highways next year.

A reading of the story discloses that the department is trying the experiment out with the idea of determining whether the rubber might give the pavement a little more resilience and make it more resistant to fracturing.

Anyone who has had the misfortune to drive over Saskatchewan blacktop lately, or what passes for it in many places, will take no umbrage at any experiment which might make the road surface hold together a bit better than it is doing.

But as for added resilience or bounce, no thanks, Mr. Douglas. Ask any motorist who has jounced and battered those long 29 miles from McLean to Regina this summer.

Less bounce, not more, is what is sorely needed in Saskatchewan highways.

Italy Holds Fag-End Probe

(Winnipeg Free Press)

No Canadian who served in Italy during the last war needs to be reminded of the trade in cigarette ends which flourishing in all the large cities, was one of the least attractive features of that poverty-ridden society. It appears that this unpleasant commerce has survived eight years of peace; indeed it was recently the subject of an official inquiry which uncovered some rather astonishing facts.

The traffic, it should be understood, is illegal; all decent Italians are properly concerned with its health implications and the collector—"Cicciaolo" as he is called—has to play tag with law enforcement officers. Nevertheless it has quite evidently attained sizeable proportions.

It would appear that about 1,500 stubs are required for a pound of mixture, which the black market manufacturers handle without benefit of disinfecting processes. To collect such a total is a hard day's work even in Rome where it is reckoned that at least 20 tons of stubs are discarded daily. A pound of sortings (U.S.) brings eighteen shillings; others sell at the cut rate of fifteen shillings. Yet it was disclosed that one family of nine boys near Naples lived entirely on the proceeds of such collections, while others made a practice of breaking into automobiles, merely to empty the ash-trays.

Back in depression days innumerable jokes about cigarette stubs circulated on this continent. But there is nothing amusing about the current problem in Italy and it is much to be hoped that the authorities are successful in stamping it out.

Odyssey Being Filmed

(Vancouver Sun)

Over in Italy a company using American and continental actors is filming the Homeric story of Ulysses, the crafty king of Ithaca. This is great news. The wonder is that it has never been done before because here is one of the world's greatest adventure stories. We only hope they do Homer justice and go easy on the standard Hollywood "boy-meets-girl" formula.

The difficulty about filming some of the great stories of the past is making them fit the taste of a mass medium not noted for its taste. For example, Hollywood's attempts to put Helen of Troy on the screen have been plain silly. The same must also be said of efforts to translate Roman imperial history into Hollywoodese.

Judging by reports out of Italy the makers of "Ulysses" aren't falling into the usual mistakes. They're sticking fairly close to the story and are sparing no pains to make the "props" authentic. Circe, who turned men into pigs and other animals, Scylla and Charybdis, the mariners' twin perils, and the one eyed Cyclops, will all be included.

The Odyssey is a story that will never die. As an epic poem it was a favorite of the ancients. Translated into modern English prose—as it has been by several scholars recently—it has turned out to be a novel of surpassing interest, the first novel, indeed, ever written. We wouldn't be surprised if it makes a smash hit in the movie houses and starts a rush to the bookstores for the works of the blind bard who lived 2800 years ago or more.

Letter to the Editor

Hockey Situation

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

I would appreciate a few inches of your valuable space to call the public's attention to the situation confronting Belleville from the standpoint of organized hockey for the coming season. As chairman of the Arena commission, I thought it wise to call an emergency meeting of the commission yesterday to attempt to find a solution to the problem.

It will be recalled that, for some years, a group of local hockey enthusiasts have sponsored Junior hockey at a considerable expense to themselves. It has been necessary for the Arena commission to provide this group with more generous terms on two or three occasions to prevent the dissolution of the Junior Hockey Association at the time.

Last year Alderman Don McNevin took on the sponsorship of the Senior hockey team. He hesitated in doing this, because, as a member of the Arena commission, he was afraid that his intentions might be misinterpreted. However, I think that everyone will recall that his sponsorship was a great assistance to organized hockey and proved to be financially beneficial to the arena. Due to some criticism, which took place some time ago, Alderman McNevin has refused to have anything to do with organized hockey. Also, it should be mentioned, that, due to the expenses which the sponsors of the Junior hockey team have incurred in the past, they are not sponsoring the Junior team this year.

Therefore, Mr. Editor, the Arena commission finds itself in the position of not being able to afford the public any organized hockey this year. Not only will this be a great loss from a sporting and recreational standpoint, but it will be a severe blow to the arena's income, and if continued indefinitely, can force at least part of the upkeep of the arena to be absorbed in the tax rate.

I, as chairman, and at least one or two other members of the commission, feel that if the situation continues, then there will be only two alternatives in regard to the arena itself. Either the arena will have to be closed, or become a permanent liability in the tax rate. The other alternative is to dispose of the arena to private ownership.

My purpose in writing this letter is to draw the attention of the public to the seriousness of this situation. If any person has any suggestions which will enable the commission to solve this problem, it would be very welcome.

Ald. Bruce H. Smith.

Fun and Games

(Kingston Whig-Standard)

You don't know about people if you were surprised to read that a funeral was conducted in Washington state by placing the deceased's ashes in toy balloons which were shot down by mourners dressed in Chinese costumes. People will do anything.

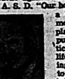
UNFAIR TO CHILDREN



Dr. Brady

Keep the good work going with the battle against the C R I, says Mrs. A. S. D. "Our home has been a happier and more healthful place since we put into practice in our daily life your teachings in regard to respiratory infection.

"The children dress as they please without let or hindrance, and without worry on our part. For this we owe you our thanks. The only time the fever thermometer is used at our house is when we want to tell whether the kids are "working" us or see whether one of them needs to be isolated for 24 hours..." (Mrs. A. S. D.)

Although you do not say so, Ma'am, your letter implies that if the child has no fever he is just feigning illness to stay out of school or to evade some other unpleasant requirement. On the other hand, if there is any elevation of body temperature the child goes into isolation for 24 hours.

There's no particular harm in isolating a child for a day or a week or longer; and in any circumstance isolation should not depend on whether the child has fever. Many causes other than communicable diseases will give a child fever.

On the other hand in many minor and major illnesses in childhood there may be no fever at all. It would be unfair to the child to infer the child is not really ill merely because he has no fever.

If Mrs. A. S. D. is as intelligent and sensible as her letter indicates, she should be able to tell better than any thermometer can, whether a child is really ill or not.

People who have not been taught the care and feeding of children—that is to say, most people in Yankeeland—like to use a clinical thermometer because they think it covers their ignorance and incompetence.

My advice to parents is what it has been since Topsy was a colt: Do not keep in the house carbolic acid, barbiturate or other sleeping pills, strychnin tablets, a pistol or a clinical thermometer.

Too many pediatricians will tell you gullible customers that I'm just an old geezer who has lost his marbles. But consider this, if you have enough sense to do so: I'm telling you how to save yourself a lot of worry and a lot of expense, while the trick specialist tells you how to make every illness, minor or major, as costly as he or she can make it.

At this juncture, as though to point a moral, Mrs. W. R. writes:

"Please mention more often your advice that mothers should keep their children home from school when the children have running noses. Teachers and other school people, sometimes even nurses and doctors, discourage this safety first practice because they are more interested in a high attendance record and corresponding high apportionment of tax money than in the health of school children."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THINGS RARELY NOTICED

We have knowledge, unharvested wealth, heroism, courage, hidden beauty, and concealed wonders, all about us—but only rarely noticed. How do we know what is in people's minds while they are silent? Yet it is then that we misjudge others most. We imagine their thoughts, emotions and intentions.

How kind we are to people whom we understand and who understand us. The people who hurt us most are those who have no acquaintance with our inner life—and it's this life that is the greater part of our existence.

Nature's secrets and wonders will be with us forever. In a long lifetime only a very few will we ever know. But there they are just the same. I wish I knew all about the origin of color in all our flowers and among our feathered friends. The predominating color in nature is green. You can't think of any other color that could take its place. It is perfect. Every other color glows from this background. A dozen white daisies in a field almost dominate it!

The simplest thing, viewed under the microscope, introduces us to a new world. With our most powerful telescopes only a very small segment of the universe is revealed. The night firmament of stars that sweep across the sky are mostly strangers to us. And how little we know about the ones to whom we have given a name.

Pluck a maple leaf. Put it toward the sun or an electric lamp. You will be looking upon one of the most beautiful and intricate designs—and each leaf exactly the same in structure. Note its circulatory system with the tiniest of lines, like canals, leading to all parts of the leaf, and the almost invisible little paths that unite to give the leaf life with the sap from the trunk of the tree, through the branches and then into the leaf itself. It's one of God's miracles!

Life should never be dull for anyone. More wonderful things go unnoticed than any of us ever learns in a lifetime.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The Packsack had a piece a while ago about engineers, remarking that on every big construction enterprise there is always to be found, sitting up at the head table in the mess hall, some old cuss who isn't an engineer at all, but just a practical man who knows how to build bridges, erect power plants and get things done in a practical way.

One of our readers, an engineer, sends in the following example. On a very big construction job recently, they had a pit ten feet deep, and beside it a great generator, weighing several tons, which had to be lowered into the pit.

But due to some oversight on the part of the makers and readers of the blue prints, there was no room overhead for the erection of any hoisting device by which the generator could be lowered into the pit. Here was a fine how do ye do. After everybody with degrees had studied the problem, it was decided that a hole must be knocked in the overhead construction work already done in order to make room for the momentary installation of hoisting gear of some kind.

The old cuss to which we referred was standing by.

"How much do you figure," he asked, "that it is going to cost to knock out that roof and bring in a hoist?"

The experts estimated it would cost around $1,500 and would delay operations a couple of days.

"I'll get that generator in the hole," said the old cuss, "in four hours, and it won't cost you $200."

It was a deal. The old cuss sent trucks on the run for a couple of tons of ice, from an ice house not far away. While they were getting the ice, he got ready a steam hose from another part of the job.

When the ice came, it was neatly stacked in blocks into the hole, which was filled level. The generator was easily moved onto the ice. The steam hose was turned on, and in a very short time the generator sank gently into the pit.

With his profit, the old cuss stood treat for all the high priced staff on the job that night before supper.

Bob McHarg, 19, Wins Top Honors at Station Meet

Bob McHarg, 19-year-old member of RCAF, Trenton's Maintenance section topped a field of some 100 competitors, Wednesday, on the RCAF Station sports' field, during RCAF Trenton's 19th annual sports' day, to win the Benedict-Proctor Challenge Cup for athlete of the day.

McHarg added precious points to his tally by winning the 220-yard sprint in 25.5 seconds, only 1.1 seconds off the course record of 24.4 seconds, and copped six more points by taking second place in the running broad jump and the 100 yard dash.

Contestants opened the day with a grand parade and march past along the hot cinder track and past a saluting base where G/C D. H. MacCaul, commanding officer of No. 6 Repair Depot, took the salute. Following the colorful march past in which athletes wore the uniforms of their teams from the Repair Depot, Station Trenton, Training Command Headquarters, Maintenance Section, and Flight Cadets, G/C J. B. Millward, commanding officer RCAF Station, Trenton, declared the meet officially opened.

From the opening gun it was a two way tussle between the Flight Cadets and No. 6 Repair Depot who remained within one point of each other for most of the afternoon. The Officers' Mess Grand Aggregate Cup for the winning team of the day finally went to the younger team of Flight Cadet athletes from Canadian universities.

One Record Broken

Howell, of No. 6 Repair Depot broke the only record during the day, when he jumped nineteen feet two inches in the running broad jump. The new jump raised the record by one foot and one quarter inch. Berryman showed a brilliant burst of speed in the 100 yard dash when he came within four tenths of a second of the course record to 10 seconds.

No. 6 Repair Depot pulled the Maintenance ten over the Tug-o-war centre line by a wide margin to win the Sergeants' Mess Challenge Trophy for Tug-o-war. Mayor Roly Whitley, of Trenton, judged the best two-out-of-three event won in two pulls.

Air Vice Marshal J. P. Kerr, Air Officer Commanding Training Command presented the McLellan-Chambers Trophy for the one mile inter unit relay event to the Flight Cadets who led the field round the entire course.

McHarg added two more trophies to his collection when he was awarded the Senator W. A. Fraser Trophy for high aggregate in track and the Grand Aggregate Trophy for track and field events.

3-D Picture Gives Theatre Patrons Thrills

"It Came From Outer Space," is probably one of the most unusual, three-dimensional films to appear on a local movie screen since the advent of 3-D. The picture opened Wednesday at the McCarthy theatre.

The three-dimensional process alone, is nothing less than spectacular, and is inclined to leave viewers gasping. Perhaps, Richard Carlson's portrayal of John Puttenham, a young astronomer, occasionally borders on the melodramatic. However, for this type of story, that is not a great fault.

In the movie story, young, star-gazing Puttenham, has apparently become the object of society's ridicule through his slightly radical articles on astronomy. This fact has caused him to move to the desert in Arizona, build himself a modern home and small observatory.

His discovery of the arrival of a space-ship from another world brings about some tangled but interesting developments through public refusal to believe anything he has to say. Supporting him in the cast is Barbara Rush, as 'Ellen', his fiancee.

Rockslide Impressive

The rockslide that buried the space-ship early in the story, is perhaps the most impressive display of the dimensional filming. Falling rocks and stones give the illusion of coming right into the audience.

Also on the same bill is a 20-minute musical in three dimension, featuring Russ Morgan's orchestra and Nat King Cole.

Permanent polaroid glasses are issued by the management to patrons as they enter the theatre. These glasses are dipped in several solutions to sterilize them before each performance.—(J.B.)

Move Headquarters

ANTWERP, Belgium (CP)—Rear echelon units of Canada's 27th brigade have moved their headquarters from Germany to Antwerp, it was announced Wednesday.

The army said 120 men were involved in the move and noted that it placed "the brigade's administrative echelon well to the rear of any possible sphere of action."

Under a three-year lease, the brigade's administrative sections will occupy the former convent Notre Dame de Sion, a large building in the centre of the city.

County Council Approves Equalized Assessment Of $22 Million After Debate

An equalized assessment of $22,000,000 to be used for Hastings county for 1954, was approved by county councillors Wednesday following a lengthy discussion on assessment and relative matters.

This was the equalized assessment for the various municipalities, suggested by County Assessor Cecil Geen as he made his report to council. The figure had been arrived at following completion of re-assessments in centre Hastings municipalities last year and "spot" assessments being taken in other municipalities.

Mr. Geen said that taking of "spot" assessments in the northern municipalities and in the municipalities in the south where re-assessments were still incompleted, was the only way that a basis for an equalized assessment could be arrived at this year.

Up Four Million

The $22,000,000 figure is up nearly four millions from the $1,122,800 county assessment for 1953 but is considerably lower than the $27,140,000 figure which is the probable assessment for the county when re-assessment of all municipalities is completed.

Thurlow township deputy reeve Cecil Ketcheson as chairman of the assessment committee appointed earlier in the year, said his committee concurred in the assessment report submitted by Mr. Geen.

Mr. Geen noted that the $22,000,000 equalized assessment figure was a ten per cent reduction from the $27,140,000 assessment expected after re-assessment was completed.

Sharp Increase Noted

Almost without exception the "spot" assessments taken in the northern municipalities, and also in the south indicated a sharp increase in actual assessments when re-assessment is completed.

And as it was through these spot assessments that the basis for the equalized assessment was arrived at several of the northern reeves voiced firm objection to the 1954 assessment figure.

Among the reeves objecting were Reeve J. W. Anderson of Faraday and Reeve Theodore Tryon of Bancroft village.

Reeve Anderson said that Faraday was a "poor" township and did not have the industry and other resources. In spite of this the suggested equalized assessment figure for his township had jumped from $85,000 to $202,000. "We have hard enough time to pay our taxes now," he declared.

Faraday is Down

County Assessor Geen in reply said that in taking spot assessments he had found Faraday to be very lowly assessed. "The idea of re-assessing is to equalize, and that is the reason for the big jump," he said.

Reeve Tryon of Bancroft said all the villages were "taking quite a licking" in the proposed equalized assessment, with assessments drastically increased from those effective in previous years.

He admitted that the equalized assessment in the county had been due a long time for a change but he felt the increase in his own village was more than was justified.

"It is okay for the department of municipal affairs to set up a new assessment system and tell us that our grant system will be adjusted in five years, but they cannot tell what times will be like in three or four years."

Bancroft Increased

He noted that in Bancroft the equalized assessment would be increased from $264,975 to $486,200.

Reeve Clarke Rollins of Wollaston township where the assessment for county purposes had been raised from $88,548 to $213,400, was of an entirely different opinion.

"This is a practically new system of assessing, and I believe that some of the municipalities will have to give a little the first year," he said.

He went on to say that Mr. Geen had made a since effort in equalizing the assessment and he believed it should be given a conscientious try.

Reeve William Davis reminded what would happen if assessments were appealed before a county judge and said that a careful study of equalization figures should be given before any such action was taken.

No Complaint

Assessment for county purposes in his own municipality would be more than doubled, but Mr. Davis said he had no complaint. "We knew we were in for an increase," he said.

Reeve Charles Buskard of Deloro, wanted to know what the department reaction was to cutting the assessment for county purposes to lower than the actual overall figure. Mr. Geen replied that such a system was allowed when re-assessments were still incomplete but noted the actual figures would have to be taken when this was completed.

As reeve of one of the townships where the equalized assessment figure had been lowered, Earl Sager of Madoc township, said he had felt that his municipality was among those which had "carried the big load".

Basis used "Fair"

Compared with what had been the case before he felt the basis used this year was "fair."

Mr. Sager went on to refer to the unconditional grants given municipalities by the province and said that the percentage of the tax levy given was far less in his own case than that claimed by the department. He said Madoc would not receive 10 per cent of its county levy let alone that percentage of the township's entire tax levy.

"My big worry about the unconditional grant system is how our school and other grants will work out," he said. "We have been told there will be adjustments in five years, but I think care should be used until all adjustments can be done at the same time."

Assessor Answers Question

Reeve Tryon claimed his municipality was "still in the top bracket" insofar as assessment increases were concerned. But in answer to this Mr. Geen pointed out that taking assessment on a per capita basis, Bancroft was considerably lower than the other villages in the county.

Reeve Rollins admitted there had been assessment increase but asked if this would not result in the rate coming down. "From a dollars and cents standpoint only so much money needs to be raised," he said.

This brought a pointed question from Reeve T. C. Graham of Tweed who asked how much additional money his village would have to pay the county under the proposed assessment figure and assuming the same amount of money was required by the county next year as was being levied this year.

Clerk Gives Answer

After some figuring Clerk-Treasurer Erle Denyes was ready with the answer and said that Tweed would have to pay approximately four per cent of the county levy under the proposed equalized assessment instead of three per cent as was the case this year. From a dollars and cents point of view this would mean an additional three or four thousand dollars, he said.

Following a brief discussion as to why some equalized assessments were higher and others lower than the actual, Reeve Sager moved that the county assessor's report and proposed assessment figures for county purposes be accepted. The motion was carried with but few dissenting votes.

Toronto Milkmen Vote to Strike But Date Not Set

TORONTO (CP)—Milk drivers serving more than 300,000 homes in Greater Toronto voted Wednesday night to strike for the continuance of six-day deliveries but set no deadline for their walkout.

They left fixing of the date to a committee of shop stewards and union executives.

After a meeting of more than 1,000 members of the Milk Drivers' Union (AFL) voted 914 to 147 in favor of a strike, the committee met for several hours Wednesday night to plan strategy.

A strike by the 1,700 members of the union would tie up 13 distributing dairies serving the entire area of Metropolitan Toronto with a population of upwards of 1,300,009.

When officials announced the result of the secret strike ballot at the union meeting, there were shouts from the floor of "tonight" by drivers who favored an immediate strike. However, union leaders declined to say when the milk drivers and inside workers would walk off their jobs.

May Resume Talks

Meanwhile, there were indications the union might be willing to negotiate some more with the Toronto Milk Distributors Association. Thomas Lees, union president, said he is willing to go back into negotiations if the distributors offer to resume them.

Meetings between the union and representatives of the dairies represented by the distributors' association ended Monday when the dairy operators claimed they could not grant wage increases without economy cuts in distribution.

Up to now, milk at 22 cents a quart has been delivered every day except Sunday. The drivers work a five-day week.

The union rejected five-day-a-week delivery as proposed by the dairies and a conciliation board. The plan called for no deliveries Wednesdays. Union spokesmen said they feared such an arrangement would lead to extra-heavy loads Tuesday, as well as to curtailment of employment.

Trail, Kimberley Residents Lead Canada in Income

OTTAWA (CP)—It paid to be a lawyer or to work in Trail or Kimberley, B.C., in 1951.

The revenue department disclosed today in its 1953 edition of taxation statistics that lawyers had the highest average income of all Canadian occupation groups in 1951, the latest year for which statistics are available.

The 4,970 lawyers who paid income tax in 1951 had an average income of $10,214. They were followed by medical doctors and surgeons with an average of $9,975 and consulting engineers and architects with $9,628. The average income of all Canadians paying taxes war $3,149.

The review of the taxation year showed that residents of Trail and Kimberley had a higher average income than those of any other cities in the country. The 6,890 income tax payers in the two British Columbia mining communities earned an average income of $3,486 during the year, well above the average for most of the larger cities.

Taxes Are Heavy

However, the review showed that the 1,570 Canadians with incomes of more than $50,000 in 1951 took a financial beating at the hands of the tax collector. They earned a total of $120,100,000, but had to cotgh up $58,500,000 in taxes, leaving them $61,600,000.

The taxation review, commonly known as the "green book," showed that the amount of tax paid in 1951 was up $237,200,000 compared with 1950. This was caused by a major increase in the number of taxpayers, a sharp jump in the amount of money they earned and a slightly higher level of taxation.

More Taxpayers

During 1951, a total of 2,777,950 Canadians paid income tax, an increase of 403,710 compared with the 2,374,240 who paid taxes the previous year. The amount of income they earned totalled $8,747,600,000, a rise of $714,800,000 over the $7,032,800,000 earned by taxpayers in 1951. And the amount of tax paid in 1951 amounted to $812,100,000 against $574,900,000 the previous year.

The general level of taxation in 1951 was the same as in 1950, except for a 10 per cent surtax which went into effect after tre outbreak of the Korean war. However, this accounted for only a relatively small part of the increased taxrs paid.

1953 Collections

The "green book" also disclosed that income tax collected by the revenue department in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1953, totalled $2,555,890,089 and succession duties $38,070,529, a total of $2,593,960,618. These collection figures cannot be broken down into occupational groups until 1955.

Collections showed a sharp increase over the $2,204,046,302 collected in the 1952 fiscal year despite the fact no excess profits tax was collected in the 1953 period. The last of the war-time excess profits tax was collected in 1952 and amounted to $2,364,909.

The report said the cost of tax collection in 1953 was down for the third straight year. The cost was $21,810,416, or 0.84 per cent of the total amount collected.

Coral Once Grew Near North Pole

OTTAWA (CP)—Coral used to grow in warm water a few hundred miles from the north pole, says geologist Robert Blackadar, and the Arctic wastes have been warming up again in the last few thousand years.

These were some of the observations made by the 25-year-old Ottawa geologist in a four-month expedition this summer along the north coast of Ellesmere Island, Canada's northernmost possession 500 miles from the pole.

At a press conference Wednesday, the geologist said there were coral fossils — about 200,000,000 years old, he estimates—that showed the Arctic islands were once washed by sub-tropical seas. Coral needs a water temperature no lower than 60 degrees. The sea off Ellesmere now averages 28 degrees.

Britain May Soon Have New Foreign Secretary

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain may soon have a new foreign secretary.

The change would release Anthony Eden from the foreign office and enable him to stand by Sir Winston Churchill in his other post as deputy prime minister. Eden then would be able to concentrate his energy on helping Churchill work out top matters of policy and government.

Leading candidates for the foreign office appointment are: Sir Walter Monckton, 62-year-old labor minister whose skill at conciliation and management has shot him to the top ranks of the party; and Harold Macmillan, 59, the able minister of housing and local government under whose direction the party is approaching its promised goal of 300,000 new homes.

The present acting foreign secretary, the Marquess of Salisbury, is not considered likely to get the post because he is a member of the House of Lords. Richard Butler, chancellor of the exchequer, who filled in as prime minister during Churchill's enforced rest this summer, is almost ruled out by the fact that Britain's whole economic recovery program is dependent on his direction at the treasury.

Political opinion is hardening that Churchill intends to make a top-level reshuffle in his cabinet before fall.

Enjoys Picnic

The Cannifton United Church choir and their families held a picnic at Wellington Park, on Sunday. Cars left Mrs. Harry arnham's home at 11 o'clock, arriving at the park at 12:30, when a most enjoyable dinner was partaken of by all.

As this was the choir's first get-together since the church vacation, the afternoon was well spent in visiting, and swimming, while the children enjoyed the park amusements. Supper was served and everyone left feeling the outing had been most successful.

Weddings

POWERS—KERBY

St. James' Church, Stirling, Ontario, was the setting on Saturday, August 22, at 9:30 a.m., for a very pretty wedding when the Rev. J. L. Edward Lamarche, assisted by the Rev. E. Briceland, of Read, and the Rev. W. McGee, of Kingston, united in marriage Mary Elizabeth Kerby, of Ivanhoe, daughter of Mr. Michael Kerby, and the late Mrs. Kerby, to Harold Powers, of Read, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Powers. The altar was beautifully adorned with gladioli, asters and ferns. John and Michael Long were present as altar boys.

Mr. William Hanley, of Read, furnished the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Miss Rita McAvoy, who sang, "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother," and "Panis Angelicus". Mr. Hanley also sang "Ave Maria."

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Michael Kerby, the bride was charming in her bridal gown of white Chantilly lace over nylon net and satin, featuring a skirt in ballerina length in cutaway style with tiers of net-edged lace falling from the molded waistline. She wore a matching lace veil and carried a bouquet of red roses in cascade form.

Miss Helen Kerby, of Ivanhoe, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, dressed in pink nylon taffeta in ballerina length. She wore a matching picture hat, matching mittens, and carried a nosegay of roses, carnations and baby fern.

Masters Brian and Brennan Stewart, twin brother, of Madoc, and cousins of the bride, were handsome ring bearers, attired in blue suits.

Mr. Edward Powers, of Oshawa, Ontario, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman and Messrs. Gerald Kerby, brother of the bride, and Gerald Powers, brother of the bridegroom, acted as ushers.

The wedding dinner for seventy guests was held at Long's Hotel, Stirling, and the reception at the home of the bride, following the dinner. The bridegroom's mother, attired in navy blue sheer with matching accessories and corsage of pink roses, received.

Those who served at the reception were, Mrs. Roy LaChappelle, Mrs. Andy Gray, Misses Eileen, Reta and Agnes McAvoy and Jayne Gay.

For the wedding trip to points east and St. Anne de Beaupre, the bride chose a two-tone gray suit with navy accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Powers will reside on the bridegroom's farm at Read, Ontario.

Out-of-town guests were present from Stirling, Read, Tweed, Stoco, Saskatchewan, Toronto, Belleville, Madoc, Bancroft, Oshawa, Kingston, Marlbank and Marysville.

ELLIS—GOODCHILD

The wedding took place recently at St. Andrew's United Church, Marmora, of Lois Goodchild, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Goodchild, of Deloro, and Kenneth Rayburn Ellis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ellis, of Madoc. Rev. Kenneth J. Crawford officiated. The church was decorated with gladioli.

Mrs. H. C. Barlow, of Deloro, presided at the organ. During the signing of the register, Miss Joan Brown sang "O Perfect Love."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white lace and net with veil of net and pearls in crown shape. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Gerald Strong, of Oshawa, was bridesmaid, attired in blue taffeta with pink accessories. Her headdress was a band of pink flowers. She carried a bouquet of gladioli and carnations.

Mr. Gerald Strong discharged the duties of best man. The ushers were Messrs. Ray Goodchild and Jack Ellis.

The reception was held in St. Andrew's Church Hall with the Deloro group of the W.A., doing the catering. The bride's mother received wearing a gown of printed nylon and white straw hat and corsage of yellow roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, wearing a gown of navy and white sheer, white straw hat, and corsage of red roses.

Later, the bride and bridegroom left for a trip to Niagara Falls, N.Y. and Buffalo. For travelling the bride wore a nylon dress with red and white accessories. They have taken up residence in Oshawa.

Carmel W.I. Hears Mrs. R. Robson

The Carmel W.I. August meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Seldon Homan with 13 members and four visitors and a number of children present.

Communications and letters were read and discussed. The president then turned the meeting over to Mrs. A. Whitmore, Publicity convener.

Miss Patsy Dafoe gave a short musical number.

Mrs. Whitemore read a paper entitled "Publicity", touching on some of the do's, and don'ts for the Institute, and showing how it should encourage members to attend meetings and especially inviting non-members and newcomers to attend meetings, and particularly going after the retiring or busy home-keeping woman.

Miss Marguerite Hicks read "Aims to the Institute".

Guest Speaker

Mrs. Lattone, president, then introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Roscoe Robson, who spoke on "Public Relations and Community Activities." She felt the W.I. should reach out beyond the community itself and touched on a number of things most interesting to the members.

Mrs. Robson read two lovely poems "A Mother's Prayer", and "The Ten Beatitudes of a Home".

Miss Mildred Jones, on behalf of all present, moved a hearty vote of thanks to the speaker.

After the meeting closed refreshments were served.

Mrs. Chase Smith Only Woman Among 95 in U.S. Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—For five years now, Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith has been the only woman among 95 men in what has been called the most exclusive men's club in the world—the United States Senate.

How have they treated her?

With a smile, the Maine Republican senator replied in an interview:

"Most of them, just fine. I wanted to be regarded as a senator, not just as a woman senator. I am not a feminist."

But Mrs. Smith is anxious to have other women join her in the Senate. She is not anxious to defeat any of her present male colleagues, but is confident that some woman replacements would strengthen the government.

"Real peace would be installed and guaranteed if we had more women in the United Nations and in top government positions of the various nations of the world," she said.

Wide Experience

Attractive, energetic and always stylishly dressed, the one-time 10-cent store clerk, telephone operator school teacher and business executive long has urged other women to be more active in politics at all levels.

Voters of Maine have sent her to Washington ever since 1940—first as a House member to succeed her late husband, then to the Senate in 1948 as the first woman ever to be elected to both chambers of Congress.

She is one of the hardest-working members of Congress. This plus seniority has won her places on three of the most important senate committees—appropriations, armed services and government operations.

Defence Secretary Charles Wilson and other new members of the Pentagon team of former business executives recently learned she can ask pointed questions. She was active in the move that forced them to dispose of stocks and securities before confirmation. She was skeptical of the sharp cutbacks in the air force.

Generals and former defence leaders also did some squirming during the special Senate investigation into ammunition shortages in Korea which she directed.

And Senator Smith has not hesitated to question the methods and activities of Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.) in his controversial probes of Communist infiltration. Although McCarthy bumped her from his special investigations group, she is chairman of his sub-committee that handles all government reorganization plans.

Supports Ike

So far, Senator Smith is one of 10 senators who voted in support of the Eisenhower administration on all issues.

She dislikes political labels such as liberal, conservative, or radical. If forced to adopt one, she prefers "moderate."

She is at her office desk almost every morning at 8 o'clock and has a light breakfast there while reading newspapers and her mail. She usually has a fruit salad for lunch.

About 7 or 8 p.m. she generally has a steak dinner on her way home with papers and other documents to study.

Old Length Considered More Flattering to Average Woman

PARIS (AP)—In the confusion and clash of opinion over fashionable skirt lengths caused by the "Dior revolution" only one thing longer.

In the first published photographs of the new models presented by the big Paris fashion houses for fall and winter, the women who will be the customers and the ultimate judges can see today what is happening.

Christian Dior, still the champion in the attention-getting stakes, lifted hemlines several inches above current skirt lengths. After this bombshell, the other haute couture showings were pretty much anti-climax for the writers and foreign buyers chosen to view the new offerings.

Going along with Dior for shorter skirts (actually each must have thought of the idea independently since they keep their designs secret until the shows) were Desses, Fath, Lanvin, and Maggy Rouff. But none of these dared go as high as Dior.

Clinging to the old length and defending it as more flattering to most women were Balmain, Balenciaga, Heim, Griffe, Patou and Givenchy. Only Schiaparelli actually lengthened skirts — just a shade.

Silhouette Trends

Two general trends in silhouettes were developed in the latest showing: 1. Wide shoulders and narrow skirts. 2. A princess or redingote line with fitted bodice, waist and hips and flaring skirt.

There also was a surprising use of printed materials, usually reserved for summer, in the winter-wear gowns and frocks displayed.

Dior claims a new cycle of fashions for women is launched every seven years. (His sensational "New Look" exploded on the women's clothing trade in 1947). He also asserts that women were shortening their skirts on their own several months before he showed his new numbers.

For the doubtful, there is the constant reminder that Dior never yet has presented an unsuccessful line.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

LETTERS AND ANSWERS

His Girl Friend Wants Him To Give Up Everybody Else

Dear Miss fairfax:

I'm a boy of 18 and in love with a girl 17. We have been going steady for a year.

Lately, she has been getting mad because I like to go out with the fellows sometimes. We had a quarrel about it a few days ago and now she won't even speak to me because I wouldn't promise not to go out with the fellows any more.

How can I get her to be reasonable about this?

Harry S.

It would be a great mistake for you to give up all your own friends for the sake of going out with this one young girl only. Moreover, it's very foolish for young people your age to consider yourselves "in love" and to see no one but each other. No matter how much that sort of thing may be done among young people today, it is still very unwise. This sort of possessiveness can only lead to jealousy and quarrels, which have already begun in your case.

If this girl doesn't want to be friends with you unless you will consent to give up your own friends, then let her go her own way. Even if you persuaded her to make up with you on her own terms, you'd only be quarreling again before long. As I see it, you two are on the verge of breaking up anyhow, for no friendship can last when one person wants to dominate the other completely. So why not let it go now?

Her Daughter Seeks Companionship Of Older Women

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have a daughter of 18 who works. Whenever she is not working, she spends all her time in the homes of married women she has met in her job. This I do not like.

I have tried to explain to her that she should have friends her own age with whom she could go to the movies or do other things, but she says she isn't interested. She also says that if she is old enough to work, she is old enough to choose her own friends.

What do you think — am I right or wrong, and should I just keep still and let her do as she pleases?

Mrs. William H.

Dear Mrs. H.:

I agree with you that it is not good for a girl of your daughter's age to spend all her leisure time with older married women, but that she should be with young people her own age.

If she will not listen to you, is there anyone you know who could influence her? Sometimes a teen-age girl has someone whom she specially admires and whose opinion she respects. Or would it be possible for you to find out which of these married women is most sensible and responsible and try to enlist her co-operation in solving the problem?

If neither of these ideas sound workable, then I suggest that you might discuss the matter with a woman social worker or perhaps someone at your local YWCA. They might be able to find out what your daughter's special interests are, and get her to join some club at the Y where she could be with girls her own age. Once she found out that she could really have good times with them, your problems would be solved.

Tomato Products in Bottles.

By Mary Moore

Regardless of the hiring of tomato peeling hands and ordering of tin cans and setting up of the tomato canning production line in commercial plants in the month of September, housewives want to get on with their preserving of tomato products right now.

Canned tomato instructions were given here a couple of weeks ago and now you are after me for chili sauce and catsup and other tomato recipes.

Today's the day then for tomato products other than canned tomatoes.

You could wait until you get the youngsters back to school though when you will have a little more peace and quiet, for then they are at their ripening peak.

Tomato Catsup

Three and 1-4 quarts very ripe washed and cut up but not peeled tomatoes, 5 hot red peppers, 1 large sweet red pepper, 2 cups chopped onions peeled, 2 garlic cloves, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 or 2 tablespoons paprika (to make the finished catsup bright red), 2 cups white vinegar, 3 tablespoons mixed pickling spices tied in muslin bag. Cook together the tomatoes, peppers—both kinds, onions and garlic until tender enough to press easily through sieve. Press through sieve. Add the sugar, paprika, vinegar and spices tied in bag to the tomato pulp and cook as fast as possible until thick—this takes about 45 minutes. The faster this cooking process is done the better the catsup color. Pour into sterile jars and seal. If this is put into bottles, they must be sterile, corks must be sterile, and then corked bottles dipped in hot new paraffin. Dip tops a second time when first coating is cold.

Regular Chili Sauce

Six and one-half quarts (32 measuring cups) peeled and cut up tomatoes are allowed to stand while you prepare remaining ingredients. Pare 8 large onions (preferably red ones), and chop them, seed and chop 4 sweet red peppers, wash and chop 1 large bunch celery, and to these mixed vegetables add 1 1-2 tablespoons white pepper, 2 tablespoons powdered ginger, 5 cups white vinegar, 1 1-2 cups sugar, 1-2 cup salt. Boil all except the tomatoes for 1 hour. Drain off all excess liquid which has collected on bottom of container holding tomatoes and add drained tomatoes to cooked vegetables and boil until of chili sauce consistency—about 20 to 25 minutes longer. This must be almost constantly stirred. Seal in sterile jars.

Special Sweet Chili Sauce

(Calls for peaches and pears)

These amounts yield about four pints.

Prepare 15 medium sized choice ripe tomatoes, 3 large onions, 1 1-2 hot red peppers, 1 pint white vinegar, 3 peaches, 3 pears, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 oz. whole mixed spices, 2 cups brown sugar. Cut up tomatoes and let stand then drain off excess liquid. Chop onions, peaches, pears fairly finely, and cut peppers very fine. Mix vinegar, salt and brown sugar, and stir into all of the fruits and vegetables except the tomatoes; add the whole spices tied loosely in a muslin bag, leaving a long piece of string for easy removal. Boil stirring very frequently—constantly is better—until spiced to taste,—about 1 hour. Remove spice bag now if you wish. Add well-drained tomatoes. Draining the tomatoes reduces cooking time and keeps finished chili sauce bright. Cook about 20 or 25 minutes longer. Seal in sterile jars.

Simple Spicy Tomato Sauce

Eight lbs. peeled, quartered tomatoes, 1 pint cider vinegar, 3 tablespoons salt, 3 tablespoons whole mixed pickling spices tied in muslin bag. Cook all ingredients together until mixture is fairly thick—about thin jam consistency. Now add 2 lbs. granulated sugar, and bring to boil stirring. Boil 1 minute. Pour into hot sterile jars and seal. About 5 pints.

Fee For The Regular Church Organist

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My fiance's closest friend, a fraternity brother of his in college, is the organist of a church quite near here, and has volunteered his service for our church wedding in October. My fiance and I are thrilled at this, of course accepted his kind offer, and have been discussing the kind of present we would like to give him (since of course we couldn't give him a professional fee). However my father and my fiance's father (both of whom are deacons in our church) insist that it is the correct thing to give the regular organist of our church his usual professional fee even though he does not play the organ at our wedding. Can this really be true, Mrs. Beeckman?

Frances H.

Yes, Ma'am . . . this is true. It is the proper and accepted professional courtesy.

About Gifts Sent After The Wedding

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have been very ill in a hospital for some time, and during that time one of my best friends was married, I was not able to send her a wedding present. Now I want to send her a medium-size silver tray, similar to one which I have found particularly useful, and which she has often admired. I want to have it monogrammed in the center, which I think is more decorative than on the side, and which I think is more practical, for the engraving avoids much of the scratching. In the monogram should I use her maiden initials or her married initials? And should I address the gift to her, as I would have done if I had sent the gift before the wedding?

Charlotte B.

Wedding presents sent after the wedding should be monogrammed with the bride's married initials . . . GSB, for Grace Smith Brown, Brown her husband's surname. And address the gift to "Mr. and Mrs."—not to the bride alone, as you would have addressed the gift sent before the wedding.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Emotional Storms Wreck Good Looks

The temple of beauty is not built on physical health alone. Spiritual well-being is also a factor. There must be a state of composure, tolerance for one's fellow creatures, patience with their weaknesses and shortcomings. The right attitude creates the kind of loveliness that cannot be duplicated by the fragrant loot one brings home from cosmetic counters.

No woman can afford to indulge in unpleasant emotions for they have a devastating effect upon physical and metal health as well as on the appearance. It is being unfair to oneself to let bitter thoughts boil up in one's mind for they make one unhappy and the countenance reflects this state of mind. Emotional control is one of the most important laws in the beauty constitution.

Children aren't the only ones who have temper tantrums. Women have them too. So do some men. Anger sets up a quickening of the pulse. The temperature of the skin may undergo changes.

After almost any emotional strain the digestive motors go on strike, appetite departs and the entire physical system is in a state of panic. Nerves jangle, get into knots. It may take hours for one to get back to normal.

The best slogan for the woman who has a quick temper and a quick tongue is "Don't start anything!" No matter how indignant she may be, how disturbed, she should pause and count ten times ten before uttering a word. That is not always easy.

Some of these women magnify trifles. A delay in the delivery of groceries will send them to the phone to bawl out some overworked clerk. When Pappy upsets the ashtray he is given what-for. As if anyone might not do that little thing! And, anyway, it's not important. The kids track mud over the kitchen floor. They've been doing that ever since there were kitchen floors—probably did it even when they were living in caves. Nothing to get het up about.

Jealousy will age a woman faster than the years. One single pang and her eyesight may be blurred, her mouth dry, her hands moist—which shows how close is the bond between the physical and mental mechanisms.

WILL STILL FISH

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A railroad accident Tuesday cost Barum E. Medlock both his legs, but the 62-year-old trainman said he wasn't going to let that interfere with his fishing. "I can still fish without 'em," he assured his wife as he was being carried into a hospital operating room. One leg was severed when he fell beneath the wheels of a Western of Alabama freight train. The other had to be amputated at hospital.

CAMPBELLFORD

Free Methodist Youths Hold Successful Camp

CAMPBELLFORD. — The first annual youth camp of the Eastern Ontario Conference of Free Methodist Youth met at Growe River near Campbellford last week.

The primitive surroundings on the river proved an excellent location for the camp, under the direction of the Rev. Eldon Sayre, B.A., missionary on furlough from the Southern Rhodesia mission field in Africa.

The eight days of camping were full for the staff and campers, under the direction of Mr. Francis Casement, of Cordova Mines, assisted by camp supervisors, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Harnden of Warkworth.

Water Activities

The August weather was excellent for boating, fishing and swimming, which were combined in pleasant mixture with Bible training and classes on problems of Christian youth. The program varied from day to day, with one feature being a motorcade to Bethlehem Mining Corporation's new site at Marmora.

The evenings were occupied with evangeltistic services, often culminating in lakeshore firesides, combined with songfests, wiener roasts, etc.

The camp chapel services each morning were conducted by the Free Methodist ministers of the Peterborough district, alternating daily.

At a farewell banquet held on Saturday evening, it was revealed that in the minds of the campers, the camp had been a real success, and that they would like to have another camp next year at the same site.

Campers and staff expressed appreciation of the fine spirit of Christian fellowship and co-operation throughout the entire camp.

Folks were very busy answering the travellering that detour south to the next road would eventually take them to their proper destination.

Visits Conference

Mrs. Roy Bush, Mrs. Percy Utman, Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh, Mrs. Roy Irven, Mrs. Jack Sager, Mrs. Fred McDonell, Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Mrs. Will Ashby, and Mrs. Allan McDonell, all members of River Valley Women's Institute, spent Friday at Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto. This was an historic day when the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada presented "Canada Day" in honor of the Triennial Conference Associated Country Women of the World.

The afternoon featured organ music by Kathleen Stokes, selections by Oxford County Junior Farmers' choir, under the leadership of Henry A. Clark. A new selection "Canada, Dear Canada", was composed especially for this occasion. Mrs. Hugh Summers, president Federated Women's Institute of Canada, presided and "Canada Day" was officially opened by The Honorable Stuart S. Garson, minister of Justice, Ottawa. Twenty-six women who represented their various countries brought personal greetings.

Mrs. Raymond Sayre, president of A.C.W.W., for the past six years, paid tribute to the late Adelaide Hoodless, Stoney Creek, Ontario, who was "only a woman" plus an idea and who organized the first W.I., in 1897.

"Dominion of Destiny"

More than 12,000 persons viewed, "Dominion of Destiny", that evening. This was a dramatic and musical cavalcade of the history of Canada.

The opening scene depicted an Indian village and drum dance and this continued on through all the history of Canada with the coronation on June 2nd as a climax.

The Vikings, Jacques Cartier, Henry Hudson, United Empire Loyalists, the Battle of Plains of Abraham, World Wars I and II, completion of Canadian Pacific Railway, the Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Brownies, Cubs, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the trail of the covered wagon, the old-fashioned 'bees', corn husking, quilting and work-saving, Confederation, organizing first Institute at Stoney Cheek, the Peace Bridge, and a great panorama of history was sandwiched in between the two main events and the audience was most appreciative. There were 34 scenes with over 800 people taking part and the costuming, scenery and lighting effects all added to the attractiveness of the display.

During the pageant there were special dance and ballet numbers, choral selections and drills.

A large number of new Canadians assisted with the pageant through the courtesy of the Department of Citizenship and Immigration.

Since 1897, the Federated Institutes of Canada have made steady progress with a record of high ideals and unity of purpose. There are nearly six million members and 25 countries beyond the borders of Canada, were represented.

This great international event has been the subject of much planning by Institute officials, and W.I. members have worn their maple leaf hostess pins for several months in honor of this great occasion.

Mrs. A. M. Berry, Australia, is the newly-elected president.

Atomic Scientist Transferred To Another Position

LONDON (AP)—The British government has transferred one of its atomic scientists, whose Russian mother and British father live in the Soviet Union, from his post at Britain's chief atomic research laboratory. He will spend the year doing research at Birmingham University.

British newspapers said his post was changed because the cabinet feared Soviet agents might try to blackmail him with threats against his parents in Russia.

The Daily Express said the cabinet feared "if Dr. Davison were kept in his job, extreme anti-Communists in America might use the fact as 'proof' that British security is bad. That might ruin negotiations to widen the interchange of atomic secrets with Britain."

The Conservative Daily Telegraph added that Davison's "reliability has never been in question."

Davison was an early associate of Dr. Klaus Fuchs and took over many of the latter's duties after Fuchs was sentenced to 14 years imprisonment as a Communist spy.

'Reactionaries' Reported Moved Have Been Freed

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

FREEDOM VILLAGE (CP) — Two Canadian prisoners of war whom it was feared would be held back from the prisoner exchange as "reactionaries" are now believed to be two of the eight men returned Tuesday.

"Reactionary" is the term applied by the Reds to Allied prisoners who actively spurned Communist indoctrination attempts.

A Canadian source here Tuesday said two Canadian corporals were taken from their prison huts about the time of the armistice and it was feared the Chinese might fail to return them.

Later, L. Cpl. Stanley Badowich of Brandon, Man., and Cpl. Ernest Taylor of Preston, Ont., said they believe they are the "missing corporals."

Pte. Thomas E. Rothwell of Dundas, Ont., second Canadian to be released and now in Canada, said when he was exchanged that two corporals were removed from camp No. 3 and were not seen again.

Taylor and Badowich said today they were taken from the camp and, after being in a series of others, wound up in No. 6.

They reported Tuesday that after their capture May 2 they were grilled for military information for three weeks. They were questioned for six hours each day.

Aerial Tramways Used to Transport Heavy Logs

QUESNEL, B.C. (CP)—A British Columbia logging company is introducing a method of transporting logs which is unique in the province. Two aerial tramways across the Fraser river are to be put into operation.

Western Plywood (Cariboo) Ltd. is constructing the tramways which will give the firm direct communication from the Cinema forest operation to the plywood mill pond, thus reducing the route from 40 to 19 miles.

A new road on the west shore of the Fraser river to the head of to facilitate movement of logs to a cable tramway capable of handling a complete truckload. The logs will then be transported south to the second tramway and transferred back to the east shore of the mill pond.

The new system was introduced after an experiment with river booming from the management licence site proved too costly and hazardous.

Penny-Farthing Bicycle Amazes Toronto Folk

TORONTO (CP)—George White of Toronto has pedestrians and motorists agog when he rolls by on his "penny-farthing."

The odd-wheeled bicycle, a relic of the gay 90s, gets its name from the small "farthing-size" back wheel and the large "penny-size" front wheel.

George doesn't just sail along for the laughs, either. On a recent trip to Montreal, which took him four days, he earned $500.

"I tied a condensed milk can to the back of my penny-farthing and everywhere I went people wanted to take pictures," said the 28-year-old adventurer. George let them take pictures, too, if they each put 25 cents in the can. The money rolled in so fast he had to get a gallon can when he was only half way to Montreal.

At present a truck driver, but in the past everything from a handyman to a snake-charmer, George said any time he's out of work he just hops on his "bone shaker." It's not long before some business man hires him for advertising purposes.

The solid wheels make for a rough ride but George says all you need is stamina and a cushion.

Canadians Released

Five of the eight Canadian prisoners-of-war released in the prisoner exchange at Korea, relax at Freedom Village, Korea. Left to right: Cpl. Ernest Taylor, Preston, Ont.; L.-Cpl. Dulles Indicates That U.S. To Seek UN Charter Change At Parley Two Years Hence

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States probably will eventually seek changes in the United Nations charter which would give more power to the general assembly and cut down Russia's ability to prevent action on critical issues.

Development of a policy along this line was indicated by State Secretary Dulles Wednesday in a speech before the American Bar Association at Boston.

Dulles told U. S. lawyers they will have a "conspicuous opportunity" for service in connection with a possible conference on charter revision about two years hence. His comment was in line with the known belief in the state department that there should be public consideration and discussion of what revisions of the UN charter would be in the American interest.

Pre-Atomic Charter

The charter at present, Dulles said, is a "pre-atomic age charter" which actually was made "obsolete" by the explosion of the first atomic bomb over Hiroshima on Aug. 6, 1945.

Had the delegates at the San Francisco UN conference in early 1945 known of the "mysterious and immeasurable power of the atom," he said, the charter provisions dealing with disarmament and arms regulations "would ave been far more emphatic and realistic."

The charter gave the security council responsibility for formulating plans for establishment of a system for arms regulation. Each of the big powers in the security council—the United States, Britain, Russia, France and Nationalist China—has a veto.

Assembly Lacks Power

Dulles listed as another inadequacy the fact that the basic UN concept of co-operation among the great powers resulted in provision for the veto in the security council and for permitting the general assembly only to recommend action. He said as a practical matter the assembly's voting procedure "with one vote per nation precluded its decisions having more than advisory weight."

"We now see the inadequacy," Dulles said, "of an organization whose effective functioning depends upon co-operation with a nation which is dominated by an international party seeking world domination."

The import of his words appeared to be that the organization could be made more adequate by reducing its dependence upon the co-operation of the Soviet Union with the other powers. Presumably this would be done by giving the assembly greater authority, perhaps with some modification of its voting procedure.

Launch Bitter Attack on Russia, India

DOMINICAN RE

As the U.N. political committee continues its conferences in New York on subject of representation at Korean peace parley many countries are coming under "attack" by various delegates. One such member, Dr. Oscar Robles Toledano, Catholic cleric who is a delegate from the Dominican Republic to the United Nations, is seen above addressing a slashing attack on Soviet representative Andrei Vyshinsky. The delegate-priest, wearing the black and red-lined cassock of a Vatican dignitary, minced no words in accusing Vyshinsky of trying to torpedo the Korean peace parley.

A bitter attack on India was launched at U.N. by South Korean foreign minister Y. T. Pyun, who accused her of not only appeasing the communists, but of trafficking and intriguing with them. He told the U.N.'s 60-country political committee that it would be "next to impossible" for South Korea to sit on the same side of the political conference table with India. If India stood openly on the communist side it would be different." Eisenhower May Visit Canada In November

OTTAWA (CP) — The Evening Citizen said Wednesday that President Eisenhower may visit here in November.

The story says "it remains only for firm dates to be set when government members return from their summer holidays early next month."

It recalls that during a visit to Washington last May Prime Minister St. Laurent invited Mr. Eisenhower to visit Ottawa and the president accepted.

The story said that among the problems the two chiefs of state might discuss are the St. Lawrence seaway and power project, North American defence and trade between Canada and the United States.

Hypnotist Snaps Pretty Waitress Out of Trance

BANFF, Alta. (CP) — A few words spoken over the telephone Wednesday apparently were enough to snap a pretty blonde waitress out of a trance she had been in since Sunday after an exhibition of hypnosis.

Betty Black, 19, of Nelson, B.C., was one of 20 persons who volunteered to be hypnotized by "The Great Dr. Zomb" Saturday night at a show here. The others were relieved of the hypnotic effect at the end of their stage appearance

Betty seemed to come out too but kept falling asleep Sunday at work and finally was taken to hospital.

Dr. Zomb was located in Wainwright, Alta., and relieved the girl of the trance by speaking to her over the telephone.

Masked Gunman Steals $300,000 In Jewels, Cash

ST. TROPEZ, France (AP)—Gunmen invaded the bedroom of a near-sighted woman hotelkeeper early Wednesday and got away with $300,000 in jewels and cash belonging to patrons in this Riviera resort, police reported.

It was the first big haul reported this summer on France's glamor coast where jewel robberies are a traditional hazard for wealthy vacationers.

The chief victim was Mrs. Hayat Volterra who owned all but $15,000 of the stolen valuables.

Police said that because of her failing sight the manager of the Alloi hotel, identified as a Mrs. Clot, could not give them a description of the gunmen. The hotel vault was located in her bedroom.

SARNIA THEATRE SOLD

SARNIA (CP)—The 32-year-old Imperial Theatre has been sold to George A. Young, London and Sarnia Jeweller, Angus McCunn, secretary of Famous Players Canadian Corporation, Limited, announced Wednesday. Badly damaged by the Tornado last May 21, the theatre has not operated since that date and is reported to have been sold for about $100,000.

Seven Are Killed When Nova Scotia Train Hits Auto

TRURO, N. S. (CP)—Seven persons were killed Wednesday night when a train rammed into their car at a level crossing on a lonely country road.

They were returning to their homes after visiting relatives here.

The Dominion Atlantic Railway passenger train collided with the car at nearby Clifton while en route here from Kentville, N. S.

Police said rain and darkness had reduced visibility to a minimum.

Killed were Mr. and Mrs. Murray Burgess of nearby Beaverbrook and four of their nine children: Geraldine, 11, Esther, 8, Heather, 3, and Roderick, 5.

Their niece, Margaret Taylor, 17, of Truro, died en route to hospital.

The Burgess family had spent the day with Margaret's parents and when they prepared to leave for home she decided to spend a few days with them.

There were no eyewitnesses to the accident. But the noise of the crash brought Clifton residents to the scene.

The locomotive butted the late model car 300 yards along the track and then toppled it down an embankment.

Five sons survived in the Burgess family, an RCMP spokesman said. Three were at home and one is in Yarmouth, N. S.

Clifton is about five miles from here on the shores of Cobequid Bay. An inquest was scheduled for today.

Kesten Believed To be in U.S.

TORONTO (CP) — Police said Wednesday that Bob Kesten, Toronto radio and television personality who has been charged with theft of $154, is believed to be in the United States.

Kesten, who left his suburban East York home three weeks ago, is sought on a warrant charging him with stealing money from the Chicago Advertising company of O'Neil, Larson and McMahon. If he is found in the U.S., extradition proceedings will be taken, police said.

Kesten was manager of the company's Canadian office. Police said the firm also alleges that he took $982 after collecting money on advertising accounts. However, the warrant charges him only with taking the $154.

Police said they learned that Kesten was in Buffalo Aug. 19 and cashed a cheque there. They added there was a possibility that Kesten may have flown to England but doubted that he made the trip.

$4,000 BANK ROBBERY

MONTREAL (CP) — Bank robbers struck Wednesday for the second time within three months at the small farm village of St. Augustin, escaping with approximately $4,000 from a branch of the Banque Provinciale du Canada. The same branch was robbed of close to $1,000 by two armed men June 4.

A Sign of Recovery on Stricken Ionian Islands

It will be a long, long time before life is normal again in the Ionian Islands, off west coast of Greece, but signs of recovery already are apparent. A barber shop, wrecked in the recent earthquakes in which over 1,000 were killed, hundreds injured and many other thousands left homeless, reopened for business beneath the trees in Zante and the two barbers are doing a thriving business even though straight-backed kitchen chairs are the best the tonsorial artists have to offer the customers. — Central Press Canadian.

Diplomacy in Modern Manner Introduced Into Foreign Service

By WILLIAM BISSEL

CANBERRA (Reuters) — Diplomacy in the modern manner is being introduced into Australia's foreign service.

The tempo of world events and the tangled skein of international politics have impelled the Australian external affairs department to embark on streamlined procedures in its organization and to provide for its budding diplomats a more intimate knowledge of their own country.

Gone are the days when diplomacy was a graceful and leisurely business with impeccably-attired diplomats bowing their way through the ante-rooms of palaces.

Under External Affairs Minister Richard Casey, the Australian foreign service, though built on the long traditions of British diplomacy, is attuning itself to an ever-changing world.

Within the memory of many living diplomats, all dispatches were written in the faultless hand-writing which belonged to a time when typists were unknown.

Even after the Second World War, the ambassador in Washington of one of the major powers habitually wrote with a quill pen.

Nowadays, while dispatches remain a vital part of political reporting, many of the lengthy and elegantly-phrased reports of the past have given place to a constant flow of telegrams, cryptic cabled accounts of hour-to-hour events and developments.

The external affairs department sends and receives upwards of 20,000 words a day by cable and teleprinters link the department's branch offices in both Sydney and Melbourne with the Canberra headquarters

The suspicion with which the old diplomacy regarded the press and publicity is fast giving place to a new approach in which not only news reports, but interpretations, assessments and opinions expressed by experienced reporters are carefully scrutinized and studied.

The most recent innovation is the plan to extend the knowledge and vision of the men who will eventually become Australia's representatives in other countries.

To enable diplomatic cadets to familiarize themselves with their own country, a series of escorted visits to Australian secondary and primary industrial plants have been instituted.

Visit Coal Mines

Recently, a party of cadets visited coal mines, steel and heavy industry plants, shipyards, vineyards and regional power developments.

They finished with an exhausting two weeks in a newspaper office in Sydney.

Further expeditions are planned for present and future groups of cadets and the plan is to be extended as a refresher for diplomats returning from overseas, and finding themselves out of touch with Australian developments.

Developments such as the snowy mountains hydro-electric project, and oil refining installations in Western Australia, Victoria and New South Wales are often discussed abroad with Australian representatives who have had no opportunity of getting on-the-spot first hand knowledge of them.

The basic idea of the entire plan is to enable diplomats to know Australia's agricultural and industrial potentialities from all angles by first-hand contact.

Seafarers' Union Has Called Strike Vote of Its Members As 40-Hour Week Refused

MONTREAL (CP)—A country-wide strike which would paralyze Canadian shipping is just a step from reality today.

The powerful Seafarers' International Union (AFL-TLC), representing more than 8,000 Canadian seamen, Wednesday night called for a strike vote in protest against an arbitration report which turned down its bid for a 40-hour work week.

Hal C. Banks, international vice-president of the union, said the strike, which would cripple most Canadian shipping, including deep-sea shipping, could start Monday.

He said the date of the strike vote would be set by a negotiating committee.

Union officials termed the arbitration board award "entirely unsatisfactory."

Held Eight Meetings

Mr. Banks, in a statement, said the strike-vote action was decided unanimously at union meetings in eight key Canadian cities, "from the Atlantic to the Pacific, in centres affecting shipping on the high seas, rivers and lakes."

In its current dispute with the companies, the union demands that the work week be reduced to 40 hours from 56 hours and that the schedule must start Monday and end Friday. That means work done Saturdays and Sundays would be paid at time-and-a-half rates.

In two majority reports, the companies' representatives recommended a gradual reduction to the 40-hour week during the next year, contending that Saturdays and Sundays should be included in the regular schedule.

Can Strike Monday

The union is free to strike Monday because under government laws, it is entitled to strike seven days after a conciliation board report has been placed in the hands of the labor minister. The federal department of labor received the reports last Monday.

The union mans 99 per cent of shipping on Canada's inland waterways, and all but two Canadian-owned deep, sea-going freighters.

The west coast apparently is the only point which would not feel the effect of a strike.

Mr. Banks said ships on the west coast, operated by Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways and Union Ships, Ltd., would not be affected as the union and companies signed a contract several months ago. The companies granted $30 across the board and a 40-hour work week.

In his minority report, the union representative backed up the union's demands almost entirely.

As far as wages are concerned, the majority report recommended wage boosts ranging from about $23 a month to $40 a month. Wages now run from $190 a month for deckhands to $280 for first cooks.

Diefenbaker Says World Facing H-Bomb Race

WASKESIU, Sask. (CP) — The world faces a hydrogen bomb race unless action is taken immediately by the United Nations to control atomic weapons, John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Prince Albert, said Wednesday.

Addressing delegates attending the Saskatchewan Medical Association convention here, Mr. Diefenbaker said that now Russia has the hydrogen bomb it is more than ever imperative that the members of the United Nations should endeavor to obtain an agreement to safeguard and control atomic weapons.

Paper and Pencil at Five Paces

Harold E. Stassen, facing camera, finds himself back in a school-examination atmosphere for introducing an intelligence test into his foreign-aid department of the U.S. government. Forced to reduce staff, he decided to do it by weeding out those who failed on a prescribed intelligence test, and when psychological director C. D. Jackson protested the test as unfair and challenged Mr. Stassen to try the test himself, Mr. Stassen accepted. So here are Messrs. Jackson and Stassen battling with paper and pencil at five paces. The results of the quiz were not immediately publicized. — Central Press Canadian.

Little Benny's Note Book

Me and Puds Simkins and Glasses Magee were talking about diffrent subjejcts sutch as whether it's bad for our helth to swallow a fly, or whether it's just bad for the fly, and Puds said, Here comes Dopey Shorty Judge. Boy, that guy is so dopey, I bet if we pretend we dont reckonize him, I bet he'll think we're really serious, he said, and I said, Let's try it.

Which just then Shorty came up, saying, Hi fellows, and I said, G, who's this guy? I bet he's a midget that got lost out of a circus, I said.

I bet he's a guy that swallowed too mutch shrinking powder, Glasses said, and Puds said, Maybe he's a little guy from Mars or some place where that's the size they really are.

Which just then Shorty's mother went past, saying, Howerd, my frends aren't coming after all, and it's a shame to let all that ice creem get soft in the refrigerater, so you mite as well invite the boys to help you eat it.

And she kept on going, and I quick said, That's a good one on us, Shorty, you're too smart for us. You knew all the time we were only kidding, I said, and Glasses and Puds said, Sure, Shorty, nobody better think they can fool you, Shorty.

Who's Shorty? Shorty said. I'm a dressed up peenut, it's a wonder you can even see me, he said.

And he started to walk home, with us fellows following him and telling him how grate he was and how smart he was and Shorty wouldn't even admit we knew him, and he kept on saying he was a speck of dust and a germ under a telescope and diffrent things, and he didn't change his mind till he got all the ways to his house.

Multi-purpose rockets, flying at 2,000 miles an hour and capable of following an enemy plane in the air like a bloodhound on a scent, have been developed in Britain, according to Duncan Sandys, Britain's minister of supply. He calls the rockets more significant, militarily, than the H-bomb. The booster rockets attached to the weapon, as shown, left, are cast off in mid-air, as shown above, and the missile streaks for its target. — Central Press Canadian

British Trades Union Body Waters Down Labor Party's Nationalization Proposals

By FRASER WIGHTON

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's 8,000,000 - member Trades Union Congress has soft-pedalled some of the official Labor party's new nationalization plans and warned against the incidental risks of extending state control.

In a report to the members of the general council, the governing committee of the TUC, made it clear to the Labor party, whose purse-strings it controls, that it is not prepared to leap boldly into new nationalization ventures.

"The case for public ownership and control should be constantly related to the over-riding need to improve our economic position in the world," the council said.

It backed the Labor party's proposal to nationalize water supplies, but called for caution and further investigation of plans for major industries, including aircraft and chemicals.

Foreshadows Clash

The report foreshadowed a major clash when the Labor projects—some of which reflect the influence of Aneurin Bevan's left-wingers—are debated at the party's annual delegate conference in September. Earlier, the TUC membership will have a discussion on the proposals at its own annual delegate conference.

The Labor state-control proposals were announced recently after the original draft had been considerably modified because of TUC warning growls. But the industrial wing—which represents five-sixths of the Labor party's 6,000,000 membership—still is not satisfied.

Public Not Prepared

Tuesday's report said "it would not be true to say public opinion is strongly prepared for the transfer of further industries to public ownership."

The report took the Labor proposals point by point and gave the TUC general council's reactions as follows:

1. Chemicals—Labor said there should be "a substantial degree of public ownership." The TUC council believed the next Labor government should institute an inquiry into the facts before deciding the nature and extent of control.

More Study Needed

2. Aircraft industry—Labor proposed to take powers to acquire any firm that "fell down on its job," especially if it neglected opportunities for expansion. TUC stated a more detailed analysis of the problem must be made before final conclusions were reached.

3. Agriculture—Labor said it would use existing powers more vigorously and take extended powers to acquire farm land for public ownership where necessary to ensure full use and maximum output.

The TUC answered there was no reason why a start should not be made by enlarging the area of publicly-owned land. It might be advisable to consider whether an expansion of powers was required, and existing powers should certainly be more fully used.

Development Plans

4. Shipbuilding and marine engineering—Labor proposed a development council, and the TUC agreed, but thought its powers, and the likely attitude of employers toward it, would need further examination.

5. Machine tools—Labor wants to acquire a number of key machine tool firms and a controlling interest in others making mining machinery. The TUC report stressed the need for further consultations with the unions concerned in these and similar firms.

Insurance Question

6. Industrial insurance—Labor stated it was convinced of the merits of a publicly-organized industrial assurances service. The TUC commented: "Whether conformity to national needs can be secured within the present framework or whether further measures are called for are questions which can only be answered by detailed study."

The 1945-51 Labor governments nationalized the Bank of England, coal mining, gas and electricity supply, transport, civil aviation and the iron and steel industries. Sir Winston Churchill's Conservative government has since passed laws returning road transport and steel to private ownership.

WANT NEWSMEN REGISTERED

SEOUL (AP)—The South Korean government has asked the national assembly to pass a bill requiring all foreign news agencies, magazines and individual correspondents to register with the office of public information. During the last three years of war, hundreds of foreign reporters and magazine writers have come to South Korea with UN command clearance only.

WEYBURN, Sask. (CP)—When R. J. Ellison retired 11 years ago he took up needlepoint as a hobby. Now, at the age of 80, he is working on his 100th piece. He won first prize at the Weyburn Fair with his intricate products.

OMA Proposes Prison Terms For Desertion

HAMILTON (CP)—Prison terms with hard labor for husbands who desert their wives and children were proposed in a resolution passed by the welfare section of the Ontario Municipal Association.

Earlier it was announced that from now on the provincial police will help track down the deserters.

The section comprising welfare officers from across the province passed the resolution calling for legislation to enable deserters to be sentenced to prison labor of a constructive nature with the intent that their wages be garnisheed for the support of their family.

W. J. Grummett, CCF member of the legislature for Cochrane South, said desertion is one of Ontario's fastest-growing headaches. The only cure was to make penalties more severe.

Not Enough

At present, a deserting husband who does not pay up after being ordered to contribute to the support of his wife and family may be sentenced to not more than three months. A Criminal Code provision sets forth a maximum penalty of $500 or a year in jail or both.

"Whip-lashing should replace the old-fashioned tongue-lashing for deserters," said alderman Leo Del Villano of Timmins. "Just sending these deserting husbands to jail is not enough."

Mr. Del Villano suggested that, when the deserter is convicted, the sentencing judge should make an order for full maintenance payment of up to $20 a week for each child and whatever the court deemed necessary for the wife.

"We can't legislate the morality of family support," said G. H. Ryerson, Brantford township delegate. "But we can see that offenders are punished constructively. By confining them and making them work, we can offset the results of their moral breakdown in a practical way."

Association delegates discussing rural problems said Ontario's Children's Aid societies need provincial aid and possibly federal help as well. They said changes are needed in financial status and technical assistance.

Response to Housing Plan By Municipalities Small

HAMILTON (CP)—Response of the municipalities to the Dominion-provincial housing plan started two years ago had been "disappointingly small," A. E. K. Bunnell, director of housing for the provincial department of planning and development, informed the urban representatives' section of the Ontario Municipal Association today.

The two governments, he said, had provided for the building of 5,000 homes, with an agreement to extend it to 25,000 is necessary throughout the province, but little more than 2,000 were constructed.

"I consider that is a pretty poor record for this province in two years," Mr. Bunnell said. On the other hand, he recognized this problem was due largely to a lack of serviced land in cities, insufficiency of mortgage money for builders, and the fact that his is an "impatient age." He added: "Many young people are unwilling to save the money to make a first payment on a house."

Not Subsidizing

Mayor Percy England of Owen Sound thought the disappointing result was due to some persons feeling they were "subsidizing" housing when the municipality accepted less than-normal taxes or extended services, while others felt that rents were too high.

"If the municipality accepts less than full taxes, then the rents can be kept down," replied Mr. Bunnell "You can't have your cake and eat it, too."

When Mayor Allan Rush of London thought there was some degree of agreement among contractors bidding for civic jobs, Mr. Bunnell replied:

"In the final analysis, the skulduggery that would develop if municipal tenders were held in secret would more than offset what collusion there is of builders under the present system."

Must Find Land

Ald. Reg. Cooper of Brantford said his council was "fed up" with delay at an elderly persons' project in his city. Mr. Bunnell said the difficulty was in finding suitable land, to which services could be brought.

There has been "comparatively little annexation" by cities, and in such cities as Brantford, for instance, sewer and water facilities needed "a complete overhauling" to provide for civic growth in the residential line.

Chairman of the discussion was Mayor H. W. Jermyn of Whitby. J. H. E. Ritz, city clerk of Galt, was secretary.

Governor-General To Unveil 1883 Ingot

TRENTON, N.S. (CP)—A steel ingot poured in 1883 will be unveiled by Governor-General Vincent Massey here on Sept. 1 as a monument to the "enterprise and vision" of the pioneers of the steel industry in Canada.

Believed among the first ingots ever poured in Canada, the piece of steel was dug up a few months ago during renovation at the heavy forging plant of Trenton Steel Works Ltd., a subsidiary of Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation.

The ingot weighed 2,400 pounds, in contrast with the 65-ton ingots produced in Sydney today. Two men who were members of the melting crew here 70 years ago—James Dunn and John W. Fraser, will watch the unveiling.

INDICTED EDITOR

VALPARAISO, Chile (AP)—An appeals court judge here indicted Luis Silva Carvallo, director of the newspaper La Union, for publishing statements by five opposition congressmen which the government of Chile called harmful to its prestige. The government had asked the attorney of the Valparaiso court to start proceedings against Silva, who was arrested recently, then released on bail.

Montgomery Asks Aggressive, Integrated Western Policy

OTTAWA (CP) — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery today called for an aggressive, integrated Western policy to meet the threat of international communism anywhere in the world for the next 25 years.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the Canadian Club, the deputy Allied commander in Europe said the basic policy of the free world must be "positive" and "global." He said this was not the case today.

"Indeed," he added, "in the Far East the British and Americans hardly speak the same language. I have never been clear myself as to what is the Western policy towards eastern Asia."

The field marshal, who flew from England Monday to open the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto next Friday, compared the cold war strategies of the East and the West.

Those of the East, he said, are all "positive and aggressive"; those of the West, "negative and defensive." He then sketched what he thought the Communists were out to do:

"The major objectives of Soviet policy are to get control of China and Germany, and to separate the U.S.A. from its allies."

"This," he said, "is their No. 1 project. If they achieve it, they win."

Field Marshal Montgomery told club members and guests that if the Russians succeeded in this program, "they would then have no need to worry about whether they are able to attack us at six hours notice, or even whether surprise is necessary at all; they would be able to achieve their mission practically for the asking."

Back in uniform after a day in what he called his "relaxing" civilian clothes, the field marshal said it was not always easy to understand Western policy "because there is difficulty in getting political agreement among the nations of the free world."

Noting the United States, France and Britain were the three largest free nations with world-wide interests today, he said "even they cannot always agree on a policy."

However, in the North Atlantic treaty organization, he said, there "appeared" to be three chief aims: to provide the necessary military deterrent to aggression; to defeat the expectation of Western economic collapse; and to minimize the risk of war through miscalculation.

Field Marshal Montgomery said world tension today is such that it could erupt into hot war at any time through such "miscalculation."

"In my view we have not yet reached our hardest times. I think the present strain is going to continue and get more intense."

He said there are two "immediate essentials:"

1. "We must agree to a common aim and decide how we hope to achieve it."

2. "We must gear ourselves to take the strain in a cold war, which may last a long time and which could turn into a hot war very quickly."

"The West," he said, "has no global stategic concept . . . I cannot emphasize too strongly that without a global strategic concept we fail—however good our fighting men may be, and however good their equipment — because we cannot plan properly."

MANY STOWAWAYS

MONTREAL (CP)—With about three months of the navigation season still to go, the number of stowaways reaching Montreal on ocean vessels reached 23, more than double the number for all 1952. Only about two, who had proper papers but no money, were allowed to remain.

Canada Site For Next Scout Jamboree

MONTREAL (CP) — The next world Scout jamboree and international World Scout conference in 1955 will be held for the first time in Canada, Maj.-Gen. D. C. Spry, chief executive commissioner of Canadian Boy Scouts, said in an interview.

Gen. Spry returned with Jackson Dodds, deputy Chief Scout of Canada, from the recent international scout conference in Leichtenstein. He said thousands of scouts are expected at the jamboree and "equally important, the conference will bring 57 national scout association representatives." Site of the jamboree will be chosen later.

Statue Will Be Preserved

OTTAWA (CP)—Queen Victoria will look down two years from now with chilly stone eyes upon a library of Parliament much as it appeared in the middle years of her reign, Francis A. Hardy, parliamentary librarian, says.

He told a Canadian Library Association conference that the statue of the Queen which forms the centrepiece of the library will be preserved in the library renovation now under way as a result of the Aug. 4, 1952, fire which brought water damage to some 75,000 books.

Mr. Hardy told the association's eighth annual conference that the library renovation job as a result of the fire will be completed in about two years at a probable cost of $1,000,000. The conference is meeting all week.

To preserve the "Victorian, Fathers-of-Confederation atmosphere" of the reading-room, the parquet floor would be replaced exactly as it was in the 1870s.

Athletics Chief Reason White Sox Not Closer To New York Yankees

Philadelphia Has Won Twelve Games From the Sox, Have Taken Only Five From Yanks

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

One big reason why the Chicago White Sox are languishing 10½ games back in second place today instead of fighting it out with New York Yankees for the American League pennant is [illegible] the Philadelphia Athletics. They are loaded with a bunch of former Pale Hose players who are coming back to haunt Paul Richards and his hirelings.

The Athletics have won 12 games against the Sox this season and lost eight. On the other hand, they've won only five from the Yanks and dropped 15. If the White Sox had been able to do as well against the Athletics as the Yanks, they'd be just 3½ games out of first place.

Wednesday, the Athletics beat the Sox 10-8. Eddie Robinson, traded for Ferris Fain during the winter, hit a home run and Dave Philley, who put in four campaigns with the Sox, hit a home run and two triples to knock in two runs.

Protest Lost

The White Sox protested the loss because Philley was given a triple when pitcher Mike Fornieles' glove flew off his hand while trying to field a grounder. The rules give a batter an automatic triple if a fielder throws his glove at the ball. The Sox claimed the ball knocked Fornieles' glove off his hand.

Fornieles was knocked out in the fifth and took the loss. Alex Kellner got credit for the triumph.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Yanks nipped Detroit Tigers 5-4 and Cleveland Indians polished off Washington Senators 9-5. St. Louis Browns and Boston Red Sox were not scheduled.

Dodgers Beaten

In the National League, Chicago Cubs pummelled Brooklyn Dodgers 13-4; New York Giants clobbered St. Louis Cardinals by an identical 13-4 count and Philadelphia Phillies edged Milwaukee Braves 6-5 in the only night game. Pittsburgh Pirates and Cincinnati Redlegs had the day off.

Vic Raschi made his second appearance of the year as a relief pitcher in the Yanks' victory over the Tigers and fought his way out of three late-inning jams. The Yanks were leading 4-2 in the seventh when Raschi took over for Tom Gorman, who had relieved Johnny Sain, the winner.

Four home runs by the Indians made the task of Dave Hoskins and Art Houtteman easy. Harry Simpson, Jim Hegan, Larry Doby and George Strickland all hit for the circuit against the Nats and their blows accounted for six runs.

Lown The Winner

The Cub-Dodger game was fairly close until the Bruins erupted for six runs in the eighth. Turk Lown, who held the Dodgers in check after relieving Bubba Church in the fifth, was the winner. Billy Loes was the victim. Hal Jeffcoat contributed a pair of home runs for the winning cause.

Jim (Dusty) Rhodes was the big slugger for the Giants. The utility outfielder hit three home runs—the first time this season a major leaguer has been able to accomplish the feat. Al Dark collected five hits in the massacre of five Card pitchers.

Karl Drews and Jim Konstanty teamed to tame the Braves for the Phils. The winners collected 16 hits, including a two-run homer by Del Ennis.

Toronto Leafs Losing Ground For Playoffs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The fast-falling Syracuse Chiefs have established an International League record—for the longest losing streak.

The seventh-place Chiefs Wednesday night dropped their 17th straight game, a 6-5 decision to Ottawa Athletics, taking over as leaders in that unenviable category.

Baltimore Orioles previously suffered the longest losing streak—15 games in 1941.

While Syracuse was losing Rochester Red Wings climbed to within a half game of pace-setting Buffalo. The Wings set back Toronto Maple Leafs 8-5 while the Bisons lost 5-3 to Baltimore.

Royals, Cubs Idle

Montreal Royals and Springfield Cubs were idle.

The Athletics led 6-1 at the end of five frames. The Chiefs, who outhit the A's 13-9, made a futile rally in the late innings to cut the winning margin to one run. Dick Kinaman hit a two-run homer for the losers in the sixth.

The Red Wings came from behind with a five-run splurge in the sixth to support strong relief pitching by Cot Deal for the victory over Toronto. Deal relieved George Condrick in the first when the starter gave up three runs to relinquish a 1-0 lead.

Bob Greenwood and Tom Herrin of the Orioles together limited Buffalo to six safe blows. Greenwood helped win his ninth game with a two-run homer in the second.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Could it be that United States baseball players, once considered the most fortunate of muscle merchants, have suddenly awakened to the fact that they no longer have a monopoly on making money and that they might even have been smarter to have concentrated on another form of athletic endeavor, say basketball or wrestling?

The thought would have been silly a few years back, but it isn't now. Something has caused the rank and file of big leaguers to feel that their pay is not what it should be. They have broken every tradition of the game by hiring a lawyer to voice their demand for a better slice of the gravy, among other things.

The average ball player can read the sports pages, and it has not escaped him that, for the time and energy expended and the money involved at the gate, his salary is not keeping pace with that paid in other and newer branches of professional sports. Sure, the baseball maximum still far outstrips them all, but only a few players can hope to attain the Williams-Kiner bracket. It is at the minimum and near-minimum level that the baseballer wants a new deal, and quickly.

The present minimum, certain to be raised, is $5,000, and the average rookie can expect to make little more than that his first season. We learn, by comparison, that no rookie in the National Basketball Association is paid under $6,500, and that if he is a real tall boy he is certain to draw at least $10,000 in his first season.

Take ice hockey. We are told that the rawest rookie who has not even proved himself a good gang fighter will make at least $6,500 or the short winter season and probably a good deal more. Depending upon how his team does in the regular schedule and in the everlasting playoffs, he can add up to $2,500 on the total swag.

Gordy Howe, Detroit's great star, picked up $10,650 in extras the last two seasons for being the league's leading scorer, being chosen the most valuable, etc. He also plays professional baseball in Canada during the off-season with the full consent of his owners.

It is small wonder that the baseball player, especially if he isn't a New York Yankee or a Brooklyn Dodger and thus has no chance at a world series share, has looked around him in recent years and begun to do some tall thinking.

Finals Start Tuesday

BRANTFORD (CP)—The Senior Intercounty Baseball League semi-finals will start Tuesday night with fourth team in the league meeting first and third meeting second.

Secretary John Blakney said they will be best-of-nine series with games every night. Any postponement will go on the next night at the same place.

Balmy Beach Coach Will Not Predict Success in First Year But Says Team Is in Shape

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Balmy Beaches, Webster says, are fragrant sea shores. But Chuck Klein defines it this way: A well conditioned football team.

Klein, a former All-America guard with Miami, Fla., University, isn't predicting his success in his initial start at the helm of the Beaches, Toronto's Ontario Rugby Football Union entry.

"But I will say this: The boys are in shape."

Beaches, runners-up last year in the ORFU standings and playoffs to Sarnia Imperials, have "about 35" players in camp. About half of those are holdovers, the rest newcomers like the coach himself.

Klein, making his first start in Canadian football, is "teaching the boys a few things, and they're teaching me a few." Long, hard workouts are the medicine he thinks the Beaches need for the jump to the top.

Three Imports

The Toronto Argonaut farm team is working with three American imports — end Harvey Singleton, tackle Oatem Fisher and back Clarence Johnson. Fisher, a 29-year-old from North Carolina State is starting his fourth year with the Beaches. Singleton, an all-conference basketball star at Kentucky State, is considered one stay at end. Johnson, a big, hard-running backfielder, is up from Northwestern University.

Klein says he could use a fourth import—the ORFU limit under a team agreement—but he may well get by with those three and his Canadian talent.

He has only one major complaint: "The Americans can talk about Canada stealing their pros, but I wish their colleges would leave my amateurs alone."

Coach Klein, who took over this year from Jerry Tuttle, now with Kitchener's new ORFU entry, says he's lost three stalwarts to colleges.

Marty Carrington, outstanding half with Beaches last year, Fred Spratt, another last-year Beach who played end and tackle positions, and Ron Potter, a newcomer who had shown well at half, all have left Beaches for college scholarships in the U.S.

Pont Biggest Loss

Otherwise, Klein figures his biggest loss came when Johnny Pont, the club's No. 1 halfback and the league's most valuable player in 1952, left for a coaching job at Miami University, Oxford, O.

In the backfield Klein has Jerry Doucette, 19-year-old from high school, and holdover Bob Lingley for signal calling; Allan (Fink) Chard and Fred Street, both holdovers, at fullback; Johnson, veteran Ross McKelvey, a Balmy Beach as far back as 1941, Nayland Moll, up from junior, Billy Troy, up from high school, and holdover George Ellis, the club punter, at half.

Ron Heron, newcomer via the intermediate ranks, holdovers Barney Bird and Jim Cochrane, and high school graduates John (Red) Bell, Sam Taverty and John McCutcheon, also work the backfield.

On the line, jazz-lover Gene (Hindu) Miller, another holdover, will carry most of the centre duties, with high schooler Don Hilson working at the same spot.

Many Guards

Jim Scurr, Marvin Hakimicki, and Lloyd Barnes, all holdovers, and newcomers Gerry Keay, Jim Weller, Jerry Fuster, down from Argos, are Klein's guards. At tackle, he has holdovers Red Shore and Don Shaw and newcomers Gerry Fenster and Danny Nykoluk as well as Ficher.

BEACH SCAT BACK

Ross McKelvey, 28-year-old running halfback with Toronto Balmy Beach in the Ontario Rugby Football Football Union, has seen service with a number of other Ontario football squads. He started with the Beaches, has played with Queen's University, the former Toronto Indians and for part of the 1952 season played with Toronto Argonauts in the Big Four. He joined the Beaches midway last season and broke his left ankle in his first game with them. (CP Photo).

Joining Singleton at end are Elgin Hirst, third-year Beach, and Maurice (Irish) O'Callaghan, 17, up from high school.

Beaches open the season at Varsity Stadium Saturday against Sarnia, and after another game at Varsity move into Maple Leaf Stadium where they can seat 18,700 at an average of a dollar a head for the other home games.

Beaches won nine times in 12 league starts last year, and though Klein won't say they'll win as many this season, he says: "We're sure gonna try."

Whipper Watson To Defend Title Against Atkins

Whipper Watson's Canuck Commando Unconscious hold and Fred Atkins' Kangaroo Klutch may figure prominently —in the wrestling headliner at the Memorial Arena on Friday night. That's when Watson will defend his British Empire championship against the sturdy challenge of Atkins, the Australian hard-rock. Whipper's Commando hold and Atkins' Klutch are their specialty grips, with which they have achieved a lot of their ring success to date.

Those marvelous midget matmen will be back in action in a special event this week, another of their whiz-bang tag team bouts. The team of Sky Low Low and Tiger Jackson will romp against the team of Little Beaver and Tuffy McRae.

Al Costello, rugged New Zealander, will oppose Bert Ruby, of Detroit, in the first match.

TIGERS SIGN NEGRO

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Tigers of the American League Wednesday signed their first Negro player. He is Claude Agee, 18, an outfielder from McKeesport, Pa. He was signed to a contract with the Tigers' arm club at Jamestown, N.Y., in the Pony League.

Canada's Hopes in Amateur Tourney Sliced to Three

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's hopes for a title holder in the Canadian amateur golf championships today rested on two youngsters and a veteran campaigner—and the prospects aren't too bright. The competition from experienced American and British players appears to be too tough.

That's the story as the week-long championships that started with an entry list of 200 on Monday narrowed down to 16—six from Great Britain, seven from the United States, and three Canadians.

On experience, an invader is expected to take the Earl Grey trophy Saturday.

Carr Favored

The favorite is Joe Carr, the big, good-natured British amateur champion from Dublin. But he has been scrambling for victories over the 6,645-yard, par-70 Kanawaki Golf Club course since he made his appearance in the second round and his game on the green has been a nightmare.

The six-foot-four women's dress salesman was extended to the limit Wednesday before he eliminated Montreal's Gordon Taylor one up in the fourth round. Taylor, winner of the Canadian championship 21 years ago, was supposed to be a sitting duck for the Irishman but he made Carr earn the victory.

The luck of the draw for today's fifth and quarter-final rounds was against the Canadians, and at least one is certain to drop. Doug Silverberg of Red Deer, Alta., member of Alberta's Willingdon Cup team, is drawn against J. L. Morgan of the British Walker Cup team and Don Doe of Granby, Que., is pitted against Bob Hall of Montreal in another fifth-round match.

Out Of Junior Ranks

Silverberg, just out of junior ranks, posted a 3 and 1 victory over Brian McGuigan of Montreal in the third round and followed it with a 4 and 3 triumph over Ken Jacobs of Toronto Wednesday. Hall 22, who won the Canadian junior title four years ago, advanced with victories over two Massachusetts players—one up over Bob Knowles of Brookline and 6 and 5 over Gordie Pitts of Quincy.

Another likely prospect to take the title is 37-year-old Jimmy Wilson of Bearsden, a suburb of Glasgow, who eliminated Eric Hanson of Toronto 2 and 1 in the third round and followed with a fourth-round 3 and 2 decision over Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener.

But it wasn't Gerry's day, sore thumb or no sore thumb. He was off to a good start. Taking the first hole in par four while Wilson needed three to reach the green, Gerry three-putted the third and lost it and gave up the lead to Wilson's birdie at the eighth. They halved the next three. On the 12th, Wilson went two up with another birdie.

Beaten On Experience

Gerry's par at the 13th, where Wilson's second shot went into the rough, cut the margin. The 14th was halved and the next two holes were Wilson's with birdies on three- and six-foot putts and the match ended at the 16th.

"Gerry is a wonderful golfer and he'll be a world beater some day," Wilson said later. "I beat him on experience only"

Gordon Ball of Kitchener, who upset Nick Weslock of Windsor, Ont., Tuesday, was trounced in the fourth round by W. B. (Buff) McCullough of Elkins Park, Pa., 7 and 6.

Two Ontario veterans — Jack Nash of London and Toronto's Phil Farley—also were eliminated. Nash was knocked out by R. C. MacGregor of Scotland, Walker Cup team member, on the 19th hole in the third round.

Farley, who has been trying unsuccessfully for years to win this tournament, defeated Dave Pemberton-Smith one up in the morning round and went out via a one-up loss to Doe in the fourth round.

Four British Walker Cup team members were eliminated. Art Perowne was the first to go, losing to Gordie Pitts one up. G. H. Micklem, British champion, was defeated by 18-year-old Jack Veghte of Gloversville, N.Y., 4 and 3. Ronnie White, one of the team's classiest, beat Tommy Riddell of Montreal 6 and 5 in the afternoon and then lost two up to Frank Strafaci of Garden City, N.Y. J. D. A. Langley went out easily 7 and 5 to fellow-cupper Norman Drew.

Redskin Imports

Four football imports from the United States are working out with the Brantford Redskins in the Ontario Rugby Football Union. Left to right: Jim Long, backfielder, Erie, Pa.; Ed. Brantford Redskins Appear To be Definite Power In Second Season in O.R.F.U.

By TED REARE
Canadian Press Correspondent

BRANTFORD. Ont. (CP)—For a club which was able to salvage but two victories in 10 Ontario Rugby Football Union appearances last year, Brantford Redskins appear to be a definite power in their second season in the four-team circuit.

"We're stronger in every department," said coach Frank Gnup. "The team is about 30 per cent better than at the same time last year. I'm confident we'll win a share of games."

The Redskins launch their 1953 campaign here Friday night against the embryo Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, confident they can improve on their 1952 record. Redskins finished third with a 2-8 record last year, their final pair of outings against Windsor Royals cancelled when the border city club folded.

Four Imports

Whereas the Redskins opened the 1912 season with quarterback Al Dekdebrun, now with Montreal Als, as their lone American import, at least four boys from the States will be wearing Brantford colors this year.

Tops in the import department are Ed Czaplak and Ed Olszewski, a couple of Niagara Falls, N.Y., products who joined the Redskins early in the 1912 season.

The others are Jim Long, a husky Negro backfielder from Erie, Pa., and Dick Luciani, another product of Niagara Falls, N.Y. Luciani is a former backfielder with the University of Iowa.

Gnup is also looking forward to a fine showing by Mario Pacenti and Odie Harras, two Canadian boys with previous Big Four experience.

Pacenti, a 240-pound punter who has performed with Montreal and Hamilton, joined the team recently after being cut by Calgary Stampeders of the Western Conference during their exhibition schedule.

Hamilton Product

Harras is a Hamilton product and understudied Tom O'Malley at Ottawa last year. He has impressed Gnup with his ball handling and is sharing the quarter slot with Glenn Dawson, another Hamilton boy who divided the signal-calling with Al Dekdebrun last season.

Most of last year's squad is back to form the nucleus of the 1913 team. Dutch Holland and Hans Granby, leading ground-gainers in 1912, are here, along with Buddy Guay, Bill Brady, Boris Kotoff and Stan Terejko. All are speedy backs.

Returnees along the line include John Fabian, Pete McIntyre, Frank O'Hara, Ray Jones, George Kunkel, Bill Hamilton, Bill Cooper, George Menicannin, Ted Elsby and Czaplak and Olszewski.

Gnup, who handled a defensive backfield role last season, hasn't decided whether to don a uniform this year. He said he didn't think he'd have to play with the improvement in the team.

Barbara Romack Out of U.S. Open

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Patricia O'Sullivan, the cautious hotel clerk from Southern Pines, N.C., took away little Barbara Romack's pass key to the United States women's amateur golf championship Wednesday by upsetting the Sacramento, Calif., girl 3 and 2, in a fourth-round match.

The Irish lass was joined in the round of 16 by such standout contenders as Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex., a member of the last Curtis Cup team, and Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga., winner of this event in 1951.

Miss Riley, a 25-year-old law secretary, was never headed as she expelled Ann Quast, the 15-year-old links prodigy from Everett, Wash., 3 and 2.

The 32-year-old Miss Kirby, one of the country's foremost women amateurs, rallied from a two-hole deficit at the turn to oust Theodora Romney of Newton Centre, Mass., one up.

Waterloo Tigers Strengthen Lead In Intercounty

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Waterloo Tigers Wednesday night strengthened their lead in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League and scotched any hopes Guelph Maple Leafs had of making a playoff spot.

The Tigers spotted the Leafs a 7-1 lead and then nosed them out 9-7, putting them 1½ games ahead of the idle Kitchener Panthers in the league standings.

In the only other loop game, fourth-place London Majors shut out St. Thomas Elgins 4-0 to push themselves 1½ games ahead of Oshawa Merchants for the fourth place and playoff spot.

Waterloo outfielder Billy Flick led the Tigers at bat with three hits in four trips to the plate. He extended his consecutive game-hitting streak to 22, tying the intercounty record set two years ago by Jimmie Muldoon, also of Waterloo.

Shelled From Mound

Guelph's playing manager Kenny Yount was shelled from the mound in the seventh inning when the Tigers rallied for four runs. Hank Biasatti of the Tigers singled to drive in the tying and winning runs. The Leafs tagged three Waterloo pitchers for 14 hits. Lefthander Pete Koval was credited with the win.

London's victory was sparked by a three-run homer by Jim Halkard in the eighth and by some top pitching by Bill Best.

Halkard's circuit clout broke up what had been a pitchers' battle between Elgins' Joe Grasso and Best. Best held St. Thomas to six scattered hits and was in trouble only once, in the seventh when St. Thomas bunched singles by Ray Urban and Al Costa and a walk to George Kolaso.

Tonight, Kitchener plays at Oshawa and London at Brantford.

Stadium Will Be Built For B.E. Games

VANCOUVER (CP)—After two weeks of argument and mixup Vancouver is assured of a 35,000-seat flood-lit and roofed stadium for the 1954 British Empire Games.

Games general chairman Stan Smith told executive members at a meeting Wednesday that if original plans are not approved by city council Friday, the games committee will build the stadium "on our own hook" and without the use of $750,000 in civic funds, provided through a by-law passed last December.

A controversy was teed off a fortnight ago when tenders for the stadium were opened. Construction firms bid more than $400,000 over architects' estimates, raising the price from $1,365,000 to $1,750,000.

Give Spending Money

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore Colts owners have decided to give players $15 a week spending money until the season opens and the boys begin drawing their pay.

The National Football League team is not required to pay those players who report for the nine weeks' practice session and then fail to make the squad.

"It's a lot to expect any man to come to work for a nine weeks' trial and then tell him he either stays or is cut," said William Hilgenberg, Colt treasurer.

Nobby Wirkowski's Short Passes Win Big Four Game For Argos by Score of 11-9

By WILF GRUSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Nobby Wirkowski, Toronto Argonauts' clever and daring quarterback, picked out Montreal Alouettes' glaring weak spot Wednesday night and used it to launch the Scullers successfully in the 1953 Big Four football season.

Wirkowski, his long-passing game throttled by a rushing Montreal wing line, switched to short passes and guided the Argos to an unconverted touchdown in the last three minutes that brought them from behind and gave them an 11-9 victory in the league opener.

Argos were behind 9-6 when Wirkowski's deadly short passes began to spell the Alouettes' doom. Starting from the Montreal 54-yard line, he led the Argos to their game-winning major in eight plays, four of them passes that gained 49 yards and set the stage for Billy Bass' crashover from the one-yard line.

Two Touchdowns

It was the second touchdown scored by Argonauts. They took a 6-0 lead in the second quarter on a Wirkowski-to-Doug Pyzer pass for a touchdown which Red Ettinger converted. The Alouettes wiped out that lead on quarterback Sam Etcheverry's touchdown pass to Chuck Hunsinger and Ray Poole's convert.

The Als moved in front 9-6 on Poole's 25-yard field goal in the third quarter. That was their last threatening gesture. The Argos' high-powered attack kept moving them within striking distance and it was only a matter of time before they were bound to hit pay dirt again.

Goal-Line Stands

Twice in the third quarter the Als threw back the Grey Cup champions with great goal-line stands in the defensive highlights of the tense twilight struggle, played before a Varsity Stadium crowd of more than 18,000 in hot and humid weather. The first time, the Argonauts were held on the Montreal one-yard line. The second time they got as far as the Als' eight-yard line before they were hurled back.

The revamped Alouettes, although generally outplayed, showed they are a vastly improved team over last year when they won only two of 12 games. The Argos beat them 43-0 in the league opener last season.

Their first-string team more than held its own with the Argos, especially its wing line, but as the humidity began to slow it up, the lack of good reserve strength was disastrous.

No Ground Attack

The Als made little headway with their ground attack, gaining only 29 yards to 131 for Argos. Their lone touchdown came on Etcheverry's pass and in four plays, all of them passes, they moved 76 yards to score.

Etcheverry tossed the payoff pass to Hunsinger from the Argos' 28-yard line and the former Chicago Bears' backfielder raced the remaining 15 yards for the touchdown.

The Argos drove 79 yards for their opening touchdown, all but three yards coming on passes.

Wirkowski completed 15 of 27 passes for 221 yards. Montreal with Etcheverry trying all but two passes completed 13 of 20 for 209. The Argos moved for 17 first downs, nine more than the Alouettes.

Letter to Sports Editor

To The Sports Editor:
Dear Sir:

Having read with great interest the ardent hockey fan letter on the sports page of August 25th, I heartily agree with what he says and suggests, my name would be at the top of any list. I would be glad to have a list in my place of business.

When we get a young clean cut chap like Don McNevin who is willing to take time off from his business to devote to sport in Belleville, I say let's keep Don there.

Yours very truly,
An Ardent Hockey Fan.

Sixteen Sent To Hospital For Treatment

HAGERSTOWN, MD. (AP) — Cheering fans set off a chain reaction at Hagerstown race track Wednesday that caused four benches to topple to the concrete concourse sending 16 persons to hospital for treatment and observation.

Two of the 16 remained in hospital overnight. A Baltimore reporter present at the track estimated that about 25 more were shaken up in the melee.

The accident happened during the eighth race. Fans standing and sitting on the last of four benches went into action to cheer the favorites with such gusto that the bench fell forward.

As it did, it spilled the other three benches in succession "like a pile of dominoes," according to a witness.

Trailermen Take 3-0 Lead In Lacrosse Finals

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Peterborough Trailermen took a 3-0 lead in their best-of-seven Eastern Canada Lacrosse finals here Wednesday night as they downed St. Catharines Athletics 9-4. The fourth game is slated for St. Catharines Saturday night.

Play was fairly fast and quite clean most of the way, though Derry Davies and Harry Wipper, the latter of the Petes, tangled in the third quarter and received major penalties. St. Catharines also had two minor penalties and the Petes one.

Trailermen took a 1-0 lead in the first quarter, both sides counted twice in the second and Petes had a 4-2 edge in the third to make it 7-4.

Jerry Fitzgerald and Roger Smith paced the home attack with two goals. Curly Mason, Ross Powless, Ike Hildebrand, Russ Slater and Nip O'Hearn scored singles. St. Catharines' scorers were John Dewar, Jim Bradshaw, Max Woolley and Derry Davies.

Point Anne Cementmen Win Over Ottawa in Last Frame

(By PETER UPPER)

With the game all tied up going into the bottom of the ninth inning, the Point Anne Cementmen pushed across a run to take the first game of the second round of the O.A.S.A. playdowns 7-6 from the Ottawa Bradings. The game was played at Point Anne Wednesday evening with the next game of the series slated for Plouffe Park in Ottawa on Saturday.

The Bradings went into a one-run lead in the first frame when Blondin singled to right field, stole second and came all the way in on an overthrow.

The Ox Pointers bounced back in the bottom of the third with three. Mallory and Hull singled. Gilmour singled to push across Mallory. Bob Strahan got a life on an error to the pitcher and Hull scored.

When Gilmour tried to make it across, he was thrown out at the plate. Buchanan singled and Strahan scored. The Cement Makers left three stranded in the first.

Bradings got another in the second when N. Pilon doubled, and came home on an error.

They got four more in the third to lead on two hits and two walks.

Gilmour Homers

Paddy Gilmour slammed the ball for a home run in the bottom of the third and Strahan came around on an error and a pair of long fly balls.

The Stone Crushers tied it in the bottom of the fifth when Gilmour doubled and made it around on errors.

The Ox Pointers won it in the bottom of the ninth when Mallory bunted safely and went to second on a wild toss. Dougie Hull hit the ball in the clutch for a single and drove Mallory across.

Maracle did the hurling job for Point Anne, throwing a six hitter. He fanned eight and walked but three. N. Pilon sweated the losing route for Bradings striking out one and walking one.

Gilmour and Hull shared the batting honors for Point Anne with three hits apiece. Gilmour blasted the ball for a homer, a double and a single, while Hull connected for three singles. Mallory bunted safely twice. Art Genereaux came in to pinch hit in the eighth and rode the ball for a double. Maracle helped his own cause with a single while Bill Strahan and Buchanan singled also.

Niman and N. Pilon doubled for Bradings with T. Pilon, Goodman, Blondin and O'Neil each singled.

In the bottom of the ninth with Sammy Mulholland at bat, Point Anne began to think the ball was a bit soft. It looked like it was too, everytime it was hit it went into the shape of an egg. Sammy blasted one to the left field fence along the foul line. One of the Ox Point's more ardent fans picked up the ball and threw it away. The ensuing feud, which was raised by Bradings over the loss of the ball delayed the game some ten minutes.

Lineups:

Bradings: T. Pilon cf; Goodman c; Blondin ss; Niman 1b; N. Pilon p; McCooye lf; Forbes 2b; Rushleau 3b; O'Neil rf.

Sport in Brief

GAVILAN WHIPS JONES

NEW YORK (AP)—Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan put on a dazzling exhibition of boxing and punching in the last five rounds Wednesday night to easily outclass middleweight Ralph (Tiger) Jones in a 10-round, non-title bout at Madison Square Garden. Gavilan weighed 154, Jones 152.

Held fairly even through the first five rounds when he elected to slug it out with the Yonkers, N.Y., Negro, the clever, 27-year-old Cuban switched to pure boxing tactics for a couple of rounds to the accompaniment of boos from the crowd of 5,603 (gross gate $16,620).

His pride wounded, the Kid opened up in the final three rounds with a spectacular punching and boxing show that swept him to victory.

The decision was unanimous. Referee Al Berl scored it 5-4-1, judge Arthur Susskind had it 6-4 and judge Jack Gordon made it bigger, 7-3.

The loss snapped a seven-fight unbeaten string for Jones who seemed on his way to an upset through the first three rounds. Gavilan, who carried the second-heaviest poundage of his career, seemed sluggish in the early going and was outpunched by the aggressive Tiger.

There were no knockdowns but several times Gavilan rocked his game opponent.

ONE-UP WINNER

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Red-haired Ted Tutton, 16, finalist in last year's tournament, Wednesday won the 26th annual Essex-Kent boys' golf championship by defeating Richard Woodall, also 16, one-up in the 18-hole final. Tutton posted a 39-40—79; Woodall a 41-39—80.

DUROCHER FINED

NEW YORK (AP)—Leo Durocher, manager of New York Giants was fined $10 Wednesday for his run-in Tuesday night with umpire William Jackowski in the sixth inning of the second game of a doubleheader with St. Louis Cardinals. Jackowski called Al Dark, Giant shortstop, out on a close play at first. Durocher bounced from the dugout and ultimately was ejected. Dark also was ejected but was not fined.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Hot defence play can knock some expected tricks for a cold loop. Not always is the best defence apparent in time. Even when apparent, some do not recognize how to take advantage of the situation.

We have been talking about this tournament deal:

NORTH
♥A Q 10 6 4 2
♦10 3
♣10 8 6

WEST
♠10 6

SOUTH

♥K 9 8 7 5
♦K 7
♣J 3

Some were in five diamonds or clubs. Some were in four or five hearts. Some took the sacrifice deliberately. Some were pushed into the higher levels. Some were doubled. Some were not.

Against five diamonds or five clubs the defeat comes fast with very little effort. When north takes two top spades and the heart ace at once. The game contract in either minor goes down one.

After north cashes two spades, if he underleads a heart, south king wins and the spade queen return, defeats it two tricks. This play is the knockout method of forcing west to ruff high.

Against five diamonds this spade queen return sets it three if dummy in west ruffs it with the ace. His trump return is won with south's king and a return spade lets north ruff with his trump ten.

It looks as if five hearts is down only one if west takes his two clubs and diamond ace in a hurry. But if east is on his toes the defence can defeat the contract two tricks with ease.

When west leads his second club, east ruffs this good trick with his lone trump. He then leads diamonds through the south king and two diamonds are lost by declarer instead of only one.

Otherwise, if west does not cash his diamond ace after taking his two top clubs, south ruffs the third club. A trump and two top spades are led, then a trump to south permits a dummy diamond sluff on the spade queen.

Such acts are not difficult to point out with all the cards in view and time on your hands. But, the east ruff of the second club is something to consider in the midst of a game. Watch it.

WARWICK NAMED COACH

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—Grant Warwick, who has played for three National Hockey League teams, has been hired as coach of Penticton Vees of the Okanagan Senior Amateur Hockey League for the 1953-54 season. The Penticton club announced its choice of the 32-year-old rightwinger Wednesday.

LEAFS RECALL KELLER

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League recalled Hal Keller from Kansas City Wednesday to fill the break left when two catchers were injured in a game with Rochester Red Wings Tuesday night.

Joe Rossi suffered two broken fingers in the second inning of the first game of the doubleheader. He was replaced by Bob O'Neal in the seventh inning. O'Neal was carried from the field with a concussion after he was in a collision at home plate.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY, AUGUST 28, 1953.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A good day to clear the desk quietly, settle work or home tasks waiting completion. Unless urgent, don't start fresh undertakings before these chores are accomplished. Review week's progress, enjoy leisure sensibly.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Restricting for many matters but do not be discouraged. Delay is often good. Gives time for calculating how to better next week's output. Improve generally. Routine tasks can be smooth.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Mercury's aspect spells restrictions. —Be conscientious, careful in signing papers, in promises. Day best for familiar matters, regular occupational duties, and for due recreation.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — "It is hard to swim against the stream", so don't obstruct progress with objections or excuses. Whatever day's duties, make a go of them by being your clever, cheerful self.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Returns for your endeavors may be slow in coming today, but keep sturdily at your tasks. The gain will be bigger more substantial in the end. Avoid recklessness, do all things serenely.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—As with Gemini, exercise care in written matters, singing papers, handling documents, properties. Avoid legal difficulties where possible. Try to finish things. Enjoy pleasures.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Not necessary to crowd day or fret if you cannot get done all you would like: Some days things just won't move quickly and it is just as well for health, both mental and physical. Many good trends.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—There is a warning to curb likes and dislikes and be inwardly patient. How differently we view things through compassionate eyes? Your private interests can progress now.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Today grows better as it advances and tomorrow is tops, so you be, too. Take care of essentials; don't strain but do get after urgent items first. Benefits for the effort.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Not all days can be labeled as "good" because the influences are stimulating and promotional. Neither are all restricting days bad. They are good for us for what they are.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Commercial and hobby gardeners, farmers, construction planning and work, new designs for saving time and effort, and stagecraft are all favored. But day demands accuracy and tact.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Impressionability, perception, mystery, change, intensity will be stronger, seem to penetrate more places. Keep your good head "about you", as they say, and you will elude the errors.

YOU BORN TODAY are staunch, firm defenders of loved ones, home, country. Able to cope with fantastic odds when you are right. Versatile. Keep alive your artistic leanings even though you may have to devote most of your time to business or domestic life. You usually have an artistic home, no matter the size. You may not get outdoors as often as good health advises and, innately active, you may not rest sufficiently. Prayer, wholesome associates are musts. Birthdate: Sir Edward Burne-Jones, noted painter.

Two More Families Are Soon to be Reunited

Two Montreal women had their prayers answered when they received the good news that their husbands, missing in action in Korea, are alive and presumably well. Mrs. Georges St. Germain, seen above with her two children, will soon be seeing her soldier husband, for he was one of eight Canadians recently repatriated by reds at Panmunjom. He had been reported missing in action last May while fighting in the Little Gibraltar sector with the 3rd Battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment. —

Notified unofficially [illegible] husband, Sqdn.-Ldr. Andrew Robert MacKenzie, seen at right, is a prisoner of reds, Mrs. MacKenzie, seen above with her four children, is now waiting for official word telling of his release. Previously only news she had of her husban's existence was a radio report that a Canadian jet pilot — only one listed as missing — was believed to have been a prisoner of war in Korea. The Canadian flier, a veteran of 13 years with the RCAF, was shot down Dec. 6, 1952, over Kusong, 60 miles south of the Yalu River, while flying his fourth mission with the USAF's 51st Fighter Wing. — Central Press Canadian Photos.

Canadians Find Relics of Three Arctic Forays

OTTAWA (CP)—A survey of Canada's northernmost shores has turned up a bonanza of relics from three long-ago Arctic expeditions, including one of the last missing pieces of Admiral R. E. Peary's famous north pole flag.

The relics were displayed at a press conference Wednesday by two government scientists just returned from four months exploration of the bleak north coast of Ellesmere Island, 500 miles from the north pole.

The mementoes were a romantic by-product of a strictly scientific excursion.

Geoffrey Hattersley-Smith, 30, Arctic specialist of the defence research board, ranged over Ellesmere's giant ice shelf testing a theory that the shelf spawned the giant ice islands which float in the Arctic Ocean to the north. He set out stakes from which measurements will be taken next year by a larger, joint Canada-U. S. expedition.

Surveys Rocks

With him was 25-year-old Robert Blackadar, mines department geologist who surveyed the rocks and soil of Ellesmere in preparation for a more complete geological survey some time in the future.

Their travels, by sled and on foot, took them across the trails of three almost-forgotten expeditions.

The oldest was the 1875-76 British Navy's foray under Capt. George Nares. Its relics had been found in 1951 by John Lewis, in charge of the remote weather station at Alert, on Ellesmere Island, which was headquarters for Hattersley-Smith and Blackadar.

From a rotting tent they recovered tattered clothing, flimsy sleeping bags, a medical kit and a tiny prayer book—equipment that contrasted sharply with the warm, modern clothing of this year's explorers who reported "no trouble" on their dangerous travels.

More exciting were the relics of Admiral Peary's 1906 expedition found in a five-foot stone cairn atop a 2,000-foot hill on Cape Columbia.

Under the topmost stones were a note by Peary and a portion of the U. S. flag which he later carried in his successful dash to the north pole in 1909.

Hattersley-Smith said he hopes to return the piece of the flag to Peary's widow in Portland, Me. [illegible] plorer husband left six pieces of it at spots in the Arctic before he reached the pole.

Three pieces have already been returned to her and Hattersley-Smith said his is probably the last—the other two were left on the shifting ice flces and likely will never be found.

At the foot of the hill the Canadians found a crude signpost erected by Peary and 200 yards away a food cache left by a third expedition in 1920.

It was one of several food caches placed by Godfrey Hansen for emergency use by the famous Norwegian explorer Roald Amundsen.

"Crime Didn't Pay" Off for This Bank Robber

A 28-year-old man, impressed by accounts of recent successful $191,900 bank robbery in nearby Floral Park, tried it himself in Manhattan, N.Y.—but it didn't work out the way he had planned. For one thing, he made off with only $6,360. And for another, he was caught only 10 minutes after he had given the usual note to teller Maria Theofanis at right, which said "to hand over the money." After doing as requested, Maria then yelled: "I've been robbed" and chief bank clerk Ralph Esposito, in background, and harbor patrolman Joseph B. Gray, at right, who was off duty at the time, took off in pursuit of Frederick Prosser, seated. He was caught carrying loot in a brown bag. — Central Press Canadian.

Committee Not Impressed With Board's Effort

GUELPH (CP)—Members of the legislature's select committee studying reform institutions attended a parole hearing in the reformatory here Wednesday and said afterwards they were not impressed by the board's efforts.

The board reviewed several cases while members were present.

Opposition Leader Farquhar Oliver said: "I was not at all impressed with the work of the parole board. They had a very slip-shod way of doing business."

Main criticisms were that the parole board asked prisoners leading questions and that the rehabilitation officer had failed to determine if those applying for parole had jobs waiting for them.

CCF leader W. S. Grummett said the visit has shown the committee the big weakness in the province's parole system.

A brief, prepared on behalf of the Ontario reformatory branch of the Civil Service Association of Ontario and presented to the committee by president William Thomas, said salaries paid guards at the reformatory here do not compensate for the hazards of the job.

CALGARY (CP) — Hailstorms swept across central Alberta last Friday and caused severe damage to crops only two weeks before the harvest. Indigestion, Dizzy Spells

London Citizen Tells How Syntona Helped Him

Relieved Awful Gas and Stomach Pains, Appetite Improved, Free of Headache, Tired Feeling.

"I just want to tell you what good results I got by taking Syntona Herbal Compound for stomach disorders," said Mr. Ross Penrose, R.R. 1, Hyde Park, London Ontario, in a recent statement.

Always Felt So Tired

"Because of my upset stomach condition I was feeling so miserable I couldn't eat my meals. And, what little I did manage to eat gave me awful gas and cramps in my stomach. I would get sick, dizzy feelings and throbbing headache. My nerves became all on edge and pains set into my back, limbs and joints. Many nights I couldn't sleep.

Tried Many Things

"I had tried so many things in an effort to help my stomach that I was getting discouraged, but when I read about Syntona helping other people I got some and it proved to be just what I needed. I am not bothered with any of those ailments now, food is digesting fine, gas and cramps all cleared up, and I have a wonderful appetite. Also the dizzy feelings and aches and pains are gone away and I sleep better.

"I will recommend this grand medicine to anyone suffering as I did."

How It Acts!

The reason why such good results are obtained by taking Syntona is because the organs of digestion are so closely related in their function that when one becomes upset it so often affects one or more of the others. Syntona works, not on one thing alone, but acts gently on stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels, improving their function, and soon you feel like yourself again.

Why not let this Pure Herbal Medicine help you, too? Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville by Dolan The Druggist.

Building Camps To House Brigade During Winter

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP)—For more than a month Canadians have been building the camps which will house the 25th brigade during the coming winter. The work will be completed sometime in September.

Canadian-style camps, tents marshalled in even, straight lines on parade-ground flats, just aren't possible here.

As Lt.-Col. Ken Campbell of Perth, Ont., and Ottawa, says: "When you're working with the side of a hill you just have to fit people in."

Draw For Sites

Commanding officer of the 3rd battalion, the Royal Canadian Regiment, with six companies and battalion headquarters to find locations for, he said his company commanders drew lots for their areas.

"Some sites were good, others required a lot of work and still [illegible]—so we had them draw for them."

That's because in Korea flat ground usually also is wet.

Best sites are high up on hillsides. That means cutting ledges into them for tent floorings and moorings. Tons of rock and soil must be moved and the ground levelled.

Done By Hand

With bull-dozers available only briefly because of the great demand for them in this phase, most of the work is done by hand.

Because even a company is a fair-sized community, with its living quarters (a platoon to a tent), orderly room, kitchen, mess hall and canteen, all the battalions' camps are broken down to companies, situated in valley dead-ends close to one another.

All the officers mess together now in battalion headquarters. The sergeants have their own camps with messing facilities. Even corporals clubs are being organized.

India Withdraws Avoiding Defeat For Parley Seat

India's Delegate Declares Act in Interest of Peace

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) India averted a defeat in the UN general assembly today by withdrawing as a possible participant in the Korean peace conference.

The announcement was made by Indian delegate V. K. Krishna Menon as the 60-nation assembly prepared to act on proposals for setting up the peace parley.

Menon referred to the strong opposition by the United States and the Latin-American bloc in the political committee and said: "I think the purposes of peace are best reached by not forcing the resolution on India in this assembly."

Defeat Certain

India's defeat had been certain in view of the fact that Thursday's 27-to-21 vote in the political committee was far short of the required two-thirds majority.

Menon said "we hope those who sponsored and supported us will not think we are running away from a battle, but we are trying to allay the heat of the battle.

"We have not been a candidate but we think it the best course not to force the resolution to decision."

His announcement was greeted by applause from U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. and other opponents of India, but Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky did not applaud.

New Zealand's Leslie Knox Munro, on behalf of the sponsoring powers, said they were withdrawing the resolution "with great regret."

Rejects Soviet Move

The assembly earlier had rejected a Soviet move for a full dress debate on the Korean peace proposals already approved by the political committee. The vote was 11 in favor, 36 against and 12 abstaining.

The decision meant that delegates were limited to brief statements explaining their votes. Immediately after India's announcement, the delegates began trooping to the rostrum to give their explanations.

The assembly was due to adopt a U.S.-sponsored resolution, overwhelmingly okayed by the 60-country political committee Thursday, that the conference include:

1. The 16 UN members which supplied troops under the UN banner—the United States, Britain, Australia, Canada, Belgium, Colombia, Ethiopia, France, Greece, Holland, Luxembourg, New Zealand, the Philippines, the Union of South Africa, Turkey and Thailand.
2. South Korea.
3. By implication, the Communist belligerents—North Korea and Communist China.
4. The Soviet Union, "provided the other (Communist) side desires it."

India's Margin Small

Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky told the political committee that the reactions of North Korea and Red China definitely would have to be considered here. And he left no doubt these reactions to the U. S.-backed conference lineup would be unfavorable.

U.S delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. said this was a veiled threat that the Communists would torpedo the conference unless they got their own way about which countries would take part. Lodge had already said that the United States would sit with India if she could win in the general assembly.

In view of the Communist threat, other delegates feared that the Reds would reject the conference the Americans want, and that the whole problem of setting up the peace parley might be before them again when the general assembly convenes for its fall session Sept. 15.

Three Gunmen Secure $3,000 At Tottenham

TOTTENHAM (CP)—Police today are still searching for three gunmen who held up the Royal Bank of Canada branch here Thursday and escaped with an estimated $3,000.

The bandits fled soon after a girl teller hurled a pop bottle through a bank window to give the alarm. The thieves escaped in a black, late-model car. They were chased by Tom Marsden, 47, for two miles until he realized that his car was running out of gas.

Bank manager Walter Rogers said the men, all carrying Luger-type pistols, walked into the bank in this community 40 miles northwest of Toronto at closing time and ordered him and two clerks into the vault.

One gunman stayed by the door, another ordered Rogers and the clerks to lie down and the third scooped up cash from behind the counter.

Threw Bottle

While the robbery was taking place, Bessie McCabe, 21, was getting pop for the staff. As she entered the bank, she saw the gunman by the door who ordered her into the vault. She walked across the office and then threw the bottle through the window. The bandit knocked the other bottle out of her hand and shoved her into the vault.

She said the gunman asked her to open the cash compartment, but she told him she didn't know the combination. She said the thieves then seemed to lose their nerve and raced out of the bank.

Floyd Leggett, standing nearby, greeted the robbers with a friendly "good day" as they stepped out of the bank.

The car was last seen heading south.

Commonwealth Conference Is Said Likely

LONDON (Reuters) — Commonwealth finance ministers are expected to hold another conference on the problems of the sterling area towards the end of this year, an authoritative source said here today.

The source said dates and venue are still unsettled but consultations on these questions are taking place among Commonwealth capitals.

Richard Butler, British treasury chief, hopes the Commonwealth ministers will be able to meet before the end of 1953.

The next conference may take place in a Commonwealth capital. Australia's Canberra is mentioned.

The conference will deal with U. S. reaction and the United States administration's views on this week's report on dollar-sterling relations made by Lewis Douglas, former U. S. ambassador to Britain.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: The heat wave will continue over the week-end in Southern Ontario.

Thundershowers are occurring in Northern Ontario along the leading edge of the cooler air and will break out in central regions during the day. On Saturday isolated thundershowers are also likely by evening in southern forecast regions.

TWO FUGITIVE U.S. COMMUNIST LEADERS CAUGHT

FBI Agents Find Reds In Mountain Hideout

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two fugitive Communist leaders and three alleged satellites, charged with harboring them in a remote mountain hideout, were swept up in a dramatic capture Thursday by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents posing as campers.

A fourth follower was picked up late Thursday night, 100 miles away.

All were jailed quickly—one of them in grim Alcatraz prison in San Francisco Bay.

Sixteen FBI agents in campers' blue jeans caught Robert George Thompson and Sidney Steinberg in a cabin 8,000 feet up in the rugged Sierra Nevada, about 200 miles east of San Francisco.

Hunted Two Years

Their arrest climaxed a relentless two-year manhunt.

Thompson, one of the 11 top Communist leaders convicted in 1951 of violating the Smith Act, was rushed to Alcatraz. He disappeared two years ago when ordered to report to federal court in New York for commitment for a three-year prison term.

He will serve that three years at another prison, the FBI said.

The Smith Act makes it a crime to conspire to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

Bail Is $100,000

Steinberg, indicted with 21 other "second string" Reds in 1951 on similar Smith Act charges, was jailed here on $100,000 bail. He will be arraigned for removal proceedings to face trial in New York.

Steinberg protested the bail was excessive. U. S. Commissioner Joseph Karesh replied "it isn't for a fugitive for such a long time, since 1951. . . ."

The other three captured in the Sierra hideout were locked up in San Francisco on $35,000 bail each. The FBI identified them as Carl Edwin Rasi, 40, a Minnesota Communist leader; Samuel I. Coleman, 42, of New York, described as a veteran Red and leader in the Communist underground since 1951, and Mrs. Shirley Keith Kremen, 21, a reported leader of leftist activities in Los Angeles.

Held Canadian

Hours after the first five had been arrested, FBI agents picked up Patricia Blau, 42, near Stockton, Calif., and charged her with harboring the fugitives.

The FBI said an automobile found in the mountain retreat was registered under one of Mrs. Blau's six aliases. She was described as a Canadian-born Communist organizer who was naturalized in New York last year.

Special agent William Whelan said Mrs. Blau, born in Fort Smith, N. W. T., was a top Communist organizer in Bangor, Me., in 1946 and in Colorado in 1948 and 1950.

Two Still Free

Thompson was one of four top Communists who disappeared in 1951.

Another, Gus Hall, party secretary, was arrested in Mexico City Oct. 9, 1951. The other two, Gilbert Green and Harry Winston, are still at large.

Thompson and Steinberg had changed their appearances considerably, the FBI said. While he was free, Thompson grew a mustache and dyed it, his hair and his eyebrows red. He had put on about 30 pounds.

Steinberg also grew a mustache, but he lost considerable weight.

Prospector Formally Charged With Murder of U.S. Hunter

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

PERCE, Que. (CP) — A stocky woodsman today was escorted by Quebec provincial police into a packed courtroom in this quiet town and formally charged with the murder of one of three American tourists in the Gaspe wilds last June.

The charge that Wilbert Coffin, 37-year-old bushman, prospector and jack-of-all-trades, murdered Richard Lindsey, 17, of Hollidaysburg, Pa., was read by Magistrate Joseph Duguay.

Police claim that a two-month investigation has produced evidence to show that young Lindsey his 47-year-old father, Eugene Lindsey, and an acquaintance, Fred Claar, 20, of East Freedom, Pa., were shot down in cold blood in the Gaspe hills where they planned to hunt bears.

Police have said the murder motive was robbery of about $700 carried by the senior Lindsey and such items of their hunting gear as sleeping bags, binoculars, towels and trousers.

The magistrate started to hear evidence police have turned up by questioning 40 persons.

In the small courtroom in which women made up half of the attendance of 200, the province's best prosecutor, Noel Dorion of Quebec, questioned the witnesses, who include relatives of Coffin.

The magistrate will weigh evidence at the hearing which may be completed late today. If he considers it sufficient, he will order a full-dress trial by jury for Coffin at a later criminal assizes term here.

Truck Drivers' Strike Ends With 20-Cent Increase Won

TORONTO (CP)—Proposals for settling the wages strike by 1,100 southwestern Ontario truck drivers were approved Thursday night by the Hamilton local of the Teamsters' Union (AFL). They are to go before the Windsor local, which includes truckers from Chatham, Sarnia and Windsor, at meetings today.

If accepted by a majority of the drivers, they will bring an end to the strike which started July 20 and which tied up truck traffic from the Hamilton to the Windsor areas as well as in the Niagara peninsula.

Acceptance will mean the trucks will be operating again by Monday, officials said.

Get 20 Cents An Hour

The terms ratified by the Hamilton local by a vote of 261 to 9 provide for a 20-cent-an-hour increase, a greater proportion of which becomes effective late in 1954. This brings the basic hourly rate to $1.43 on a 2½-year contract, by October, 1954.

The first part of the increase is three cents an hour, retroactive to last Jan. 1. A further seven cents an hour dates from last April 20. No further increases are provided until Aug. 1, 1954, at which time there will be a further seven cents an hour. And, starting Oct. 1, 1954, by a further three-cent-an-hour increase, the rate is brought to $1.23 an hour, with the whole contract expiring June 30, 1955.

Mileage Increase Too

Also included is a mileage increase, starting on the date on which the agreement goes into effect, of 35-100 cents a mile, which brings the mileage allowance up to 5.35 cents a mile. A further mileage increase is applied as of Jan. 1 1954 bringing the rate up to 5½ cents a mile.

Eight changes agreed to during negotiations were also incorporated into the agreement. However, working hours, which vary between the locals, remain the same, with no changes affecting night work conditions.

Daley Is Mediator

The agreement was reached late Thursday after two days of meetings at Queen's Park between union negotiators headed by James Hoffa of Detroit and the 36 trucking companies represented by the Motor Transport Industrial Relations Bureau. Labor Minister Daley was the chief mediator.

There was no indication what effect the settlement will have on plans of six Western Ontario trucking firms to sue union leaders for losses caused by what they consider an illegal strike. The firms have obtained writs against Mr. Hoffa and James Groat, president of the Hamilton local.

Tehran Bazaar Owners Are Urging Young Shah to Arrange Coronation

TEHRAN, Iran (Reuters)— Bazaar owners and businessmen here have launched a campaign to encourage the shah to hold a Coronation.

The young shah has several times postponed his crowning in the past on the grounds of Iran's economic difficulties.

Now 500 members of the Lalezar business community, led by Abolghassem Molaei, a leading ice cream merchant, hope to persuade him to change his mind.

A three-foot-wide scroll is being displayed on a Lalezar street corner to obtain signatures of people in favor of holding a coronation. It stands beside a 30 foot triumphal arch, draped with rich Oriental carpets and showing photographs of the shah and his father.

Five thousand people signed the petition in a few hours Thursday, Molaei reported.

Police here raided three more Communist hideouts seizing a large amount of explosives, guns and hand grenades it was announced here.

In one raid on a house opposite the Iranian army hospital, the police found 100 U.S.-made hand grenades, a machine-gun, 1,000 rounds of Czechoslovak rifle ammunition, and two Russian-made pistols.

Tehran police have seized and burned 42 truck loads of Communist books and pamphlets since Tuesday, it was officially stated.

And according to Mardiasia, a pro-government paper, a Communist who tried to distribute pamphlets in Tehran had his ears cut off by angry crowds.

Telephone Workers' Strike Is Spreading

WASHINGTON (AP)—An estimated 10,000 telephone workers in the Washington area and in West Virginia went on strike today to join thousands of Communications Workers of America members already striking in seven other states.

The Washington-West Virginia walkout began at 6 a. m., EDT after negotiations with the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. broke down Thursday night.

OAC STAFF MEMBER DIES

GUELPH (CP) — Alexander F. Bain, 41, member of the staff of the Ontario Veterinary College here, died Thursday. He was a member of the Ontario Veterinary Association, the Canadian Veterinary Medical Association and the American Veterinary Medical Association.

Guelph Prisoners Not Allowed Cards or Money

TORONTO (CP) — Prisoners at Guelph reformatory are not allowed playing cards or money, but they satisfy their gambling urge by using tobacco and food, Col. Hedley Basher, deputy reforms minister, said Thursday.

Speaking before members of the legislature's select committee studying reform institutions, Col. Basher said the reformatory staff had to crack down on gambling because gangsters and middlemen were cornering the tobacco market. When prisoners lost their tobacco, they often gambled their desserts in the hope of winning back the tobacco.

Col. Basher said Guelph is the only Ontario institution which does not allow prisoners to use cards.

The committee considered a suggestion that 50 houses should be built on Guelph reformatory grounds as one way of overcoming the staff shortage. After discussing who should build them and how they should be financed, the committee went on record as favoring the principle of providing houses for married guards.

South Koreans Protest Lifting Sea Defence Zone

SEOUL (AP)—South Korean officials today criticized Gen. Mark Clark's action in lifting the Korean sea defence zone yesterday.

"We will officially protest the unilateral action," said Admiral Sohn Won Il, defence minister, pointing out that the zone was set up after mutual consultations.

In Tokyo, Korean minister Yong Shik Kim said his government would continue enforcing the "fishery conservation and peace zone" —South Korea's version of the defence zone.

Two fears lie behind South Korea's attitude: that Red intelligence and guerrilla agents will find it easier to land; and Japanese fishermen will swarm into Korean coastal waters.

Intensify Hunt For Lost Plane As Fog Clears

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP) — Search for a missing RCAF Lancaster with eight men aboard was intensified today as clearing weather was reported over the rugged northern Manitoba bushland.

Search master Sqdn. Ldr. Jack Hudson of Winnipeg swung the hunt north of the search base at Churchill — Manitoba's most northerly port on the west side of Hudson Bay.

The break in the weather came Thursday noon when low fog and rain eased after keeping search planes grounded most of the time since the Lancaster disappeared last Saturday night. The poor flying weather is caused by southeast winds over Hudson Bay.

IRAN'S PREMIER SAYS OIL TALKS TO BE RESUMED

Statement Is Surprise To Officials in London

CAIRO (Reuters) — Iran's new prime minister, Gen. Fazlollah Zahedi, announced that he will hold oil talks with Britain in the second half of September, according to the newspaper Al Misri here today.

In an interview given to the paper's correspondent in Tehran, Zahedi said negotiations with Britain would be conducted on the basis of the Iran oil nationalization law.

The law dispossessed the British Anglo-Iranian Oil Company in 1951.

(In London, the reported statement surprised official quarters. No plans for a resumption of negotiations on the Anglo-Iranian dispute have been mooted and the prospect of new talks is regarded as a distant one. The discussions between Zahedi and Loy Henderson, the United States ambassador in Tehran, about which Britain has been kept informed, have concentrated on emergency aid to Iran, officials said.

Ex-Secretary Of Aussie Mayor Freed by Court

ROCKHAMPTON, Australia (CP) A pretty ex-secretary of Mayor Reginal Pilbeam walked out of court free today on a suspended sentence, convicted of trying to kill the mayor in a lover's quarrel.

The girl, Jean Jennings, 26, was released on a suspended sentence of two years hard labor. She also posted a two-year good behavior bond for $225.

The jury has returned a recommendation for mercy with their verdict.

Pilbeam, 45 and married, admitted in court that he had stayed at a hotel under an assumed name with Miss Jennings, given her a wedding ring and other gifts and promised to marry her.

Miss Jennings told the court: "He was poison for me. But oh what sweet poison." She said she had been intimate with the mayor since 1949.

They quarrelled and she shot him in the side with a pistol while they were driving in a car. He now is recovering.

Russians Close Down Lower Austria Post

VIENNA (AP)—Soviet occupation forces Thursday closed down one of the major local command posts in their zone, the kommandatura of Lilienfeld, Lower Austria. Earlier this week, the Russians withdrew their local commanders from two other lower Austrian towns, Scheibbs and Horn.

In all three cases, the Russians withdrew most of their soldiers from the towns and surrounding districts.

Thai Police Arrest Indo-China Communists

BANGKOK (AP)—Thai police today arrested a man suspected of being the leader of a plot to overthrow the government and said he was from the Communist area of Indo-China.

Police identified the alleged plot leader only as Chuen. They said he had been engaged in gun-running.

Priest's Promise to Find His Girl Brings Seaman Down From Post

NEW YORK (AP) — A seaman reigned over a scene of confusion today by perching atop a 30-foot lamppost and demanding that somebody find his girl friend and bring her to him.

Christopher McDonald, 24, of New York, stayed aloft for an hour as though in a crow's nest, then finally shinnied down at the entreaty of a priest.

By that time, hundreds of pedestrians had gathered below him at Eighth avenue and 23rd street. Thirty policemen arrived with nets. Traffic became snarled.

"Why don't you come down," shouted patrolman Michael Littman.

"If you get my girl, Mary, I'll come down," said McDonald. Then he added:

"I'd rather die young than grow old without her."

Mary was not identified.

McDonald ignored all pleas and suggestions until Monsignor John J. O'Connell came along at about 6:35 a.m. Learning the story, the priest said:

"I'll help you find her. Come on down. I have to get to a 7 0'clock Mass"

The priest said he would try to locate the girl and ask her to visit the seaman.

McDonald was taken to Bellevue hospital for observation.

County Approves $200,000 Grant To Hospital Fund

Plan For Financing New Wing Under Way in City

Hastings county councillors Thursday approved of a $200,000 capital grant toward the Belleville General Hospital building fund. The money would be used for the construction of a new wing at the hospital.

Mayor A. M. Haig and hospital board chairman J. N. Yanover Tuesday had appeared before council requesting a grant of $250,000 for the fund and the matter was referred to the ways and means committee.

When the matter came up again at the closing session, Reeve Verney Heath of Rawdon said he was in favor of a grant for the new hospital wing, but "not on a dollar-for-dollar basis with the city of Belleville."

He noted that his own municipality had made a grant to the new Campbellford hospital; the county had also made a capital grant to the Trenton Memorial Hospital and also to the Bancroft Hospital. "I think Belleville is asking for too much on a dollar-for-dollar basis," he said.

Suggested by Reeve Wells

The $200,000 figure finally approved by council was suggested by Reeve Ritchie Wells of Marmora, who said he had given a lot of thought to the grant request. "Belleville hospital served his district," he said, "but many residents also went to Peterborough hospital."

Reeve Fred Mitchell of Rawdon said he felt keenly about the need for additional accommodation at the Belleville hospital. The hospital at present was "filled to capacity," he said.

"We should not be stingy with our grant to the hospital," he went on. "I had in mind the same figure as mentioned by the Reeve of Marmora and I will second his motion."

The question of the method of payment —came up for discussion, there being some thought that the county surplus funds should be used to provide part of the grant. The county surplus at present is about $110,000, it was pointed out.

Reeve Wells and Buskard took the above view, while others particularly Reeve Percy Moore as chairman of the roads and bridges committee were opposed to this idea.

The discussion continued as to how the money was to be raised by the county and on how many years the payments would be spread over, until Reeve Buskard pointed out that the hospital was not asking for the money now—only the assurance that the money would be paid.

"We can figure out how we are going to raise the money at a later session," he said.

Approve Recommendation

The matter was left at this with councillors approving of the recommendation to make a capital grant of $200,000 to the Belleville hospital building fund, the money to be paid in five equal instalments over a period of five years.

Other grants approved by council included one of $1,000 to the Marmora community centre to assist in the installation of artificial ice and a concrete floor for their arena. The grant request had been laid over from the spring session of council.

Reeve Irwin McCoy of Marmora township said the grant requested was needed by the arena. The committee had raised approximately $25,000 toward the cost of the ice plant and floor and were still needing about $6,000.

"I like sports, but I also think it is nice for a man to have a home," Deputy Reeve T. Cooney of Rawdon said as he spoke against the county making too many grants.

He said taxes already were high and homes would be sold for taxes. "It is always the last straw that breaks the camel's back," he pointed out.

Reeve Moore also spoke in opposition to the grant saying that it would be establishing a precedent to make a second grant to a community centre.

Will Serve Central Hastings

Reeve Wells, however, pointed out that the Marmora arena could serve all centre Hastings. He did not think the grant requested would cause any hardship. "If people are losing homes because they cannot pay their taxes they are squandering their money on something far worse than recreation," he said.

Reeve Tryon took the same attitude noting that if more money was spent on sport there would be less juvenile delinquency.

Reeve Buskard noted the matter had been laid over from last session because council felt the arena committee should do something on their own toward raising funds. This had been done and the ice plant would be operating this winter.

Another grant approved by council was one for $500 toward the Madoc Community Centre. This centre is a floodlighted ball park built during the summer at a cost of close to $10,000.

"Are we going to give everything and anything to everybody?" asked Reeve Verney Heath, when the request for the grant was made. "Surely we have to draw the line some place." He said he agreed with Reeve Harry Morrow that a hospital grant was more important than one for recreation. He moved an amendment calling for a grant of $300.

Reeve J. W. Anderson of Faraday took the opposite view and said if there were more such recreational centres fewer persons would be going to hospitals.

Reeve Elmer Wood approved of the centre for another reason. "With a flood-lighted ball park the farmers can go to ball games," he said. "I never had time to go to games before."

Council also approved of grants for woodlot competitions and for a grant of $250 to the British Empire Cheese show.

Fair Grants Unchanged

Council defeated an agricultural committee recommendation calling for a cut in fair grants and county contributions to county fairs and to the Belleville Fair will remain as before.

W. E. Sandercock M.L.A. for Hastings West, who was attending the session said he thought it would be a bad time to cut grants for the smaller fairs. He spoke of the high interest in junior farmer events at Belleville Fair and said

CPL. BRUCE MINNS BEING TRANSFERRED TO FRENCH BASE

Montreal — Corporal Bruce D. Minns, 30, of Belleville, has been transferred to No. 2 Fighter Wing based at Gros Tenquin, France, where he will be employed in the Safety Equipment Section, RCAF Air Transport Command announced today.

He was born in Toronto and attended the Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School.

His mother, Mrs. L. Minns, is living on Front St. in Belleville. His wife, Mrs. B. Minns, is staying in Belleville and will join him in France at a later date.

THREE DISTRICT SOLDIERS COMING HOME ON LEAVE

Three district soldiers are included among 200 officers and men returning home on rotation leave after a year's service in the Far East. They are scheduled to arrive at a West coast port on Saturday. All the soldiers will undergo administrative processing at Vancouver, then be dispatched to their homes for leave.

Those from the district include: Pte. A. L. Johnson, Bloomfield; Pte. D. E. Shattraw, Harold RR 1, and Pte. W. A. Sheady of Wellington.

THURSDAY HOTTEST DAY OF YEAR

Thursday was a scorcher. Indeed it was the hottest day of the year but it really wasn't anything to get "het up about."

During the afternoon the mercury touched a high of 92.5 according to Belleville's weatherman, Harry Mills, manager of the city water purification plant. This maximum, however, was only half a degree above the high reached on July 16. When the previous high of 92 was recorded it was the peak temperature during a week from July 15 to July 23 when the maximum never dropped below 86.

Only 10 Cases Of Polio Reported In This Area

The incidence of polio in the city is not as high as rumors would have it, Dr. A. M. Breuls, medical officer of health revealed today. He said that "from the number of cases reported to date, it would appear that poliomyelitis has not reached epidemic proportions either in the city or the district."

During the month of July three cases of the disease were reported to the health department. In August the total had risen to 10 with seven more cases being turned in that month.

However, of the 10 cases, only three have been said to have some form of paralysis. The other seven, presumably have not resulted in paralytic symptoms. The majority of the total number are no longer in hospital and have returned home. Dr. Breuls further stated that no death have resulted from any of the 10 polio cases.

Two Youths Sentenced On Charges of Theft

Pleading guilty to the theft of hubcaps from a car on the J. B. Boyce parking lot at the rear of their garage, two city youths were sentenced by Magistrate Wills in court today. Jack Hughes was given one month in jail, and William Purtell was given one year's suspended sentence.

Also charged with theft in the same case is Jack Sharpe who was remanded to a later court. In addition to the theft charge Sharpe also faces one of assaulting an attendant at Boyce's who checked the youths when they were spotted in the parking lot. Police said Sharpe would be admitted to bail until his court appearance.

Question of New Highway Laid Over Until After Meeting With Doucett

The question of the Madoc-Foxboro road will lie dormant in county council until Highways Minister Hon. George Doucett is able to review the road personally and meet with the county roads and bridges committee.

This was the decision made Thursday by county councillors at their closing session after the matter was brought up for discussion by Reeve Elmer Wood of Huntingdon township.

Earlier this year county council had held a special meeting to discuss the proposal that the Madoc-Foxboro road be taken over by the province in return for the county assuming maintenance of No. 14 highway from Foxboro to Marmora. The meeting adjourned without council voting on the question when it was learned that Mr. Doucett had agreed to meet with county officials. However, at the outset of the session it had been announced that the highways minister would be unable to attend the council session.

Expects Decision

In broaching the subject Reeve Elmer Wood of Huntingdon township said the matter should not be let drop.

"The highways minister is expecting some decision from the county," he said. "He has definitely said that the department will not take over any additional highways in Hastings unless maintenance of a present highway is assumed by the county."

Mr. Wood said he would be in favor of asking the department to take over and build the Madoc road with the county assuming maintenance of No. 14 until the road was built. Then the county could decide which road was to go back to the province.

Wants Members Present

Reeve Clarke Rollins of Wollaston said any discussion on the matter should be delayed until both provincial members for the county were present.

"We don't want any split in county council over this matter," he went on. "It should be given every consideration."

Reeve Buskard of Deloro was of the same opinion claiming that he had felt the matter was closed. "Personally I think the highways minister is deliberately staying away from a hornet's nest. Let's combine our forces and try to get the highway," he said.

Reeve McCoy of Marmora and Lake felt the whole discussion was out of order until Mr. Doucett had had the opportunity of meeting with county officials and going over the roads in question. "Then either he or the county could make the decision."

Later both W. E. Sandercock, M.L.A. for Hastings West, and Roscoe Robson, M.L.A. for Hastings East, attended the session and spoke regarding interviews with Mr. Doucett.

Impossible to Attend

Mr. Robson said that because of other commitments Mr. Doucett had found it impossible to attend the council session.

"Mr. Doucett wants to know just what the county is expecting of him," Mr. Robson said. "He has already told the county that under the highways department policy no more roads would be taken over by the province unless a present highway was assumed by the county."

He noted that this had been done in several instances across the province.

Mr. Sandercock had much the same story to tell. "Mr. Doucett told us that he had bigger problems than this to settle, but that he would settle it," Mr. Sandercock said.

Will Drive over Road

However, Mr. Sandercock reported Mr. Doucett as saying that before he settled the matter he would drive over the roads in question, and that it would be settled to the satisfaction of all if we just had a little patience.

"No one wants to trade roads. That would be a step backwards," Mr. Sandercock said. "But we need the road to Madoc and I don't blame residents for asking for it to be a highway."

In closing Mr. Sandercock assured that he was behind any move to have a new road to Madoc.

Reeve Bernard Hunt of Hungerford noted the alternative to having the road taken over by the highways department would be to have it built as a development road.

However, a development road would be turned back to the county for maintenance after it was rebuilt and would still have to have a permanent top.

Roads Sacrificed Claim

"We don't want anything like that," he said. "Other roads in Hastings have been sacrificed for 20 years because of a permanent top on the Madoc Road. We don't want to be sacrificed for another 20 years."

Reeve Rollins pointed out that the highways minister had never let the county down.

"Any discussion on the matter now would be detrimental to having the road taken over," he noted. "No one will deny that the present maintenance of the Madoc road is not up to standard. We need a new road to Madoc but not at the cost of disunity in county council."

"I move that there be no action taken," he said.

Report Adopted

The county roads and bridges committee report, read by committee chairman Reeve Percy Moore was adopted by council.

The report indicated that the roads expenditure by-law had been cut by the highways department from $354,000 to $266,000 and that the county had been advised not to proceed with the construction of the proposed Glen Miller bridge.

However, the department had later approved of a mulch type pavement for the Stirling-Hoard's road costing up to $24,000. This work would receive the usual depart subsidy and is now underway.

There had been less frost damage on the county roads system during the past spring. A total of 145 miles of road had been dust treated at a cost of $39,800 up to August 1.

Nw construction included a half mile stretch on the Shannonville gravel, which is a continuation of the work started two years ago; also county forces have recently completed rebuilding a three-quarter mile stretch on the Frankford-Foxboro development road covered by last year's agreement and not completed. Survey work for an additional two-and-a-half miles of reconstruction on the same road has been completed and an expenditure of up to $30,000 was authorized by the province. The report indicated that this work would be commenced as soon as the present mulch work on the Hoard's road was completed.

MISS BEATRICE GREATRIX

A lifelong resident of Belleville, Miss Beatrice Greatrix died Thursday afternoon in the Belleville General Hospital in her 84th year.

Miss Greatrix had been ill for about two years. She formerly resided at 95 Grier Street and on Pinnacle Street. A daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Greatrix, the deceased is survived by a brother, Ernest Herbert Greatrix, formerly of Belleville and now residing in Kingston, and several nieces and nephews.

Miss Greatrix was a member of Christ Church.

Buy Property To Beautify County Home

In order that a better approach and view for the Hastings County Home may be secured, the county has purchased the Allin property on Trent Road and is demolishing the brick residence.

Making the report for the county home committee at county council yesterday, Reeve Clarke Rollins said the property had been purchased after considerable deliberation. "Razing of the house and landscaping of the grounds would greatly improve the approach to the new county home," he said. The house is now being torn down and the work will soon be completed.

The report stated there were now 168 patients in the county home — 112 men and 56 women —of which number 32 were from the city. There were 34 patients in the hospital wing. Ten admissions had been made during July, an unusually high rate for a summer month. With the usual influx of applications before the cold weather, it was expected the home may be filled to capacity this fall for the first time.

A front end loader for the farm tractor and a lawn sprinkler had been purchased for use at the home.

The report of the juvenile and family court committee was presented by committee chairman Reeve James Sprackett.

WANTS SALARY CUT

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Disney Corp. stockholder wants Walt Disney's salary reduced from his present $3,000 a week. The stockholder, Clement J. Melancon, complained that he had not received any dividends on his 500 shares since 1947 and cited Disney's salary as a reason. Disney recently was granted a raise from $2,000 to $3,000 a week, a $50,000 royalty guarantee and $30,000 for use of his name, the suit charged.

Equalized Assessment Passed By County Council May Be Opened By Some Appeals

Possibility of an appeal against the equalized assessment as approved by Hastings County Council Wednesday was indicated at the closing session of council yesterday when Reeve Theodore Tryon of Bancroft said that it was altogether likely that his municipality would protest its increase in county assessment from $85,015 to just over $200,000.

"I am not satisfied," the Bancroft reeve said as the assessment equalization came up in by-laws, "and I am advising council that in all probability there will be an appeal."

Following this was a lengthy discussion on appeal procedure and whether the decision by county judge would be final or if the matter could still be taken to the municipal board. Mr. Tryon said if there was an appeal and he was not satisfied with the judge's decision it would certainly be taken to the municipal board.

Appeal in 1936

Clerk-Treasurer E. S. Denyes noted that the last appeal against an equalized assessment in the county was back in 1936. Frankford and Marmora villages had appealed and had had their assessments lowered.

Reeves of several other villages noted they were not happy about their assessment increases for county purposes.

"None of the villages is happy, but we have tried to equalize the assessment without resource to the court," Warden Kincaid of Madoc village said. "In my own opinion the think the assessment in Bancroft should be higher."

"You must remember there are just about three brick houses in Bancroft," returned Reeve Tryon. "Compare that with any of the other villages. Also hydro is our only utility."

Not Satisfied

"The equalized assessment figures were just one man's opinion —that of the county assessor— and I am not satisfied."

Reeve T. C. Graham of Tweed said he had not expected further discussion on the assessment question and he was not prepared with any figures. He indicated, however, that it was highly probable that Tweed would not accept the equalization.

Clarke Rollins of Wollaston said appeals would just "open a door" to further appeals. He noted that the equalized assessment could not be reduced and if lower assessments were given to some municipalities because of appeals, some other township or municipality would have to assume a greater responsibility.

"Surely such municipalities would then have the right to appeal," he said.

Reeve Bernard Hunt of Hungerford, assured that his municipality "was not happy" about having an equalized assessment greater than the actual figure but he was willing to go along and see what came out.

The whole discussion was ruled out of order by Reeve Fred Mitchell acting as chairman of the committee of the whole on by-laws and the assessment by-law was approved in all three readings.

Following are the equalized assessment figures for 1954 together with the actual assessments used for 1953 municipal tax purposes for 1953:

Boy, 11, Sees His Father Kill Mother, Then Self

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An 11-year-old boy watched in panic early today as his dad killed his mother and then himself.

Police gathered this story from the dazed boy, Murray Dubin, and two other witnesses, Virginia Allen, who roomed at the Dubin home, and Mac Rondberg, her friend:

The mother, Mrs. Edith Dubin, 44, heard a prowler and shouted just before a shot through the door hit her in the abdomen.

Rondberg started to telephone the sheriff's office when Sam Dubin, 49, kicked in the front door and aimed a rifle at him. The bullet nicked Rondberg's sleeve as he ran into a bedroom.

The boy, aroused by the commotion, came into the living room to find his mother lying bleeding on the floor. Then, as the lad shrank back against a couch, he saw his father walk up to the fallen woman, place the rifle against her face and fire. Dubin then placed the gun against his own head and pulled the trigger.

The Dubins were divorced last year after 25 years of marriage. Officers said Dubin, a cafe owner, had been under treatment for alcoholism since then.

Montgomery Eats Picnic Lunch At Downey Rapids

MADOC (Special) — A shady stretch of ground beside an isolated portion of the Moira River, on Thursday afternoon played host to one of World War II's great generals, when Field Marshal Viscount Bernard Law Montgomery of Alamein, stopped his car to enjoy a picnic lunch on a roadside table at Downey Rapids. "Monty" of wartime fame was en route to Toronto where he was scheduled to officially open the Canadian National Exhibition today.

According to William Hawthorne Jr., proprietor of near-by-Crystal Beach on Moira Lake, the field marshal, attired in civilian clothes, drove up in a military car with two other officers, ate his lunch arranged by the Canadian Army and left in another military vehicle at 1.00 o'clock after remaining at the spot for a little more than an hour.

Belleville Man Served 30 Years In U.S. Army

FORT TOTTEN, N.Y. Aug. 28.—Major Ross F. Snider, Fort Totten, signal officer will retire August 31, after nearly completing thirty years of service. A retreat parade and review in his honor was held August 24 on the Fort Totten parade ground at 4:45 p.m. The review was open to the public.

Major Snider, who was born in Belleville, Ontario, started his army career at Fort Porter, Buffalo, N.Y., where he enlisted in 1924.

He was an instructor from Feb. 20, 1924, to Aug. 7, 1946 at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, College Station, Texas. While at the college he became an assistant to the professor of Military Science and Tactics and received a direct appointment as second lieutenant in 1942.

Major Snider served as signal officer with the First Constabulary Brigade in the European Command from August 8, 1946, to August 6, 1949. Before coming to Fort Totten in November 1950, he was signal officer at Fort Monmouth for 14 months.

Major Snider will retire in San Antonio, Texas, with his wife, the former Elvira Boehme of Castroville and San Antonio, Texas, and his two children, Donald G., age 17, and Joan F., age 10.

Swore He Was Not Red, Charged as Perjurer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted Ben Gold, Fur Workers Union president, on charges that he lied when he swore in an affidavit to the national labor relations board in August, 1950, that he was not a Communist.

Immediately after the perjury indictment was returned, the justice department announced a warrant had been issued for Gold, a New Yorker, and that the government will ask that his bond be set at $10,000.

POLICE BLOTTER

Orchard raiding youngsters in the Moira Street West, district got a bit of a scare yesterday when a man surprised them and chased them with a cane. The children's mother notified the police, who informed the cane wielder to refrain from such practice. Incidentally the cane wielder was not the owner of the orchard.

A highway transport owned by Frontenac Transport, of Kingston, was checked in the city yesterday with an overload of 6,140 pounds. A summons was issued.

An accident resulting in approximately $500 damage to two autos was reported at the corner of Yeomans and Catherine Streets. Miss Nora Weeks, 33 Moira Street East, was southbound on Yeomans, when a car parked at the curb, driven by Raymond Johnston started away from the curb and swung left on Catherine, colliding with the Weeks' auto.

Regimental Scarves Popular With Battle-Toughened Soldiers

By JOAN BARBERIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Even battle-toughened soldiers like a touch of fashion and those colorful regimental scarves Korean veterans wear are all the rage.

Capt. A. L. Ferguson, a Toronto army public relations officer, says the idea caught on in Korea and that Lt.-Col. P. R. Bingham of the 1st battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, gave permission for the scarves to be worn.

Lt.-Col. Bingham is a soldier of the old school, but evidently he has a soft spot for soldierly fashions.

Korean Vets Only

Only Korean vets are allowed to wear them in Canada and some of the boys bought real silk ones in Japan.

Private Bill Camier of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps who returned from Korea about a month ago said: "a number of the medics bought their scarves through a canteen fund."

"It's kind of nice to be able to tell a fellow's unit by the colors of his scarf," said Camier, "and they're practical, too. If you're sitting in the back of a truck you can use them to keep the dust out of your nose and mouth."

These bright splashes of color against the drab khaki are worn by officers and men alike and to be really fashionable you should sport one of those large moustaches.

Of course, the most notable Beau Brummels of military history were men of the British 8th army in North Africa.

It was not uncommon to see a desert fighter wearing a turtle neck sweater, corduroy trousers, military jacket and a pair of thick crepe-soled shoes that were never dreamed of by army brass back home.

Desert Touches

And to be really chic a la 8th army, you carried a cane as unlike the regulation baton as possible.

Naval ratings probably spent a total of hundreds of hours during the Second World War tying those perky bows on their caps "just so." In fact there was usually an "expert" in every group and he often made as much as 50 cents per bow from his less skilled mates.

At one time putting those old fashioned tiny nickels in the centre of the bow was considered the last word in fashion for naval ratings. This made the bow look as if it had a black button in the centre.

All of which goes to show even the services have their fashion experts.

Oil Paintings To be Exhibits At District Fairs

Among the exhibits planned for the forthcoming Mohawk and Shannonville Fairs, is "The Canadiana Series", a representative collection of original oil paintings by Edwood Hill, Belleville.

Sponsored by the "Workshop '63" group of the Baha'is of Belleville, the exhibition will include "Trees in Winter" a stylized composition of a local landscape, "Indian Girl", a study in light and shade, "Deception" a circus study and a group of portraits and still life arrangements.

Born twenty-three years ago in Point Anne, Edwood Hill at the age of five commenced painting in water color, and when twelve years of age received his first box of oil paints. Despite a lack of concentrated formal training, his paintings manifest a natural sense of color, line and composition. Mr. Hill now lives in the city and an exhibition of his paintings has appeared at "The Little Art Gallery" here.

A Mohawk Indian by birth, he paints the people and landscapes he loves with tenderness and understanding.

Following this exhibition, the paintings will be taken to Kingston for an autumn showing.

Three-Run Rally In Fifth Beats Regent Juniors

By GARRY ALEXANDER

With a three-run rally in the fifth inning, the Prince Edward County Combines defeated Bryson Reid's Regent Juniors 3-2 at the CNR Recreation park, Thursday evening. It was the second game of the Belleville and District Baseball League semi-finals.

The Juniors opened the scoring in the third with a duo. Hall tripled and was brought in by Strachan's single. Then "Mike" Carr blasted the ball to deep right field for a triple and the credit for the RBI. Goyer struck out to end the inning.

"Red" Carson wanted the game called on account of darkness at the end of the fourth inning, but the umpires disagreed and then came that disastrous fifth inning as far as the Regents were concerned.

Dave Lockyer led off with a single, Bolton walked, Zimmerman fanned, Mulholland singled in a run and Ostrander fanned for the second out. Chalmers connected for a long single and drove in the other two runs.

Carson again wanted the game called on account of darkness, but as usual the umpires prevailed and the Regents had to take their turn at bat. Carr reached first with two down, when he was hit by a pitched ball but that was all the Regents could do.

Coach Carson informed this department that the game was played under protest and if there was a third game it would be played in this city.

Sam Mulholland hurled for the winners. He struck out four and walked none. Bill Strachan sweated the losing route for the Regents. He got eight on strikes and passed two.

Chalmers led the Combines at the plate with a triple and a single. Mulholland shared the spotlight with a brace of singles. Carr and Hall had triples for the losers, while Strachan and Stephens met the ball for singles.

everything should be done to encourage juniors to stay on the farm.

Reeve Harry Morrow asked if grants to fairs could be directed to junior work instead of going into the general account. This met with the approval of Reeve Irwin McCoy of Marmora who said that at present grants paid to fairs went in prizes to "ringers" who went from fair to fair.

Reeves J. W. Anderson and Verney Heath also felt it would be a mistake to cut fair grants.

A grant of $75 was approved for the junior section of Ottawa Winter Fair.

PREMIUMS FOR PESSIMISTS

Can one choose one's disposition? Or are we born ith it, as we are born with a white skin or a black one? r is it firmly attached to us shortly after birth, when we e too weak to resist, in much the same manner as the ore unfortunate of us receive names like Algernon and udence? Or do we grow into it through family associa- on, as we acquire our politics and our religion?

But perhaps these are academic questions. For, even answered, there is doubt whether we could do anything out the situation. And, even if we could, there is the estion of what we should do about it.

Take the alternatives of optimism and pessimism, r example. A superficial survey might lead us to a sty decision that for the optimist life is always rosy, hile gloom paces ahead of the pessimist all his days. ut think of the many disappointments which the optim- t must face, when events do not measure up to anticipa- ons! And consider the succession of pleasant surprises hich adorn the days of the pessimist, as he discovers at not all his fears prove to be justified.

These thoughts were provoked by reading dispatches om Korea. Three Americans sentenced to jail terms by e Reds were released Thursday. They said 45 other mericans sentenced to prison terms were at a Red group- g centre, awaiting release. Earlier it had been believed at these prisoners would be withheld from participation "Operation Big Switch."

Where Russia and Communists in general are con- erned, the western world has definitely adopted a pessi- istic attitude. We expect the worst. So occasionally we et pleasant surprises. The result is much more satis- ctory than expecting the best, for in that case we should e subjected to a series of severe shocks.

It must be added, however, that where Communists re concerned the dividends from pessimism are not so reat as in most other fields of application.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY THE GOAL

One of the healthiest signs in the field of education is he frequency with which criticism of our present school ystem is coming from those actively engaged in its op- ration.

As long as the fault-finding was done by trustees or axpayers, there was always the possibility of such views eing written off as the result of ignorance or parsimony r both.

But when the critics are teachers or professors the ame glib answer cannot be used.

At the same time, we should not fall into the error of egarding the educationist as infallible, even on the sub- ect of education.

One recent critic, for example, is Dr. Richard Pen- ington, librarian of McGill University.

It may be a waste of taxpayers' money to try, in his words, "to give a cultural training to people who need a echnical one." But there are worse things than waste. One of them would be to place young people in strait- ackets, to have a type of government control applied to heir ambitions. Judges err. In no field is judgment more difficult than assessing the capabilities of a human being.

Dr. Pennington observes that "only the political fana- ic would claim that all people are alike, and that all would benefit equally from the same kind of education." True. But the important thing is that all people should be given the chance to improve themselves. Equality of achievement will never be attained. But equality of op- portunity can, and should, be provided. The dollars that are wasted by such a policy are of small value compared to the waste in potential achievement which might result from following any other course.

WELL-HEELED HORSE GUARDS

We do not know the origin of the phrase "well-heel- ed", but it has becoming singularly appropriate to describe the condition of the Horse Guards of Britain. Unfortun- ately the Guards, unlike most of us, do not enjoy the condition. This is because the heeling process is being given a somewhat too literal application.

According to "The Recorder" that bright and un- usual weekly newspaper from London, England, the color- ful Guards are having their patience tried to the limit. People who like to pose beside them for photographs have recently acquired the habit of dropping coins into the wide tops of their boots, as tokens of gratitude. The Guards consider this an insult. It is also probably rather uncomfortable, especially if a Horse Guard has a long walk from the stable to the barracks. But the Guards can do nothing about it. They are not allowed to speak.

"It is inconceivable," say The Recorder, "that a notice should be displayed. No one as yet has found a solution."

RETIREMENT OBJECTIVE

A Canadian worker approaching the age of retirement was asked by a roving reporter just what he wanted. His reply is for the record:

"A quiet home, vines of my own planting, a few books full of the inspiration of living, a few friends worthy of being called friends, pleasures that bring neither pain nor remorse and a simple religion empty of bigotry."

A noble objective and a simple one. But how few of us are blessed with the ability to achieve it! Would that we all could.—(Windsor Star.)

A POSER FOR TINY COUNTRY

In the assembly of the tiny Principality of Liechtenstein, with a population of about 14,000, a member complained of the lack of financial aid received from America. Pointing out the immense assistance which had been given her former enemies, Italy and Germany, the member declared that the obvious way to secure United States aid would be to declare war against her. "But," another member intervened, "what if we should win?"—(St. John's Telegram.)

THE BURDEN

If heavy be the burden, strap it tighter.
To whimper and complain won't make it lighter.

If steep the way and oft you slip and stumble,

Friends lend us comfort in our times of sorrow,
But faith and courage none of us can borrow.

When they are needed money cannot buy them;

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

A friend of mine who operates a small lunch counter in an out of the way corner of town, whose patrons are mostly railroad men, truck drivers and night watchmen, was set upon recently by two young toughs. The little place was empty of other customers when they came in, and they ordered a snack in a rather rowdy fashion, began playing games around the tidy little shop, intruded into the kitchen to supervise the preparation of their sandwiches and generally had themselves a good time, in their fashion.

No other customers having come in, they prepared to leave without paying, suggesting that my friend write it off to experience. Then one of them proposed that he make them a small loan of five or ten dollars, eh? And they proceeded to open the till.

"It was all very sudden," explained my friend. "I don't believe I ever indulged in physical violence before in my life, even back at school. I was always the backward type, But the one who rang the till open I hit on the back of the neck with a full ketchup bottle—not too hard, just a nice, thick knock that sank him on the floor where he might be taken for dead. The other made a grab for me, and I happened to trip him so that he fell and cracked his head on the little ledge on which the gas stove stands. He too might be taken for dead. There I was alone, with two corpses. I ran back into the kitchen and the only thing I could find was a long, old-fashioned wire toasting fork which we use to pick weiners out of the hot water.

"I ran back and stood over them with the toasting fork. When they came to, as both did in a minute or so, and tried to get up, I threatened them with the toasting fork, and made them still. They lay still.

"In a few minutes more, some regular friends arrived, and they went back across the street and telephoned for the police. The thing that interests me is not so much the sudden violence of which I was capable, but the fact that big tough men are afraid of a toasting fork. Anything thin, sharp and long appears to have a special terror for all men."

I suggested to my friend that in this particular instance, they may have been a little terrified of him.

Home Bed Good After Holiday

(Minneapolis Tribune)

One of the nicest things about a vacation is returning home. And one of the nicest things about returning home is getting into your own bed.

The pillow may be lumpy and there may be a protruding mattress spring that gouges the back. But the old bed is yours and it's mighty comfortable. It may sag in the middle or be unyielding as a billiard table, but, once in it, you don't stare wide-eyed at the ceiling. You sleep.

There's comfort, too, in the old familiar noises—the bark of the dog down the block, the clank of Johnny Jones' jalopy as he rattles along the street en route home from a date.

The hum of the refrigerator is a lullaby. There's a certain rhapsody even in the drip from that faucet long in need of a new washer.

There's no loon screaming out across the lake, no chipmunks frolicking outside the cabin door, no porcupines gnawing around to make a mockery of sleep.

Although the bed in hotel, motor court or cabin may have the caress of an ocean breeze, with a pillow soft as eiderdown—and although weariness may weight the eyes—slumber may prove elusive.

There's that darned loon out there to remind you you're in a strange place—and not one protruding spring anywhere around to bring the illusion, and solace of home.

Playground Types Listed

(By J. J. SYME in The Hamilton Spectator)

How strange are those old recollections which haunt us! When a superintendent of playgrounds for 34 years starts digging into his memories, he's liable to unearth the darnedst things.

During these years over 3,000 young men and women were interviewed for positions as playground supervisors. Of that number, approximately 2,000 were chosen and trained for the work.

Among the applicants for playground service, I recall particularly eight specific types who appeared year after year:

There was Miss Do-Good, who deplored the conduct of children in general and could, no doubt, iron out the problems of the department.

Mr. University Graduate, with a quadruple major but little or no experience, who must have a high starting salary—he was so sure of his ability to give satisfaction; Mr. Politician, sent by you-know-who to take over one of the "easy jobs" — certainly not playground supervision;

The Timid Type—usually accompanied by Mamma who did all the talking about the good points possessed by her Penelope. (Needless to say Penelope's fate was sealed without much consideration);

A Similar Type — Mamma explains that "daughter has recently recovered from a severe and lengthy illness and the fresh air and sunshine is just what she needs—it would be so beneficial. Have you a nice ground, not too far from home, where she could be placed." Daughter did not get the "Scotch holiday" Mamma sought for her.

The One-Activity-minded — The Varsity athlete, ex-wrestler, or boxer with no background in games suitable for children. Rugby and basketball were his limit in most cases;

The fellow who never rose above third grade in public schools or held a jojb for any length of time, who said. "I don't see what 'edication' has to do with the job."

Finally, the maiden of uncertain age who "just loved children."

Frozen Bread Is Being Sold

(Magazine Digest)

Nobody wants stale bread—the family won't eat it, the housewife won't buy it, the grocer can't sell it, the baker has to take it back and chalk up a loss. Now, however, a revolutionary development in the food industry has shown a way to circumvent these problems of distribution and sales. The answer is freezing.

By freezing the loaves or rolls within a few hours after baking, they can be stored for weeks, until an order is placed and they are shipped to a local distributor. The individual grocer can either sell the bread frozen or defrost it (a three or four hour porcess). Thus the housewife is assured that the bread she buys is perfectly fresh, the grocer is never over-stocked in the bread department, and the baker can easily keep pace with the fluctuating demands of his market.

SELECT RIGHT BREEZE

(Brantford Expositor)

That shouldn't be difficult, considering our neighbors' propensities for sounding off. The problem is to select the right breeze.

Several Roads To Short Life

By IRENE CRAIG NEIL in The Rotarian Magazine)

Do you paw the ground while waiting for a bus, an appointment, or in a queue? Subtract ten years.

Do you run up and down stairs? Begin getting estimates now for the installation of a new heart. They are in short supply and you may have to manage with the one you have worn out.

Do you have several extra money-making activities besides your regular source of income? You'll need them to support you during your last lingering illness.

Do you relax and enjoy the scenery when you're a passenger? If you share the driver's tension, subtract ten years.

Do you consider yourself indispensable and insist on holding tightly to the reins? Neanderthal man thought he was a very important guy too.

Do you spring to catch the bus immediately after eating? It is a guaranteed method of acquiring a stroke, if you have always wanted one.

Do you blow your top and sizzle over like a coffee percolator? It's your blood pressure; enjoy it.

Do you play a few sets of tennis on a hot afternoon as you did when you had hair? Keep enough ready cash in the house so your wife can purchase a complete new black outfit on short notice.

Do you manage with just a few hours of sleep each night? The cemetery is very quiet and restful; you'll catch up over eternity.

Do you crowd a month of riotous activity into your annual two-week holiday? Keep your insurance paid up so your survivors can have calmer vacations.

Does your home resemble a convention, telephones ringing and radios loud? Our mental institutions are becoming increasingly popular. When you collapse, take plenty of clothes with you, since most cases require lengthy treatment.

Do you eat what you like whenever you feel the urge regardless of calorie and vitamin specifications? Hospitals now have waiting lists, so make your reservation in advance to enjoy their blueplate gruel special when your stomach refuses to co-operate.

If you have said "No" to all the above questions, you do not belong to this generation.

30,000 Apply For Moon Tour

(Montreal Gazette)

Small fry aren't the only people interested in space travel. Dozens of books and magazines, on the subject have avid followings around the world. And more than 30,000 people of both sexes have already filled out "application forms" for inclusion in the first trips to the moon. The forms are available at the Hayden Planetarium in New York City.

The Planetarium, incidentally, hasn't bothered to wait until space ships are developed. It has neatly side-stepped all that fuss and bother and "conducted" space tours every day for years.

A highly complicated projector—which has as many controls as a space ship—fills the great dome of planetarium with stars. As the amphitheatre darkens and sound effects fill out the illusion, the audience, led by Narrator-pilot Catherine Barry, finds itself whirling through space on trips to the moon or Mars or Venus.

Miss Barry, a schoolteacher turned space pioneer, handles her panels of controls with easy efficiency and soon the selected target begins to emerge, growing steadily in size and detail With a roar of rocket brakes, the picture of outer space turns upside down and the imaginary space ship sets down amid the "canals" of Mars, or the great dead craters of the moon. After a short lecture on the problems of existence there, Miss Barry pushes some more buttons and the return trip begins.

The illusion is very powerful. Audiences sit on the edges of their seats. There is no air-sickness, no gravity problems, no worry about oxygen supply or food stocks. The whole trip only takes an hour or so. It is quite possible that when trips to the moon are a reality, many people will still prefer to do their space tours from a comfortable seat in the Hayden Planetarium.

Origin Of Hat Trick

(Windsor Star)

Most hockey fans believe that the expression "the hat trick" is either Canadian or American in origin.

It isn't. It's English and comes from cricket!

In England's national pastime, the hat trick means taking three wickets with successive balls.

The name comes from the old practice of passing the hat for contributions for the bowler who accomplishes the three-way play. While the "passing the hat" custom is no more, the expression "hat trick" survives.

NINETEENTH CENTURY BLUNDERBUSS

Dr. Brady

In the eighteen years I served in more or less honest practice as a family doctor, before I took to quacking it in the public prints, as we doctors called the newspapers before we learned how to get into them without too obvious intention to do so, I loved to peek, pry and snoop. While puttering about the house waiting for a primipara to get down to business or washing my hands, or making sure my hair was properly brushed—I did too!—I had plenty of opportunities to inspect the family medicine cabinet. I can't tell you some of the things I found there, not in a family newspaper.

One thing I found in too many such medicine cabinets was a box or vial of pills or tablets known as AB & S—a nineteenth century shotgun mixture of horse medicine (aloes or its active principle aloin), belladonna (deadly nightshade) and strychnine. There were several variations of the formula—perhaps nux vomica (the crude drug) instead of its alkaloid, strychnine; or atropine, the alkaloid, instead of crude belladonna; or dashes of mastic, ipecac, colocynth, cascara or what have you. The tablets or pills were chocolate or candy-coated, which made them attractive for children who happened to get hold of them.

Now the striking feature of nux vomica (strychnine) poisoning is restlessness, twitching movements, stiffness in the finger muscles or in the muscles of the face when the victim laughs, jerking of arm or leg and finally general convulsions. The mind remains clear and the spasms or convulsions are extremely painful. Death occurs within two or three hours after the strychnine has been taken.

When such death comes to a child, the responsibility rests heavily on the person who keeps the poison in the medicine cabinet or in any part of the house.

One who is reasonably well informed, not misinformed, will not take any such medicine in any circumstance. Ignorance of the law excuses no man. Ignorance of physiology and hygiene is no excuse either.

The blunderbuss "aid" to regulation of the bowel came into use in this fashion: The old-timers recognized that aloe was a cathartic (for horses and other animals), so they applied it in human practice. But it caused pretty severe griping, so they added an antispasmodic drug to lower the intensity of the griping—belladonna or its active principle atropine. But, darn it, the antispasmodic checked suppressed secretion throughout the alimentary tract, causing dryness of mouth and throat, impairing digestion in stomach and intestine. So the hammer and tongs men added a good dash of nux vomica or its active principle strychnine, you know, to stimulate the secretory functions which the belladonna (atropine) checked.

If it sounds silly, it is. But a lot of people have the old nineteenth century AB & S blunderbuss to thank for the constipation habit.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE MEDICINE OF SILENCE

I read in my newspaper recently that it is estimated that about one in every seven people in the United States depend upon pills to put them to sleep at night. That was an amazing statement. Why whould this proportion be so great? Why can't people go to their beds at night and sleep naturally and happily?

I never took a sleeping pill in my life, but perhaps I have been blessed with a philosophic disposition! I can sleep anywhere, but I love sleep best in the silence of nature. Sleep there is God's medicine. On my summer island retreat I hear almost nothing outside the distant trains on the mainland. There are the songs of the birds, the wash of the waves of the big lake, and the strange whisperings of the pines as the winds send them to and fro. But that is all.

I have had guests who have come from the same big city where I abide most of the year, and they become restless here in the midst of so much silence. This very fact is the proof that they need it most! Silence is a medicine without harmful ingredients. The more you partake of it the healthier and happier you become.

It is easy to understand why there have been so many fine writers bred upon the farms and in isolated places. They have time to think, to ponder creatively, and to forget themselves. They have interests and dreams, and neither come from pills, but from the clean air, the fragrant earth, and the inspiration from starry skies at night.

Outside, or in places approaching hospitals, are signs of "Silence." When people get ill it's this silence that soothes them. How much better to have it soothe them before they get ill! People with a quiet mind go to their sleep at night with assurance that they will have both a good rest and "pleasant dreams" extra! Just try this medicine of silence and note how your soul expands. Or your money back!

THE HOME A SCHOOL

If you are saying to yourself every day that you want your child to have a good education, just remember that your child will get most of its education in the home, and you will be the teacher.

Expensive boarding schools, colleges, and graduate education all have their place in the life of an aspiring intellectual, and a fine place they occupy; but children's lives are usually pretty definitely set before they go away to school. Although there is much nonsense being taught today in the name of psychology, it certainly is true—as discerning persons have noted through the ages—that education begins in the cradle and that the emotional set given to a young child is a thing of extreme importance. A quiet home devoted to honesty, love, self-restraint, and religion does a thousand times more for a child than all the higher educational institutions he can ever attend.

Dr. Robert E. Speer wrote some years ago, "The Christian home is the true school, as it ought to be a true church. Here the most powerful of all educational forces are at work—atmosphere and example. Through all the interstices of life and time, the truth or falsehood of tone and temper, the attitude and ideals of the home, seep into a child's mind and character."

Scientists Fire Guided Missile Working Model

OTTAWA (CP)—Scientists Thursday fired a working model of Canada's air-to-air guided missile and later announced that the radar-guided weapon has been tested previously in Canada.

The veil of secrecy which cloaked this and previous tests was lifted only enough for a few bare facts to be made known. The model was fired near here as part of a series of such tests.

The experimental missile was designed and built in Canada. It is being developed for the RCAF by the defence research board and the national research council.

That Canada has been engaged in such work has been known for some time. The government announced a decision last year that Canada was building a missile for use against enemy bombers which might attack from the north.

Dr. O. M. Solandt, chairman of the defence research board, said in an interview Thursday that others have been fired in this area in recent months. Thursday's firing took place near Winchester, 35 miles southeast of the capital.

The missile was fired from a Sabre jet fighter. No further details of the firing or of the outcome of the experiment were disclosed.

"The missile fired today is still in the development stage," Dr. Solandt said. "Today's firing was one of a series of tests which have taken place during the last few months."

Joint Command For NA Defence A Possibility

By JACK MacBETH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—A joint Canadian American command for the defence of North America is a possibility, but only if it fits into the North Atlantic treaty organization.

Canadian military observers say such a command makes military sense. However, the road could be rough from a political standpoint.

They do not think it is an immediate necessity, but rather an eventual and logical outgrowth of existing close liaison between United States and Canadian defence forces.

Gen. Omar Bradley, former chairman of the American joint chiefs of staff, has called for a joint continental command in a series of magazine articles. He suggested that President Eisenhower and Prime Minister St. Laurent discuss the possibility in the near future.

Decline Comment

Meanwhile, Canadian military officials declined to comment on the articles.

Qualified observers said they believe the chances for a joint command boil down to this: If established strictly within the framework of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, it should meet only limited resistance in Canada.

If, however, it should turn out to be merely a bilateral arrangement between Washington and Ottawa it might not be accepted. Public opinion, ofttimes sensitive to any encroachment on Canadian sovereignty, might react strongly.

One qualified source, noting that NATO responsibility includes North America's most northern defences, described the proposed continental command as "the missing link" in the chain of western outposts.

Isolated Strikes Still Troubling French People

PARIS (Reuters) — Isolated labor disturbances and a new strike threat by oil and rubber workers today still prevented France from getting back to normal.

At Angers in Western France, police anti-riot squads used tear gas bombs against 3,000 strikers who stormed the city hall Thursday night shouting anti-government slogans.

Further north, at the big Seine river port of Rouen, freight yards and docks stood idle again. Some 4,000 rail workers walked out Thursday in protest against the dismissal of three employees for their part in the recent national strikes.

The dock workers at Rouen were locked out by employers who claimed the men did not work normally after they returned to their jobs Thursday.

Workers in the oil refining and rubber industries were on a "stand by for action" call today. Non-Communist trade unions threatened to call them off their jobs if employers reject a demand for an immediate pay increase of 3,000 francs ($8.50) a month.

World's Greatest Annual Fair Opens Today

TORONTO (CP) — The world's greatest annual fair, the Canadian National Exhibition, opens here today.

The 75th anniversary of what has developed from a Toronto show into a Canadian institution is to be officially opened at 2:30 p.m. EDT by Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

Wrapped up in a $100,000,000 package will be everything from zany stage acts to fashion shows, industrial exhibits and jet flying displays.

Every province in Canada and most of the 48 states from the United States will be represented among the thousands expected to set the turnstiles clicking. The exhibits drawing their attention will come from almost every country in the world.

Exhibition officials figure a record attendance will be set this year, topping the 3,000,000-mark for the 14-day show set in 1950. Last year, the CNE set a financial record, but drew only 2,717,000 persons.

Topping sports events at this year's exhibition will be marathon swims, archery, the world's softball championship, fencing tournaments, power boat, sailing and rowing races, track and field events and water skiing.

A cast of more than 1,000 Canadians will support pianist comedian Victor Borge in the big grandstand show. This part of the exhibition will have a Canadian theme through its many different acts which include the RCMP's famed musical ride.

Continue Talks While Milk Strike Plans Formulated

TORONTO (CP) — Under the threat of a strike, representatives of 1,700 Toronto milk drivers and of 13 distributing dairies will continue negotiating in a dispute over the companies' proposal to cut deliveries from six a week to five by eliminating the one on Wednesdays.

The Toronto local of the Milk Drivers' Union (AFL-TLC) voted 914 to 147 Wednesday night in favor of a strike. It mailed an application Thursday to the Washington head office of its parent body, the AFL Teamsters' Union, for permission to call a strike. It is expected the Washington office may take two or three days to deal with the request.

The Wednesday meeting left it to a committee of shop stewards and union executives to fix a date for a strike.

To Continue Talks

The decision to continue negotiating while arrangements for a possible strike went forward was reached Thursday at a day-long session convened by the Ontario milk board which brought together representatives of the union and of the Toronto Milk Distributors Association.

When the discussions adjourned, both sides agreed to further talks but set no specific date for the next meeting.

The board itself has power to order five-day deliveries or to increase the price of milk, now 22 cents a quart delivered.

Company spokesmen said June records showed the average milk driver received a minimum wage of $51 a week, plus a weekly commission averaging about $10 a week, with time-and-a-half pay if he worked on his regular day off. The drivers are on a five-day week but milk is delivered every day except Sunday.

Increases Offered

The dairies have offered to increase the basic wage $5.50 a week and the commissions by about $5 a week, at the same time guaranteeing that, if the five-day delivery plan is adopted, the weekly wage of the drivers will be held at the June level until at least Dec. 15.

Inside workers, whose present weekly minimum ranges from $51 to $55, depending on the job, plus a night shift premium of $2 a week, have been offered an additional $5.50 a week.

Ont. to Receive Power Bonus Of $50 Million

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario will receive a $50,000,000 bonus on its frequency standardization program when the provincial hydro hooks up with Detroit Edison Company next month. Premier Frost announced Thursday that arrangements are going forward to enable a great exchange of power between Ontario and Michigan in the peak load periods.

Such an exchange would not have been possible without the frequency change from 25 cycles to 60 cycles in southwestern Ontario, he said. As Michigan's peak power load is roughly an hour later than Ontario's, the agreement will enable both to exchange power to meet each other's peaks.

The only cost will be for difference in quantity used by either consumer.

Soviet Diplomats Given Greater Travel Freedom

LONDON (CP)—Britain, France and the United States Thursday relaxed travel restrictions on Soviet diplomats in their countries.

The moves—expected to be taken by other North Atlantic treaty countries—follow similar concessions given by the Russians. The Soviets announced two months ago they were giving more freedom of movement to foreign diplomats and reporters.

In Britain, Soviet diplomats will be allowed to travel within 35 miles of London without informing the foreign office. Previously they were restricted to a 25-mile radius.

Soviet nationals in France now will be able to travel all over the country provided they notify the foreign office a day or two in advance. Previously they were limited to the Paris zone and its suburbs.

Can Visit Resorts

In the U.S., Soviet officials stationed in Washington will be able to visit Chesapeake Bay resorts, where they have leased a number of cottages, without giving notice to the state department. They will still have to give advance notice to the state department whenever they propose to travel more than 25 miles from Washington or New York.

Canada took similar action Wednesday. Members of the Russian embassy staff in Ottawa now may travel 75 miles outside the Canadian capital without permission. Previously they had been restricted to 25 miles. However, for journeys of more than 75 miles the Russians still will have to get government approval.

Americans Fail To Scale Peak

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (CP)—The advance party of the American expedition to K2 — Mount Godwin Austen — the world's second highest mountain, has returned to Skardu after having failed in its attempt to reach the summit, it was learned here today.

The advance party consists of Robert H. Bates of Exeter, N.H., Peter Schoening of Seattle, Wash., and Col. Ata Ullah, a member of the team.

The rest of the expedition including the leader, Dr. Charles Houston, is reported to be moving slowly as some members are suffering from frostbite.

Instead, Indian attention continued to be focused on the disputed Himalayan state of Kashmir.

The press today headlined the UN vote against Indian participation, but there was no further comment.

Glitter Goes Out of Asian Night Life As Tin and Rubber Prices Lower

By WARREN WHITE

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — The glitter is going out of this sophisticated southeast Asian night life centre as Malayan tin and rubber prices fall lower than any time in the last four years under the impact of the Korean armistice.

A look at Singapore's night life has traditionally been as good a rough guide as any to the health of the Malayan economy.

Here, those with money, can buy themselves hours of plush, dinner-jacketed, air-conditioned night club life, with entertainment by Chinese singers, Balinese dancers, Siamese Contortionists and, sometimes, English or Australian song and dance teams.

For the wealthy there is champagne, nightingales' eyes, planked steaks and the best wines of France and Portugal.

The colony's professional hosts and entrepeneurs like to tell the guest: "Name your wish and it shall be fulfilled."

Although the colony angrily denied reports that if one had the right contacts, one could obtain the legendary Malay dish of monkey's brains, most things found in Asian or Europezan capitals are to be had here.

But the money to buy refinements of eating and entertainment now is more difficult to get and expensively - imported entertainers are gloomily playing to half-empty houses.

Singapore night life has been running down since Christmas, when the possibility of a Korean peace began to make itself felt in lower returns for rubber and tin.

The price for rubber here now is about a fourth of what it was when the Korean war was at its first year, and tin prices have dropped to a third in the peak reached during the Korean war.

In the last few months, more than 60 Chinese tin mines have closed down.

Rubber planters now are contemplating "care and maintenance" which will leave large acreages of rubber trees untapped for better days.

CWNA Victimized By Profession Says Speaker

SASKATOON (CP)—A claim that the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association was "victimized" by members of its own profession was made Thursday at the opening session of the CWNA annual convention here.

W. H. Cranston of Midland, Ont., chairman of the association's postal and parliamentary committee, said the CWNA was victimized for its views in press reports dealing with presentation of an association brief before the House of Commons committee on broadcasting.

He said the brief was prepared to draw to the attention of the public through the federal government the fact that radio and television were, in essence, mass communication media of the same basic nature as printed periodicals. The brief said subsidization of one segment of Canada's mass media posed definite problems in a free and democratic country.

Mr. Cranston said first press reports tended to give a one-sided interpretation of the reception accorded the brief. It was noteworthy that a considerable number of editorials appeared- afterward supporting the CWNA position.

His written report also dealt briefly with CWNA efforts to have sales taxes on newsprint withdrawn and to interest government departments in boosting advertising in weekly publications. It added: "Growing tax investment in radio and television is becoming a progressively powerful magnet for government advertising dollars."

William Draayer, Wetaskiwin, Alta., chairman of the radio committee, said he did not think weekly newspapers would feel radio and TV competition so keenly as daily newspapers. National advertising in weeklies was at an all-time high.

Daring Action By Signaller Saves Child's Life

BRISTOL, England (Reuters)—Two-year-old Adrian Grant crawled onto the railroad track near here Thursday two minutes before the Bristol-Cardiff express was due.

In his signal box nearby Colin Lovemore, 34, frantically plugged in to flash a "stop" to the onrushing train.

But the express was already past the red warning light. He dashed out of his tower down the steps three at a time and sprinted 150 yards to where the youngster lay. By then the express was roaring round the curve scant yards away.

Lovemore leaped on the child and fell between the tracks clutching Adrian tightly. He lay motionless while the express thundered over his head at 45 miles an hour.

"It was too close to be comfortable," Lovemore said. "It was touch and go who would get their first, the train or me."

As he carried Adrian back to his signal box, the youngster gurgled "choo-choo."

Britons Will be Able To Buy White Bread

LONDON (Reuters)—Britons will be able to buy white bread again next week for the first time in 11 years.

Government control of the milling industry ends at midnight Saturday and bakers will then be able to use whiter flour in loaves free of price control.

The national association of master bakers, confectioners and caterers said today bakers would be making their first batches of the new bread this week-end.

West Canada's Polio Continues To Mount

EDMONTON (CP) — Western Canada's polio toll continued to mount Thursday and climbed to a record in Manitoba where the paralytic disease has claimed 33 lives.

Ten more iron lungs were flown to Winnipeg Wednesday to help in treatment of the 1,139 polio cases in Manitoba. The provincial fatality count was five more than last year's record and the number of cases well over the 1941 record of 1,011. More than 500 were in Winnipeg.

Latest figures for Saskatchewan showed almost 350 cases and 22 deaths, just about even with 1952 totals for the same time.

Sixteen cases reported Thursday in Alberta raised the total cases to 317 with 14 confirmed deaths. Following an order-in-council delaying school opening to Sept. 14, the provincial health department banned children 16 and under from Sunday Schools, universities and business colleges.

Western Canada Creameries Win Butter Contest

TORONTO (CP)—Western Canada creameries dominated butter competitions at the Canadian National Exhibition again this year.

It was announced Thursday night on the eve of the opening of the big fair, that the silver trophy has been won by the Notre Dame Creamery, of Notre Dame de Lourdes, Man.

Other winners were the North Alberta Dairy Pool from Onaway, Alta., and Holden, Alta.; Maple Leaf Creamery, Lunden, Man., and the Hibbert Co-Operative Creamery, Staffa, Ont.

In the exhibits of prize Canadian cheddar cheese T. S. Aicken of Belton, Ont., a consistent winner during recent years at the CNE, won the silver trophy for the highest scoring cheese on show. Of eight sections featuring cheeses made during different months of the year, Aicken won first prize in six. Close competition was provided by cheeses manufactured by David Dean, Delta, Louis Patience, Lambeth, and Cecil Pack, Tweed, Ont.

Experience gained from past years contributed to one of the finest exhibits of eggs at the exhibition, according to judges. Winner of the most points was S. S. Johnson, Brantford. The sweepstake prize was won by Carl Marklevitz, Chesley.

Eternal City Pounded By Blinding Rain

ROME (Reuters)—Blinding rain pounded the Eternal City Thursday flooding low-lying sections, breaching the ancient wall of Vatican City and killing two persons.

The cloudburst lasted two hours. When the sun came out 1,000 families were homeless and 50 persons were injured. The two dead were killed by falling masonry.

A 100-foot section of the towering "Leonine Wall" crashed, taking with it part of the gardens where the Pope takes his daily constitutional.

Rome's 2,000-year-old drains—for which citizens pay a special sewer tax—could not cope with the water swirling down from the seven hills on which the city stands. Even the main "Cloaca Maxima" was clogged with debris. Cellars and first floors were flooded, mud plastered everywhere, thousands of ancient paving stones torn up.

Terror Campaign In Kenya May Be Near End

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters—A letter from a Mau Mau leader to a newspaper here Thursday indicates the native terrorist campaign may have reached an end.

Dedan Kimathi says in a letter published in the Swahili-language newspaper Habara Za Dunia:

"In order to bring back peace and to make a new Kenya I have instructed all war leaders in the forest not to fight again after August, 1953."

It was learned that the letter, dated Aug. 14, is similar to one sent to governor Sir Evelyn Baring recently offering surrender on certain terms. The Kenya government and security forces last week issued surrender terms to the Mau Mau in leaflets dropped by air over the forests.

The Mau Mau were told they could safely come out of the bush during daylight waving green branches as a sign. Murderers will still face the gallows, but harsh penalties for such offences as carrying arms and consorting with the Mau Mau will not be applied.

TO IMPROVE FARMS

VIENNA (AP)—Romania's Red bosses have decided to invest 6,000,000,000 lei ($535,714,000) in their country's deteriorating agriculture over the next two years and to grant "favors" to spur the farmers. Radio Bucharest said Thursday the measure was taken when the central committee of the Romanian Workers (Communist) party found that "agriculture has been lagging strongly behind the industrialization of the country."

Weddings

BERRY—ERB

A wedding of interest was solemnized at Fuller's Grove, Sebringville, on Saturday, August 1, at 2:00 p.m., by the Rev. D. A. Loveday, pastor of Central Baptist Church, Brantford, before a lovely background of tall standards of white gladioli and snapdragons, when Kathleen Erb, of Stratford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Erb, of R.R. 3, Stratford, became the bride of Ernest Berry, of Woodstock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Berry, of Belleville.

Mrs. Alice Mannell rendered the traditional wedding music. During the signing of the register, the bride's brother, Mr. Harold Erb, sang "O Promise Me".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a nylon net and lace gown in ballerina length and fashioned with molded bodice featuring a halter neckline, with matching lace bolero with Peter Pan collar and long, sheath-like sleeves. Her silk veil of tulle illusion was caught to a pearl encrusted coronet, and she carried a cascade bouquet of Rapture roses.

Mrs. William Hoggarth, the bride's sister, was her only attendant, wearing turquoise nylon sheer in ballerina length, with matching headdress and gloves. She carried a bouquet of Queen Elizabeth roses.

Mr. Randall Berry, of Belleville, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Fuller's Grove. Summer flowers decorated the bridal and guest tables. The bride's mother received, gowned attractively in mulberry crepe with corsage of Queen Elizabeth roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who chose a navy sheer with corsage of Rapture roses.

For the wedding trip to Muskoka, the bride donned a honey colored imported Swiss bengaline dress, with matching hat, shorty coat and red accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Berry will reside in Woodstock.

Guests were present from Ottawa, Belleville, Woodstock and Stratford, Ontario.

Peggy Lawrence Well Qualified To Teach Flying

MONTREAL (CP)—Peggy Lawrence of Montreal is the only woman flying instructor in Quebec province.

The unusual angle is that Miss Lawrence, now 20, had never been in a plane until she took her first lesson in flying when she was 17.

With more than 300 hours aloft, she has had her instructor's licence for two months. Last year, she qualified at the Laurentide Flying School for a commercial licence.

Now a part-time instructor, Miss Lawrence worked as a grease monkey and dispatcher to pay for her year's instruction and flies regularly three nights a week and during week-ends.

Although qualified to handle a big air freighter, passenger plane or pupil, she never had a car driver's licence.

The daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Lawrence, she hopes that one day airline companies will show no hesitation in hiring girl pilots. She's "never really wanted to do anything but fly."

Is she a good pilot? Well, this is how Jack Scholefield, president of the flying school, described it:

"We wondered at first if her 105 pounds could handle a 200-pound pupil who maybe wouldn't let go of the stick. But she has had no trouble at all and the chaps have complete confidence in her ability after the first lesson."

DOUBLE-HEAT WINNER

WOODSTOCK, Ont. (CP)—Peter Direct L won two straight heats in the second race to highlight the racing program at the Woodstock Annual Fair here Thursday.

Owned and driven by C. Longboat, Oshwegan, he was easily the best in the 2.24 trot or pace with times of 2:15 and 2:14 1-5. Sylvia Lee of the Gardiner Stables, Goderich, was second in both heats.

BUSY MAYOR

HALIFAX (CP)—Citizens remarked "a mayor's work is never done" after mayor Richard Donahue in one night addressed a group of touring high school boys from Toronto, tossed out the first ball under lights at a sports field and then presided over a council meeting at city hall.

Mrs. J. W. Adams New President Federated W.I.

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. J. W. Adams of Ethelton, Sask., Thursday was elected president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada at closing sessions of the 18th biennial conference. She succeeds Mrs. Hugh Summers of Fonthill.

Only woman member on a six-member royal commission appointed by the Saskatchewan government to study agriculture and rural life, Mrs. Adams heads several working committees, including those on education, recreation, health and the rural home.

Other new officers are: first vice-president, Mrs. John Rose of Ochre River, Man., and second vice-president, Mrs. P. Thomas of Woodstock, N.B.

Resolutions passed by the FWIC Thursday included an amendment of the Election Act to include all delegates attending national or international conventions on the list of persons permitted an advance poll, and also the appointment of more women to the Senate.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

LETTERS AND ANSWERS

What Kind of Man Is This Anyhow?

Dear Miss Fairfax;

I am a young man of 24, and have been engaged for two years to a girl a year my junior. I have tried many times to get her to make definite plans for our wedding, but she has kept putting me off, saying we haven't enough money to live on as we should.

The other night she told me she had now decided the time had come for us to set a date for our marriage. I was surprised at her sudden change of heart and asked her what brought it about. Then she told me she was pregnant.

The trouble now is that I am not sure I am responsible, and I hesitate to marry her with this doubt in my mind. Tom S.

Dear Tom:

What makes you so doubtful of your responsibility in this matter, since the obvious implication is that you might very well be the father of this coming child? Have you reason to believe your fiance has been carrying on affairs with other boys all the time she has been doing the same thing with you. Or are you one of those noble males who, having succeeded in seducing a girl, at once puts her down as the promiscuous type and is forever after suspicious of her?

I rather suspect that your own desire to marry this girl has cooled off considerably since you heard this news and that you are grasping at the hope that another might be involved as a way out for yourself. If you really loved her, you would hardly be considering ducking out at such a time.

It's bad business to marry a girl with doubt in your mind, I certainly agree. But it seems to me even worse to walk out on a situation when there seems to be good chance it was brought about by yourself. Why not be man enough to give this girl the benefit of that doubt?

She Chased Him—Now Can't Get Rid Of Him

Dear Miss Fairfax:

For the past year, I have to admit that I openly chased a fellow I liked and that it was an awful mistake. He knew I liked him, and so he took every opportunity to act superior in front of our friends. Sometimes he was even rude and nasty.

Now I have lost all feeling for him, and wish him to know it. I have tried snubbing him, but he thinks it's only an act to get him interested. That being the last thing I want now, please tell me how I can put him in his place. He is 22 and I am 20

Mollie T.

Dear Mollie:

The only thing for you to do is to ignore this chap completely. If you let him think that what he says or does matters enough to you to make you annoyed, he'll probably keep right on doing it to get a rise out of you.

Outsmart him by paying absolutely no attention. If you simply act as though he didn't exist, he'll soon stop getting any fun out of trying to bait you.

Readers' Friday Column

By Mary Moore

Question:

Have you a recipe book with your recipes that I could buy from you? It would save the trouble of cutting out of the newspaper. I have received much help from your column. So here's wishing you the best luck in the world, and hoping you may be spared to live for years to keep up the good work.—Vera R.

Answer:

Amen to that hope, and thanks for the ardent good wishes. I have to shamefacedly admit I do not have the kind of cookbook you want. I have never had the time to get it together. Maybe some year. . . Let me help you whenever I can through this column.

Question:

Would you please be so kind as to send the recipe for Yorkshire Pudding which you make . . . my mother used to make it but I have forgotten the amount of ingredients.—Miss F. D.

Answer:

Yorkshire Pudding

Beat 3 eggs and when foamy add 1 cup unsifted flour, 1-2 teaspoon each salt and baking powder, then gradually add 2 cups milk that is not cold, beating the batter until perfectly smooth. Let this stand 1 hour covered, if you have time. Pour into hot roasting pan which contains at least 3 tablespoons hot drippings from roast. It may be poured around the roast if desired. Being of English origin we always pour the pudding around the roast, but if you do this, since the temperature has to be higher for the pudding than the meat, you must gauge your meat-roasting timing to look after this or the meat will be overdone. This is a major oversight in our house for we like our meat roasted rare at centre. Raise temperature of oven to 425 to cook the Yorkshire pudding, until it is all puffed up and tinged with gold—about 20 to 25 minutes.

Question:

I am enclosing a calorie chart that I received today. Sometime when you are sitting down resting (your hands and face as my mother used to say) compare a few of the calories with your chart. I was always of the impression that the same kind of food had the same calories no matter where it was grown. Although I have a brother-in-law who lives in the States and he's always bragging of things over there being so much bigger and better so maybe that is the answer! The gelatin flavored in your chart is 180. In the enclosed chart it is 324. I've been eating jello thinking I was sparing calories. Also cottage cheese. I have it on my salads every day but according to the chart I have not been saving anything. Is it right that 1-2 cup apple sauce with no sugar has 50 calories. I eat it by the carload. . . .Could you help me out on a little problem. I don't like bread in any way and seldom eat it. The doctor said to try Melba toast. I must confess I don't know how to make it. I guess I'm about as stupid as the gal that wanted to know if you greased the pie tin before you made a pie. . . .tell me how many calories in a small bran muffin. . . the best of luck to you and your wonderful family.—Peggy.

Answer:

Thanks for a good chuckle Peggy. I have American relatives too but I don't think their bragging can raise the energy-potential of a calorie! Let's take the calorie value of foods you mention in order. My chart says "packaged jellies, 8 oz. 180 cal." All my values are given for foods ready-to-eat. The 324 cal. amount in the chart you sent me is for the contents of the package. The high calorie count is provided by the sugar content. There is a misprint on my chart for cottage cheese—second figure is correct for 1-2 cup—110 cal. One-half cup unsweetened applesauce has 50 cal. Melba toast is very simple to make. Cut stale white bread in very thin slices, and if desired, in fancy shapes. Place on tin sheet and bake at 325 deg. Fahr. until completely dry and crisp and very delicately brown. One 2 1-2-inch bran muffin has 90 cal.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. BEECKMAN

It Can Make A Friend Unhappy

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please settle our discussion. The other day my husband and I went to call on a couple who had just moved into their new house. They invited us to "drop in for a drink" on a certain afternoon at five-thirty. I am Spanish, and we were brought up to follow the Spanish custom of always taking some kind of gift with us when we went to a house for the first time. So I took with me to the hosts six little cocktail napkins, sheer white linen with a small and interesting decoration in one corner. They were really lovely and, I might add, not inexpensive.

When we entered I handed the package to the hostess, and said, "I hope you will like these." She took the package, said a most enthusiastic "Thank you," put the package aside, didn't open it, and has never written to thank me. My husband (we were recently married) insists that the hostess didn't need to do anything else but thank me as she did. But I'm furious, for I think that she should either have opened the package and thanked me then and there for my nice gift, or should have written me a thank-you note. What do you think?

Graziella

I'd be as disappointed and hurt as you are, Graziella. As a matter of fact, a similar thing happened to me a year or so ago, and, perhaps I should be ashamed to admit it, but it has left a shadow. I too have been brought up in your tradition of always taking a gift when I go the home of a friend for the first time. In my package I took two lovely embroidered organdy place mats, and my husband (also brought up in the tradition you mention) took a gaily-wrapped box of another two, matching mine. Our hearts were high as we handed them to the hostess, who, like your hostess, expressed enthusiastic thanks, but put them down on a table unopened, and we didn't hear from her further. Like you I just can't understand such an unattractive and unconcerned lack of appreciation for the kindness and thoughtfulness of a friend. What a quality . . . the art of appreciation.

Woman Doctor Sometimes Uses Two Forms Of Name

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

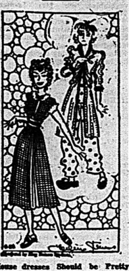
For several years I have had a woman doctor (and wonderful she is!). She is married to a man who is not a doctor. Until lately I have never had any social contact with her, but this week she wrote me a thank-you note for a "greateful patient" gift I had sent her. She wrote this note on a very handsome large folded-over card, and on the front page was engraved this/form (I am not using the real name): "Mrs. Philip Robinson," with her home address engraved in the lower right corner. (Her professional name is "Dr. Mary Robinson.") Is it really correct for a woman doctor to use socially her husband's name prefixed with "Mrs." rather than her husband's name perfixed with "Dr. Mary"?

Reader

In her social life a woman physician may correctly be Mrs. Philip Robinson, if this is her preference. And very often a woman physician chooses to use her social name in her social life . . . Mrs. Philip Robinson, for example . . . and her professional name in her professional life . . . Dr. Mary Robinson, for example. Indeed quite often a woman doctor who began her professional life with her maiden name, Dr. Mary Foster, let's say retains that name professionally after her marriage, but socially uses her husband's name with "Mrs." . . . for example, Mrs. Henry Allen.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON



House dresses Should be Pretty Everyday Beauty Chores

Demon housekeepers who look after everything and everybody except themselves should pause and give thought. The mistress of the home should be its chief ornament. The kids are proud when Mama looks pretty. So why neglect oneself and pass up all the opportunities for retaining youthful attractiveness? It's unfair to the family.

Many misguided women polish the silver until it shines but fail to put the dull finish on their noses. They scrub and scour but let dust collect on their "crowning glory."

The conscientious, methodical, hard-working boss of the home has a noble occupation and it is right that she should take pride in her achievements. But no woman should drive herself to such an extent that she gets frowns between her eyes and shadows under them just becuase she's always worn to a frazzle, and too tired to smile. Better a little dust under the bed than Mama on it with the family doctor summoned to put her on her feet again.

If a woman is going to do well by herself, she should have a leisurely bath every day, soaking her tired muscles until energy is renewed. A warm bath has wonderful pick-up qualities. An alternating hot and cold shower will speed up sluggish blood streams and a brisk rub down with a bath oil is refreshing.

The hour when baby has his nap, is a good one for the bath. A rest period should follow and if one can catch forty winks that is just dandy.

Mrs. Home-body should have pretty house dresses because a pleasing appearance has much to do with a woman's outlook on life. She should not trail around in slipshod shoes that may bring on countless foot ills. Her feet should be encased in oxfords with flexible leather soles and tops that will afford ease of movement.

No matter how tired she is at bedtime she must make an effort to preserve her complexion. That can be done by applying a nourishing cream, tapping it into flesh until the skin surface glows. She can give the creamy leavings to her hands which always need lubrication since constant use of soap and water removes the natural oil.

GETS TAFT'S PAPERS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Papers of the late senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, more than 200,000 items, are being deposited with the Library of Congress, it was announced Wednesday. The library said they will be made public at a time set by the Taft family. The library called the papers an acquisition of "the first importance" and said they were a "deposit," not a gift.

VALUABLE COIN

VICTORIA (CP) — A $10 gold piece minted in New Westminster in 1882, estimated to be worth upwarts of $1,000 as a collector's item, was presented to the provincial archives by Dr. J. D. Hunter, former legislature member and Victoria alderman.

Sunday School Lesson:

Religion of Clear Thinking

By ROY L. SMITH

The responsibility for thinking clearly is as religious as the responsibility for conducting one's self honorably. Good religion can never place its stamp of approval on shoddy thinking any more than it can lend sanction to wavering morals.

It is utterly false to say, "It makes no difference what a man believes, so long as he is honest in his beliefs." The thing that any man believes—his inner convictions—makes him what he is. If he believes incorrectly, he can be trusted to act wrongly; if he believes correctly, he can be relied upon to live correctly.

With All Thy Mind

Jesus laid His approval on the old Jewish law that one should love the Lord with all his strength, his soul, and his heart. And He added one other thing—"with all thy mind." This clearly implies the responsibility for careful, logical, orderly, and deep thinking.

It is a widespread error which teaches that if one has experienced an emotional upheaval he has thereby become a Christian. Perhaps the transition from a godless to a godly life is a great emotional experience, but following the conversion, the converted man must set out immediately to think carefully about the implications of his new way of life. This will call for his best mental effort for the rest of his days.

Religious Reading

The Apostle Paul would probably have insisted that every young preacher maintain a definite program of careful study. We know that he himself carried a stock of books with him on his journeys, and they were no small burden, written as they were on great vellum rolls. Every great religious leader and teacher who has ever changed the current of the world's religious life has been a great reader. No man of Martin Luther's day had read more widely or more carefully, than the little Wittenberg monk.

> The Uniform Sunday School Lesson for August 30; "Standards for Christian leaders," I Timothy 3:1-13; 4:6-16; 5:21-22; II Timothy 3:14-17.

No Christian home is complete without a reading table, and no Christian reading table is complete without religious books and publications. It must be a little difficult for any man to pray the blessing of God upon a home in which there is no religious literature—only daily papers and entertainment reading.

Religious Exhortation

An observant Chinese once said, "Christianity is a very talky religion." He had noticed that a large part of any Christian service consisted of preaching, talking, exhorting, and noise, with little time left for meditation, introspection, self-examination, and "inviting one's soul."

The best exhortation is that which emerges from a personal conversation with one's self in which we tell ourselves the truth. In all too many instances it consists of nothing better than a frantic effort to arouse the enthusiasm of others for something in which we are personally interested. The Apostle Paul speaks very solemnly about the responsibility of the exhorter.

Religious Teaching

One of the most disheartening reports to come back from the armed services tells us that the young men who arrive in the army have not been taught the great fundamentals of their faith. This is particularly true of Protestant boys.

Any person undertaking to teach youth the basics of belief must be prepared to spend countless hours in the most careful study. A good Sunday school lesson cannot be prepared late Saturday night by hurriedly glancing through some sketchy comment, even though the commentator be a very learned person. Guiding young people into a great faith is worthy of the utmost effort on the part of the devoted person.

MADOC

Luncheon Tendered A.C.W.W. Delegates

MADOC.—Over 80 of the delegates who had been attending the A.C.W.W. conference in Toronto and who were making a tour of Eastern Ontario, were tendered a luncheon in Trinity United Church schoolrooms, in Madoc, on Tuesday by the Women's Institute members of the branches of the district of North Hastings.

On arrival from Ottawa, the guests were most graciously welcomed by Mrs. Horsepool, district president; Mrs. Barnum, district secretary; Mrs. E. Irwin, area representative of the F.W.I., Mrs. D. Kernahan, president of Madoc branch and four of Madoc's oldest W.I. members, Mrs. A. Bronson, Mrs. Walter Whytock, Mrs. James Kincaid and Mrs. Charles Whytock. Piper Carl Linn, of Petherwick's Corners, a member of Havelock's Pipe Band, was on hand and added much to the reception by the skirl of his pipes as the delegates arrived.

Greetings

During the luncheon hour, a short program was carried out. District president, Mrs. Horsepool, took charge. George West, a former reeve of Madoc village, in the absence of Warden Jack Kincaid, brought greetings to the ladies from the village of Madoc. Mrs. E. Irwin extended greetings to the delegates from the W.I. members of the district. Mrs. Ulla Schulman, of Rutiumaki, Finland, responded, speaking of the wonderful reception the delgates to A.C.W.W. conference had received in Canada, and how much the women of the world could do toward world peace.

Rev. M. W. Heslip brought a welcome message from the clergy and friends, and outlining the mineral developments in and around Madoc district.

Piper Carl Linn gave two musical selections; Miss Anne Nickle, two vocal solos, "Bless This House" and "Danny Boy", accompanied by Stanley Hawthorne who also gave several piano selections during the luncheon.

The hall was beautifully decorated with seasonable flowers and maple leaves.

Among the delegates present were those from Norway, Sweden, Finland, Ireland, England, South Australia, Southern Rhodesia, Africa, Kenya Colony Africa, Cape Town, Africa, Durban, Natal, South Africa; Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and several States in the United States.

This convention will be long remembered by those who attended.

Teachers Ineffective Outside of Profession

TORONTO (CP)—The teacher is less effective outside his profession than many others in professions or in business, Dr. R. C. Wallace, special adviser to the Ontario department of education, and former principal of Queen's University, said Wednesday night.

Addressing delegates at the 35th annual dinner of the Federation of Women Teachers' Associations of Ontario, he said one reason is that teachers work with young persons who do not count in larger affairs and another is that they talk too much shop and associate with others who talk the same kind of shop.

"That is not the way to count in the community," he said.

Stubborn Bargaining Delays Pact on U.S. Bases in Spain

By CARL HARTMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stubborn bargaining between the United States and Generalissimo Franco's Spain appeared today to be still holding up full agreement after nearly 18 months of talks on obtaining use of Spanish bases in return for U.S. aid.

Among the issues remaining, authoritative sources say, are control of Spanish base facilities and the way in which U.S. aid funds would be used in strengthening them.

Maj.-Gen. August Kissner of the U.S. Air Force, head of the negotiation mission to Madrid, is back in Washington this week reporting on progress.

He has not been available to reporters.

Three Main Pacts

Despite the secrecy prevailing since the start of negotiations, it has become known that arrangements tentatively agreed on follow these lines:

There would be three main pacts—one on economic aid, another on military aid and the third on the use by the United States of Spanish bases.

The agreement on the bases is expected to give the U.S. Air Force use of the Barajas airport at Madrid and several others, probably including those at Barcelona and Seville. The U.S. Navy has been seeking the use of bases at Cartagena in the Mediterranean, Cadiz near the Straits of Gibraltar and El Ferrol near the northwest tip of Spain.

Still Spanish Property

It is understood that the bases would continue to be Spanish property, as U.S. bases in Morocco continue to be French-owned, but the extent of U.S. control is still being discussed.

The military aid pact would provide for spending about $132,000,000 on modernizing Spain's out-of-date military equipment. Some Spanish tanks and planes still in use were sent by Germany and Italy between 1936 and 1939 to help Franco's forces overcome the Spanish Republicans. Other equipment was originally sent to the Republican forces by Russia and France, and captured by Franco's Nationalists.

Railroads, roads and other communications are among Spain's chief needs, in U.S. eyes, if it is to become a strong ally. These are the items on which the United States wants aid money specified in the tentative agreements to be spent.

Guest Drinks In Vets' Club To be Restricted

TORONTO (CP)—Guest drinks in veterans' clubs are to be restricted Judge W. T. Robb, chairman of the Ontario liquor licence board, announced Thursday.

He said a survey has shown that many clubs have many guests as habitues. From now on, the board wants every club to limit guests to one a member a month, with no guest admitted more than 12 times a year.

Judge Robb said these clubs get special privilege and do not pay gallonage taxes. Therefore, he felt it unfair for them to be, in effect, in direct competition with beverage rooms.

However, no one was injured in the spectacular fire, the cause of which is yet unknown. About a dozen men were working in the building when the fire broke out. King James Never Reckoned Son Would Give Colony Away

By KINGSLEY BROWN Jr.
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX (CP) — When King James I began selling knighthoods to finance a Scottish colony in the New World he never reckoned his son would give the colony to the French to help pay his wife's dowry.

But Nova Scotia, the Scottish colony, didn't do badly in the transaction. She got her name, her flag and coat-of-arms. Today there are more than 100 Nova Scotia baronets in Scotland with titles but no lands.

The province, after 324 years, unveiled a monument Wednesday at the site of a fort occupied for three years by the colonists on the shores of Annapolis Basin near Champlain's razed Port Royal.

It commemorates the settlers and Sir William Alexander, who masterminded this historic but abortive attempt at early Scottish colonization from the court of King James.

Premier Unveils Stone

Premier Macdonald, a Scot himself whose clan settled about a century later in rugged Cape Breton and established a Scottish stronghold, unveiled the stone with the bronze plaque.

Alexander, later Earl of Stirling, suggested to the king that he establish a Scottish colony, in emulation of England, Holland and France.

James granted the Scottish nobleman the territory between New England and Newfoundland.

To finance the venture, Sir William advised James to sell honors of knight-baronet to worthy Scots with 3,000 marks on their hands or who were willing to outfit a number of colonists.

The first two expeditions, in 1622-23, were failures.

Annexed Nova Scotia

When James died in 1625 his son, Charles, annexed Nova Scotia, or New Scotland, to Scotland. A coat-of-arms was issued for the baronets and a flag for the colony.

Alexander sent his son, named after him, on the third and successful expedition in 1628. The settlers carried on a fur trade with the Micmac Indians and tilled the soil for three years, until they learned that Nova Scotia was not theirs, but belonged to France.

Charles sold Alexander down the river by restoring the territory to France to help pay the 400,000-crown dowry of his wife, Henrietta Maria.

Roslin. Twenty-nine people were present.

Mrs. Lillian Curl and Miss Winnifred Eckardt were dinner guests on Wednesday of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brown, Palace Road. In the afternoon they attended the funeral of the late Mrs. James McCormick, an aunt of Mrs. Curl's, at Switzerville.

Sympathy is extended to the relatives of the late, Hilton Fuller, Sault Ste. Marie, who died suddenly.

Say Torture by Communists Continued Right to Truce But Behind Closed Doors

By STAN CARTER

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Returning American prisoners today accused the Communists of continuing brutality and torture right up to the armistice—but behind closed doors where they could be seen.

Of 144 exuberant Americans freed from Red prison camps today, many were captured in the first few weeks of the war. Some said they had been beaten and tortured almost until the truce July 27.

The Communists also turned over four Britons, two South Africans and 250 South Korean prisoners.

The Americans were laughing and happy. They seemed to be the most jubilant group of prisoners to return so far in the 24 days of Operation Big Switch.

The Communists promised to return 145 more Americans, three Turks, two Australians and 250 South Koreans Saturday.

Today's delivery brought the number of Allies returned to 9,819 of the 12,776 the Reds said they held.

Tell Of Death March

Some Americans returned today told of an infamous North Korean death march early in the war when a French nun was dragged through streets of a town and then shot. Pte. Reuben K. Kimball Jr. of Baytown, Tex., said he watched the bitter spectacle. He said he saw the Reds kill 30 American prisoners, all but 13 of them wounded men.

The co-pilot of a U.S. B29 shot down in November, 1950, said he was taken to Manchuria for six days with three other survivors for questioning.

The flier, Capt. Billy B. Foshee, 28, of Bowling Green, Ky., said more than 200 air force officers held at his prison camp, No. 2, are now at the Red exchange grouping point of Kaesong, awaiting repatriation.

Commission Meets

As the last of the day's prisoners were being exchanged, the joint military armistice commission met at Panmunjom.

Maj.-Gen. Blackshear M. Bryan, chief UN delegate, asked that Indian troops who will guard prisoners unwilling to return home be granted the right of movement into and out of the neutral zone. The Communists agreed.

An advance Indian unit moved into the demilitarized area today. It was a medical group which has been in Korea almost three years.

The main body of Indian troops, about 5,000 in enroute to Korea aboard troopships and is expected to move into the demilitarized zone about Sept. 7.

Will Fly In

Bryan said the Indians may arrive at Panmunjom by helicopter, circumventing South Korean objections to landing on South Korean soil. A spokesman said they would be transferred from their ships to an aircraft carrier and flown in from there.

Bryan also acknowledged three Red complaints of violation of the demilitarized zone — unauthorized flights by Allied aircraft—but he said it was just a case of one plane being seen three times.

The Reds had charged 12 violations, but Bryan said he would disregard the others unless the Communists supply better information.

Roland Genest Pays Penalty On Gallows

MONTREAL (CP) — Roland Genest, 27, of Montreal, was hanged early today for the Feb. 18 slaying of his young girl friend, 23-year-old Marie-Paul Langlais.

The self-confessed murderer mounted the scaffold at 1:05 a.m. EDT, and the trap was sprung two minutes later. He was pronounced dead and cut down at 1:20 a.m.

Shortly after midnight, Genest was taken from his cell in death row, given a last meal and then taken to the jail's chapel to hear mass. He took holy communion and last rites of the Roman Catholic church were administered by Rev. R. Jeanette, jail chaplain.

Genest also admitted at his trial that he was instrumental in the slaying of his wife Rita in 1951. Genest said in a statement to Quebec provincial police when he was arrested that Miss Langlais had bludgeoned his wife to death with an iron bar at his instigation.

The nude body of Miss Langlais, badly beaten, was found Feb. 19 on a lonely section of Ile Bizard.

At his trial, Genest admitted clubbing Miss Langlais over the head with a baseball bat in his garage. He said she had provoked the attack by calling him names during an argument.

Canadians Tour Shopping Area Before Departure

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TOKYO (CP(—Eleven beaming Canadian soldiers, newly released from Communist prisoner of war camps, toured Tokyo's Ginza shopping district today, collecting gifts to take home.

The 11, who reached freedom last Saturday along with other Allied prisoners released under the Korean truce terms, were headed by 2nd Lieut. Gordon Owen of Vancouver. The others were Ptes. Joseph Allain of Kent county, N. B.; Joseph Bellefeuille of Hull, Que.; Elmer McInnis of Little Bras d'Or, N. S.; Eugene Fields of Windsor, Ont.; Donald Watson of Toronto; Bernard Jewer of New Waterford, N. S.; George Griffiths of Brighton, Ont.; Ken Dawe of Grand Bend, Ont.; James Cranston of Hamilton and Don Orson of Ridgetown, Ont.

Shipping Strike Is Certainty As Heads of Four Companies Say They Will 'Sit It Out'

MONTREAL (CP) — A strike which could tie up 99 per cent of Canada's inland shipping loomed as a certainty today.

Shipping company officials, who met in Montreal Thursday, said they were ready to "sit out" any strike which may be called by the Seafarers' International Union.

The companies said the union had "chosen a good time for us for the strike" They said little cargo was moving at the moment and it would be likely steamship companies would choose to tie up their vessels sooner than give way.

Earlier, orders for a strike vote went out to 6,500 members of the SIU. The order for the coast-to-coast vote, to start at 11 a.m. Monday, followed the union's rejection of conciliation board reports on its disagreement with four companies operating some 300 inland and deep-sea ships.

Want 40-Hour Week

Main point of argument between the union and the companies is the SIU demand for a 40-hour week. The men now work a 56-hour week.

The effect of the strike could spread to other ships and this belief was strengthened with word that Harry Kundeberg, SIU president at San Francisco, has promised support to Canadian seamen by 90,000 SIU members in the United States.

The four Canadian companies concerned are Canada Steamship Lines, the Upper Lakes and St. Lawrence Steamships Company, N. M. Paterson and Sons and Colonial Steamships.

Company Officials Meet

The officials of the four held their annual meeting Thursday. They said they did not discuss the strike. After the meeting T. R. McLagan, president of the CSL, and other key men of the industry, left for Quebec aboard the St. Lawrence, a CSL vessel. One CSL spokesman said further discussion would be held en route downriver.

The majority reports of the conciliation board which were conveyed to the SIU and the companies last Monday did not meet the union's principal demand for immediate establishment of a 40-hour week with overtime rates of pay for Saturday and Sunday work.

Application of the 40-hour week within the next year, but with Saturday and Sunday remaining part of the regular work schedules was proposed in the board's majority findings.

A labor department official at Ottawa said Thursday it was "too early" to forecast possible moves by the government which in 1946 seized Canadian ships made idle by a strike of 5,000 seamen.

The principal concessions are in the income tax field and these are estimated to mean a reduction of about eight per cent in the case of a married man earning £1,000 a year.

Children of Anglican Diocese Get Holidays at Camp Hyanto

For the past eight weeks children from all over the Diocese of Ontario, which embraces the counties of Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox and Addington, Frontenac, Leeds and Grenville, have been gathering for their annual visit to Camp Hyanto, at Lyndhurst, operated by the Anglican Diocese of Ontario.

Early in July the Girls' Auxiliary Camp, directed by Mrs. G. A. Platt of Kingston, saw nearly 60 girls gather, and on July 8th, Boys Choristers from churches all over the diocese met for a week in intensive choral training under the direction of Geo. N. Maybee, organist of St. George's Cathedral, Kingston. Since July 18th, junior children from 9 to 13 years have arrived in large numbers and at the close of the junior camps on Aug. 24th nearly 300 children had enjoyed a pleasant week on the shores of Lyndhurst Lake. These junior camps have been under the direction of Miss Florence Fitzgerald of Belleville.

Swim Tests

A happy feature on the Aug. 19th to 24th Camp, when 55 children were present, was the visit of the Red Cross representative, J. S. McManus of Kingston, who supervised the swimming tests of campers who had been receiving instruction in water craft under the tutorship of Mrs. Hed Poston of Kingston.

The following campers were successful in obtaining Red Cross badges—Junior Swimmers, Margaret Sisson, Sylvia Russell, Sherry Lockhead, Marylin Weatherall, Diane Allison, Annette Oxford, Susan Woolnough, Sharon Foster, Judy Rose, David Tarsey, Robin Murray, John Smith, Jimmie Barber, and Tommy Mathews; Intermediate Swimmers—Pamela Skillicorn, Joan Bull, Joy Westbrook, Geo. Helsey, Bill Jenkins, Peter Shaver, Jimmie Toshack, Ted Norsmile, Joan Helsey, Wanda Ralph, Judith Cain, Ruth Carleton, and Susan Shaver; Senior Swimmers, Mary Stanton, Jacqueline Taylor, Carol Craven, Robert Taylor, John McEachern, Dick Knuth, Garry Dewar, Dennis Hibbett and Winnifred Baker. Beginners: Karen Slindall, Carol Foster, John Newton, Carl Young, Charlotte Pearson, Janet Jenkins, Cherry Lockhead.

Planned Program

Camp Hyanto has now been in operation eight years. It is a non-profit camp with all members of the staff, with the exception of the cooks, gladly giving their time without remuneration in order that children from all parishes in the Diocese of Ontario may enjoy a wholesome holiday away from home. Here in camp boys from Trenton meet with boys from Grenville County, city dwellers join in fellowship and play with rural children. All this makes for better understanding in the formative years of life.

Activities in camp are carefully planned and a typical day runs like this: 7.30 a.m., rise and shine; 8 a.m., flag raising and morning prayers; 8.30 a.m., breakfast; 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. camp clean up, bed making, etc.; 10 a.m. to 12 noon, swimming and handicrafts; 12.30 p.m. lunch; 1 p.m. to 2.30 p.m. rest and letter writing; 2.30 p.m. to 4 p.m., swimming; 4 p.m. canteen; 4.30 p.m., short Bible study; 5.15 p.m., supper bell; 6.30 p.m. sports; 7.45 p.m., camp fire; 8.45 p.m. flag lowering and evening prayers, followed by hot cocoa and then off to bed.

Definite Part

It is fully recognized that summer camp activities now have a real place in the training of youngsters and camp Hyanto on the shores of Lyndhurst Lake is filling a place in this work in Eastern Ontario.

The camp itself receives a high rating from the Dept. of Health and from the Ontario Government camp inspector.

Already plans are being made for the 1954 camping periods and further improvements to the camp facilities are under consideration. Being a non-profit camp, the committee is always glad to hear from persons who are willing to assist in the work or contribute to its upkeep. The Rev. Canon J. B. Creeggan of Belleville is the chairman of the camp committee and the Ven. N. R. Stout of Gananoque is camp manager.

"Hyanto" means "He who sleeps beneath the pines, sleeps well." Before the summer is over about 300 children and young people will have had this pleasant experience.

Cows to Blame For Contaminating Water Is Claimed

QUEBEC (CP)—Some of the reasons Quebecers complain about the queer taste of city drinking water were discussed by city council Tuesday.

One alderman complained that youngsters swam in Lake St. Charles, from which the city draws its supply.

"There's worse," said another alderman, "cows from the surrounding farms waddle in the lake near the city's water intake."

"And," he added, "the cows don't wear trunks."

Month for Each Chime

HAMILTON (CP)—An old clock chimed in court Wednesday.

That's how Edward Curry, 50, got six months.

Magistrate Beamer Hopkins was hearing the case, in which Curry was charged with stealing the clock, when the chimes started. Said the magistrate:

"I think it chimed six times. The sentence will be six months."

Soldier Confesses Slaying State Official

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A soldier absent without leave today admitted he shot and killed the assistant director of the Ohio industrial relations department Wednesday night after the official had given him a ride in his car, the state highway patrol said.

Harold St. John, 25, of Dorchester, Mass., was captured by police about a mile from the scene of the slaying on U. S. 40 west of here.

Wells said St. John admitted he shot Joseph W. Harding, 53, during a struggle in the car when he tried to rob the state official. St. John was wounded in the leg.

SHE KNOWS HOW

CAMPBELL RIVER, B.C. (CP)—Mrs. Al Johnson of Seattle won top honors for the second year in a row in the Canadian Legion salmon derby here. Her prize-winning catch was a 47-pound tyee salmon, eight pounds smaller than the one a year ago.

Unveil Memorial To Commemorate Pony Express

VICTORIA BEACH, N.S. (CP)—The granddaughter of the last operator of Nova Scotia's famed Pony Express Wednesday unveiled a monument commemorating the service that helped form The Associated Press.

Gertrude Anderson, a nurse at nearby Annapolis Royal, pulled the shrouds away from the boulder with attached bronze plaque by the dirt road leading to Victoria Beach, where paddle steamers once waited to take European news across the Bay of Fundy to Saint John, N.B.

Her grandfather, James King of Saint John, operated the express, which brought the dispatches from Halifax to here in eight hours of hard riding, during the last of the nine-month-long service in 1849.

The 144-mile service was financed by six New York newspapers whose co-operative enterprise later became The Associated Press, world's largest news-gathering agency which now serves more than 1,200 daily newspapers and 900 radio stations. The Canadian Press and Reuters are its allies.

R. J. Rankin, managing editor of the Halifax Chronicle-Herald, was main speaker at the ceremony.

Two Well-Known Characters Add Rustic Touch to Life in Wellington

WELLINGTON (Special) — Chief of Police Earl Marvin of this village is an efficient policeman. He does an excellent job keeping the boys in line, seeing that everybody behaves himself, besides a lot of routine duties.

But this village like any other community in these days of two-cars-in-every garage and another under the trees, sometimes develops traffic problems.

The chief can take care of them all right, but sometimes he has help that is not on the official payroll.

The "help" if stripes are symbolic of rank is a lance-corporal in Local 2354879 S.K.O. (Striped Kitties Organization).

They call him "Sniffy."

"Sniffy" is the boss-man of the lake-front union that doubles in garbage inspection.

Occasionally "Sniffy" conducts an inspection of village territory to make certain no one is musceling in on his district. That's where he comes in handy as a traffic control official.

"Sniffy" is modest. He never tries to assert his authority. The tall tail waving at a ninety degree angle is more efficient at halting traffic than the white glove of a policeman.

Saturday night, "Sniffy" sauntered across Main street. He was in no hurry. He looked neither right nor left. Cars screeched to a halt. Pedestrians stopped in their tracks. But "Sniffy" went his quiet way, stopped for a momentary glimpse at the halted traffic and disappeared in some bushes.

A little later he returned. Being a family man and Saturday night "Sniffy" apparently had decided to show the kids the night-spots. Again, with tall tail waving in the night breeze, the family following in Indian file, "Sniffy" held up the traffic as he slowly sauntered across the highway to his destination.

"Sniffy" is the official garbage "inspector". The lake-front garbage collection is made Saturday mornings and "Sniffy" works practically all night Friday inspecting the receptacles to see that no jewelry, money, mortgages or other items of value are carelessly tossed in the garbage can.

And "Sniffy" is thorough. He doesn't do things in half measures. He really gets to the bottom of the matter. In fact the only evidence that "Sniffy" is at work is the tall plume-like tail waving over the rim of a garbage can. "Sniffy" is head-over-heels in his work. Sometimes he's up to his neck in it.

But while "Sniffy" takes care of the lake-front district, he has a working agreement with "Sam the Seagull" who handles the nautical territory.

"Sam" who is as big as a Plymouth Rock is inclined to be lazy. After a quick winged observation of the water front, he settles down lazily in the water and drifts up and down the shoreline on the "cottage front". Cottagers generally throw out a crust or two for "Sam" who jealously guards his meals against the intrusion of other members of the winged "mob."

When not working the water-front beat" Sam can be seen perched atop a big sign that overlooks the village dump where garbage is thrown. Here Sam waits until he spots a choice morsel, swoops down and grabs it, but in general he leaves the rest of the pickings to the boys and girls of the gang. Ahem!

CAMPBELLFORD

Request Details On Three Ways To Obtain Power

CAMPBELLFORD. — A joint meeting of the council and the Public Utilities Commission was held in the council chambers here, when a report of the special committee that met with the H.E.P.C. officials was received.

Mayor Locke was in the chair for the meeting and told the members present that he had called the meeting to receive a report of a special joint committee that had interviewed Hydro chairman Robert Saunders and other Hydro officials last week.

Commissioner Newman read the report, saying that after discussing the problem with the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Mr. Goodfellow accompanied the committee to Toronto, where an interview was obtained with Mr. Robert Saunders and other officials of the H.E.P.C.

The committee explained to the Hydro officials that due to the fact the facilities for producing power in Campbellford were inadequate, the plant is unable to give uninterrupted power, unless connected with Hydro. Mr. Saunders pointed out that the H.E.P.C. could not be used as an insurance agency for the local power plant. It was also pointed out at the interview that, if Campbellford became a Hydro municipality, the commission would be permitted to continue paying annual grants to the town for the next five years. Delivery of power from Hydro can be taken over the present facilities.

It was further learned that Hydro would control and set all rates, discounts and so forth. Mr. Saunders, after listening to all pertinent facts, suggested that the delegation request in writing that the Hydro make a study of the problem and survey three alternatives to the Campbellford power problem.

Three Alternatives

First of these alternatives is for the town to purchase a block of power from Hydro, but still remain under local control. The second would be to purchase a block of power and become a hydro municipality but operate their own power plant. Third alternative would be for the town to sell the plant outright, and become a hydro municipality.

Mr. Saunders assured the delegation that the Hydro would give the town continued operation until a solution to the problem would be worked out. Mr. Newman told the meeting that the delegation was given a cordial welcome when in Toronto.

Following the reading of Mr. Newman's report, a lengthy discussion resulted in a motion, that the report be received and filed. Mr. Newman then introduced a written resolution as follows—"That the clerk be authorized to write the Hydro asking that a detailed report be submitted re the supplying of power to the town of Campbellford under the following methods:

1. "That the corporation of the town of Campbellford purchase outright a block of power from the H.E.P.C. and continue to maintain and operate their own plant under their own jurisdiction and setting their own rates."
2. "That the corporation of the town of Campbellford purchase a block of power and come under the Hydro act but still maintain and operate their own plant as permitted under the act."
3. "That the corporation of the town of Campbellford sell the local power plant to the H.E.P.C. and become a Hydro Municipality under the hydro act for the supply of power."

This resolution was passed by the joint meeting and the meeting adjourned.

Immediately after the meeting adjourned as a joint meeting, the P.U.C. met as a body of their own. Mr. Newman moved that the motion relative to the inquiry regarding power alternatives, as passed by the joint meeting, be endorsed and accepted by the P.U.C. as a body. This was done.

Commissioner R. J. McGregor asked that the clerk be instructed to have copies of any report or reports made, which might come from Hydro as a result of the above inquiry. This also passed. The extra copies will be distributed to commission board members so that each will have an opportunity to study them fully.

Mayor R. J. Locke asked the commission to make a grant of $500 for the town council, in order that the town might purchase a 10 acre block of property in the southeast section of the town, south of the C.N.R. right-of-way. The piece of land will be used as a park. The land will be purchased from Mr. F. A. Burgar, and the papers concerning the sale are at present being drawn up. The commission voted to allow the grant of $500 to council for the purchase, with Mr. R. J. McGregor voting against the motion.

Dodgers' Writing Flock Of Personal Records In Pennant Drive

1953 Club May Produce All Time Brooklyn Leaders In Homers, Runs Batted In

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

On the way to their second straight National League pennant, Brooklyn Dodgers are writing a flock of personal all-time best performances into the history of the colorful club.

The second straight flag—a virtual certainty now with a 8½-game lead and 28 games to play—will be a record in itself for the Dodgers, who've won the league title seven times but never in successive years.

The 1953 club may also produce all-time Brooklyn leaders in home runs and runs batted in.

Gil Hodges hit 40 homers in 1951. He has only 28 so far, but Duke Snider has 33 and Roy Campanella 32.

Three Could Make It

The club record of 130 runs batted in—last equalled by Babe Herman in 1930—is in danger since Campanella has 115, Hodges 111 and Snider 103.

Snider and Carl Furillo bettered their previous all-time highs in home runs Thursday in the 7-5 victory over Chicago Cubs. Snider hit a pair to put him two over his 1950 total of 31 and Furillo hit his 19th, which bettered his production of 1949 and 1950.

The Dodgers might find those home runs handy in an extra inning world series game with New York Yankees. The Yanks lost their second of 11 overtime contests 4-2 in Cleveland Thursday night when Wally Westlake homered for the Indians in the 11th inning. The only other extra-inning loss by the Yankees this year also came on a home run—by Billy Goodman of Boston on May 8.

In other action Thursday, St. Louis Cardinals beat New York Giants 6-3 in the National League; St. Louis Browns won a pair from Philadelphia Athletics 5-4 and 3-1, Washington swamped Detroit 12-5 and Chicago White Sox downed Boston 6-4 in the American.

Come From-Behind

The Cardinals came from behind with four runs in the seventh inning to whip the Giants. The attack in that frame included a pair of triples, both misjudged by Giant outfielders, and a home run by Rip Repulski.

Virgil Trucks won his 18th game of the season at Chicago and his 13th against four losses since joining the Sox after weathering an early Boston barrage that produced two runs in the first inning.

The Senators pounded Ralph Branca and Dick Marlowe for eight consecutive hits, one short of the American league record, in the first inning at Detroit and went on to an easy triumph.

Wertz Homers

Vic Wertz homered in the ninth inning with a man on base for the Browns' first game victory over the Athletics. In the nightcap the Brownies loaded the bases in the eighth and relief man Morris Martin walked home the winning run.

Mike Garcia went all the way for Cleveland against the Yankees and picked up his 16th victory. The Yankees tied the score in the ninth on a single by Gil McDougald and a double by Yogi Berra on which Larry Doby missed a shoestring catch.

Milwaukee, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Cincinnati in the National League weren't scheduled.

Buffalo Bisons, Rochester Wings Going Strong

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Pitchers Earl Harrist of Buffalo and Tico Rubert of Rochester emerged the stars of Thursday night's International Baseball League play. Both hurled brilliant ball in leading their top-calibre clubs to victory.

Harrist fanned 13 and held the tail-end Springfield Cubs to three hits in pitching the high-flying Bisons to a 3-1 triumph.

Rubert threw a four-hitter, notched his first two hits of the season and sent home one run as he helped the second-place Red Wings blank Toronto Maple Leafs 5-0 to stay a half-game behind Buffalo.

Cost a Shutout

Harrist cost himself a shutout in the ninth inning when he wild-pitched Jack Hollis home from third. It was his eighth victory of the campaign.

Rubert, in chalking up his fifth victory, had no trouble with the opposition. The only time any Leaf got beyond second base was in the first inning.

The Rochester win dimmed Toronto's hopes of making the playoffs. The Leafs slipped to 2½ games behind the fourth-place Baltimore Orioles, who were idle.

In the only other game, Syracuse Chiefs dropped their 18th straight contest, bowing 11-2 to the third-place Montreal Royals.

Longest Losing Streak

Of the eight teams now in the loop, Syracuse has suffered the longest losing streak—but only the fourth longest in the circuit's history. The now-defunct Reading Keys dropped 31 games in a row in 1927 and in 1923 lost 26 successive contests. Jersey City, also defunct, fell 19 straight times in 1913.

Sandy Amoros, Rocky Nelson and Charlie Thompson each powered a homer to lead the Royals to victory. Johnny Blaylock blasted a big one for the losers. Ed Roebuck pitched the win—his 13th—allowing eight hits.

Don Doe of Granby, Que. Lone Canadian Survivor in Tourney

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Don Doe, tobacco company employee from Granby, Que., carried Canada's final hope today into the semi-finals of the Canadian amateur golf championship.

The red haired, happy-go-lucky fellow who has never looked up the meaning of jitters, found himself in the select company of three Walker Cup team members—two from Britain and one from the United States.

In the 36-hole semi-final, Don faced Jimmy Wilson of Scotland. In the other semi-final, Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, Texas, met another Scot, Roy MacGregor.

The guessing on the outcome had the galleries in a dither, but opinion was pretty general that the American cupper would be a finalist, and a tough one to beat.

Wins Two Rounds

In the other half of the semi-final draw, it was a toss-up with the balance, if any, in Doe's favor. The Granby golfer, a quarter-finalist in 1950 and 1951, has been playing his steadiest game. Wilson's precision shots with his irons are in his favor.

In his two rounds Thursday, Doe defeated his fellow-Quebecer, Bob Hall of Montreal, 3 and 2, and then plastered a solid 6 and 5 defeat on 17-year-old Scotty Fraser of Panama City, Fla.

Wilson eliminated Dr. T. Lenczyk of Newington, Conn., 3 and 2 in the morning, and was carried to the 22nd hole in the afternoon before shaking off a fellow Walker Cup member, Lt.-Col. A. A. Duncan of Wales.

MacGregor, a relentless 37-year-old golfer who bounces out of tough situations by sheer golfing ability, dashed a popular gallery favorite in Thursday's afternoon round over the Kaniwaki Golf Club course.

Doug Silverberg of Red Deer, Alta., was all set to step into a semi-final role until the stolid Scot calmly mowed him down on the fifth extra hole. The 21-year-old former Canadian junior champion got rid of one British cupper in the morning round with a 3 and 1 decision over J. L. Morgan of England.

Tosses Away Chance

In the afternoon Silverberg went through the first nine with a one-up lead, thanks largely to a 40-foot putt that dropped for him at the eighth. He still held the lead coming to the short par three 17th.

That was where Doug tossed his big opportunity away. MacGregor put his tee shot over the green and took two more strokes to get back. Doug's tee shot caught a trap. He put his ball to the far side of the green, while MacGregor got on and they halved the par three hole in fours.

They toiled along to the 23rd, MacGregor missing a three-footer on the 21st that would have given him the match. At the 23rd, Silverberg was short of the green with his second, chipped up and missed a three-foot putt. MacGregor took a par four to win the hole and match.

The upset of the morning round was the elimination of Joe Carr of Dublin, British amateur champion. Lanky Joe fell before MacGregor in a disappointing exhibition. The Irishman's game was never right and his elimination was no surprise.

Don Cherry had an easy passage through both rounds. He won 5 and 4 over W. B. McCullough, Jr., of Elkins Park, Pa., in the morning and walloped Norman Drew, one of Britain's Walker Cup team members, 6 and 4 in the afternoon.

K-W Dutchmen Return to Senior Football After Lapse of 25 Years

By LEN TAYLOR
Canadian Press Correspondent

KITCHENER (CP)—Everything but the name will be new to football fans here this year. Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen return to the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union after a lapse of 25 years.

A group of local sportsmen, attempting to build a contending club, have hired Gerry Tuttle, former Toronto Balmy Beach coach, to command the team. Tuttle will also see action as quarterback.

Won't Hazard Guess

The Kent, O., coach, although refusing to hazard a guess on the final standing of his entry, indicated that the Dutchmen won't end up in last place.

Mary of Tuttle's hopes will rely on what he can do with a group of local intermediates and junior graduates. The experienced help that he will have will be largely in the backfield.

Jack Mancos, 165-pound product of Kent State College, is expected to be one of the sparkplugs of the Dutchmen. Mancos has shown well in practices and if he lives up to his play in the United States he will fulfill expectations.

Kitchener also has Paul Amodio, a halfback who can play any backfield position and fill in at end. Carl Totzke will spell Tuttle at quarterback. A fullback also, Totzke had a two-year tenure with McGill University Redmen and won the most valuable player award last year with Kitchener intermediates.

Ti-Cat Star Hired

Other backs include Ron Tracey, a former Western University Mustang, and Tuck Toner of Galt. Ball-carrying experts are Ralph Bartolini, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat star, fullback Al Finch of London, Sully Ford, a Balmy Beach expatriate, and Floyd Cooper, another Hamilton standout.

Line coach Jay Fry, a 210-pound import who had a trial with Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League last year, admits his line material is green but expects they will be playing like veterans not long after their curtain-raiser with the Redskins at Brantford tonight.

Handling centre duties will be Huck O'Connell, formerly with OAC at Guelph, and Hank Somoll, once with Queen's Golden Gaels and Hamilton.

Guards, a mixture of local players and commuters from nearby cities, include Don Bailey, a promising Stratford junior; Merve Coulter, a rugged Kitchener-Waterloo junior graduate; Paul Michalski, up from the local intermediates; Roy Stevenson and Bill Needham of London; and Guido Cheriot, Al Santucci, John Miso and Gino Dinoble from Hamilton.

Will Strengthen Line

Fry will strengthen the line himself as a tackle on the attacking crew and as a linebacker on defence. George Kramer, a Kitchener intermediate, Bob O'Ree, all-star last year with Balmy Beach, and Phil Kress, another homebrew, are other tackles.

Syl O'Hara, a Western Mustang backfielder, has been changed into a good outside wing. Another ex-Mustang back, John Goodearle, will also play end. One of the better ends is expected to be Don Siemon, a local player who was developed in the Kitchener juvenile league.

A recent aquisition is Andy Gilmour, standout end of the 1951 Beaches sent down by the Ottawa Rough Riders. Bob Stevenson, London senior collegiate end, and Nat Pagnan, offensive ball carrier, may also catch on.

The Dutchmen are also looking forward to additional strength from Ottawa, with whom they have a working agreement.

Victoria Park Stadium, seating capacity 3,800, will house the new club.

Pat O'Sullivan Defeated in Fifth Round

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Polly Riley, a cool, little golfing automaton from Ben Hogan's home town, celebrated her 27th birthday Thursday by conquering Pat O'Sullivan in the featured fifth round match of the United States women's amateur golf tournament.

The Fort Worth, Tex., bookkeeper eliminated the judge's daughter from Orange, Conn., 3 and 1, to become the lone surviving member of the United States Curtis Cup team.

Miss O'Sullivan was just one of three international representatives sent to the sidelines as the field was chopped to eight at the Rhode Island Country Club.

Other Curtis Cuppers beaten were Mrs. Howard Smith, the former Grace DeMoss, of Corvallis, Ore., ousted by Pat Lesser, 19-year-old intercollegiate champion from Seattle, 4 and 3, and Mrs Marjorie Lindsay McMillen of Decatur, Ill., a 4 and 3 victim of Mrs. John Hulteng of Warwick, R.I., the home state favorite.

Also eliminated was the 1948 champion, Grace Lenczyk of Newington, Conn., leaving Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta as the lone ex-champion of four in the original field. Miss Kirby, 1951 winner, ousted Ellen Gery of Barrington, R.I., 3 and 2.

Miss Lenczyk fell before Carol Diringer of Tiffin, Ohio, a willowy blonde from Southern Pines, N.C., 3 and 2.

Four Aces

Everybody Calling Winnipeg Bombers 'Team to Beat' In Appraising Western Clubs

By AL VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—Each autumn—well, that's when football is supposed to start—the West's recurrent attack of football fever nears the crisis stage.

Business men get behind in their work; pretty girls display their team's colors; ticket scalpers get rich; and the "experts" pick how the clubs will finish.

Right now, everybody is calling Winnipeg Blue Bombers as "the team to beat" in the West this year.

They point to Bombers' impressive pre-season victories over Ottawa Rough Riders and the defending champion Toronto Argonauts; Winnipeg's abundance of Canadian talent; and their top-flight imports.

Everybody But Coach

Everybody is picking the Bombers, that is, except coach George Trafton.

The bruising former Chicago Bear centre recalls his last two years as coach of the Winnipeg aggregation. On paper and in the eyes of most fans, Bombers were "the team to beat" both in 1951 and 1952. But they never went east in search of the Grey Cup.

Edmonton Eskimos knocked them off in the Western semi-finals in 1951. The same Eskimos spotted Bombers, who walked away with the league race, one game in last year's Western final then roared back to take two straight.

"Sure we're stronger than last year," says Trafton, "and, barring injuries, we'll hold our own.

"We're up against a new formation, the split-T, at Edmonton, and both Regina and Calgary have got new set-ups. We've got new imports, untested rookies and veterans who will have to work together. They've got to click."

A lot of people may think that Trafton is whistling in the breeze, but only time will tell.

He argues that "these other clubs wouldn't be in the league if they weren't tough."

Football has become big business out in the West. Bombers operated on a $300,000 budget last year, but expenses this year are expected to be much higher due to more and better imports and home-brews.

any Canadian Players

One of the strongest arguments that the 1953 Bombers are going to be tough is that, for the first time in many a year, their coach is having a rough time cutting his Canadian players. They've never had it so good.

It is on the shoulders of these Canadians that the load will fall after the import-cutting deadline Oct. 1. Trafton believes "a team is just as good as its Canadian players." Injuries in exhibition games already have sidelined two regulars, offensive centre Gar Baxter and end Ron Vaccher.

Bombers are well stocked with imports. The one big problem is which eight to keep. They'll probably all be around Saturday night when Bombers open the 1953 Western Interprovincial Football Union schedule at home against Edmonton.

Assured of their positions, barring injuries are tackles Dick Huffman and Buddy Tinsley, both Western all-stars last year, and ends Neill Armstrong and Grant. Armstrong sat out last season after making the West's all-stars in 1951. Grant was second leading offensive end in the National Football League last year with Philadelphia Eagles.

bs At Quarter

fixture at quarterback is Jack Jacobs, now a four-year man with Bombers. Jacobs, named to the all-stars and also most valuable man in the league, set a WIFU record in 1952 by tossing 34 touchdown passes. He also excels on kicking and defensive work.

Vying for the other three import spots are these newcomers: Quarterback Tommy Thompson, former Philadelphia great who came up originally as backfield coach; fullback Ray Dohn Dillon, last year with Hamilton Tiger-Cats; half Bill Bye, formerly with University of Minnesota; and centre Keith Carpenter, from San Jose State via Edmonton Eskimos.

Hold-over imports include: Quarter Joe Zaleski, half Gerry Palmer, fullback Ralph McAllister, centre John Brown and tackle Sam Nevills, who relieved Huffman and Tinsley until cut-off time last year. He's up on the same basis this year.

Casey Not Import

One big help for Trafton is the qualifying of all-star Tom Casey as a non-import this season after four years of Canadian football.

But it is the Canadian names that impress fans as they look down the roster. Added to the club are: Tom Harpley, defensive end last year with Argos; Geoff Crain, quarterback from McGill; guard Buck Rogers from Ottawa; end Bill Larochelle from Montreal and Ottawa; tackle Winty Young from Montreal intermediate ranks; and a few Winnipeg junior and intermediate graduates.

Returning Canadians include flying wing Buddy Korchak and guard Jimmy McPherson, only home-brews named to the 1952 all-stars; defensive ends Tommy Lumsden and Normie Hill—the "pride and joy" of returning line coach Stu Clarkson; backs Lorne Benson, rookie-of-the-year winner Gerry James, Tommy Ford and Len Meltzer.

Bruisers such as Al Wiley, Dean Bandiera, Kas Vidruk and Steve Patrick will hold up the line.

One break the players will have will be performing in Winnipeg's new $500,000, 16,000-seat stadium, a far cry from the 9,000 seats in Osborne Stadium.

The Fishing Hall of Fame was created on the 25th anniversary of the Sportsmen's Club and also marks the 300th anniversary of the printing of Izaak Walton's "The Compleat Angler."

The club said that those qualifying are persons who have shown skill, experience, sportsmanship, and good fellowship while fishing, and helpfulness in showing others the ways of good fishing and conservation.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Birmingham, Ala., and Schenectady N.Y., advanced Thursday to the championship round of the seventh annual Little League baseball world series. Birmingham mixed five hits with seven walks to put across 10 runs and whip Front Royal, Va., 10-2 while Schenectady came from behind to trip Camp Hill, Pa., 10-9 in the semi-final round.

Portage Golf Club will stage a Canadian championship for southpaw swat men only Sept. 13. The idea is to determine who are the best left-handers among the Canadians.

Flights will be arranged to provide competition for those not of championship calibre in their play.

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP)—Sven Davidson, the Swedish champion, Thursday scored an upset victory over third-seeded Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., 6-3, 10-8, to enter the semi-final round of the Nassau bowl invitation tennis tournament with first-seeded Tony Trabert of Cincinnati. Trabert had a tough struggle before stopping fifth-seeded Herb Flam of Beverley Hills, Calif., 8-6, 6-3.

London Majors In Fourth Spot Of Intercounty

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The scramble for fourth and last playoff berth in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League ended Thursday night when London Majors made sure of the position by defeating Brantford Red Sox 2-1.

Oshawa Merchants' bid died when Kitchener Panthers downed them 4-1. At Guelph, the Maple Leafs completed their home schedule by handily defeating Galt Terriers 10-3.

London scored both runs in the second inning on three hits, including a double by Jack Kinney, and an outfield error. The lead lasted until the ninth when Griffeth drove home Hodara for Brantford's only run.

Scattered Five Hits

Kitchener's Bill Allen scattered five hits. A single by playing manager Don Gallinger and a double by Dick Welker plus a walk loaded the bases for Kitchener in the opening inning and two scored when Herman Mason missed Harry Psutka's grounder to short stop.

The third run came in the sixth and the fourth on singles by Earl Bossenbury and winning pitcher Allen. Oshawa's run was notched in the first when, with the bases loaded, Jimmy Jones scored after manager Butch Lawing had flied out to the outfield.

Guelph sluggers had a field day with George D'Addario hitting a home run with one on and Marvin Rich, Gene Bilo and Pete Gray each collecting a triple. Walter Jeffries gained his fourth win by scattering 11 hits after yielding three runs in the first and then settling down.

Bowling News

Winning three games in a tournament, the calibre of the Black Memorial Cup held Wednesday, in Peterborough, is no mean feat yet three sets of mixed doubles from the Belleville Bowling Club out of the eleven that were entered, accomplished that performance. Mr. and Mrs. Percy Graham stood sixth three-high, G. B. Hyde and his mother, Mrs. C. L. Hyde stood tenth, while Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Smith were 12th.

The tournament was won by Jerry Hebert and his partner from Ottawa. It was an all-day tourney and there were 96 teams entered from practically every section of the province. So popular is this tournament that many put in their entry for the next year after the last bowl is bowled. The greens were in excellent condition, extremely fast and all had perfect draws on either side.

Before the tournament opened, the Peterborough Club held a "spider" for crippled children and Cliff Argue of the Belleville Club, won the prize offered by the club.

Congratulations are due Mrs. Arthur Armstrong, Mrs. C. A. Smart and Mrs. Ralph Hinton, of Kingston Club, in winning the provincial trebles title played recently at the Cosburn Park club in Toronto. Mrs. R. H. Edney, also of Kingston, should receive special mention as she brought the singles championship—a hard one to win—to her home club. The Kingston Club has won a number of signal honors during the year, probably the most important being the Provincial men's doubles title by R. H. Edney and William Duncan.

On Monday evening at the local greens a pot-luck supper and jitney will be conducted by the committee under the chairmanship of Orlo Smith. Outside clubs will be invited to take part and it will be a most enjoyable evening of bowling.

Florican Sets World's Record For 1¼ Miles

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—Florican, six-year-old from E. Roland Harriman's Arden Homestead Stable, set up a world record for a 1¼ miles Thursday night when he nipped Katie Key in the $25,000 American Trotting Championship at Roosevelt Raceway.

With Harry Miller handling the reins, Florican stepped the distance in 2:33, 4 2-5 seconds faster than the mark hung up by Silver Riddle in winning the event last year.

Only a neck separated the Arden Homestead veteran and Katie Key at the finish. Lord Steward was third, 4½ lengths back as Pronto Don, leading money-winning trotter and 9 to 5 favorite, raced on the outside most of the way and finished fourth.

Kimberley Kid Wins $17,000 Stake at Fair

SEDALIA, Mo. (AP)—Kimberly Kid, Leonard Buck's great trotting colt, Thursday won the $17,000 Gahagan Memorial Stake for 3-year-olds, the feature grand circuit event at the Missouri State Fair.

Peter Lind won the first heat, Berry piloted Kimberly Kid to victory in the next two dashes.

Elby Hanover was third in the summaries, with Famous Hanover fourth.

Frank Ervin drove Parker Byrd to an extra-heat victory over Meadow Pace in the $13,300 American-National Stake for 2-year-old pacers.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Events have taken a fast turn in recent days, and now we find baseball commissioner Ford Frick being depicted as the arch villain who, through his failure to go to bat more vigorously for major league players, virtually forced them to hire a lawyer to protect their interests.

It is even being stated that Albert (Happy) Chandler, the commissioner once removed, devoted himself more diligently to guarding the diamond heroes against their rapacious employers than Frick has done. We have gone into this aspect of the big wrangle rather thoroughly with men who are in position to know and they insist that Happy didn't do any such thing.

We are told that if the athletes mistrust Frick it's only because they haven't tried him, and that he has, actually, done more good deeds for more individual players since he took office than his predecessor did in his entire tenure. It's just that the two men operate differently.

"You'll never find Ford in the dressing rooms slapping players on the back and telling them he's their dear friend," said our informant. "He would quit the job before he would do that. But I happen to know that not a single player has appealed to him on any matter without getting action. Ford does not seek publicity about such instances because he simply considers them part of his job."

As for the demands the players now are making, it is not within the commissioner's power to grant a single one of them on his own hook. He can only recommend certain reforms, such as an increase in minimum pay, and it will be up to the club presidents to make the decisions at their meeting during the world series. Frick did have the power to make three players from each club eligible to play winter ball in the Caribbean, and he acted promptly.

Calgary Stampeders to Open Season With New Mentor

Written for The Canadian Press
By GORDE HUNTER

CALGARY (CP)—For the first time since 1948, Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union will have a new coach this season, which would appear that Ol' Cowtown is the most lenient city in Canadian football when it comes to firing masterminds.

Bob Snyder, a T-formation expert, replaces Les Lear, coach since 1948, the year Calgary won the Grey Cup. Snyder, former pro with Chicago Bears and Cleveland Rams, who coached Los Angeles Rams in 1946-47, assumed a tough task when he took over the WIFU third-place team of 1952.

The likeable pilot has a club which is good in one department and bad in another.

Good Backfield

For example, football men in Western Canada are almost unanimous in their opinions that Stampeders have just about the best backfield in the business. Hold-over import Johnny Bright from Drake University; Arizona sensation John Henry Johnson, No. 1 draft choice of Pittsburgh Steelers; quarterback Frankie Albert, famous southpaw passer from San Francisco 49ers; Stan Heath, Davie West, Pete Thodos and Bob Westlake all form an offensive powerhouse.

However, it is also generally agreed, even by Snyder and line coach Lou Symkus, one of U.S. pro football's best tackles while with Washington Redskins and Cleveland Browns, that the front wall is tissue-thin in spots—namely at tackle.

Four Americans—Bob Levenhagen, University of Washington; Bob Bryant, who came here in 1952 from the 49ers; Bob Mike, another ex-49er cut last Oct. 1; and Bob Branyan, Toledo University—are trying out for tackle. But not one of them has shown the ability necessary to compete with such WIFU standouts as Huffman, Ruby, Tinsley, etc.

End Position Open

End is another position not too well manned. Here, at least, a couple of players are tested and true. Bob Shaw, the faking wizard from Ohio who led all Canadian scorers last season with a WIFU point record of 110, has showed plenty of fire and even taken his turn defensively, something new for him.

Sugarfoot Anderson, claimed by some to be close to 40, should have one of his best seasons. He's a Canadian now and almost assured of a regular berth.

Two former NFL ends, Bill Sherman from Dallas Texans and Al Endriss, also are battling for spots.

Biggest boost for Stampeder stock comes from Johnson, the massive Negro halfback who can run 100 yards in 9.7 seconds. He impressed in the East when Stampeders edged Hamilton Tiger-Cats 19-18 and lost to Montreal Alouettes 12-17 in pre-season exhibition games.

Excellent Running Partner

"One of the two or three top halfbacks in all of Canada or the U.S., is the way Rymkus describes Johnson. "I'm not sure whether he's all man or part beast," is Snyder's comment.

With Bright back in shape, Johnson will have an excellent running partner. Bright, although hobbled by injuries, topped the WIFU ground-gainers in 1952.

Big interest has been focussed on the torrid battle for quarterback between Heath and Albert. Heath, who will be a Canadian in 1954, has given nothing away to his more illustrious rival. And Keith Spaith, now a Canadian, is still around.

Other imports are Bob Redkey, hold-over fullback from Oregon; Jack Brannan, swift California half; centres Tony Monsen from Washington and Bert Clark from Dallas.

Good Material

Canadian-wise Stamps have good material in the backfield. Up front, men like Roy Jensen, Bull Pullar, Ken Keir, Porky Brown, Harry Langford, Joe Delvecchio and Bill Walsh should do well.

Stampeders have been hard hit by training injuries. Lost for the season were Ray Huizinga, all-American tackle from Northwestern University; veteran Canadian tackle Mike Bilan; Montreal centre Hank Dermer; and backs Cal Green and Bill Bewley, voted the most valuable player in the Eastern Intercollegiate league last year while with University of Toronto.

It will cost Calgary approximately $300,000 to operate this season, but few, if any, executive members are looking for anything spectacular. This is the start of a rebuilding program and Snyder will have no worries should his team miss the playoffs.

BREAK HOME RUN MARKS

BROOKLYN (AP) — Brooklyn's Duke Snider and Carl Furillo each broke their own personal home run marks for major league play Thursday. Furillo hit his 19th homer of the year in the second inning against Chicago. His high mark of 18 was set in 1949 and duplicated in 1950. Snider clouted his 32nd of the season in the third inning. He hit 31 in 1950.

CAR SHOWROOM BURNS

KINCARDINE (CP) — Damage estimated at $35,000 resulted Wednesday night from fire which gutted Clover Motor Sales, second major fire in the building in 18 months. A truck and tractor in the showroom were destroyed.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Many a bridge championship has been won by the pair with the least actual ability. This has happened despite the fact that all tables play the same hands in a modern title match.

A letter tells me of a novice pair that won the cup from the masters all around them. Only because they got lucky breaks on a number of hands that they bid wrong.

Typical was the deal shown here:

NORTH
♠A K 7 6 3 2
♥A 10 9 8 4
♣7 6

WEST
♠9 5 4
♥Q
♦Q 5 3
♣Q 10 8 4 3 2

EAST
♠10 8
♥5 3
♦10 9 8 6 4 2
♣A K J

SOUTH
♠Q J
♥K J 7 6 2
♦A K J 7
♣9 5

The tyro pair sitting south and north barged into seven hearts by the direct method of one heart, seven hearts. They had as much right to be there as a child monkeying with a dynamite fuse.

So you can see the opening lead of a club knocks them over for a loss of two tricks. So, what happens in their case? Opponents failed to start with a club lead and 13 tricks roll in.

I can think of several reasons why a pair would get to seven in this deal. One is that they are either too ignorant or much too stubborn to bid correctly. For which I can think of several words.

Another is that they had no hopes of winning anyway. So, with no regard for their final outcome they close their eyes and shoot for the moon in the hope that a miracle will happen.

The other pairs in this match reached a small slam in one of the major suits. They went down one in a hurry where opponents took two club tricks right off, the top of the pickle barrel.

The letter asserts that Horse Sense rules would reach a losing slam because of duplication of values, the foe of all sound bidding. But, he wonders if reaching slam could be avoided by rule warnings.

My answer is yes. Rule would advise pair that small slam may go down. But it is not likely they would stop short of the slam. The why is worth explaining. It is just one of those things.

To Explore Arctic

This bleak Arctic mountain, Cape Columbia on Ellesmere Island, is part of the rugged terrain being explored this summer by two Ottawa scientists. Geoffrey Hattersley-Smith, 30, and Robert Blackadar, 23, are travelling by dog-team along the north shore of Ellesmere seeking information on ice movements and possible mineral deposits. It was from Ellesmere that Admiral R. E. Peary made a dramatic 600-mile dash to the North Pole. — (CP Photo.)

Canada Some Time May Find Hold on Arctic Isles Precarious

By LESLIE WILSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada some time may find that her hold is precarious on the bleak, windswept area which for 50 years has been termed the "Canadian Arctic."

For Canada's claim to the 400,000-odd square miles of rocky islands which lie between the Canadian mainland and the north pole is based upon principles hotly disputed in the past and not yet accepted by the United States.

Forty large islands with a host of smaller ones form an archipelago stretching 1,000 miles north of the mainland and within 600 miles of the north pole. They make an area as large as the Maritime provinces and Saskatchewan with two-thirds of Newfoundland thrown in.

Baffin Island, lying north of Hudson Bay, is the fourth-largest island in the world. Only Australia—sometimes called a continent—Sumatra in the East Indies, and Greenland are larger.

Mineral Treasures

The archipelago may be a treasure-house of mineral wealth, geologists say. In the event of a war, possession of the islands might be of vital military importance. Only inhabitants are perhaps 2,000 eskimos on the southern islands, with some RCMP, transport department and military personnel scattered at a score of outposts over the whole area.

Canada's claims in the Arctic are based on right of discovery and what is termed the sector principle.

This principle holds that a nation possesses all that Arctic land which lies north of its own shores and is bounded by the projection of its own eastern and western boundaries to the north pole.

Under the sector principle Canada would possess the islands lying between the 141st meridian on the west—the boundary between Alaska and the Yukon territory—and the 60th meridian on the east. This is the whole archipelago. Geographers divide the earth's surface into 360 segments by imaginary lines — meridians — running from pole to pole.

The discovery claim to the territory is based on a series of British and Canadian explorations, notably those by Sir George Nares in 1875, Cmdr. A. R. Gordon in 1884 and Capt. J. E. Bernier in 1908 and 1909. Nares was a Royal Navy captain sailing under British government auspices; the Gordon and Bernier expeditions were sponsored by the Canadian government.

U.S. Opposed

The sticking-point is that the United States doesn't recognize either sector or discovery claims. It recognizes only what it terms "effective occupation." However, the other countries which have claims in the Arctic—Russia, Finland, Norway and Denmark—base them either on the sector or discovery principle or both, and thus recognize by implication the Canadian claim.

The U.S. view on the Arctic stems from its desire to see the Antarctic made into an international zone with no restrictions of any kind. Despite the fact there has been considerable U.S. exploration in the Antarctic, the U.S. not only doesn't make any claims there but doesn't recognize anyone else's.

The U.S. position in the Antarctic conflicts with sector claims by Argentina, Chile, Australia and New Zealand and with discovery claims by the United Kingdom.

Although the U.S. doesn't assert recognition of Canadian claims in the Arctic, it apparently recognizes them by implication by asking Canadian permission whenever it desires to send a scientific or other expedition into the area. The U.S. apparently feels that, at the moment, Canadian officials are "effectively occupying" the northern archipelago.

But what would happen if there were great mineral strikes in the islands? Or if, in the event of a war with Russia, campaigns were fought across the northland? Or if a peacetime Russian fleet were to come cruising along the Canadian mainland, perhaps south into Hudson Bay?

Canadian government officials admit that in all of these situations there might be "embarrassing" questions of who owns what.

If large numbers of non-Canadians moved into the islands—as they might in the event of mineral strikes or a war—the matter of effective occupation by Canada might come in for some serious questioning, the officials say.

The government doesn't suggest that the islands might under these circumstances pass out of Canadian hands. It thinks it could control any situation which could arise with respect to mineral discoveries. But it does admit it might have difficulty dealing with pressures that could arise in the event of U.S. troop movements to the Arctic.

Another question is who may sail on the waters between the islands and into Hudson and James Bays?

Canada claims only the islands themselves. Hudson and James Bays are thought to comprise an "inland sea" guaranteed by treaties with France and Spain two or three centuries old.

The government won't say that the waters between the islands or along the mainland's north shore are free to any fleet that wishes to sail them. But it does say there is no Canadian claim which would conflict for instance with a foreign proposal to send a battlefleet to cruise the Northwest Territories.

The government thinks that Hudson and James Bays—the latter dips south to within 550 miles of Toronto—are fairly secure. Apparent general recognition of the centuries-old treaties seems to mark the inland sea as Canadian.

Officials say, however, that there has never been a Canadian statement of claim to the bays.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Primo Carnera today is scheduled to pick up his United States citizenship papers.

"It's a great day for me," grins the gargantuan ex-heavyweight boxing champ. "I've been looking forward to it for over 20 years."

Carnera and his wife both will receive their final papers today thereby bestowing citizenship to their son, 14, and daughter, 11. "that's the nicest thing we could give them," remarked Primo.

The former champ's other great enthusiasm is his acting career—and I don't mean the acting he does on the wrestling circuit. He's a full-fledged movie performer now, appearing in two pictures at once. By day he dons a wig and silken costume to cavort with Bob Hope in "Casanova's Big Night." Then he puts on another wig at night for his role in "Prince Valiant."

"This is my third career," he enthused. "First came boxing, then wrestling and now acting. I'm leaving soon for Italy, where I'll film my own life story and appear in it myself."

Primo's life should make quite a picture. The naive Italian boy came to the U.S. and was ballyhooed into a top ring attraction. He made fabulous money but ended up with little to show for it.

"I wasn't as broke as some people have said," he explained. "My money was cut up into a lot of pieces, but I managed to keep some. My mistake was taking the dollars and changing them to lire in Italy. Then came the war and it all disappeared.

'During the war I had to dig with a pick and shovel for the Germans, I worked on the farms and did underground work with the Americans. When the war was over,' I had about 35 offers for appearances all over the world. I chose to come to America and be a wrestler. I always wanted to come back here."

Primo, found the wrestling game pleasant and profitable.

"The gross isn't as big as in boxing," he remarked. "When I fought Max Baer for the title, I, as champion, received 42½ per cent of the gate, which was a million dollars.

"But a boxing champ fights only once a year. When I go out on a wrestling tour, I work four or five nights a week in all parts of the country. Sometimes the gate is big, sometimes not. But it's steady pay."

AT THE BELLE—The favorite comedienne, Rosalind Russell, as a society belle, and Marie Wilson, as a bouncy Broadway blonde, cause consternation in "Never Wave at a Wac" co-starring Paul Douglas, assembled for presentation today at the Cool Air Conditioned Belle Theatre. A clever Walt Disney cartoon "Funny Little Bunnies", is an added attraction.

AT THE CAPITOL—Randolph Scott popular western star appears in Warner Bros. Technicolor outdoor attraction "Fort Worth" showing today and Saturday at the Capitol Theatre. The added Technicolor musical comedy "Daughter of Rosie O'Grady" stars June Haver, Gordon MacRae with Cuddles Sakall and Gene Nelson. Continuous show Saturday from 1.00 p.m.

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY, AUGUST 29 1953

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—ome uncertainties always appear; oday may evidence them. Oppor-unities may not be obvious so go ut to find what you may; don't it back idling. Make better 'breaks' for yourself.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—ou may tend to over-reach, to ndertake more than you should andle. Any extremes could be urprisingly upsetting. Investigate he hows, wherefores. To be well nformed is to be surer against rror.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — hatever you must do that may ave important reactions, do it on me and accurately. Before 2 p.m. est aspects for such. Dealing with ssociates, employers or em-ayees, use tact.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — avorable influences are on the pgrade, especially for new and ell planned activities. Be ready r some unexpected, perhaps un-ual, events.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — ook beyond the obvious to glean hat is in the making and worth-hile now. Readily recognize thority and you will put yourself higher regard. Head up, mind ert.

August 23 to September 23 irgo)—You may be surprised to d that strangers and those at a stance are now working in ways t will benefit you—if not now, er. But use your intuition, your d-given talents to best advant-e.

September 24 to October 23 ibra)—You will probably be lled upon to exercise best manners, adroitness and ability to recuperate either lost time or reverses. Recreate new trys, better methods.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Be prepared for opposition; don't ever let it "get you down." Double systematic effort, maintain a calm, intelligent front and you can more easily dispel contention, opposition.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Some uncertain aspects for other than the tried-and-true. Without investigation, don't risk valuables, property or reputation by taking seriously the ideas and suggestions of others.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Suggestions worth heeding; watch expenditures, don't rush into situations hastily, take slights with the proverbial grain of salt. Originality in its place!

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Confronted with tedious tasks, unexpected disagreements, people that irritate? Don't "give up"; keep a stiff upper lip. You can surmount obstacles and come out nicely on credit side, too.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Mild friendly influences indicated. Be smart, divide your day rightly. Besides work there must be some health-building activities, and some rest. Everything in its due place.

YOU BORN TODAY are inclined to be discriminating, active, proud. Are seldom led astray, usually know right from wrong at a glance. Virgoans make fine nurses, doctors, chemists, teachers, public speakers, artists and writers. Do not expect too much from others, neither be too critical. You make friends easily and can hold them—a commendable gift. You have a tendency to overwork, to strain health. Take recreation periods every so often, they build incentive as well as relax. Birthdate of: Oliver Wendell Holmes, writer, physician; John Locke, Eng. philosopher.

COAL PRODUCTION DOWN

LONDON (Reuters) — Communist China has ordered a readjustment of coal miner's wages and a "special encouragement scheme" to raise coal production which has fallen below its target, the Communist New China news agency reported. Coal production in July averaged only 91.9 per cent of its target due to "poor efficiency and weak efforts," the agency said.

Little Benny's Note Book

I was running downstairs with a lot of noise, and ma called me from her room, and I went in, saying, Did you call me, ma?

Yes I did, ma said. When are you going to learn to act normally and rationally as if you had half a grain of common sense? she said, and I said, Well gosh, ma, that's just how I do act.

Not in this house you dont, racing up and downstairs 5 times in 2 minutes like a tribe of wooden Indians, ma said. Dont you think the weather is hot enough without aggrevating it by that kind of commotion? she said.

Well jimminies, ma, does it make you feel hotter when I do the running? I said, and ma said, It certainly does, especially up and down stairs without a vestidge of rime or reason. And to make it werse you were yelling at the top of your voice, she said.

G, ma, have you got a headake? I said, and she said, No and I'm not making any effort to get one and I dont want anybody to go out of their way to attempt to give me one.

That's not what I was attempting, ma I said. I guess you didn't hear what I was yelling. I was yelling Hurraw, hurraw, no school today, I said, and ma said, Is that anything to shout about in the middle of vacation for land sakes?

Sure, ma, that's just the thing, I said. I was laying on my bed waisting time doing, and all of a suddin I realized this is vacation and I wasn't doing anything to prove I appriciate it, so I started to run up and down stairs yelling Hurraw to show I was injoying myself, I said.

Oh go outside, ma said.

Which I did after she gave me money for an ice creem cone by request.

BIG REUNION

VERA, Sask. (CP)—Four brothers, all originally from Dundee, Scotland, held their first reunion in 49 years here. They are A. R. Keay of South Africa, W. R. Keay of London, England, Fred Keay of Midland, Ont., and David Keay of Vera.

BIG SURVEY

SASKATOON (CP)—For the first time in Saskatchewan's mining history an airborne survey of a stretch of northland was performed by the mineral resources department. It covered 1,350 square miles in the region northeast of La Ronge.

Empty Embalming Fluid Bottles Used to Build 7 Roomed House

CRESTON, B.C. (CP)—A retired Alberta funeral director has built a seven-room, castle-type home here with 57,000 empty embalming fluid bottles.

He hasn't got the full roof on yet but his strange home already has attracted considerable interest. His guest book shows 2,500 visitors.

David H. Brown admits it sounds crazy to build a house of bottles. But before he embarked on the project he made inquiries among architects and building engineers who smiled and agreed that if it was possible to face a 10-storey building with glass brick, you could build a two-storey house of bottles.

Knew His Bottles

Brown knew the strength of a bottle that had contained embalming fluid. He had been a funeral director in Alberta at Vegreville, Lacombe and Red Deer for 30 years before he retired and went on the road selling embalming fluid.

And he knew where to get the bottles. He had friends among funeral directors all the way from Fort William to Victoria. And they shipped empty bottles to Brown. He also collected some himself with a truck.

He has worked alone on the building for the last 10 months. The result today is a glass castle of seven rooms on a mountainside overlooking beautiful Kootenay lake at Sanca, about 40 miles west of Creston.

The glass castle, complete with turrets, is two storeys in the centre and one storey on the wings. In one room he has made a fireplace of matching mountain stone that is 12 feet across.

Embalming fluid bottles are uniform in size and square-sided. They are about nine inches long. The bottoms are about 2½ inches across and that measurement continues up to the neck.

Brown has placed them so the bottoms are on the outside and the necks, complete with screw caps, stick out through the inside walls. This will all be plastered, of course.

The rooms are circular, measuring from 14 to 18 feet in diameter. Brown found the castle effect best because he soon learned he could not make a square joint without exposing the side of the bottles.

Brown figures there is four times more work laying glass bottles than in laying glass bricks but he has met no difficulties. This despite the fact he started with a blueprint but threw it away.

The picturesque home, with beautified grounds, has cost him less than $1,000 to date. He figures the furniture will cost more than the whole house.

Brown intends to build a smaller place nearby for his family and in the summer rent the castle to parties wishing a quiet place for vacation relaxation. It will be completely modern, even to a deep freeze unit and an electric stove.

Fishermen Have Narrow Escape

TWEED.— Conservation Officer Bob Ramsbottom reports an incident on Island Lake near Bancroft a few days ago which could have had tragic consequences.

While bass fishing Sunday afternoon a local resident with two companions noticed a black bear swimming towards shore. Curious to get a better look at "Bruno" they moved closer. This was a mistake. Mr. Bear wheeled towards them and with a powerful upward surge, lifted himself almost completely into the boat. Four fishermen in a small boat is always dangerous, but when the fourth party is a 175 lb. black bear, something is bound to happen.

A paddle was hurriedly cracked over the bear's head stunning it enough that it rolled back into the water. But he wasn't to be denied. Charging a second time the bear thrashed his way up to the boat where he was again met with a series of blows. Finally knocked unconscious the animal was towed to shore.

As pointed out by Officer Ramsbottom, results could have been tragic, had the boat capsized. Everyone, and especially anglers should be made to realize that a bear in the water is a dangerous animal. One suggested explanation is that a bear regards an object in the water as solid ground and regardless of man's presence will try to land on it.

Perhaps the Bancroft fishermen's encounter will help others avoid a similar experience.

POPPA'S FAVORITE

MIDDLEHAM, England (CP)— The youngest son of jockey Arthur Roberts has been christened Lincoln, commemorating his father's victory on the horse Sailing Light in a feature race last April at Lincoln racetrack.

BANCROFT

Seven N. Hastings Cadets Complete Sr. Leaders' Course

BANCROFT. — Seven North Hastings cadets have now returned home from Camp Ipperwash on Lake Huron where they attended an intensive seven weeks Senior Leaders' course.

They are Cdt. Lt. Cyril Sharp of St. Ola, Cpl. Dean Laundry, Lt. Frank Hibbard, Cadets Eugene Murphy, and Ralph Burke, all of Bancroft, Cpl. Terry Sprackett of Coe Hill and Sgt. George Wight of Paudash.

Excellent results were obtained by these cadets in a variety of subjects which included map reading, fieldcraft, weapon training and the technique of instruction.

Bronze Award

Cadet Lt. Sharp received an "A" rating and was awarded a bronze trophy as the best all round cadet in his company. An "A" rating, which qualifies a cadet as an instructor and as a corporal in the Reserve Army was also awarded to cadets Dean Laundry and George Wight.

"C" Rating

Cadets Hibbard, Sprackett, Murphy and Burke each received a "C" rating which qualifies them as N.C.O.s or officers in the Corps.

Off duty trips to Grand Bend provided entertainment and relaxation whilst camp movies were also available.

On completion of the course, $100 expense money was paid to each cadet.

YOUNG FARMERS

VANCOUVER (CP)—This fall's Pacific National Exhibition here is the first North American fair to be visited by members of Japan's new 4-H club movement, launched by U.S. aid three years ago. The 19-year-old students selected for the honor are Kazuyoshi Umatsu and Michiko Hikasa.

Urges Meeting Between President And Churchill

TORONTO (CP) — Republican Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon Wednesday urged a meeting between President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill before the Korean peace talks open.

Speaking at the convention of the Amalgamated Lithographers of America (CIO-CCL), Senator Morse said the meeting is needed to "narrow differences" between Britain and the United States.

"Charges and counter-charges across the Atlantic are not the way," he said.

The senator also urged a meeting of representatives of the Big Four to enable western powers to come to grips with Russia.

Russian Thistle Bothersome Weed

TORONTO.— Russian Thistle (Salsola kali), also known as Russian Tumbleweed and Russian Cactus, is a weed that has probably migrated from Russia to the prairie provinces of Canada and is now continuing its travels eastward through Ontario.

This weed which looks like a cactus and has spines like a thistle, also breaks off at its base and blows about like a tumbleweed. Hence the various names by which it is known.

The plant is bushy, dark green in color with narrow, spine-tipped leaves which drop off in July or August as the plant and seed matures. One plant will produce hundreds of seeds but they are only dislodged when the plant breaks off and is blown about by the wind.

Western farmers with their large fields find Russian thistle a real menace. Ontario, with its small fields, numerous fences and lack of high winds, has not provided the weed with too much encouragement. However, it manages to increase a bit each year and is steadily becoming a problem to farmers.

The Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture recommends that this weed be cut before the seed is formed and while the plant is still green. Since it is an annual and can only spread by seed, cutting before the seed is produced will eradicate the plant.

Russian Thistle is seldom a problem in gardens or cultivated fields but spreads from waste land and roadsides. In these areas the crops branch advises the use of a spray of 2,4-D at 6 to 10 ounces of acid per acre. This will kill most of the plants in the green stage and a follow up spray a month later will prevent formation of viable seed.

8 Missing Airmen Tell of Seven-Day Ordeal in North

Light Flashed From Mirror Seen by Searching Plane

By ART BRYDON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—Eight men told the story of seven days of wilderness living on the edge of a lake in northern Manitoba after their four-engined Lancaster bomber plowed flaming into the shallow water.

An intensive seven-day search for them ended Saturday with the flash of a hand mirror as a Winnipeg aircraft sighted the men 185 miles northwest of Churchill. The search started Aug. 22 when the aircraft was listed as missing about midnight shortly after a report that placed it 85 miles north of the port.

The men were interviewed by press and radio representatives flown from Winnipeg in the same twin-engined Dakota that found them when attracted by a heliograph mirror in the hands of FO. T. [illegible] R. Stamers, 21, of Antigua, British West Indies.

Instruments Failed

The Lancaster co-pilot, FO. Joe Murray of Warrington, England, and Missoula, Mont., said shortly after their last radio check several navigational instruments went out of commission.

They tried contact navigation, flying below a low cloud blanket, but somehow completely reversed their course.

FO. Murray said radio reception was poor and they were trying to get on a direct beam from Churchill when trouble brought the aircraft to the ground in about 30 seconds.

"I could feel the aircraft twist. Then the pilot hit me on the leg," said Murray. "I was working the throttles but getting no response."

The tall Englishman, veteran of eight years with the RCAF, had a newly healed wound on the bridge of his nose. He has a wife and six-months-old child at the aircraft's base, Greenwood, N. S.

Explosions Occur

The plane struck first on land, exploded in a sheet of flame to starboard, and exploded again when it struck the small shallow lake.

"I started praying," said Murray. "Then the steering column came back and hit me in the nose."

The aircraft cartwheeled as it hit the water at 150 knots.

Murray left the plane through an escape hatch. Two crew members were burned in a fire in the plane. They were FO. A. R. Gossel, 24, a radio navigator from Granum, Alta., and LAC. F. M. Debaie crew man from Halifax. Burning fuel was on the water on the starboard side.

Tests Water . . .

LAC. Debaieu made his way to the wing, stripped off his clothes and dipped his toe in the water to test the temperature. He and Gossel remained with the aircraft.

Several of the crew, including Murray, were in the water for about 30 minutes. When the aircraft failed to explode they returned and all spent the night on top of the plane. It was submerged to about engine level, resting on a sand bar.

In the morning they freed a dinghy from the wing and rowed ashore, taking what equipment they could, salvage. It rained heavily for the first two days and they were unable to keep a fire going. A tent was made from the dinghy for shelter. Later they built a teepee to relieve the crowded conditions in the tent.

Recover Food

They returned to the aircraft a couple of days later and, using grappling hooks and rubberized suits which they rescued, fished more equipment and food from the plane.

They treated Gossel and Debaie with first aid equipment which they obtained on their first trip to the plane. These two remained in the tent at all times.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO. (CP) — Synopsis: August is making a blazing finish over Southern Ontario. Record-breaking temperatures in the high 90s were reported Sunday afternoon. Somewhat cooler air pressed southward during the night, bringing widely scattered showers which brought temporary relief from the heat. Afternoon temperatures in the lower lakes region are expected to reach about 9[illegible] today and Tuesday with scattered showers forecast for tonight.

2 Bannockburn Men Held In Hit-Run Fatality

Provincial Police at Madoc are holding two Bannockburn men, Lemuel Sandford, 28, and Gerald Andrews, 25, in connection with the hit-and-run death of Oscar Finlayson, 67, of Bannockburn, who was instantly killed Saturday night when he was walking with his brother along the highway.

Sandford was arrested Sunday at Bannockburn, while Andrews walked into provincial police headquarters at Belleville Sunday night and gave himself up. Andrews has been living at 67 Cannifton Road in this city.

Mr. Finlayson was walking into Bannockburn with his brother Walter, 65, when a car pulling out to pass another vehicle, struck him and threw him 20 feet into a guard rail. The accident occurred just at the south end of the village on Highway 62.

The two Finlayson brothers and their sister, Maude, had lived on the small farm south of Bannockburn for more than 40 years. Walter told police that they had been walking facing traffic when the car struck his brother from behind. He said his brother was dead when he reached him.

The licence number of the car was not obtained but police were given a fairly accurate description of the vehicle and it was through this that the arrests were made.

A preliminary inquest was held Sunday afternoon before Coroner Dr. A. E. Carleton and was adjourned until Sept. 15.

Mother, Children Burned to Death As Rescue Fails

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A mother and her five young children burned to death early today as flames destroyed their home.

Paul Kritzanich, 40, who burned his arms in a futile attempt to save his family, was the only person who escaped. Kritzanich had been out of the house early, and returned to find it in flames.

He identified the victims as his wife, Mrs. Hattie Deer Kritzanich, 35, and these children: Janet Lee, 10; Paul Jr., 8; Larry Ervin, 5; Karl Edward, 2, and Shirley, 6 weeks.

"I tried to get in, but clouds of black smoke that filled the stairway drove me back," he said.

Asked what might have caused the fire, Kritzanich said he "could never be sure." But added:

BRITISH CABINET MAJOR OVERHAUL SEEN AS COMING

Churchill Drafts Plans For Shifting Ministers

By FRASER WIGHTON

LONDON. (Reuters) — Prime Minister Churchill is expected to announce a cabinet overhaul, involving a dozen or more ministers, before Parliament reassembles October 20.

Political sources here say Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden—whose future has been the No. 1 question mark since his three operations last spring—will continue to be groomed as successor to the doughty 78-year-old Sir Winston, expected to retire soon.

Eden, who has been out of action for five months, may lose his foreign ministry post, but he will be kept on as deputy prime minister and as personal aide to Churchill, these sources say. The government Saturday denied a newspaper report that Eden would be replaced as foreign secretary.

May Eliminate Overloads

Churchill is said to be thinking of reducing his much criticized system of cabinet "overlords"—senior peers who take responsibility for the co-ordination of several departments. It may be replaced by a scheme giving the responsible minister a senior deputy.

This system already works at the foreign office, where in addition to Eden, there is a minister of state—Selwyn Lloyd. Several junior ministers — parliamentary under secretaries —may be stepped up to such offices.

The prime minister is believed to have started working out these changes at a house party during the week-end at his official country mansion, Chequers, in Buckinghamshire.

Guests included Monckton and Patrick Buchan-Hepburn, chief government whip, who will be consulted when the prime minister makes ministerial changes.

Plans Not Definite

Churchill's plans are reported only in the drafting stage, but it is widely assumed they are based on his continuing for a while at least as prime minister. The process of grooming Eden to take over of the reins of government will continue.

Eden, now almost well after a series of operations for gall bladder and bile duct trouble, would devote himself to the duties of deputy prime minister. This would take some of the strain off Churchill, himself a recent victim of overwork.

Harod Macmillan, housing and local government minister, and Sir Walter Monckton, labor minister, are joint favorites to take over at the foreign office.

INDIA RIVERS FLOOD

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Floodwaters of the rivers Ganges, Tons and Gomati have inundated the district of Ballia in Uttar Pradesh state, wiping out entire villages, damaging crops and making thousands homeless. Reports from the Sardar and Rasra parts of the district says more than 10,000 houses have collapsed and the bodies of eight persons have been found.

Flying Enterprise Salvage Job Said Off, Still On, At Wrong Spot

BRUSSELS (AP)—The Belgian representative of a London insurance adjustor firm said today salvage operations for bringing up more money from the sunken Flying Enterprise have been halted until next year because of bad weather.

Hamilton Mack, manager of the Belgian branch of Tyler and Co., said the project already has yielded about $100,000 worth of sodden U. S. and British currency. Tyler and Co., has been financing the job.

Mack said the little Italian salvage vessel Rostro, which had sent the money to a Brussels bank to be dried out and counted, had left Oostende, Belgium, last week for an "unknown destination" after calling off further diving operations on the sunken American freighter for this year.

This conflicted with a story the Rostro's salvage crew chief, Mario Rafaeli of Genoa, Italy told reporters last week. He said he was heading his vessel back to the spot where the Flying Enterprise lay split in two under 40 fathoms (240 feet) of water in the English channel

And the Oostende ship broker handling the unloading of the waterlogged treasure said he expected the Rostro back in three or four weeks with more bundles of money.

All of this only added to a mystery which has started to bubble up around the Flying Enterprise.

Why, navigators have been asking, did the Rostro work several miles away from the spot where the Flying Enterprise finally slipped under the waves in a storm 19 months ago?

In New York, officials of the Isbrandtsen company which owned the Enterprise. said they knew nothing of any big shipment of money aboard the Flying Enterprise when she left Hamburg for New York on her ill-fated voyage in the Yuletide of 1951.

The Enterprise's captain, Kurt Carlsen, won world-wide fame by sticking to the battered freighter for 13 days before she finally sank.

Commenting on reports the Rostro is working several miles from the spot where the Enterprise went under—42 miles from Plymouth—London's Daily Mail asked "Is it the Flying Enterprise?"

If it's really the Flying Enterprise, the paper added, the wreck must have drifted for miles just under the surface before finally sinking to the bottom.

New Transmitter Aids RCAF Weathermen

A boon to RCAF weather stations is a new map transmitter machine recently inaugurated at Dorval airport. The new, more efficient service, known as Weatherfax, operates like a wirephoto network, with each weather bureau receiving map on its recording machine from the supply station in Dorval. The charts emerge from receiving machines ready for use; they do not have to be developed or processed. Previously each RCAF weather station drew up its own weather maps. Here two department of transport employees display the new transmitter. — Central Press Canadian.

Germans Nab 3,000 Reds Trying to Invade West Reich

By DON DOANE

BONN, Germany (AP) — The number of Communist agents rounded up on suspicion of plotting to create disorders in the West German parliamentary election next Sunday has risen to about 3,000, government officials said today.

Most of them already have been hustled back to East Germany.

Federal and state police reported they hauled about 1,000 off trains today, following the arrest of 2,000 during the week-end.

Most Of Group Students

Most of the group were students and members of the Free German Youth (FDJ), which is banned in West Germany.

Officials said those arrested today were carrying 200 West German marks ($47.60) each, along with big bundles of propaganda.

The federal border police strengthened their patrols to keep agents from seeping across the frontier at isolated points.

About 1,800 were arrested in Helmstedt Sunday.

Hundreds were seized in other areas—144 in the northern state of Schleswig-Holstein; 150 in the border town of Bebra; 130 in Coburg, another border point; 170 in Altenau. near the Ruhr; 30 in the southern metropolis of Munich, and 30 in the far west Rhineland-Palatinate.

All carried forged papers and bundles of printed Communist propaganda and were well supplied with West German currency. Police said many admitted they were sent in by East German Communists to spread Red propaganda.

West German officials feared the agents also might try to start riots at election rallies and even disturb the voting.

The main target of the agents was the industrial Ruhr, where Communists are concentrating their attacks against Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's pro-Western government.

But the number seized in outlying areas showed that the reported campaign was to be widespread.

Police admitted that hundreds probably succeeded in reaching their goals before the border control was clamped on.

Miniature Cyclone Strikes Burlington

BURLINGTON (CP)—A miniature cyclone Sunday night cut a neat swath along Brant street in this town near Hamilton and left in its wake a litter of felled trees and telephone poles.

It blew up on the outskirts of Burlington about 10:30 p. m. and exhausted itself near Aldershot, just east of here. Property damage was reported light and no one was injured.

However, the storm disrupted communications, and cut off the town's hydro supply temporarily.

PROUD FATHER AT 82

HUGO, Okla. (AP)—An 82-year-old pensioner announced proudly Saturday his 27-year-old wife has given birth to a "fine-looking baby boy" G. J. Jackson said the birth of the child "makes me feel 20 years younger." A widower, he married his wife six years ago. This is the couple's first child.

Urges Eisenhower To Move Slowly On Immigration

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Arthur Watkins (Rep.-Utah) told President Eisenhower the Republicans are in a "strong position" on the immigration issue and he urged delay in any recommendations for changes in the basic law.

In a letter to the president, Watkins described as "largely idiotical" a move by Senator Herbert Lehman (Dem.-Lib.-N. Y.) for a drastic overhauling of the McCarran-Walter Act. The law was criticized in last year's presidential campaign by Eisenhower and former governor Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, the Democratic nominee.

In April, Eisenhower asked for a congressional study of the law's operations looking toward a "fundamental revision" of the statute, about which he said he had received "a great many complaints."

Act Meets Need

Watkins, who heads a Senate-House of Representatives immigration committee undertaking this study, wrote Eisenhower that he believes the Special Quota Immigration Act passed at this year's session to admit 216,000 European refugees and others "takes care of population pressure areas as far as we probably can go in the next three years."

This special act, covering three years, falls somewhat short of Eisenhower's request. He sought authority to admit 240,000 in two years.

"It seems to me, Mr. President," Watkins wrote, "that the administration's position should now be that we have taken care of any emergency matters connected with immigration and that we should follow the program set up by Congress and study the McCarran-Walter act so that when the present emergency act terminates we will be in a position to suggest revisions in the permanent act if they are required."

Agreement Is Reached In Telephone Strike

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A contract agreement ending the 11-day-old Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. strike was reached today.

Officials said the 53,000 striking CIO Communications Workers were to return to work on their next regular shifts.

The contract is for one year. It calls for general wage increases ranging from $1.50 to $3.00 a week, depending on seniority and job classification.

Wages ranged from $35 to $95 weekly under the old contract.

ONE OF TRIPLETS DIES

WALKERTON (CP) — Daniel Kelly, one of the triplets born at Bruce County Hospital Aug. 4, died this week-end.

The triplets were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kelly of Cargill. The other two boys, Douglas and David, are reported to be doing well.

REDS MAY FREE MORE CAPTIVES THAN PROMISED

Near Original Total But More Said Waiting

By JIM BECKER

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Another 150 Americans, mostly sergeants and officers, were freed today amid indications the Communists may send back up to 500 more Americans than the 3,313 originally promised.

The Reds also released 250 South Koreans on this 27th day of the Korean war prisoner exchange.

The Communists promised to send back 400 prisoners Tuesday—100 Americans, 25 British, 20 Turks, five Australians and another 250 South Koreans.

To Free Colonel

One of the Britons to be handed over Tuesday will be Lt.-Col. James P. Carne, top ranking British officer held by the Communists, Red newspaper men said.

Carne, commander of one of Britain's great fighting units—the Gloucestershire Regiment — was captured in April, 1951, in the fierce Imjim river battle.

Surrounded by Reds, most of the men of Carne's Gloucesters were killed or captured in a gallant stand against overwhelming forces. Only a few trickled back to Allied lines.

The Communist Peiping radio said today that Carne was awaiting repatriation at Kaesong, the Red holding point just north of Panmunjom, and was in "splendid physical shape."

Expect Agreement On Suez Canal Zone in September

CAIRO (AP)—A British-Egyptian agreement on Suez—which may grant the western powers availability of the giant base along the Suez canal in case of war—is expected to be reached late in September, a high official source said Sunday.

The informant said Egypt and Britain may reach a decisive stage in their long-standing dispute shortly after the return from London of Lt.-Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, Britain's top negotiator.

Robertson is expected back about Sept. 16.

The informant confirmed an earlier report that all outstanding points of difference have been threshed out during informal talks which have been going on since July 30.

"When Robertson comes back," he said, "it is hoped by both British and Egyptian sides he will bring a solution of the little questions still pending. Then nothing will stand in the way of a final agreement."

Third Bomb Wrecks Kansas City Business

KANSAS CITY (AP)—An automobile agency was bombed in northeast Kansas City early today—the third such explosion at business firms in the last three days.

The blast blew out four plate glass windows and damaged a car. No one was injured.

A similar bomb caused an estimated $10,000 damage Sunday at a clothing store in the Plaza district of south Kansas City. The first bombing Saturday damaged a downtown department store. Damage was estimated at $5,000.

Police have been unable to find a motive for any of the bombings.

Canadian Tourists Abroad Spent All-Time High of $336,000,000 in '52

OTTAWA (CP) — Spending by Canadian tourists abroad rose to an all-time high of $336,000,000 in 1952, up $56,000,000 from 1951, the bureau of statistics estimated today. Most of the money was left in United States holiday spots.

This peak spending by Canadians, well over the $275,000,000 spent by foreign tourists in Canada, turned Canada's international tourist account into a deficit for the second consecutive year.

Spending by foreign tourists in Canada made little headway in 1952. The $275,000,000 spent in Canada last year was an increase of $1,000,000 from 1951 spending and $10,000,000 below the 1949 peak of $285,00,000.

The number of tourists from the United States, Canada's biggest tourist source, increased in 1952 but spending by the individual tourist declined.

The total number of visitors entering Canada from the U.S. rose to a record 26,277,000 in 1952, up from 24,880,000 in 1951, but their expenditures declined to $257,000,000, down $1,300,000 from 1951.

In contrast, a total of 21,500,000 Canadians visited the U.S. last year, up from 18,500,000 in 1951, with total expenditures rising to a peak of $294,000,000 from $246,000,000 in 1951.

115 Fires Raging In North Ontario Worst in Years

North Bay, Algonquin Park Fires Are Most Serious

TORONTO (CP)—At least 115 fires raged through Northern Ontario's parched timberlands today as sweltering firefighters looked to the skies for signs of heavy rain to help them stop one of the worst fire outbreaks in years.

Twenty-two blazes are burning unchecked across a wide front and already have caused the deaths of two men and a boy. About 90 men were rescued by canoes and motor boats from an island in the North Bay district Sunday night as a big fire threatened to engulf two tourist camps.

The department of lands and forests said thousands of dollars of timber has been left stripped and blackened in the lush timber areas.

"The situation is serious," an official said here. "No heavy rains are in sight."

Fly In Fighters

More than 1,200 firefighters, many of them flown to the fire areas in an emergency move, were battling blazes in a heat wave that has swept the province and shot temperatures up to the mid-90s. Some of the fires were blamed on careless campers and provincial authorities have started an investigation.

The lands and forests department said its men were having their toughest fight in the North Bay area where fierce blazes are devouring hundreds of acres of mixed timber and cut-over areas. Firefighters, some of them bushmen and fishing guides, must carry small water tanks on their backs or form bucket chains from lakes to get water to the flames.

Meanwhile, helicopters and other aircraft circled the areas and dropped hundreds of water bombs. The main fire in the North Bay district has already swept over 1,400 acres of hardwood and pine stands.

Algonquin Park Fires

Other serious fires are in the Algonquin Provincial Park, where three persons—two firefighters and a boy—were killed when their plane crashed in the bush Friday night.

Although light rain was forecast for the stricken areas tonight, forestry officials said it will be three or four days before "the danger is past."

"General forest conditions have improved during the last 36 hours but the situation is still serious," said one. "There are at least 1,200 emergency firefighters up north in addition to our own men."

GRABS FOR DOG, DROWNS

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—A 16-year-old girl was drowned Saturday when she lunged after her pet dog who had fallen into the rapids of the lower Niagara river. Barbara Scotchmer, who was fishing with two other 'teenaged girls from rocks just above Whirlpool Rapids, tried to grab the dog as he fell into the water and plunged in after him. The dog swam to shore but the girl was swept away.

ATTACKS BABY-SITTER

PICKERING (CP)—Elaine Frederickson, 17, told police she was viciously attacked Saturday night by a man who forced his way into a neighbor's home where she was baby-sitting. The man, who told her he was "robbing the house," beat her about the face when she screamed but he fled through a window by which he had entered when the girl, a Sunday School teacher and telephone operator, kicked him in the stomach.

Peak Reached In Heat Wave Say Forecasters

TORONTO (CP)—The scorching heat wave coming in from the midwestern United States across southern Ontario during the last few days has reached its peak, weather forecasters said Sunday night.

Temperatures which have been in the high 90s are expected to drop to 85 to 90 degrees today and Tuesday. Cooler air will move in from Michigan and showers and thunderstorms are expected to push southward from Northern Ontario.

The mercury in Toronto bubbled to a record 97 degrees Sunday, the previous high for the day being 92 in 1854. It reached 95 Saturday. Ottawa also had a boiling 97 Sunday.

There are no immediate signs of relief in the upper St. Lawrence valley. Montreal and Quebec recorded 89 and 88 degrees respectively.

Plane Is Missing With 6 Aboard In North Quebec

HALIFAX (CP)—A plane with six persons aboard is missing in northern Quebec, Maritime Air Command announced Sunday.

The pontoon-equipped Norseman, owned by Mont Laurier Airways of Róberval, Que., left Fort Chimo, Que., just south of Ungava Bay, last Tuesday for Nitchequon, Que., a trading post about 300 miles north of Quebec City. It has not been heard from since.

Word of the plane's disappearance was delayed by poor communications.

Bad weather held up an aerial search. Two planes were at Seven Islands, Que., and a third at Goose Bay, Labrador, awaiting better visibility.

Dog Rescued After Being Trapped 33 Hrs.

KINGSTON (CP) — One-hundred men dug for 20 hours Saturday and Sunday to rescue a dog from a six-foot-deep crevice in a limestone shelf in which he was trapped 33 hours. The dog, 10-year-old Rex, is owned by Doreen Long, 16. He crept into the crevice Thursday night while helping the girl fetch the cows for milking.

City firemen were called in to help and with the assistance of an official of the board of works set to with a jackgun, power machines and a bulldozer. They worked until about 11 p.m. in a temperature of more than 90 degrees. When the light began to fade the army brought an auxiliary generator and four cargo lights from the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers at suburban Barriefield.

Eventually a fireman was able to catch hold of the dog's tail and haul him out.

FRACTURES BOTH WRISTS IN FALL

William Carr, of 32 Earl St., was the victim of a nasty accident at his home Friday evening. A ladder slipped from under him while he was trimming a tree and the fall resulted in fracturing both wrists. Another injury required stitches to his ear. Mr. Carr is a well known employee of Riggs' Motor and will be off work for some time.

CHILDREN CAUGHT PLAYING IN FLORAL DISPLAYS AT PARK

Youngsters in the Station St., and Cannifton Road districts are using the floral displays at Memorial Park as a playground, according to city police.

"We get calls there every day of children playing in the floral displays," said the desk sergeant at the local police station after a complaint was received over the week-end.

Sunday police were promptly on the job and caught several kiddies in the act. They were told to stay away from the park.

GRABBING BRAKE CAUSE OF ACCIDENT

A grabbing front brake which pulled his car out of control as he made a left turn off Pinnacle Street onto Bridge St., caused a lot of grief for Orpeth R. Bell, of Toronto, on Sunday afternoon.

As he made the turn the car swerved into the curb, smashing off a steel street light standard, then continued on and struck the corner of the Canadian Pacific Railway telegraph office. Damage to the front of car amounted only to about $45, but $150 damage was caused to the light standard and about $100 to the front of the telegraph office building and wiring.

JUST A JOKE

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — "I want everything in the cash register," said a sinister looking man who kept his hand in his front pocket as if he had a gun. As grocery store cashier Otto Smith opened the register, the man suddenly smiled and said: "Forget it, I don't have a gun. I just wanted to see if it was as easy to pull a robbery as the papers say it is." Police say they want to have a little chat with the joker.

Dinghy Passenger Dumped in Bay When Boat Upsets

Dumped into the Bay of Quinte when he went overboard from a dinghy, which later upset in the stiff breeze, David Pullen, 24, of 101 Bridge Street West, was in the water for an hour and a half Sunday afternoon before he was able to get ashore.

Pullen was passenger in a dinghy owned by Roderick Ross, 170 Ann Street, along with John Rywack, 28, of 270 Ann St., when opposite the Bakelite plant he went overboard when the dinghy pitched in the trough of a heavy wave. Minutes later the dinghy upset, tossing the other two men into the bay.

Rywack and Ross were able to hang onto the dinghy until they were rescued, but Pullen had floated away from the overturned craft and struck out swimming for shore. Heavy waves thwarted rescue attempts and after being in the water for 90 minutes Pullen stepped ashore.

After Week-End of Grilling Belleville More Than Willing To Accept Promised Chilling

It will still be warm but the delightful prospect is a "chilling" 65 tonight, to relieve the most stifling siege of summer heat in some years

At least that's what the weatherman said in the morning and any sign of betrayal will be regarded rather dimly by city-bound folk who have already lost two nights' sleep to the weatherman's nasty tantrum.

Belleville citizens who were mobile carried out a veritable week-end exodus from the city heat to favorite resorts in the Quinte countryside. Highways were choked with a volume of traffic that was almost as heavy as some holiday week-ends.

In the city the daytime hours were made tolerable Sunday by a fairly stiff breeze which gave some relief from the oppressive temperature but with the descending of the sun the breeze slackened and by bedtime there was scarcely a breath of fresh air. It was the second night in succession when sleep was impossible until sheer exhaustion set in.

Park, Beach Jammed!

The park and beach at Wellington were jammed to capacity as residents of Prince Edward county and the Bay of Quinte district strove to beat the heat by the cooling breezes of Lake Ontario. The same was true at the Sandbanks and at the Outlet where the beach was well populated all day.

Presqu'Ile Point was another popular cooling spot as were Oak Lake and Moira Lake. On the bay a great many boats were out as the nautical-minded took to the water to enjoy the cooling breezes.

New Record at Toronto

Toronto claimed a new record with the mercury at 97 but no one is easily convinced that two or three degrees variation in midday heat makes much difference. The high here Saturday was 94 which was a fraction of a degree lower than Friday. There was a drop to 91.3 on Sunday.

While heat prostration claimed scores of victims at the Canadian National Exhibition, Belleville citizens weathered the weather well. The hospital reported no one had been treated for prostration on the week-end.

The welcome news of some relief came this morning from the meteorological section of the RCAF Station at Trenton. The duty forecaster said that "slightly cooler" air is moving in. The expected drop for Monday and Tuesday to maximum temperatures of 85 will not be as noticeable as the drop of six or seven degrees to expected 65 minimums during the nights.

The heat spell established new records for the comparative period in August in any year at Trenton since 1929. During the first 26 days of this month the mercury rose above 80 only five times with a high of 83 on August 24. On August 27, it had risen to 89 and in the ensuing three days was in the nineties with the record on Saturday recorded at 94.

Police Patrol Interrupts Safe-Breaking Attempt

A police check by the regular night patrol interrupted a safe-breaking attempt at the local Drive-In Theatre early Sunday morning, the would-be safe crackers escaping and leaving their equipment behind.

Police said they found hinges on the office safe almost completely burned off with an acetylene torch. The hinges were still "red hot" when checked.

The safe cracking attempt was discovered by Police Constable Cook shortly before 6 o'clock Sunday morning. He had checked the property once before during the night and when he last approached the Drive-In tower he noticed blinds on the door were drawn. At the time of the first check the blind had been up.

Suspecting that something was amiss Constable Cook radioed for assistance but the culprits had already fled. It is suspected that a spotter had seen the approach of the police cruiser lights and the intruders fled, possibly to a car spotted along the nearby sideroad.

Police Inspector J. C. Hayes said that 15 minutes after the alarm was given the hinges of the safe were still too hot to touch. "Just a few minutes more and the safe would have been opened," he said.

Investigation by police revealed that the acetylene tanks and torch used in the attempt to open the safe had been taken from the garage of the near-by Coca-Cola plant. The door of the garage was found unlocked but there were no signs of any of the doors in the plant having been forced.

Police believe that a truck was used to transport the acetylene tanks from the Coca-Cola plant to the Drive-In Theatre.

2 Boys, Victims Of Accidents During Week-End

TRENTON (Special) — Two boys, victims of accidents during the week-end, received treatment at the Trenton Memorial Hospital.

Peter Messervy, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Messervy, with address at the Royal Hotel, Picton, suffered a fractured jaw when the boat he was riding in crashed into the government dock on the waterfront.

On Saturday, four-year-old Bobby Istead was knocked down, dragged 12 feet by a truck backing out of the rear of Farrar's furniture store.

Two soldiers noticed the boy under the truck and saved him from a worse fate by stopping the driver. The little fellow was being carried along by the axle.

At the hospital X-ray showed he suffered a broken bone in his right hip and multiple abrasions. He will have to remain in bed at home for a week until the fracture knits.

The truck was driven by J. M. Bouchard, 23, of No. 6 Repair Depot, Trenton.

Battle Grass Fire

Firemen were right on the job when a grass fire swept through the rough land behind the Pyrotenax plant on West Street, Saturday. They battled for two hours before finally subduing the fire which threatened to spread to the Dominion Tar and Chemical Tie Yard at one time.

A lighted cigarette butt dropped carelessly might have caused the fire in the back seat of a car behind Weaver's garage on Saturday. Firemen confined the trouble to the interior of the car but the cushions in the rear were ruined.

CAMPBELLFORD

Mrs. E. Radford, Hastings, Killed In Car Crash

CAMPBELLFORD — One person is dead and another in serious condition at the Peterborough Civic Hospital following an automobile accident Sunday evening, six miles northwest of here on the 10th. line of Seymour township, one and a half miles west of Number 30 Highway.

Dead is Mrs. Edward (Beatrice) Radford, 70, of Hastings. Her husband, Edward Radford, 68, is in the Peterborough hospital. Others injured in the accident were: Mrs. Radford's son and driver of the car; 18-year-old Douglas and a family friend, Walter Fisher, also 18. Both young men suffered fractured noses, multiple lacerations and severe shock. All occupants of the car were from Hastings.

Young Radford told police he was driving the family auto west on the tenth line when an unidentified car forced him off to the side of the road. He said he lost control of the vehicle on the gravel and the car hit a stump, coming to a halt. Mrs. Radford was riding in the front seat with her son and was killed almost instantly. The other two occupants of the car occupied the rear seat.

According to reports, the stump was embedded three feet, 10 inches into the front of the car.

Mrs. Radford died of multiple fractures and severe shock.

Police are investigating.

REPORT ON ALCOHOLICS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A Tufts College sociologist says it's the alcoholics who remember when they took their first drink. Dr. A. D. Ullman reported to the American Sociological Society Sunday that his investigations also showed that normal drinkers usually took their first one at home with the family before they were 15 years old.

Gunboat Sunk 135 Years Ago Raised in Bay

PENETANGUISHENE (CP) — The United States gunboat Scorpion, once regarded as the deadliest ship under canvas on the Great Lakes, was raised Saturday from the bottom of Penetanguishene Bay in which it was sunk 135 years ago as a result of a warship-limitation treaty.

The salvage operation was organized by Wilfred Jury of the University of Western Ontario at London as part of his project of salvaging regional historical relics.

During the war of 1812, in which the Americans vainly tried to annex Canada, the Scorpion with her sister ships Tigress and Niagara cleared Lake Erie of British ships and fired the first and last shot at the Battle of Put-in-Bay, which gave the U.S. control of the lower lakes. Later, however, she was captured by the British and used against the Americans. The Scorpion carried a 24-pound gun and a crew of 32.

Korean Fighting May be Resumed Says Bill Boss

VANCOUVER (CP) — A suggestion that fighting may yet be resumed in Korea was made Saturday by Canadian Press correspondent Bill Boss.

Boss, who has been with the Canadian Forces in Korea for almost three years, returned Saturday with 11 Canadian prisoners exchanged by the Communists at Panmunjom Aug. 22.

"The exchange does not necessarily mean a peace for Korea," he said at a press conference.

"President Syngman Rhee is as determined on the unification of Korea today as he has been at any point during the last two years. And he has given the world clear notice that if he is not satisfied progress is being made to that end within 90 days of the opening of the political conference he will walk out and, if necessary, go it alone.

"The old man has been true to his word all along.

Warriors Parade At CNE Saturday In Stifling Heat

Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The lowly five-cent piece gets a workout at the Canadian National Exhibition today—Children's day.

The youngsters rule, from the whistling competition to the closing fireworks display. Special matinee performances of all the major shows, "small types" broadcasting, go-to-Sunday-School competition, and many more events have been laid on for the small fry's special day.

The oldsters had their day Saturday, Warriors' Day. Veterans of some dozen wars, numbering 34,500, paraded to 40 bands for 2½ hours, in review before Britain' Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

Scorching 90 degree temperatures didn't appear to stifle the enthusiasm of any, from the field marshal on down.

Need Religious Strength

Viscount Montgomery, making his third speech in two days, told a luncheon meeting of veterans that religious strength is an important factor in the world today. He said moral, economic and military strength also are important, but stressed that the primary thing for the western world to accomplish is to bring up its young people "with a proper sense of religious truth."

In a brilliant show of the cream of the continent's air cadets, 76 youths from Canada and the United States demonstrated intricate and colorful marching formations before 25,000 in the CNE grandstand.

Canadians Win

Sixteen-year-old Air Cadet WO. Richard J. Chalmers, 16, of Winnipeg, commanded the 38 Canadian cadets to victory in the international air cadet drill competitions, giving Canada its fourth victory in the six-year history of the event.

The Canadian contingent, handpicked from air cadets across the country, defeated the defending United States civil air patrol corps by three points, 1,119 to 1,116 out of a possible 1,200.

Hazel Hill of Toronto, with Cuddles, and Mr. and Mrs. C. O. O'Reilly, Brampton, Ont., with Chirn-sa-hai Toni of Donnybrook, won two titles for Canada at the cat show.

Attendance at the fair dipped Saturday to 267,500 compared with 281,500 in 1952.

MANY UNTOUCHABLES

NEW DELHI (AP)—Every seventh man in India belongs to a class once known as the untouchables census officials said today. Details of the 1951 census report show that, of a population of 356,700,000 a total of 51,300,000 spring from the laboring group that for centuries has been at the bottom of the caste ladder. Caste discrimination was abolished constitutionally after India won independence in 1947.

More than 800 men worked on fire lines of the major blazes in the North Bay and Timagami districts. Forty volunteers from the RCAF station at North Bay were flown in and others have been put on the alert to join them.

Rains Only Answer

Frank Miller, forest protection officer at North Bay, said only heavy rains will bring the fires under control. Light showers Sunday morning stalled the spread of the fires for a few hours, but high winds sent them racing out of control again.

Ten planes are flying between North Bay and Timagami, ferrying men, hoses, pumps, canoes and supplies to the fires.

Some blazes are beyond the reach of power pump lines and water is hauled by men carrying pack tanks. One or two trips up and down the hill with a load of water and the men are nearly exhausted in the extreme heat. Some jump into the lake fully clothed to get relief; others stand in front of the hoses.

Travel Ban Continues

The ban on bush travel, ordered after the outbreaks started late last week, continues in the forestry districts of Sudbury, North Bay and Pembroke.

The department could not give a breakdown on the fires but said the Algonquin blazes were "quite dangerous." It was in this area that pilot Roy Dowling, 43, of Cobden, Leslie Booth of Huntsville and Sault Ste. Marie, and 14-year-old Murray Bulmer of Cobden perished when their small plane crashed.

Weather forecasters today held out the hope of showers in some parts of the northland. But it was uncertain whether the rain would extend far enough south to help the firefighters carrying on their fight amid almost tropical heat.

Frost Issues Warning

Premier Frost Sunday night warned that careless campers or anyone else responsible for starting bush fires will be brought into court. He said he has been told that at least two of the major fires in Algonquin Park were started by careless campers. An investigation was already under way.

Officials of the Lands and Forests Department have been instructed to use all available resources in the fight, he said.

"Fortunately, we have one of the largest firefighting organizations in the world and we're throwing everything into the fight, moving equipment and men from areas where they are not needed so badly at the moment into the more hazardous areas.

Need Rain Badly

"We need rain very badly indeed but, until it does come, we'll do everything we can."

Mr. Frost praised the efforts of rangers, pilots and department officials who are fighting to save the woods. At the same time, he expressed sympathy to families of three persons killed Friday when a fire-fighting plane crashed in Algonquin Park.

"I want to appeal to and warn all woods travellers in hazardous areas to be extremely careful," he said. "The woods belong to all of us and the government does not intend to stand idly by when much of our heritage is being destroyed by human carelessness."

Blame Campers

Rangers expressed belief at least one of the big outbreaks in Algonquin Park started when a party of careless campers either left their campfire burning or tossed a lighted cigaret butt on a bush trail.

Light rain fell Sunday in the North Bay district where a raging forest fire veered a few hundred yards from two large tourist camps near Opeechee and Olive lakes. More than 600 men worked on fire lines of 10 big fires in the North Bay and Timagami districts.

Experiments May Mean New Life for Crippled Polio Cases

By JIM SHERBANIUK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—In a small, isolated room in the Winnipeg General Hospital a young English doctor is carrying on experiments which may mean a new life and activity for crippled poliomyelitis victims.

Dr. M. G. Saunders, neurologist and lecturer at the University of Manitoba, has faith in the electromyograph, an intricate machine which reads the condition of muscles and connecting nerves like an open book. By determining the extent and location of muscle damage, more effective steps can be taken toward rehabilitation.

So far the electromyograph has been used exclusively for research purposes and in selected cases. Often victims of paralysis who have given up hope of ever walking again are told that the affected muscles are basically useful and concentrated treatment and exercise will gradually restore them. It is used primarily as a guide to indicate what muscles can be treated successfully, and the eventual outcome of an extreme case of paralysis.

Lengthy Experiments

Dr. Saunders stressed that the electromyograph could not possibly be used in extensive tests of polio cases. Each experiment takes from one to two hours and requires the most highly skilled technicians. Besides the machine in Winnipeg, there are only three others in Canada, one of which is not in use because only Dr. Saunders and two other persons in the Dominion are able to operate them. He built a small model of the machine himself for use in the Deer Lodge Veterans' Hospital in Winnipeg.

Operation of the machine requires a knowledge of both medicine and electronics. The muscles are excited by means of an electric current transmitted through electrodes fastened to parts of the body to be tested.

As the muscles are stimulated, the reactions are recorded on a tape recorder and flashed simultaneously onto an illuminated screen, similar to a television receiver, where they are interpreted by a trained technician. In cases of paralysis, the exact location of the degenerated muscle can be pin-pointed and proper treatment begun.

12-Year Study

Dr. Saunders, at 33, has devoted more than 12 years to the study of electrical currents and their effects on brain and muscle tissue. He became acquainted with the field in 1941 when he was chosen as one of the first 10 scientists in England to experiment with the electro-encephalograph, a machine used in testing brain waves.

Experiments have proved that the human brain emits a current measured at between five- and 100-millionths of a volt, sufficient strength to be detected on the delicate mechanism used in diagnosing brain diseases and abnormalities.

Dr. Saunders organized the first electro-encephalograph laboratory in Manchester, England, and since his arrival in Canada four years ago has contributed much to the study of electrical impulses in the human body.

Launching of Minesweeper 'Quinte' Brings Recollection Of Ship Disaster on Bay

A ship's disaster on the Bay of Quinte more than sixty years ago is recalled by an old Belleville boy, Dr. George E. Eakins of Port Arthur, with the launching at the lakehead port on August 8 of a new Canadian minesweeper, HMCS "Quinte."

In forwarding to the Ontario Intelligencer newspaper accounts of the christening of the "Quinte," Dr. Eakins recalls that the original "S. S. Quinte" plied the bay route between Picton and Trenton for many years before the turn of the century. The "Quinte" of that time, owned by the Deseronto Navigation Co., was burned to water's edge in Picton reach with a loss of three lives. Dr. Eakins recalls the disaster as having occurred about 1891.

The master of the ship was Captain D. B. Christie of Trenton who was later master of the "Ella Ross" and the "Brockville", serving for many years on the bay route.

Aluminum Minesweeper

HMCS "Quinte" is Canada's twelfth postwar aluminum minesweeper. Like others in her class she is named after a Canadian bay. An official RCN statement describes the "Quinte" as "today's version of the vessels which kept the shipping lanes and combat areas free of mines during World Wars I and II."

But today's minesweepers are in keeping with the most modern advances in warfare and embrace many departures from standard shipbuilding practices.

"Great technical advances have been made in both offensive and defensive weapons during and since World War II," says the RCN statement, "and these vessels represent the latest advances in defence against mines."

Outstanding innovation in the construction of this new class of Canadian minesweepers is that practically the whole ship with the exception of the outer skin has been fabricated with aluminum. By this means unusual strength is gained without excessive weight. The vessel is 150 feet in length but will carry more equipment than is normal in vessels of this size.

Greater Comfort

Weight-saving aluminum contributes much to comfort and convenience of the living space. The mess-decks are fitted with bunks and foam-rubber mattresses. Each of the 35 men in the ship's company will have a roomy, practical locker. A modified form of cafeteria messing is installed and is supplied by an electrical galley.

HMCS "Quinte" will be better insulated than most of the naval ships built previously to meet conditions in varied climates. It will be equipped with the most modern types of navigational radar and minesweeping equipment.

With the christening of the Quinte, old-timers will see a link with the past which perpetuates an early day tradition when navigation on the Bay of Quinte played an important part in the life of this area.

New Zealand Makes Drive To Build Cheaper Homes

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — The New Zealand government is making a major bid to find ways of building homes more cheaply.

Its aim is to make it possible for every family in the country to own its own home. Its campaign extends to every aspect of house building and it is using some novel methods in the search for low-priced homes in line with modern needs.

The previous Labor government put the emphasis on building government houses for rental. It built whole suburbs of attractive, well-equipped houses and the government became the largest landlord in the country.

Reverses Policy

The present National party government has reversed this policy. Its housing slogan is "own your own." It has continued to build houses for rental, but it has made them available to tenants to purchase at attractive prices.

Throughout its four years in office the government has also encouraged private home building, chiefly by offering finance on easy terms. But the continued rise in prices has put homes beyond the reach of many young families.

Recently the government called a 'national housing conference attended by all interests concerned in the building industry. This conference examined every branch of the industry's price structure.

To show what could be done in eliminating wasteful aspects of the traditional house, the government architect and the director of housing construction each designed a sample three-bedroom home, cutting out non-essentials.

Notable Saving

Specimens of these houses were built in each of the main cities. The houses were built at prices ranging from $5,700 to $6,900, the rates estimated to be from $600 to $1,200 cheaper than the normal cost in New Zealand of conventional houses of the same size. They included an installed washing machine.

The government then invited the public to submit designs for complete houses and also individual ideas for reducing costs. Many entries were received for prizes offered in each section of the national contest.

The winning designs for a three-bedroom house were estimated to cost from $5,600 to $6,200 to build, but it was pointed out that these prices could be considerably reduced if the owners undertook part of the work themselves.

The construction ideas section also produced many new proposals. Reinforced concrete floors covered with insulating material were a feature of several entries. The winning entry had exterior walls fixed to a concrete floor with tongue and groove boarding used vertically for the walls.

46 Unparkable Miles in London Due to Congestion

LONDON (Reuters)—The age of the automobile has made a new onslaught on the city of London.

The city fathers have ordered another 59 of the narrow, lazy streets into the "no parking from 9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m." category. That makes 296 streets in all, or 46 unparkable miles.

London's streets were built for horse-drawn hansoms and carts, and they have hardly changed in 200 years. In fact many horse-carts are still used by dairies, breweries and cartage firms.

But 1905 can't go on forever—not with traffic jams as bad as any in the world. And that's why the city fathers are putting these new - fangled rules a parking.

The news is not welcome to m Londoners. They don't like t traffic regulated. Motorists o here are used to just pulling anywhere they like and par for as long as they wish.

If they feel like it, they ramble over to the other side the street and park. They m u-turns almost anywhere they l They would not think of go round the block to come out on right side of the street.

The tall, friendly policemen do seem to mind. It seems to be p of the same liberal tradition t allows Communists, Fascists a Anarchists to stand on soapbo in Hyde Park and advocate h high-water and revolution—w the blue-garbed bobbies stand to insure against violence.

It's live and let live. Motori are supposed to be careful a sensible, and the fewer restrictio the better.

FAIR PLAY FOR THE FAIRS

The members of Hastings County Council are to be ongratulated for their refusal to reduce grants to fairs.

Such a reduction had been recommended by the ounty Council's agricultural committee. We do not eel disposed to criticize the committee for its recommenation, even though we do not agree with it. Indeed, the resentation of such a report is welcome evidence that the gricultural committee members are more concerned with he conscientious performance of their duties than with urrying favor with agricultural organizations. All too ften committees of councils appear to feel that their articular field of work should be considered of paranount importance, to be served no matter what the cost, n money or in disregard of the work of other committees.

But, while we do not deplore the fact that the recomnendation to reduce grants was made, we applaud its ejection. The amounts involved are small and the beneits derived are great. Frequently fair boards have difficulty in balancing their books. Bad weather can produce big blots of red ink on the year's accounts. If, by ood fortune and good management, a fair board manges to show a surplus, this should not be considered jusification for reducing county grants.

GAY GOES THE GORDON TO A FIGHT

Gay goes the Gordon to a fight, said the poet. Donald Gordon, who heads Canada's great state-owned transportation system, the Canadian National Railways, is a true member of the clan. He proved that when he headed the War-Time Prices and Trade Board. Prior to the institution of price controls, a conference of newspapermen was held at Ottawa. Objective was to enlist the support of the nation's newspapers in "selling" price control to the nation. Mr. Gordon outlined the proposals. A learned member of the Fourth Estate arose and pointed out certain flaws. He feared the controls would not work. Mr. Gordon stuck out his chin. "I know they will not work," he declared. "But," he added grimly, "they are going to." They did.

Mr. Gordon may have a little more trouble making solutions to railways problems work—even though these solutions are logical and, unlike some aspects of price controls, not contraventions of economic laws.

From an address which he made before the Calgary Chamber of Commerce, last week, it is evident that C.N.R. president has already discovered the perversity of human nature, always pronounced but never more in evidence than where railroads—and particularly state-owned railroads—are concerned.

He complains that it is no easy matter to eliminate an unprofitable branch line service. "It is amazing," he said, "to see how communities who consistently fail to patronize our rail services can marshal such eloquent arguments about our indispensability the moment abandonment is contemplated."

Mr. Gordon has probably had several examples of this sudden surge of love for the railroad, which is never much in evidence until divorce papers are filed. In one case of which we know the C.N.R. proposed to abandon passenger service on two branch lines, substituting buses. Newspapers, chambers of commerce, service clubs, fraternal organizations, women's institutes and every other variety of community organization immediately viewed this with extreme alarm. What would happen when winter came?

The C.N.R.—in other words Mr. Gordon—replied that if it stormed trains would be substituted for buses. Apparently nobody ever read that statement. Opposition continued unabated.

Another problem receiving Mr. Gordon's attention is the high cost of meals in dining cars. "Even though we are serving food at an out-of-pocket loss averaging 55 cents a meal, the price we charge is discouraging many of our passengers from using this service," he says.

Discontinuing the use of linen tablecloths and serviettes on some trains, trying out less pretentious menus and experimenting with pre-cooked frozen meals are remedies being tested. We do not know exactly what the use of "less pretentious menus" involves, but if the railroads are merely serving food which is less "fancy" we can offer an additional remedy. They might try reducing the quantity. Portions on dining cars are frequently much larger than those served in most restaurants.

As for the cost of dining car meals being too high for the pocket-book of the average traveller, we do not think there is any argument on that point. They are.

An acquaintance was once employed by a railroad. He was allowed living expenses. He and his colleagues were in the habit of charging a dollar for each meal—you could get a good restaurant meal for that price in those days. Frequently they ate only 85 cents' worth and spent the other 15 cents on pool or beer. But on one occasion the expense accounts all showed meals costing $2 apiece. The railroad's vigilant accountant demanded an immediate explanation. The explanation was simple: Meal on railroad dining car. The expense account was passed without further protest.

HUDSON BAY TO VANISH?

Is it possible that, in a comparatively few centuries, great Hudson Bay, pride of Canada, may disappear?

Geologists report that a most remarkable gradual upheaval of land has been taking place around Hudon Bay, the upheaval extending over a larger area of ground than any other recorded instance.

Driftwood-covered beaches reportedly are many feet above water and some of the older harbors have become too shallow for ships to enter. Also, various new islands have appeared.

Perhaps, many generations hence, Hudson Bay may be but a geographical memory.—(Windsor Star).

NIAGARA FALLS

I've seen Niagara Falls by day and night,
And this I know:
Across them on a slender rope, drawn tight,
I'll never try to go.

I've heard the raging waters thundering down
And wondered why
To ride them in a barrel, for renown,
Some want to try.

I'm quite content their splendor to admire,
And this I'll say:
To brave their fury I have no desire
In any way.

I watch with awe the waters rushing on
And hear them roar,
And think God meant the falls to look upon
And nothing more.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

A college student just home from his summer job on a big western construction enterprise has some remarkable things to say on the life of a laborer. He is a student in honor mathematics and physics and his vacation job was that of a plain laborer with pick and shovel, crowbar and sledge.

"The laborer's life is not for me," he says. 'Not enough work, and too much time to think."

That is a new one.

"Maybe the particular gang I was with," he says, "was exceptional, but I don't think so, from anything I could see or learn. But there ceretainly was not enough work to fill a day. This was entirely due to the fault of management and our local foremen or bosses. They wasted more time due to a new position, halting us while they checked and made enquiries higher up, than all of us together, as laborers, could have wasted if we tried. I had always thought the laborer's life was hard. It is not hard, thanks to the uncertainty and inefficiency of management. I may also have thought that laborers quietly shirked or skimped in what they had to offer. Any I was with, and they weren't students, were obviously happy to be laboring and uneasy when idle."

That is pretty good stuff.

"The laboring life gives you too much time to think. It is work that requires little thinking, therefore your mind goes wandering around on its own. The work with which I have always been familiar, study, leaves little time for thinking outside of the work in hand. I can well understand now the discontent and disturbance that wells up from laboring men, because they have so much time to think about themselves, their lives and the world in which they live. I suppose I have done more anxious and disturbing thinking about myself and the life ahead of me in the past two months as a laborer than I have done in my previous twenty years.

"No thank you," he says, dusting off his calloused hands. "Give me a job that involves less private thinking. A thinking job is a happier job."

Where Are 'Our Boys?'

(Port Arthur News-Chronicle)

"Wanted — Hockey players, good jobs" — from an advertisement for an Ontario town in the metropolitan press. What has become of the team that used to be described as "our boys"?

Story of Gurkhas

(The Times, of London)

All but one of the memorials which the Chaplain-General to the Forces dedicated in the garrison church at Winchester on Sunday were formerly in the church at Dehra Dun. They commemorate British officers of the 2nd and 9th Gurkha Rifles, and have been brought here from India by way of Malaya. Though the ways of the two regiments parted in 1947, the 2nd to the British and the 9th to the Indian Army, both are remembered here with equal pride.

There has been a second Gurkha occasion of a different kind in Hampshire, when the Gurkha contingent that marched in the Coronation procession sailed homewards from Southampton, though the massed pipe band is remaining for a few weeks longer. They have made many friends in this country, and there is general satisfaction that the past few days have produced agreement in Delhi to a new plan under which this country will be able after all to continue recruiting Gurkhas for the British Army.

• • •

Before India gained her independence there were ten Gurkha regiments in peacetime in the Indian Army, each of two battalions. After partition, six remained in the Indian Army and four passed by agreement to the British Army. All are recruited in Nepal, with the consent and blessing of the Nepalese government. Foreign nationals are not permitted to do this recruiting, and fresh drafts are sent after selection to two depots in India before being dispatched to the Gurkha Brigade in Malaya.

Some sections of Indian opinion have long taken exception to the presence of these depots and last August the Indian government, yielding to this pressure, asked this country to make other arrangements. It seemed that the whole future of the Gurkha Brigade might be threatened unless Nepal could be persuaded to reverse its long-standing veta and allow the British Army to set up depots inside its borders. Now that agreement has been secured, initially for a five years' period, and the danger has passed.

• • •

Though five years is a relatively short period, the Nepalese government could hardly be pressed to enter long-term undertakings now. But it is aware of the benefits that Nepal gains from the employment of Gurkhas in the British and Indian armies. Any severance of the link with the British Army would bring home 10,000 bitterly resentful Gurkhas—to say nothing of the reactions of their dependents and the pensioners in their villages at home—with careers broken and livelihoods destroyed.

Some might, under pressure, find employment of a kind in the armies of Nepal's northern neighbors; such a development would bring little joy either to Delhi or Katmandu. India, herself now employing over twenty Gurkha battalions, is not disposed to object to the principle of mercenary service. Britain, for her part, asks only that the present system may continue, with such minor adjustments as are demonstrably reasonable.

• • •

The Gurkhas have played a distinguished part in British military history in the past century and a half. They are today an invaluable component of the Far East land forces, and are now fulfilling duties as engineers and signallers as well as infantry. One day Nepal will be glad of these skilled tradesmen. It is already possible to look ahead to the time when the first young Gurkha officer cadet will be sent to the Royal Military Academy at Sandhurst and obtain the Queen's Commission in the British Army. These last six years have not always been easy for the Gurkha regiments, but today the future seems far brighter.

Athletics Versus Art

(Cornwall Daily Standard - Freeholder)

A tidy battle over Athletics and Art raged at a meeting of the Ottawa Board of Control, and, unfortunately, ended in a draw. Neither the long-haired nor the crew - cut advocates could claim a definite victory, although the latter seemed to hold the edge. And this was despite the fact that Art had no less a champion than Mayor Charlotte Whitton, who doesn't lose many arguments.

The issue was whether Ottawa should give civic recognition to Miss Amelia Hall, a highly talented actress who played a leading role in Stratford's Shakespearian Festival and who has also spearheaded the struggle to give Ottawa a permanent professional repertory theatre. Miss Whitton wanted Miss Hall to be given a signet ring, inscribed with the Ottawa Coat of Arms. Controller Tardif immediately objected on the grounds it would detract from the prestige of honors paid to amateur and professional champions in sport.

• •

There appeared to be no common grounds for comparing the contribution of the actress and of a mythical Alabama backfielder with Rough Riders cited by Miss Whitton. She scored a point when she pointed out this gentleman came to Ottawa for four months of the year, collected his money for playing football, and then went home. Controller Tardif countered by saying to Miss Hall: "What championship did she win?"

Mayor Whitton wound up the discussion by declaring that the women of Ottawa would see that Miss Hall gets appropriate recognition from the people, if the city didn't. That seems to be a good place to leave it and, we suggest, it would be a good place to leave the various athletic champions, too.

• •

We have never been able to understand why city councils fall over themselves to spend the taxpayer's money on baubles for an individual or a team that has won some kind of championship. If the athlete were an out-and-out amateur, we could see the point. But there are few of those around today, and none at all in sports with any crowd appeal. The usual argument is to point to the "good publicity" the championship-winning has brought to the city. We cannot see that any special merit attaches to a community because some of its enterprising citizens have been able to round up and pay enough high-calibre athletes to win a championship. It doesn't attract new industries, or set customers beating a path to the doors of the ones already there.

• •

We think it is a fine thing to honor the young men who win championships, but the bill ought to be paid by fans. They are the ones who got the pleasure from it. It should also mean more to the athletes concerned if they knew their gifts came from the free-will offerings of the public, and didn't form an annoying little item in the city's financial statement.

Atomic Beacon For Mankind

(Brockville Recorder and Times)

Encouraging beacon of light on the somewhat bleak international horizon is a report from Europe via the "News of Norway." The Norwegian Institute for Atomic Research has just finished playing host to more than 100 leading nuclear physicists from 19 countries, who attended the first international conference on atomic energy for industrial uses held in Oslo. These scientists came to the conference from farflung corners of the world, Europe, Asia, the Americas and the Middle East.

Particularly significant during this conference was a resolution, unanimously passed, which will establish an international nuclear energy association, open to scientists of all nations, with the purpose of promoting the peaceful use of atomic energy through exchange of knowledge on subjects not related to military applications. A good omen, one should think.

It was highly unfortunate, in one way though not from the military viewpoint of the democracies, that the first grasp of applied atomic energy should coincide with the closing days of World War II. The world in general, after the atomic bombing of Japan, naturally came to look upon atomic energy as a weapon of very powerful offense, a war weapon. And while this concept is in part the truth, the fact remains that already there is reason to believe that atomic energy may be turned into the servant and instrument of peace, progress and better living for mankind. It is a most encouraging sign that already world renowned scientists, as demonstrated by the Norway conference, are bending their efforts toward this end, and are willing to pool their knowledge and discoveries in order that atomic energy become in fact a boon to mankind and not a devastation.

Certainly the West must keep its powder dry. Intensive research in atomic and hydrogen bombs and other weapons must be pressed forward in the interests of our security. It is, however, a comfort to know that man is already moving forward, on an international basis, toward the successful application of atomic power to the needs and demands of a world at peace.

TOO MANY CAESAREAN OPERATIONS

Dr. Brady

The opening of a new wing or an additional floor of a hospital was heralded recently, not with a mere newspaper report, but with an elaborate television production which gave the public an intimate insight into the machinery and afforded favored members of the staff a wonderful opportunity to appear on the home screens of the community as they passed the ball back and forth to show how they perform modern miracles — especially Caesarean operations.

The new building or a considerable part of it was designed and equipped especially and exclusively for Caesarean births. If you are content to have your baby in the quaint old-fashioned way you need not apply for admission to this institution.

My goodness, I thought, as I watched spellbound the show put on by the trick specialists and their humble aides, were we old duffers of the horse and buggy era so utterly incompetent that we never so seldom ever grasped the opportunity to "perform" Caesarean section? Or were our obstetric patients made of better material in those days? The answer to both questions is an emphatic "No."

True enough, 19th century doctors got away with sins of omission just as trick specialists commit malpractice today. Such as the one who had inherited professional repute from father and grandfather. He called me to administer the anesthetic for forceps delivery when the patient had nearly exhausted herself in long futile labor. While the doctor was sterilizing instruments I started the anesthetic. As soon as the anesthetic had taken the edge off the labor pains the patient became calm, followed instructions, ceased tossing about and, before the doctor got ready to apply the forceps, the patient was ready for unassisted delivery.

The doctor didn't believe in anesthesia for childbirth and had never learned about the obstetric stage of anesthesia. In that respect he typified nineteenth century practice. Probably most of the "instrumental" deliveries of that era were occasioned by precisely the same lack of skill and know-how.

From my observation and study of the practice of obstetrics by twentieth century specialists, I say without hesitation that in a great many if not most instances Caesarean section is unnecessary.

If young women were better ducated, perhaps they would not be so easily frightened into accepting Caesarean delivery as the way to avoid the "throes" of childbirth.

If they'd even sit out a few bridge or cocktail parties and read Childbirth Without Fear, by Dr. Grantly Dick Read, (published by Harper, $2.75) they might learn something to their lifelong advantage.

With a fair education the prospective mother today goes through pregnancy and childbirth in far healthier and happier condition than her mother or grandmother ever did.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

INCENTIVE

To be born with incentive hidden away in one's make-up is to be born lucky! Luckier than if you had been give a fortune at birth, for incentive is a fortune, all wrapped up and ready for use. A fortune, inherited, can melt away in a short order, but incentive to do things, and to be a somebody, increases with the years.

People with incentive are happy because they are inspired to want to do things and accomplish definite enterprises. Without incentive this democratic, liberty-loving people of America would never have been. Objectives mean nothing where incentive to strive, sacrifice, and will-to-do are absent.

Incentive is the spark that lights the fire to our dreams, making them real. It's a quality of life, without which we would all be either drones or idlers. Take the example of any notable life. Study and learn about it. You will discover it began with an overmastering desire to do some specific thing—and from that one thing to a number of things—without end.

It was incentive that stirred the soul of Columbus and the early discovers, as well as the pioneers, that kept creeping west until all America became a vast settled region of happy human beings, forever seeking new worlds to conquer, new handicaps to overcome. It is what has created the genius of a free way of life.

Incentive can be cultivated. It's like a seed that is planted in fertile soil. It's also like a spark that starts the flame. Many people do not discover this valuable element until some one points it out to them. Often it is no more than a little encouragement, or some kindness, but once discovered, it increases and enlarges in one's whole system. It is the story of every success. It's being newly born!

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL DOUGLASS

RIGHT SIDE OF THE LINE

A minister had announced that he was going to preach on the topic, "Proclaiming the Word of God." There was a typographical error and when the order of service appeared it read, "Proclaiming the World of God."

The minister apologized for what he called a mistake. He seemed embarrassed by the whole thing. But he didn't need to be; for he might very well have preached on the topic, "Proclaiming the World of God."

There is a world of God and there is a world of the devil, and you and I live in both of them. The world of the devil is the world of selfishness and anger. It is the world of introspection and brooding. It is the world of jealous thoughts and hostilities. It is the world of lustful images and unclean thoughts. Drunkenness, revelry, wantonness of all kins, dishonest planning and hateful words and actions are all characteristic of the world of the devil. And I repeat that you and I often live on the wrong side of that boundary line.

Now listen to what the Bible has to say about the realm on the other side of that boundary line. "The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, self-control: against such there is no law."

Stay on the right side of the line.

Eddie Schamerhorn TKO's Roy Deshane in Third Round

TRENTON (Special)—The most controversial sport's reporting today touches a decision handed down in the Schamerhorn-Deshane welterweight rematch staged here under the floodlights Saturday night.

Eddie Schamerhorn of Belleville still fresh and breathing normally won by a technical knockout in 32 seconds of the third round of the five round bout. Roy Deshane of Trenton also none the worse for wear lost because a referee and a timekeeper misunderstood each other while the Trenton boxer was taking a compulsory eight count after he slipped and dropped to his knee while backing away from one of Schamerhorn's harder jabs to the body.

Deshane bounced back on his feet as soon as his leg touched the canvas. Referee Bobby Hoar of Trenton rushed over and forced him down by the ropes while timekeeper Jim Caron of Trenton had already started the count. Befuddled Hoar then turned his attention to Schamerhorn who was standing poised in a neutral corner. He motioned the Belleville boy to another corner. And all the time the timekeeper was counting. And Deshane at the same time apparently expected the referee to give him a nod or some sort of signal to indicate the fight was on again.

Signal Great Surprise

But the signal Deshane received from the referee came as a great shock to the 300 fans, who had paid their way in to watch this much-talked about rematch. And the boos and cheers emphasized that the crowd felt indifferent about the decision. Then the referee raised Schamerhorn's arm in victory while the trainers and seconds milled around in the ring adding to the confusion.

And then Deshane protesting vigorously signalled he was ready to resume the bout but the referee stood by his decision and Schamerhorn took off his gloves and left the ring with his trainer Mark Storms following close behind. Storms returned to the roped square a few minutes later to announce his man would meet Deshane again Wednesday night, when the big two-day tourney continues.

Deshane through his handler Jack Zigman accepted the challenge. The officials preparing for the third meeting of these two boxers decided to engage a different referee and timekeeper.

For the first two rounds Schamerhorn and Deshane moved about cautiously feeling each other out with body punches and head jabs. However, neither fighter ever appeared to be in trouble and there were no marks on their bodies when the match ended abruptly and in an air of misunderstanding.

Winners of championship eliminations who will face each other in the finals Wednesday are as follows: 85 lb class Frank DeFossi-D Bowman; 115 lb class J. DeFossi-Andy Dillon; 140 class Bob Cassidy-Vince DeFossi; 150 lb class A. Cassidy-Pete Valeau.

Robb's Rockets Even Series With 14-1 Win

Behind the three-hit pitching of Leo St. Denis, Robb's Rockets defeated the Peterborough Midgets 14-1 in Peterborough on Saturday afternoon.

St. Denis struck out ten and walked four. The four walks came in the third inning, walking in one run.

"Wiener" also led the team at bat with a triple and a double, both with the bases loaded. Kingston tripled and singled while Bobby Hull singled twice.

The third and deciding game will be played in Peterborough Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Booth Radio Wins Over Oshawa By 17-10 Count

(By JACK BRETT)

Booth Radio T-Viewers took one step to the front in the battle for the best-of-three games in the Eastern Ontario Pee-Wee championships by defeating Oshawa Dunns 17-10 in the first game of the series at the C.N.R. Recreation Field on Saturday afternoon.

The second, and possibly deciding game, is scheduled to be played at Oshawa next Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Kenny Soden, the T.V.'s wily little catcher, starred for the hometowners at bat. With two on in the sixth and the score standing at 12-7 in favor of Booth's, he hit the only homer of the contest to add three runs. Soden also got two singles earlier in the piece.

Pitcher Hook, for Belleville, retired the first three men as the visitors came to bat in the first frame. In their half of the first, Booth's connected for two runs. A rally of singles in the second for the visitors put them ahead by one run; however, their joy was short-lived. Booth's had a turn-about in the third, holding the Dunn's scoreless and adding three tallies to make it 5-3 for Belleville.

Both teams hiked the score 4 points each in the fourth inning, upping the score to 9-7 in favor of the hometowners. Again in the fifth Belleville surged ahead, gaining three more runs and holding the visitors scoreless.

From then on it was a walkaway for the T.V.'s. Booth's added five runs to the Dunns' three in the sixth and in the seventh both teams were blanked.

Other hitters for Belleville were Donovan with a triple and two singles and MacDonald with three singles.

FOSTER—SILLS

Mauve and white gladioli interspersed with ferns, adorned the chancel of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Tabernacle, Coleman and Moira Streets, Belleville, on Saturday, August 22, at 2:30 p.m., when Marion Irene Sills, of Plainfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Sills, became the bride of Beverley Garnet Foster, of Moira, son of Mrs. George Foster and the late Mr. Foster. The Rev. G. Robert Gray, pastor of Centremount Alliance Tabernacle, Hamilton, and former pastor of the Belleville Tabernacle, officiated.

Mrs. Ambrose Kirkpatrick, of Belleville, presided at the organ and accompanied the soloist, Miss Eleanor Baragar, of Belleville, who sang before the ceremony, "A Wedding Prayer", and during the signing of the register, "O Perfect Love".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her bridal gown of white Chantilly lace and net over satin, fashioned with molded, strapless bodice, accented by a matching lace bolero with Peter Pan collar and long sleeves ending in lily-points over the hands. The full, floor-length skirt fell in graceful folds. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a bridal headdress, and she carried a shower bouquet of white gladioli florets and a mauve orchid.

Miss Janice Beattie, of Foxboro, was maid of honor, in mauve net and lace over satin; Miss Joan Rollins, of Belleville, as senior bridesmaid, lime green net over taffeta, and the junior bridesmaid, Miss Anne Ketcheson, of Guelph, niece of the bridegroom, also in lime green net over taffeta. All wore floral band headdresses in matching shades, and carried hand-bouquets of peach colored gladioli blooms.

Mr. Herman Holden, of Moira, attended the bridegroom, while Messrs. Donald Martin, of Tweed, and Paul Delaney, of Belleville, acted as ushers.

During the reception, which was held at Lattimer's Town Room, the soloist Miss Eleanor Baragar, again favored with "The Wedding Prayer", by J. Oswald Smith.

Much happiness was wished for the bride by Mr. Gray, and by the Rev. Eric Strain, pastor of the Tabernacle, to the bridegroom. The bride's mother wore for the occasion, navy sheer with corsage of pink roses, and the bridegroom's mother, navy crepe with corsage of pink roses.

Following the reception, the young couple left for Western Ontario, the bride travelling in grey with red accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Foster will reside in Moira upon their return.

Personal Shower Surprises Nurse-to-Be

Friday evening a delightful surprise shower was held, under the auspices of the Alliance Tabernacle Youth Fellowship, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Benn, Burnham Street, in honor of Miss Janice Beattie, of Foxboro, who leaves on Tuesday for Montreal, where she will begin her nurse's training course at the Montreal General Hospital.

Accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Delaney, daughter and son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Benn, Janice was speechless with surprise, when on entering the partially darkened home, to hear many voices raised in singing "Lord, Make Her a Blessing".

Following a brief social get-together, as the hour was late, Miss Joan Rollins in a simple and brief address mentioned how much Janice would be missed from the Young People's and wished her success and blessing in her chosen vocation, after which a beautifully adorned basket filled to overflowing with lovely and personal gifts was presented to the guest of honor.

When all had been unwrapped and admired, Janice expressed her deep appreciation for the thoughtfulness on her behalf, both for the fine gifts and especially for the kind thoughts accompanying them on the pretty cards.

The evening came to a happy close with the serving of bounteous refreshments served by members of the Youth Fellowship group.

Talk on Public Speaking Given

"The art of public speaking, if it is an art, is usually thought to have originated with the great Greek orators," commented Mr. Lloyd Skeaff, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A. addressing the Baha'i "Workshop '53" group. "My personal theory, however, is that it is much more ancient and came into being when a henpecked Adam went into the forests and spoke aloud to poor dumb animals in order to escape Eve's flailing tongue."

"People are motivated to study public speaking for numerous reasons," he continued, "because they are required to, because it will be of value to them, because they wish to overcome some speech impediment or perhaps in order to make friends or kill time, but essentially it is a means of bringing self-confidence, an aspect of character building and personality development, and confidence thus gained spills over into other areas of living."

Outlining the history of oratory with its requirements of rigid stance, theatrical gestures and formal long-windedness, the speaker suggested that the advent of motion pictures might have influenced the development of public speaking with its emphasis on natural posture, simple choice of language, casual and spontaneous gesture and projection of the speaker's personality on the audience level.

After explaining the construction of addresses and the techniques of speaking in public, Mr. Skeaff said, "In a slang nutshell, public speaking could be loosely defined as 'Stand up, speak up, shut up.'"

Following a heated discussion period, Mr. R. F. Cretney, on behalf of the Baha'i Workshop, presented Mr. Skeaff with a book in grateful appreciation, and the workshop adjourned for refreshments.

Jasper Village Stricken With 'Movieitis'

JASPER, Alta. (CP)—Jasper village has "movieitis."

Not in a bold, brash way, of course. Just a tingle at the sight of a famous face of the silver screen come to life on the village street. And a pleased smile at the tune the town's cash registers are playing.

Four full-length motion pictures are being made in Jasper National Park this summer. All the big movie companies have set up headquarters in Jasper village.

The result is a mass of humanity from Hollywood crowded into all of the town's available lodgings and overflowing into the streets of what was a quiet, dignified railway divisional point and tourist centre.

Happy Shopkeepers

The cash registers in stores, souvenir shops and taverns ring steadily. All but the tavern men—who have hours set by law—think nothing of keeping open shop from the time the sun peeps over the mountains until it sinks beyond Yellowhead Pass.

Three miles from Jasper, where some 500 American visitors daily enjoy the comforts of the new $3,000,000 Jasper Park Lodge, the sophisticated guests also have contracted the disease. They don't quite gape, but they like to see the stars passing through the lounges and being ushered to their dining-room seats.

A movie company on location resembles a circus in its equipment and personnel. For every star and featured player shown on the silver screen, there are perhaps 15 behind-the-scene workers—prop men; make-up men and women; dramatic coaches; wardrobe people; publicity and script writers; electrical and sound engineers; cameramen and assistants; carpenters; scene painters; protective officers and hordes of technicians. There even are life guards for many swimming-pool scenes are taken.

All of these essential workers are quartered in Jasper itself. The result is that souvenir shops are filled with shopping movie people. If the shoppers include a cinema personality come to town from the lodge—perhaps Marilyn Monroe—it doesn't take long to attract a crowd.

Taverns are filled to overflowing by movie folk who have worked a full 12 hours in sun and wind. Cowboys, some with Texas and Oklahoma drawls, tread the main street. Adding color to the scene are the Indians standing silently on street corners or sitting on benches at the railway station waiting for nobody knows what.

Austrian-born director Otto Preminger is held spell-bound by majestic Mount Edith Cavell. "I love that mountain," he says. Preminger had part of the script of "River of No Return" rewritten to include a shot of the mountain.

Director Mervin LeRoy, who directed Maligne lake scenes for "Rose Marie," was one of the "movingest" guests Jasper Park Lodge has had in years. Each morning LeRoy packed his bags before dashing off on location. When he returned he would check in to see where he was sleeping that night. So many regular guests were arriving that LeRoy had to vacate one room after another.

Parts of Abbey May be Closed, Repairs Needed

LONDON (Reuters) — Parts of Westminster Abbey may have to be closed to the public unless immediate repairs are made to the stones of the centuries-old building.

Archdeacon Dr. Adam Fox, treasurer of the Abbey, made a special plea to the women of Britain to aid the £1,000,000 ($2,800,000) appeal launched by Prime Minister Churchill last January.

Fox said that only $840,000 has been raised and the Abbey still is in "grave danger."

"Much of the more serious damage is in the higher parts of the building," he said. "Here the stone is rotting and crumbling away. Many of the pinnacles which lent the exterior such grace and height are rapidly becoming unsafe. If they are left much longer without attention they will fall."

The archdeacon said most of the damage to the Abbey has been caused in the last 100 years by soot and chemical impurities poured into the air by the city's industries.

The 900-year-old Abbey, the scene of coronations since William the Conqueror, contains many relics of Britain's history and is the burial ground of many of its kings. Poets, Warriors and statesmen lie entombed within it as well.

The "save the Abbey" appeal was launched Jan. 30, but was given second place when the disastrous floods hit Britain early in February. It later was eclipsed by the Coronation, but now is being revived.

Stamp Thief Plies Mysterious Trade, Few Recovered

By SYD KRONISH

NEW YORK (AP) — A stamp thief plies a mysterious trade. Nobody knows for certain what he does with his loot.

Police and stamp dealers know he is active. In 10 years, more than $1,000,000 worth of valuable stamps have been stolen. Very few have been recovered.

Peter G. Keller, executive officer and secretary of the American Stamp Dealers Association, believes stamp thefts are organized by a ring which will steal anything. He says:

"These are not merely stamp thieves. They probably are cleverly directed, well-organized gangsters who also steal furs, diamonds and anything else of value."

Keller thinks stamp thieves may have the help of philatelic experts, who help direct robberies. They are the ones, he says, who keep a close watch on a dealer's shop, noting where the more valuable items are kept. Then they relay the information to the ring.

Safe Crackers Help

That's where the safe crackers step in. They break into a stamp shop, jimmy the safe, and make off with the loot. In some cases, complete collections have been stolen from dealers' shops.

This same method of operation, repeated time after time, is what leads Keller to think there's an organized ring

One of the biggest difficulties facing investigators is the ease with which a collection can be broken up and sold piecemeal.

Police in many cities are working overtime trying to trace the gang, if such there is. At a recent Tampa, Fla., exhibition, $35,000 worth of stamps vanished. Then $40,000 worth disappeared in Wilkes Barre, Pa. A Chicago dealer lost $175,000.

250,000th REFUGEE

BERLIN (Reuters)—The 250,000th refugee from East Germany sought political asylum to West Berlin Friday, refugee officials announced.

DEFENCE STRONGER

COPENHAGEN (Reuters) —Gen. Alfred Gruenther, new supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) in Europe, said Friday that "the Soviet with its present forces in Eastern Europe could not defeat us militarily." The general claimed that NATO had built up a European defence so strong during the last three years that the Russians would have to bring in reinforcements from other regions if they tried to attack the West.

TELLER ARRESTED

YORK, Pa (AP)—Federal bureau of investigation agents Friday arrested the head teller of the York county National Bank on a charge of embezzling $20,550 from the bank over a period of 10 years. The teller, Earl C. Smyster, 59, a veteran of 38 years service, said he took the money to educate his two grown children and for everyday living expenses, the FBI reported.

Husband's Place In Kitchen Alongside Wife

EDINBURGH (Reuters)—A husband's place is in the kitchen right alongside his wife, the eighth International Congress on Home Economics has decided after a week-long conference here.

For 40 hours a week, the breadwinner can remain safely at his job, but when he is home he has no right and no reason to sit in the easy chair while his wife wears herself out with the household chores, said the conferees.

The 1,300 delegates are returning home to 46 countries from Edinburgh, where they discussed how to free the housewife from the constant drudgery of homemaking and how to raise the status of housewifery as a profession.

The only answer to the first question is to enlist husbands and children as helpers, the conference decided.

The second question was answered with a resolution appealing to "all who have influence on public opinion" to show that the job of homemaking is in no way inferior to most other occupations open to girls.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was smoking to himself with a satisfied expression and ma was watching him, saying, William I've often sispected it, and now I know it. You litterly spend all that part of your life in an expensive dreem, she said.

All what part, for Peet sake? pop said, and ma said, Why, all the part you spend smoking cigars. You mite as well be smoking camphor flakes, for all the difference it makes to you, because they both taist just the same, she said.

Yee gods, you mite as well be talking Chocktaw, for all the diffrence the werds make, pop said, and ma said, Just wait till you hear the full story, and you may decide otherwise.

I wouldn't think I was smoking camphor flakes if you told me the entire thousand and one Arabian Nites Tales, pop said, and ma said, Then listen closely. You carelessly left your humidor open, and I unavoidably spilt some camphor flakes into it. Of course I immeedjitly dusted off the cigars, but anybody that knows camphor flakes knows that they have a clinging quality by their very nature. So if you cant detect them on that cigar, it proves they have the same taist as tobacco. Now am I talking Chocktaw? she said.

Well, perhaps not pure Chocktaw, pop said. I took this cigar out of my vest pockit, not out of my humidor. I'm lucky there are only a few left in there. I'll chuck them rite out and give the humidor a chance to air, he said, and ma said, William, are you going to throw away good cigars without even waiting to prove that I mite be rite after all?

I am indeed, pop said.

Which he did.

National League Sets Five Records With 22 Homers In 7 Sunday Games

Brooklyn's Lead Cut to Ten While Yankees Remain 8½ Games Ahead of White Sox

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The slugging National League, swinging toward a home run record, stole the thunder from the pitching-conscious American League Sunday, setting five records and tying two others with 22 circuit blows in seven games.

Brooklyn's lead in the National was cut to 10 games by Milwaukee despite a 20-4 romp over St. Louis Cardinals and New York's 8½ margin over Chicago in the American remained untouched when the Yankees divided a double-header with the White Sox.

Major league records tied:

1. Eight home runs in one game by Milwaukee. The Yankees hit eight on June 28, 1939.

National League records:

1. Eight homers in one game by Milwaukee. Seven teams had hit seven.

2. Twelve homers hit in double-header by Milwaukee. The Giants hit nine in a doubleheader in 1939.

3. Twelve home runs in two successive games by Milwaukee. Pittsburgh hit 10 in two successive games in 1925.

Matthews At 43

4. Twenty-eight home runs on the road by Milwaukee's Eddie Mathews, who rapped three Sunday to boost his season's total to 43. Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner hit 25 on the road in 1949.

5. A hundred runs scored by Stan Musial of the Cardinals for the 10th consecutive season to break his own league mark.

National League records tied:

1. Twelve runs in the seventh inning by Brooklyn. Chicago's Cubs scored 12 runs in the seventh on May 28, 1925.

2. Five runs batted in by Brooklyn catcher Roy Campanella to give him 122 for the season. Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs first set the record of 122 RBIs for a catcher in 1930.

While the 22 homers fell three short of the National League's record of 25 July 16, 1950, the circuit raised its total home run output to 1,008, only 92 short of its all-time mark set in 1950.

Spearheaded by rookie Jim Pendleton's three homers in the first game and three by Mathews in the twin bill, the Braves crushed the Pirates 19-4 and 11-5 to practically assure temselves of second place. Other Braves' homers were hit by Johnny Logan (two), Del Crandall, Joe Adcock, Sid Gordon and Jack Dittmer. Johnny O'Brien hit Pittsburgh's lone four-bagger.

Erskine Has 17

Brooklyn's 19-hit assault on four Cardinal hurlers made it easy for Carl Erskine to register his 17th victory of the season against five defeats. Harvey Haddix, also gunning for his 17th triumph, lost his seventh for St. Louis. Musial scored his 100th run on his 20th home run of the season.

Four home runs powered the Giants to a 10-1 victory over Chicago, but the Cubs came back to win the second game 6-2 on manager Phil Cavarretta's pinch-hit double with the bases loaded in the eighth inning.

Smoky Burgess' ninth-inning homer gave the Phillies a 4-3 victory and a sweep of the double-header with Cincinnati. Karl Drews won his eighth in the Phillies' 4-2 first game triumph despite a triple play by the Reds, the first in the National League this season.

Billy Pierce outpitched Jim Mc-second game 1-0 after the Yankees had slugged their way to a 10-6 first-game triumph. The Sox snapped a scoreless duel in the sixth when Ferris Fain tripled and scored on Connie Ryan's infield out. Fain was back in the line-up after a month's absence due to a broken hand. Pierce permitted only four hits in winning his 17th game and turning in his second straight shutout against the Yanks.

Stretch Win Streak

Cleveland Indians stretched their winning streak to six games, beating Boston twice 6-5 and 8-4 despite Ted Williams' sixth home run for the Red Sox. Wally Westlake was Cleveland's big gun, getting five hits in seven times at bat, knocking in four runs and scoring three as the Indians closed to within 1½ games of the runner-up White Sox.

Rookie Don Larsen hurled a two-hit 3-0 shutout for St. Louis Browns but Washington game back to win the second game of the double-header 9-3. Jackie Jensen drove in three Senator runs with a home run and single and scored twice.

Detroit's Steve Gromek and Al Aber hurled seven-hitters as the Tigers swept both ends of a double-header from Philadelphia Athletics 10-1 and 9-1. Jim Delsing hit a two-run homer for the winners in the opener and Bob Nieman drove in three runs with a homer and pair of doubles in the nightcap.

Rochester Wings Now Heading Int. League

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rochester Red Wings took over first place in the tight International League race during the week-end—a double victory over Ottawa Athletics, coupled with Buffalo's double loss to the tail-end Springfield Cubs, doing the trick.

Any one of three clubs has a good chance of winning the pennant. The standings show Buffalo in second spot, 1½ games behind, and Montreal Royals third, 3½ games off.

Rochester has 16 games left to play, Buffalo 17 and Montreal 15.

Baltimore Orioles, in the last playoff spot, are 9½ games back of the leaders and have 17 games left.

Wings Win Twice

Rochester trimmed Ottawa 2-0 Saturday and 11-4 Sunday. Milt Jordan was credited with the shutout win, allowing only five safe blows. The Wings hit five homers Sunday in their sixth straight triumph. Don Richmond homered with two aboard, and Vern Benson with one on. Other circuit clouts were by Wally Moon, Allie Clark and Charley Kress.

Springfield downed the Bisons 9-7 Saturday in a heavy-hitting game that saw nine pitchers come to the mound. The Cubs blanked the Herd 1-0 Sunday as big John Pyecha threw a three-hitter.

Montreal Royals came out best from a three-game week-end series with Syracuse Chiefs. The Royals routed the Chiefs 10-5 Saturday night behind the five-hit pitching of Glen Mickens, recently acquired from Brooklyn.

Split Twin Bill

Sunday, the Royals and the Chiefs split a double bill, the Royals winning the opener 6-2 and the Chiefs the nightcap 4-3. Syracuse's victory halted their losing streak at 21 games—third longest in the league's history. Nelson clouted a three-run homer in leading Montreal to victory in the opener. He also broke one club record and tied another. He tied Jack Graham's 31-homer mark, established in 1941, and passed Boettger's record of 122 RBIs, set in 1933.

Move Little Closer

Toronto Maple Leafs, driving for the playoff berth held by Baltimore, moved a little closer during the week-end.

The Leafs overcame a three-run deficit Saturday night to defeat the Orioles 5-4. Sunday they split a pair with the Birds.

Baltimore won the first Sunday game 6-3—Dee Phillips' homer in the seventh with two aboard breaking a 3-3 deadlock. The Leafs took the second contest 4-1, jumping to a two-run lead in the second and never being threatened.

Don Cherry Wins Uphill Victory in Canadian Amateur

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Don Cherry, golfing crooner from Wichita Falls, Texas, overcame a three-hole deficit Saturday to snatch the Canadian amateur golf championship from the waiting hands of gallant Don Doe of Granby, Que.

It was a thrilling one-up finish on the 36th green, the first time in the entire match the Texan was able to forge ahead of Doe, the people's choice. Cherry won the last two holes.

There were theatrical touches, too as the golf drama moved toward its finale over the Kanawaki Golf Club course carved out of an Indian reservation.

The caddies at Kanawaki are from the nearby Indian village of Caughnawaga. Cherry's caddie was Joe McComber. Through Cherry's successful march all week, Joe said not a word; no advice, no comment.

Square On 35th

Fighting grimly, Cherry squared the match at the 35th, the second time he had pulled up all even with Doe. While the tense gallery of 2,500 streamed along the 36th fairway, caddie Joe McComber saw his man slice his drive to the right side of the fairway. Doe was down the middle.

Cherry picked a No. 4 iron from his bag.

Then the stolid Iroquois spoke for the first time:

"You're taking the wrong — — stick."

Cherry dropped the club and selected a No. 3 iron. The Texan banged his approach shot 20 feet from the pin.

Doe was less fortunate. He took a No. 2 iron. Caddie Ed McComber, Joe's cousin, said nothing. Doe's approach fell just short of the high green into a trap. His explosion shot put him on the green but he needed two putts to get down. Cherry two-putted for an easy par four and the championship.

Doe Good In Morning

Doe was at his best in the morning play, taking a three-hole lead after 18 holes. His putting was deadly. He also made several fine recoveries, and his medal score for the morning round was 69, one under Kanawaki's par. Cherry had a medal 73.

But in the afternoon Cherry began pecking away at the lead with a string of pars and Doe showed signs of scrambling. The Texan won the 23rd and 25th and squared the match for the first time on the 29th.

On the vital 165-yard 35th, Cherry put his tee shot 4½ feet from the pin and sank his putt. Doe was 20 feet past and his first putt rimmed the cup.

Remember When

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Marvin Nelson became the first man to win three Canadian National Exhibition world's championship swimming marathons 19 years ago today. The Iowa flash wore down all opposition and piled up a big lead as early as the halfway mark of the 10-mile Toronto grind, splashing to an easy victory.

Mary Lina Faulk Wins US Women's Golf Title

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Mary Lena Faulk, a Thomasville, Ga., bookkeeper playing with borrowed clubs, fought fatigue and an errant putter for a 3 and 2 victory over Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex., Saturday to win the 53rd U.S. women's amateur golf championship.

The 6,371-yard, par-74 Rhode Island Country Club course was decked out in Confederate stars and bars for the all-Dixie final.

Miss Riley after losing the first hole to a par 4 never once had an advantage although she managed to even the score for the first and only time at the sixth.

It was the first major golf triumph for the steady, sharp-featuredg irl from Thomasville.

Hunter Hurls Two-Hitter To Beat Ottawa 2 Straight

(By PETER UPPER)

Behind the superb two-hit pitching of Bobby Hunter, the Point Anne Cementmen crushed the hopes of Bradings, of Ottawa, 7-0, at Plouffe Park, in Ottawa, on Saturday to emerge the Eastern Ontario O.A.S.A. champs.

Hunter threw a perfect game until the bottom of the seventh, when T. Pilon bunted safely. In the eighth Niman got a single and Forbes made it to first on an error. They were the only three men to get on base as Hunter faced only thirty batters. He got six on strikes and walked none.

M. Pilon did the hurling for Bradings, striking out one and walking seven.

Point Anne started the scoring with a singleton in the second frame. At the end of the second Mike Whalen began to argue about the bases being too long. After a measure it was discovered that the bases were 32 inches too long and had to be rectified. After about a ten-minute delay the game was resumed.

In the third the Cement Makers added another one; they got two in both the fifth and sixth and wound it up in the seventh with their final run.

The Ox Pointers clobbered Pilon with ten hits, five of them doubles, a triple and four singles. Jackie Wardhaugh and Bill Strachan led the winners in the wood department. Wardhaugh had a double and a single, while Strachan claimed a pair of singles. Gilmour tripled, while Mulholland, Mallory, Hull and Elliott doubled and Hunter helped his cause with a single.

T. Pilon and Niman got the only hits for Bradings.

Bill Strachan played a whale of a game in left field, catching several flies that looked like they were "sure" singles.

The Stone Crushers played their best game of the season behind Hunter's right arm and Elliott's nice job behind the plate. The game has raised the hopes of all the softball fans of the city for the OASA Intermediate A crown.

The line-up:

Point Anne — Mulholland cf; Mallory rf; Hull ss; Gilmour 3rd; Wardhaugh 2nd; Buchanan 1b; Elliott c; Bill Strachan lf; Hunter p.

Bradings—L. Pilon 3rd; Goodman c; T. Pilon cf; Blondin lf; Jodoin 2b; Creppin ss; Forbes rf; Niman 1b; M. Pilon p.

Eight Teams In East, West Play League Openers In Football Season

Tiger-Cats Roll to 14-10 Win Over Ottawa in Boiling Sun; Winnipeg, Regina Win in West

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The 1953 football season opened on four more fronts Saturday in the first big gridiron week-end.

Hamilton Tiger-Cats rolled to a 14-10 victory over Ottawa Rough Riders in their Big Four opener and in the curtain-raisers of the Western Canada Conference, Winnipeg Blue Bombers beat Edmonton Eskimos 7-6 and Calgary Stampeders routed Saskatchewan Roughriders 29-17.

Playing at Toronto in 95-degree temperature, Sarnia Imperials defeated Toronto Balmy Beach 30-5 in a senior Ontario Rugby Football Union encounter.

Tie With Argos

The Tiger-Cats' victory under a broiling sun gave them a first-place tie with Toronto Argonauts, last year's Grey Cup winners. In the Big Four opener in Toronto last Wednesday, Argonauts beat Montreal Alouettes 11-9.

Tiger-Cats started slowly, came from behind a 6-2 count in the last half and stood off a strong Ottawa bid in a way that sent the 12,000 sweltering fans wild. Billy Grimes and Royal Bailey, new United States imports, and Bernie Custis and Merle Hapes provided a good deal of the Hamilton offensive power.

Hamilton took a 1-0 lead in the first quarter when Hapes hoofed a 35-yard kick over the Ottawa line. Ottawa went ahead in the second quarter on a major by Bob Cunningham and a convert by Choo Choo Roberts and then Hamilton's Tip Logan booted a single on a field goal attempt.

Grimes ran the second-half kickoff 33 yards and, from there, Hapes, Bailey and Custis ripped to the Ottawa nine. On the next try, Custis headed for the goal line and failed and then Grimes went over from the one. Logan's convert put Tiger-Cats ahead 8-6.

Ottawa scored a single on a kick by Avatus Stone. End Joe Shinn grabbed the ball after an Ottawa fumble and dashed 15 yards for a touchdown. Logan converted again to give Hamilton a 14-7 lead. The Rough Riders cut the margin to 14-10 on Roberts' 28-yard field goal in the fourth quarter.

In the West, the Stampeders showed the most offensive strength striking for four touchdowns in the first quarter, three of them converted, for a 23-0 lead. Saskatchewan struck back for two unconverted touchdowns and a single point in the second quarter. The Stampeders tallied a converted touchdown in the third session and the Roughriders matched this in the fourth with a converted major.

Tosses Two Tries

Quarterback Frankie Albert, former star with San Francisco 49ers, tossed passes to Bill Sherman, former Dallas Texan end, for two touchdowns. Sherman took a 30-yard pass for the first major. The second came after he caught a nine-yard pass and raced 75 yards to score.

Sugarfoot Anderson bagged Calgary's third touchdown when a Glenn Dobbs' lateral went astray. Anderson picked up the ball and raced unmolested over the goal line. A fumble by Nellie Greene of the Riders on their eight-yard line paved the way for Calgary's fourth major, scored by John Henry Johnson on two ground plays.

Albert also passed for Calgary's other touchdown. From Calgary's 29, Albert hit Al Endriss at the Saskatchewan 39 and the former St. Mary's end raced the rest of the way for the touchdown.

The Roughriders took to the air for their three touchdowns. Dobbs hurled a pass to Stan Williams, former end of Dallas Texans, for the first one. The second came when Dobbs heaved a toss to Cason who lateralled to Williams. Frank Filchock, playing coach of the Roughriders, led a 64-yard passing attack for their other major, finishing it with a 17-yard pass to Mac Speedie, former Cleveland Browns end.

Wide On Attempt

A missed field goal by Edmonton on the last play of the game enabled Winnipeg to beat the Eskimos. Ted Tully was wide on his attempted 18-yard placement and all the Eskimos could salvage was a single point.

The Bombers led 1-0 at the half, but the Eskimos forged in front in the third quarter on an unconverted major and then saw it wiped out as Winnipeg came through with a converted touchdown early in the fourth session.

The Eskimos' touchdown was set up when Frank Anderson blocked a kick by Indian Jack Jacobs behind the Winnipeg goal line and Tully fell on it for the major. Tully tried for the convert, but he missed that attempt, too.

Tommy Thompson, former Philadelphia Eagles quarterback who handled the Bombers' offensive as Jacobs played defence, spearheaded the Bombers' touchdown drive with passes to ends Neil Armstrong and Bud Grant that got them to the Edmonton four. From there Len Meltzer plunged over for the TD.

Sarnia, defending ORFU champion, moved into a first-place tie with Kitchener-Waterloo on the strength of its Toronto victory.

Corky Duchene romped for two Sarnia touchdowns. Teammates Archie McAffer, Johnny Felles and Don Knowles each got one major. Jack McKelvey added five points by booting a single and four converts.

Tie Tightens South Hastings Baseball Finals

The South Hastings baseball finals Friday night when Cannifton and Shannonville played to a seven-all tie.

Cannifton led off with a spurt that netted two runs but in the second half of the inning Shannonville had evened the count. Cannifton edged ahead with single scores in the second and third innings but a home run by Jerry Louis with Barbastock on the base tied it all up again in the last of the third.

In the fourth Shannonville took the lead for the first time and looked like winners with a three run margin at the end of the fifth until a thumping rally was put on in the sixth by Cannifton to tie up the game.

The next game will be played at Shannonville Monday night.

Batteries: Green and Smith.

Cannifton: Bradden, Oliver and Stollker.

NEW YORK (AP) — The sponsors of the Maccabiah games, perhaps better known as the Jewish Olympics, which are scheduled to be held Sept. 20-29 at Tel Aviv, are anxious that the larger aims of their movement be known and any possible criticism of the present restriction of the field to Jewish athletes be headed off at the source.

In other words, they are aware that they might be criticized on the ground that they are attracting world attention to a single religious group a a time when the universal theme is the brotherhood of man.

To begin with, the infant state of Israel has some reason to believe that it is not surrounded by friends, and that if it is to survive and prosper its best bet is build a country of strong young men.

To that end, it has imported the best instructors available from every part of the world, to give its young people their first real taste of sports, and it has conducted three previous games in which its learners have had an opportunity to compare their skill with that of Jewish athletes from as many as 19 other countries including Canada.

It is the hope of the Maccabiahs that their spectacle will grow in stature until it eventually will be possible to throw the competition open to Jewish and non-Jewish athletes alike, but they are quick to disavow any wish to ever rival the original Olympics. For one thing, their funds are much too limited, and for another it is doubtful that Russia or any of its satellites would ever enter.

The series will continue each night in alternate home parks. The final round will also be a best-of-nine series.

Guelph scored singles in the third and fourth innings and tied it up in the ninth. Bob Stragier started for the Majors and gave up nine hits until he was relieved in the 10th by Gerry Burke. Burke kept Guelph hitless.

At Galt, Brantford's southpaw Al Garvey held the Terriers to six hits to gain credit for the win. Jeep Jessup was charged with the loss, his ninth against 15 wins.

Eleven Canadians Want to Forget Korean Captivity

By JOE MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Eleven Canadian prisoners-of-war who want to forget "it ever happened" arrived here Saturday from Tokyo, quiet and matter-of-fact about their life in Chinese camps.

Typical of the group's reaction to their first glimpse of Canada in many cruel months was the remark of Pte. Bernard Jewer of New Waterford, N.S.

Outwardly laconic as he strolled from the plane, Jewer quickly smiled when a bystander yelled: "You don't look very happy."

"Maybe I don't look it, but I sure feel it," said the little Cape Breton soldier, who lost 30 pounds while a prisoner of the Reds.

Reluctant To Talk

A number of the men were reluctant to talk about their experiences as prisoners.

The arrival, the largest of returning Canadian PoWs so far, was headed by 2nd Lieut. C. G. Owen of North Vancouver, whose slim, blonde wife waited at the aircraft ramp with their two small children.

The lieutenant, listed as missing until only one week ago, smiled as he left the plane and gathered his family into his arms.

Arriving with the soldiers was Bill Boss, veteran Canadian Press war correspondent who has reported the Korean fighting and armistice scene since the first contingent of Canadians was sent to the Far East.

Brighton Man Lively

The soldiers, six from Ontario, looked fit and indulged in horseplay, especially Pte. George Griffiths of Brighton, Ont.

An eye-catching souvenir of his prison days was the tooth of a comb protruding from his left ear lobe—but it wasn't evidence of torture. He told reporters of the prison camp "fad" of punching ear-lobes.

Griffiths laughingly said he had substituted the comb tooth for a ring, and added:

"No, I don't think I'll wear an ear ring there. Because it'd have to be a brass ring. In the army, you've got to polish your brass, and I'm certainly not going to polish my ear ring."

L. Cpl. Donald Orson of Ridgetown, Ont., and Pte. Donald Watson, Toronto, met in a cheerful exchange as the welcoming group, soldiers and reporters milled about on a lawn before the sea island airport reception building.

Did It Happen?

"Did it happen?" asked Orson, with a sweep of his arm at the surrounding gaiety and referring to the Korean experience.

"No, it never happened—let's forget it ever happened anyway," said Watson.

Two of the RCR men, Pte. Kenneth Dawe of Grand Bend, Ont., and Pte. Eugene Fields, Windsor, Ont., said food and treatment as prisoners were "fair," but both lost weight.

All the soldiers must spend two to three days in hospital here for routine checkups before being flown to their homes across the country.

Correspondent Boss said the reluctance of the soldiers to submit to publicity resulted in part from their experience in prison camps. Their Communist captors had photographed them at intervals, for propaganda purposes, leaving an unpleasant association with the men.

The boys got into an argument that is still festering. It was over the deal shown here:

♥9 6 4 3
♦5 3
♣A K J 3

All because the bidding went like this:

South	North
Pass	1 D
2 C	3 D
Pass

The south excuse for passing the three diamond bid was that a jump rebid in the same suit is not forcing. Two of the others agreed with him. They must have been reading some author who was wrong.

Any jump rebid is forcing to game. No less so if the jump rebid is in the same suit. Unless the responder lied in his first reply. Which was not the case when south bid two clubs.

The bidding should go like this:

South	North
Pass	1 D
2 C	3 D
3 NT	4 NT
5 H	6 C

Being forced, three no-trump by south denies anything new. Five hearts in answer to four no-trump signals an ace and a king. The club slam rates a try by a pair that can handle the close ones.

West led a spade. Dummy king won. A diamond was lost to east. A return spade forced the north ace. Not enough sluffs in south could be had on dummy diamonds. So, dummy cashed his heart ace.

A trump entered south and a heart was ruffed in dummy. A second diamond lead won and a third diamond let south sluff a spade. A fourth diamond was ruffed small in south. The other four tricks were cross-ruffed.

Anybody could do it, but not all would.

Hepburn was third in the snatch event which was won by James Bradford of the U.S. with an unimpressive 303 pounds.

by THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rookie of Year

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Don Zimmer is the American Association's "rookie of the year."

League baseball writers picked the St. Paul shortstop for the Robert E. Hooey award despite the fact his season's play ended on July 7.

That was the day a pitch fractured his skull. At the time, after 81 games, the five-foot-eight 160-pounder was leading the league with 23 homers and was hitting an even .300. He also had 14 doubles, four triples, 63 runs batted in and 12 stolen bases.

AT THE BELLE—Rosalind Russell and Paul Douglas portray an estranged couple whose domestic differences are ironed out via the steam-roller tactics of the armed forces. Starring with them is Marie Wilson in "Never Wave at a Wac". Frederick Brisson's hilarious comedy romance is a tale of Wac trainees, and is showing for the last times tonight at the cool air conditioned Belle Theatre. Walt Disney's cutest color cartoon, "Funny Little Bunnies", is an added attraction.

Wins Bike Title

BRANTFORD (CP)—Fred Henry of Toronto won the Ontario bicycle racing championship here Saturday when he outpointed 29 other riders. The meet was sponsored by the Ontario Wheelmen's Association.

Henry, who won the Canadian title in 1951, marked up 20 points, five more than runner-up Harvey Phillips of Delhi. Henry finished first in the 1,000-metre time trial and the one-mile final and was second in two other events. Frank Ball of Oshawa was third in the 1,000-metre event.

The 10-mile final went to Art Johnson of Toronto.

REDS MAY FREE

Winnipeg Man Freed

Among the 400 prisoners sent back by the Reds Sunday was Staff Sgt. Kenneth E. Kisser of the U.S. Air Force, whose wife lives in Winnipeg. Kisser is the fourth member of the U.S. forces with relatives in Canada to be released since the Korean armistice began.

The Communists, meanwhile, reaffirmed assurances they will return all Allied prisoners who want to go home including those accused of crimes before or after their capture.

The Reds gave the assurances at a one-hour and 49-minute session of the joint military armistice commission after Maj.-Gen. Blackshear M. Bryan, senior Allied delegate, asked whether the Reds would repatriate all prisoners who want to return.

The meeting was called at Red request.

Communists Protest

The Communist Peiping radio said the Communists "lodged a second strong protest against American assistance to Chiang Kai-shek in the plot to detain" captured Red Chinese soldiers.

The broadcast said Red delegate Lt.-Gen. Lee Sang Cho protested that Chinese Nationalist agents landed at the Allied PoW camp at Koje Island last Wednesday and Thursday to induce Chinese PoWs not to return to the Red mainland.

Peiping said Gen. Lee told the UN delegates "that these actions are in violation of the armistice agreement and demanded an immediate end to them."

Visited Cheju Island

In Pusan, the UN PoW command said 11 Nationalist representatives visited anti-Red Chinese PoWs last week in UN camps on Cheju Island.

A UN command statement said the Nationalists reassured the Chinese that they will not be forced to return to Red China. The representatives, the statement said, also urged the Chinese to co-operate when they are turned over th neutral nations repatriation commission, which will decide their fate.

Some 1,200 Indian troops who will guard PoWs unwilling to return home are scheduled to arrive at Inchon on Korea's west coast Tuesday on a British transport.

Hopes Raised

Returning Americans today raised hopes that the Reds would return more U.S. soldiers than they originally promised.

The Reds have returned 2,827 Americans, leaving 486 still scheduled for repatriation, according to their early figure.

But liberated Americans who were at Kaesong during the weekend said more than 1,000 non-Koreans PoWs were still awaiting repatriation at the Red collecting centre.

At least six more Canadians are known to be still in Red hands. It was not known whether any of these were among the 1,000 men mentioned.

The returning prisoners said most of these men were American and British sergeants and officers.

Twenty-four Canadians—10 more than the Reds originally said they would return—have already been freed.

The Reds said recently that their 3,313 total did not include some PoWs captured in the last days of the war.

8 KILLED

The men worked in shifts gathering fuel from the surrounding muskeg. The crash occurred above the tree line. Thursday, four days after the crash, the weather opened up briefly and an aircraft was sighted but failed to answer signals. This was a search plane which was forced to leave the area because of closing weather.

Murray and Cpl. D. H. Wentzell, flight engineer, from Bridgewater, N. S., went about 10 miles southeast of the camp Thursday and lit another fire which they tended each day but had to let out at night. They covered the camp area for a 30-mile radius northeast and southwest.

In Charge Of Food

Murray was in charge of feeding the group. When they were rescued he had enough food left, by stretching, to keep them alive another 21 days.

For breakfast he served oatmeal bars in cocoa and later meat bars boiled with biscuits in a pressure cooker. "It's the only thing that will soften those biscuits," said Murray. Each day the men ate some candy rations and they picked berries in the brush. There were no fish in the lake.

Murray saw an animal at a distance and went to investigate one day, but quickly returned when he discovered it was a timber wolf. While Murray and Wentzell were tending the outlying fire, Wentzell mentioned that Saturday would be his wedding anniversary.

"Wouldn't it be funny if the plane arrived," Murray said.

Sighted Dakota

Saturday the weather opened up again and in the afternoon the Dakota aircraft was sighted from the camp and from Murray's fire.

Stamers first attracted it with his hand mirror and Murray followed up with smoke and red and orange flares. When the aircraft appeared, Murray and Wentzell were figuring the food allotments if they attempted to walk out. They planned to try at the end of the month.

The Dakota remained at the scene until relieved by Lancasters from farther - north search areas. An Otter aircraft equipped with floats and flown by FO. L. G. Denman of Toronto made a hazardous landing on the shallow water of the lake and took out all eight men in one trip.

Finishing Section

Sen. Ldr. Jack Hudson of Winnipeg, search master, said the weather was too closed in north of Churchill early in the search to send aircraft into that area. Thursday was the first break and the plane Saturday was finishing the section started Thursday.

The Lancaster was on a routine navigation training flight from Rockcliffe, Ont., and was heading directly south for Churchill on the second leg of the flight when it disappeared. Besides Stamers, Murray, Gossel, DeBale and Wentzell, the aircraft carried FO. W. G. Morton, 22, radio officer, from Lethbridge, and the two other navigators, FO. W. A. Grbac, of River Bend, Que., and FO. G. W. Duguid, 20, of Lillooet, B. C.

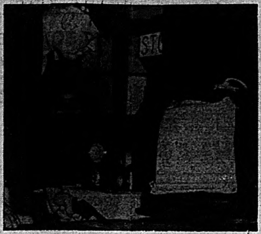
Bullet-Proof Vest Weighs Only 7 Pounds



The well-dressed Canadian police officer soon may sport "shining armor" like knights of old, but weighing about 100 pounds lighter than the medieval armor. Tests on a vest-like garment of nylon, weighing only 7¾ pounds, proved that the body armor repels .45 and .38 shells as well as bullets from a nine millimetre revolver and a Thompson submachine-gun. Here, a Quebec provincial policeman tests the vests which already is being used by Toronto officers. — Central Press Canadian.

Reds Will Evict East Germans Who Accept Food

By TOM REEDY

BERLIN (AP)—The East zone Communist drive against the U. S. food distribution program took a new harsh turn today with threats to evict from their homes Soviet zone residents who come west for the gifts.

Party leaders unveiled the threat at an organized meeting of workers on the big Stalin Allee housing project in East Berlin Friday night.

The Communist zone official press published a declaration today that anyone who has been given preferred treatment in obtaining housing should lose it if he or she crosses to West Berlin to get a food package.

Four East Berlin workers were named as "guilty" and one, Georg Dombrowski, was thrown out of his Stalin allee apartment.

Similar rallies were held in other parts of the East zone and threats of evictions dominated the speeches. Meetings were turned into kangaroo courts that singled out East Germans for attacks, tried them and "sentenced" them to public shame.

In many cases, the victims also were "sentenced" to loss of their jobs.

40-Hour Week For Seamen Said Enough

MONTREAL (CP)—Great Lakes seamen deserve no pay increase aside from that gained by a 40-hour work week, Capt. R. Scott Misener, president and general manager of Colonial Steamships Limited, said in a statement here during the week-end.

He said the reduction from 48 to 40 hours a week would mean as much as a 14.4-per-cent wage increase to all unlicensed seamen.

Colonial Steamships, Canada Steamships Lines, N. M. Paterson and Sons and Upper Lakes and St. Lawrence Transportation Company face the threat of a strike of crew members, members of the Seafarers International Union (AFL-TLC)

Capt. Misener said the four companies would accept a conciliation board report but only on condition it was also accepted by the union. He said this attitude was being taken so board findings would become an agreement and not the basis for further demands by the union.

The conciliation board majority reports proposed establishment of the 40-hour week within a year, but with regular pay for Saturday and Sunday work. The SIU has asked for overtime for Saturday and Sunday work.

Meanwhile, seamen are to start casting their ballots today in a strike vote called by the union. Results will probably be known by the week's end.
